ANOTHER FOOT TEST

BY N. TULCH
Foot Comfort Specialist at
AT PEOPLES' FOOT COMFORT
9th and Madison, Covington

Usually the first sign of foot trouble is the running over of the heels of shoes.

In a strong healthy human foot the 266 bones are held together to form a substantial support for the weight of the body and they are held together in place by strong ligaments, tendons and muscles. These bones are so arranged that they form four separate and natural arches.

The heel bone and ankle bone lean out of position more or less in almost every kind of foot trouble. The cause is that ligaments, muscles and tendons which hold the heel bone and ankle bone in place become weakened, and are not strong enough to hold those bones in their normal position.

Backaches, headaches, and many body ills may be traced to feet. Even symptoms like those of rheumatism and arthritis now are being banished with proper shoes. Also nervous indigestion, sleepless nights, etc., are sometimes traceable to foot troubles. If you suffer with foot ills of any kind come for a free analysis of your feet. No obligations at all.

What Every Driver Should Know

A series of articles taken from the Motor Vehicle Operator's Manual will be carried in this column each week until the complete issue has been examined.

The Examination
You may take your examination for an operator's license as soon as you are 16 years old and as soon as you feel that you have studied the rules and practiced driving enough to pass. The examination is not difficult if you are really ready for it. You can find out where and when examinations will be given from any of the Highway Patrol officers, any circuit court clerk's office, or usually at any police department. Most automobile clubs, garages and filling stations know, and in some places the dates may be printed in the papers.

The examination is simply to find out three things about you before letting you use the public roads with a machine which can easily kill somebody:

1. Are you sound enough in mind and body to drive safely?

2. Do you know the things you should keep out of accidents, and can you do these things easily when driving?

3. Are you the sort of person who will really try to drive safely even if other folks do not?

The whole examination takes between a quarter and a half hour. The first part is mainly a quick test of how well you can see. The second part begins by finding out whether you understand what the road signs mean, goes on to have you answer questions on the safety and driving rules which are in this booklet, and ends when you show how you handle a car on the road. The last is the most important part of the examination.

You must bring a car with you for the road test, but the test will not be given if any part of your car is in such shape that it is dangerous or does not comply with the law. These things, especially, must be right:

1. Registration plates.
2. Head lights and tail lights.
3. Rear view mirror, if any.
4. Muffler.
5. Foot and hand brakes.
6. Windshield and wiper.
7. Steering wheel.
8. Tires.

The examiner will tell you where to go and what to do on the road test, which is between a mile and two miles long. No tricks will be played on you; but you must make right and left turns correctly, with proper arm signals, stop and start on a hill, park between cars, and, of course, obey all signs or signals and drive everywhere at the right speed.

You will be scored on the first two parts of the examination, but for the third part the examiner must decide while you are with him whether he thinks you will really try to do your part in keeping yourself and others out of accident.

Since you may not drive alone without a license, a lawfully licensed driver must, of course, come with you to the examination unless you are a non-resident who may drive in Kentucky without a license as explained on page 6.

If you have just learned to drive the driver with you should be whoever has been teaching you so that he may know what else to teach you if you fail on the examination. This driver must have his license with him, but he may not be in the car while you are taking the road test.

If you fall on any part of the examination you may take another as soon as you feel you are able to pass. This usually means after much more practice and study, so it is always easier to be ready when you first apply. Generally, if you fall on the eye test or because your vehicle is not road-worthy, you may take the test again as soon as these matters are corrected. If you do not know the road rules, and study hard you should be ready the next day or the next time the examiner is in town. If the road test gave you trouble, it will probably be at least a week before you have practiced enough to be ready.

THE GARDEN

THE MEXICAN BEAN BEETLE
By John S. Gardner, Kentucky College of Agriculture

Letters keep coming in telling of the Mexican bean beetle's depredations. Some of the letters indicate a feeling of hopelessness, and others are frankly recriminatory, going to lengths to say that the remedies recommended merely "fatten the beetles." That this cannot be so could be vouched for by the hundreds who do have success, but who do not write letters.

The Mexican bean beetle is not an easy insect to control, as compared with those that have been plaguing the gardens for a long time, such as the Colorado beetles on potatoes, which are rank feeders and which consume the entire leaf. The Mexican beetle eats only the bottom surfaces of the leaves and does not ever eat through.

It is this difference in feeding habit that stumps so many gardeners.

Another difference between the Mexican beetles and the others is that the former are so much voracious; while they are growing up, they consume in a day about 50 times their volume, and they spend over 20 days in reaching their resting stage, from which they go on immediately. What this shell stage, to begin another generation to the well-known 16-spotted hard means to the gardener is that whatever he uses must be quick, but there arises the danger of injuring the leaves of the beans, if the control material is to be powerful enough to cope with the Mexican beetle promptly enough.

In Kentucky Extension Circular 309 are given the several control methods, dusts and sprays, that contain arsenic in sufficient strength, but at the same time, materials gentle enough not to burn foliage. Arsenicals are recommended only to the point that pods are formed, after which Rotenone, dust or spray, only should be used. Rotenone does no harm to bean foliage; it is nonpoisonous to human-kind, but it is deadly to all insects, both internally or as a contact insecticide.

In applying whatever is used, a schedule should be followed that is based on the schedule of the Mexican beetle itself, and this is it:

When any adults are observed on any planting of beans, check watch should be begun for eggs. These are found in clusters of about 25, always on the undersides of the leaves, whereas the adults are found usually in plain sight. Immediately any eggs are seen, dusting or spraying should be started, and the material should be directed to cover the under sides of the leaves. Any put on the top surface of the foliage is wasted.

Next, ten days, to the day, another application should be made as before. It should go without saying that the endeavor should be to do a complete job each time, to leave no leaf portion unpretected. The object throughout is to so apply the material that the newly-hatched spiny larvae will not need to eat far before a killing dose is taken. It is likewise that the smaller the insects are the more easily they are killed.

A third spraying or dusting, five days after the second may not be amiss, to replace some that may have washed off, and to make good a job that may not have been as well done as should be.

From the foregoing, some gardeners who have not been having success with the remedies recommended may perceive that perhaps they have been remiss in not using the proper materials, or in waiting too long or in not applying their dusts or sprays in the proper manner. At any rate, there is no cause for hopelessness, but the Mexican beetle can be stopped, wily as this pest is.

Replete with thrills and a happy mixture of catchy tunes, Gene Autry's newest musical western from Republic Studios, "Mexicali Rose," will be shown at the Gayety Friday and Saturday.

A choice cast helps Gene in "Mexicali Rose." Two famed veterans, Noah Beery and William Farnum, head the supporting players. Luana Walters, a lovely newcomer does well as the feminine interest.

Smiley Burnette, whose comedy is an invaluable factor in Republic's musical western successes, is hilarious in this new production.

The story concerns the efforts of Gene and Smiley to protect an orphanage from the double-crossing plans of a "phony" oil-stock company headed by William Boyle Leroy Mason. Farnum is the Padre of the orphanage.

Janet Gaynor, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., and Paulette Goddard make their debut as an exciting new screen trio in David O. Selznick's comedy romance, "The Young in Heart" which will be shown at the Gayety Sunday and Monday.

Roland "Topper" Young, Henry Stephenson, Richard Carlson, Romantic newcomer from the New stage, and Minnie Dupree head the imposing supporting cast of this screen version of the I. A. R. Wylie Saturday Evening Post serial, "The Gay Bandit."

"The Young in Heart" is the delightful story of the Carletons, a family of fascinating phones, who live by their charm and on anyone's money, and have been kicked out of only the best places from the Riviera to London.

Don Ameche brings another immortal character to the motion picture gallery of the great in the title role of Darryl F. Zanuck's production of "The Story of Alexander Graham Bell," which will be shown at the Gayety Wednesday and Thursday, July 19 and 20th.

Ideally cast as the young genius who invented the telephone, inspired by the unflinching devotion of a beautiful young girl, the popular actor offers his greatest portrayal in this stirring romantic drama which symbolizes the tradition of America.

Sharing stellar honors with him in this Cosmopolitan production for 20th Century Fox are Loretta Young, as the deaf Mabel Hubbard, whose affliction was the inspiration for his great accomplishment; Henry Fonda as Thomas Edison, the uniting and devoted assistant who shared the early years of hope and struggle of Alexander Graham Bell.

This is a picture that will long be remembered—see it.

GROWING STOCKS

Difficulty in growing stocks may be due to lack of lime in soil bed gives thick bunches of foliage but no blossoms, lime is needed by plant. Spade ground thoroughly and when setting stocks out give a good coating of hydrated lime and rake into top soil. A small amount to whiten soil will be enough. Do this again in a month or six weeks and the stocks will flourish.

The main reason that men act like a fish out of water right after marriage is due to the fact that, like the fish, they realize they have been hooked.

AT THE JAMES WALTON, KY.

"Jaurez," with Paul Muni, Bette Davis, Brian Aherne, John Garfield, Friday and Saturday, July 14 and 15th. Rising from the history's acutest pages, "Jaurez" shows a young flaming spirit freed a nation. In him, men found liberty. In his story you will find the mightiest screen adventure of our time. Against the background of Mexico's fiercest days stands Carlos, the woman who ruled a king. He's just for power destroyed the only man she ever loved. Her tragic love made drama that lives forever.

"Some Like It Hot," with Shirley Ross, Bob Hope, Fred Astaire, Orchestra, U.S. Merkel, Sunday July 16th. This picture comes to us, a light vehicle for the quick-lipped Bob Hope, the soft-spoken Shirley Ross and the drum-thumping Gene Krupa. It gets into the jitterbug subject, but not entirely in comedy all the way through and you will like it.

"Boy Friend," with Jane Withers, Arlene Whelan, Richard Bond, Monday, July 17th. Jane's gone romantic, but in that madcap Withers way. It's just her luck to find a girl named Krupa who's helping smash New York's most dangerous crooks. But what good a beau if he can't help you fight. You know Jane... you've gotta be able to go places and do things... if you're her crush.

"Blackwell's Island," with John Garfield, Rosemary Lane, Stanley Fields, Tuesday, July 18th. John Garfield blows the lid off "Blackwell's Island," where convicts paid for the right to live... in jail. Tough guards enforce the racket, but not the law. Grim walls hid the rotten scandal from the world. His daring expose made possible the model prison which stands there today.

"The Lady's From Kentucky," with George Rab, Ellen Drew, Hugh Herbert, Zasu Pitts, Wednesday, July 19th. You will want to see the picture with the thrilling reproduction of the Kentucky Derby with the right horse winning.

"The Lady and the Mob," with Fay Bainter, Ida Lupino, Lew Bowman, Henry Armetta, Thursday, July 20th. She hobnobs with mobsters... goes places with gorillas... takes tea with trigger men... all agree it's quite a racket to play with... in the different daugh-packer action hit of the year.

FALL GOOD TIME

August is perhaps the best time for sowing a field in alfalfa for the first time. Men at the Agricultural Experiment Station at Lexington say that seedlings made then seem to be more generally successful than spring seedings.

Even on soils that have previously grown alfalfa, August seedings have one distinct advantage; that is, they may be made on well-prepared seed beds. For this reason, stands are likely to be uniform and practically free from weeds.

The Hardigan variety of alfalfa has produced best in tests made at Lexington, but this seed is not usually available in large quantities. Because the Kansas common alfalfa produces well and seed can be had in large amounts, it is recommended for general sowing in Kentucky.

Alfalfa seed sown for the first time on a field, or on a field that has not been in alfalfa for several years, should be inoculated. Commercial cultures used according to directions are entirely satisfactory.

Pulverized soil from an old alfalfa field mixed with slightly moistened seed will also give good inoculation.

A clover and grass seed drill gives the best seeding results, distributing the seed evenly and in such a way that all of it should germinate. Perhaps the next best method is broadcasting after a cultipacker. Or the seed may be broadcast after a drag harrow. It is usually advisable to brush the seed bed lightly after broadcast seeding.

When drilled, 10 to 12 pounds of seed to the acre is sufficient; if broadcast, 15 pounds should be used.

They may figure that the horse will eventually disappear in Boone County, but will he—sense?

There are still some boys who want to do as Father did and not as Father asks them to do.

ROBERTS MAKES HIS ANNUAL OBSERVATION ON EROSION OF SOIL. As is his custom each year, after corn and tobacco are out, Prof. George Roberts, head of the agronomy department at the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station, observes over the State how tillage practices prevent or promote soil erosion. His observations this year are similar to those of previous years, he said.

Where tobacco and corn were planted on the contour, that is, at right angle to the slope, soil washing is far less than where they were not so planted. Also, he observed that where corn and tobacco had been cultivated right after planting, the cultivation furrows had checked erosion as compared with land that had been left comparatively smooth between the rows. In one area of very heavy rains there was little or no washing on fairly steep slopes where the rows were on the contour and the soil had been cultivated between the rows, while where these practices had not been followed there was often severe washing.

Another practice that helped to control erosion was leaving sod strips on the contour or the steepest parts of the slopes. Another helpful practice was leaving the draws or water channels, in sod. Having a good sod to break for cultivating crops also helps to control erosion, he observed.

Serious erosion was observed where the land had been smoothed for setting tobacco and heavy rains had fallen before the tobacco was set.

It is instructive, Prof. Roberts added, to watch the seeding of winter grain and to see the difference in erosion where the grain is drilled on the contour as compared with drilling it with the slope, as is often done.

It is suggested by Prof. Roberts that farmers make close observation of these various practices as they travel through the country.

W. P. A. WORKERS

GIVEN WARNING

George H. Goodman, Work Projects Administrator, has instructed all administrative personnel under him to warn WPA workers that they will lose their jobs if they strike and remain away from their jobs five days.

The recent act of Congress extending working hours to 130 per month. Mr. Goodman has a telegram from Col. F. C. Harrington, Commissioner, at Washington which reads in part, as follows:

"In cases where groups of workers stop work in protest against requirement that they work 130 hours per month to earn security wage, it should be explained to them or their representatives that it is a requirement under the law and that no official of the Work Projects Administration has any authority to depart from it."

"Workers should be informed that diversion rest entirely in their hands as to whether they desire to accept employment under these conditions and who absent themselves from work for five consecutive working days or longer, shall have their employment terminated."

Mr. Goodman said there had been no protest strikes in Kentucky and that he had ordered copies of Col. Harrington's wire posted on all project sites where there might be no misunderstanding and that everyone might know the course, to be followed by him has no alternative.

They have fixed it so that it is easier to get married these days, than it is to get your auto license.

COOKING CLASSES ENROLL 4-H BOYS

In response to interest among boys in cooking, food preparation, meal planning and serving, six youths in Hopkins county, Kentucky, have been permitted to enroll in 4-H club foods projects. One of them, O. D. Ramsey of the Antion club, excelled all girls in making biscuits and won first prize in a county exhibit. Lloyd Bates of the same club has learned so much about foods and their preparation that he has been made project captain and now supervises the work in his club.

Mothers of the boys have informed Miss Ruth E. Harralson, Hopkins county home demonstration agent, that they are highly pleased with the cooking talents of their sons, and in some instances they said they preferred that the boys take their sisters' places in the kitchen.

To date, several girls have studied agriculture at the Kentucky College of Agriculture, but no boys have signed up for home economics.

DAIRY ASS'N. IS PLANNED

POSSIBILITY OF 12 HERDS WITH TRAINED TESTER FOR BOONE COUNTY.

Plans are under way for the organization of a Northern Kentucky Dairy Herd Improvement Association beginning either November 1 or February 1, according to H. R. Forkner, county agent. The association will be composed of twenty-five or twenty-six members who employ a full time tester under the supervision of the College to weigh and test each cow's milk and feed one day each month and to record herd breeding records. The dairymen in turn will use these records as a basis for feeding, breeding and the building up of more efficient herds.

Boone County at the present time has three outstanding dairymen, who are D. H. I. A. members and who have bred and developed outstanding purebred herds. They are Robert Youell, of Ludlow, Ky., Route 2, R. B. Huey and son of Burlington, Route 1 and Jess Wilson of Verona, Ky. They hold membership in the Boone-Shelby-Carroll County Association. Several more Boone County dairymen have requested membership, but this association has maintained full membership and there has been very little possibility for new members in recent years.

The proposed new association will give Boone County possibilities of approximately 12 herds with a trained tester giving his full time to dairy herd improvement in three counties. Dairymen desiring membership in the new association should contact the County Agent's office immediately.

LARGE CROWD IS EXPECTED

TO HEAR KEEN JOHNSON AT BURLINGTON JULY 27—DELE-GATIONS FROM ALL PRE-CINCTS TO ATTEND.

One of the largest crowds ever to gather in Burlington is expected here Thursday, August 27, when Lieutenant Governor Keen Johnson addresses the voters of Boone and neighboring counties at 2:00 o'clock C. S. T. at the courthouse. The address will be relayed to the streets through an amplifying system.

Delegations from every precinct in the county have made arrangements to hear the Lieut.-Governor. Many from Grant, Gallatin, Kenton and Campbell counties have notified the Johnson-for-Governor headquarters in Burlington that they will attend.

Accompanying Mr. Johnson to Burlington will be his state campaign manager, J. Lyter Donaldson, it was announced by Chas. W. Riley, Boone County campaign manager for Johnson.

Mr. Johnson has many friends and staunch supporters in this section as was evidenced by the vote he received in his successful campaign for the Lieutenant Governor's chair.

Speaking in practically every county from the forks of the Big Sandy to the Purchase and from the Tennessee boundary to northern Kentucky, the Richmond publisher has undertaken one of the busiest speaking schedules known to Kentucky voters.

Local Pastors Speak At Salem Meeting

The meeting at the Salem Baptist Church July 16 was well attended. Rev. Chas. Mangold spoke from the 53rd Chapter of Isaiah in morning and three interesting and inspiring messages were delivered in the afternoon by Rev. Martin Aylor, Rev. R. F. DeMoisy and Rev. T. C. Crume, Jr. Many beautiful selections were rendered by a male quartet from the Elsmere Baptist Church. The next meeting will be Aug. 20, at 11 o'clock (C. S. T.). It is hoped that more will take notice and be present.

MAJOR JAMES BROWN ISSUES WARNING

A warning was issued today by Major James Brown, Director of the Division of Game and Fish, against the keeping of game animals and birds in captivity as pets.

Each year the Conservation officers of the Division find it necessary to pick up and release game animals and birds which have been captured as young and kept for pets.

"The holding of such animals and birds taken from the wild is contrary to Kentucky game regulations, as well as being against the best interests of the wildlife. Mortality in game animals and birds kept in confinement is usually high and the animals and birds will do much better if allowed to remain in their normal wild habitat," Major Brown stated.

LICENSES EXPIRE LAST DAY OF JULY

DELINQUENT DRIVERS WILL BE UNABLE TO USE OLD LI-CENSE IN OBTAINING 1939-40
CARDS.

According to A. D. Yelton, Circuit Clerk, drivers have been very slow in obtaining their operators license for the year 1939-40. The time for renewing operators license will expire July 31st, after which time the old license may not be turned in and a 1939-40 license obtained.

The Clerk urges all persons to obtain their license early and avoid a last minute rush, such as has been experienced heretofore.

The Clerk explained that persons should obtain their license in the county in which they reside if possible, in order that the record may be kept straight in the event any reference should need to be made to them in the future. The county of a person's residence is the place where the department intends for the record of that person to be found. A delay might be caused in event of a lost or destroyed license if the license is obtained in some other county.

Walton, Town Hall, of Walton, July 20, 21 and 22nd.

Grant, Citizens Deposit Bank, July 24th.

Hebron, Hebron Deposit Bank, July 25th.

Constance, Kottmyer's Store, July 26th.

TRUTH about ADVERTISING

By CHARLES B. ROTH

'PLEASE PASS THE CUSTOMERS'

THERE'S one muscle in the human anatomy which was named by a humorist with boarding-house experience. It is called the "boarding-house muscle" because it is the muscle which enables you to extend your arm—and reach.

It took its name, of course, from the dining-tables of boarding-houses, where to reach far was to get more to eat at a table where everybody was so engrossed in his plate he didn't have the time or the inclination to pass anything to anyone else. Reach now.

In business it is reach also that wins. One of the chief values of advertising to the advertiser is that it gives him a reach for customers. Every business must both reach customers and reach for them if it is to exist.

The business man whose reach is longest or most skilled is the man who brings the most customers into his store. And those who reach the best have the best stores and can give the best values.

The chief concern of every business is its customers. Who are they? Where do they live? Why should they trade with me? How can

I tell them of the advantages of my business? Every business man asks these questions. Every successful business man answers them. In the reach for customers, it isn't a muscle which does the trick. It is advertising.

A man starts a store. Somewhere are men and women to should buy from him. He is sincere in his desire to serve. But unless he does something about it, his store will fall before enough customers find their way to his doors.

He has to reach out for them. He begins to advertise where customers will see—in the newspaper. One reads. He is convinced. He goes to the store. He is well-treated. He buys. He likes what he bought. He returns to buy again.

Gradually, as more advertising appears, more customers come, buy, return to buy again. The reach for customers is building a great business.

But don't you see that the business man is not the only one who has benefited in the process? Every customer who found there a better place to buy, a place where he could get a little bit better merchandise and a little bit better service at a little bit better price, also benefited.

The customer benefits as much from advertising as the business man, if not more.

ASA: A LIFE OF TRUST

LESSON TEXT—II Chronicles 14:2-12.
GOLDEN TEXT—Help us, O Lord our God, for we rest on thee.—II Chronicles 14:11."In God we trust."
These are the words which appear on many of our United States coins. Do we believe them? The lesson for today reveals how real trust in God operates in the life of a nation. The divine principles which were in effect 900 B.C. are just as valid in A.D. 1939. A prayerful consideration of them in the Bible schools of our land today and the application of them to our national life may mean more for our country's welfare than the deliberation of statesmen or the operation of governmental agencies.

The story of the reign of Asa (one of the few good sovereigns of the nation of Judah) reveals that trust in God calls for an upright life, for intelligent preparation, prayer, and faith. If we trust God we shall

I. Make the Life Right (vv. 2-5).
Asa "did that which was good and right in the eyes of the Lord." Only such a man or such a nation can really trust God and count on Him for guidance and blessing.

Asa destroyed the idols and places of heathen worship (vv. 3, 5), but he also turned his people to the true God (v. 4).

Many are praying that America may have such a revival, which will result in the putting away of sin, which is becoming such a blatant commonplace in our land, and a turning to the true God in repentant and righteous living.

II. Prepare With Care (vv. 6-10).
Asa trusted God but he also made every possible preparation for that which his nation might face. In time of peace he fortified cities and trained his army. This was intelligent faith.

We need not pray that God will keep us warm, if we do not gather and conserve the fuel which He has provided. We must plant, harvest, and store the grain if we are to eat when winter comes. A proper preparation for the defense of our country should precede our prayers for God's protection.

In and through all it is God that works, but at the same time He expects us to do what we can as He enables us to serve Him. The Church of Christ, if it would make great strides forward if its followers would recognize that fact.

We have no right to look for divine co-operation until we have done our best; we are not to sit with folded hands and expect a complete salvation to be wrought for us, and then to continue as idle spectators of God's redemption.

We are to tax our resources to the utmost, gather our hundreds of soldiers; we are to work out our own salvation with fear and trembling, for it is God which worketh in us both to will and to do of his good pleasure" (W. H. Bennett).

III. Pray With Assurance (v. 11).
The Ethiopian host facing Asa's army was so great that humbly speaking his distinction was hopeless, but "one man with God at his back is always a majority." Take courage, Christian friends, trust God. Only be certain that you are on His side and that your life is right, and then be assured that your heart by self-trust, and God will fill it with the flashing waters of His strength bestowed.IV. Act in Faith (v. 12).
Asa went out to meet the Ethiopians, but he knew that God went before him, and therefore he saw God smite them.

Right living, proper preparation, and the prayer of faith must culminate in an act of faith. If we believe that God is for us, let us act as though we believed it and step out with confidence to do His will, come what may. God honors that kind of faith, whether it be on the part of a king, leading his nation into battle, or on the part of the humblest believer, seeking to bear testimony for Him.

Foot Health

BY N. TULCH
Foot Comfort Specialist at
AT PEOPLES' FOOT COMFORT
9th and Madison, Covington

There is a natural law constantly at work in the tissues of the human body. We must understand that bone, muscle and nerve consist of millions of ever changing tiny bodies called cells. These cells are held together with the tissue fluids and substances of the body.

Therefore bone, muscle and ligament respectively share the influence of this law, that constant tension causes wasting especially in the feet when the body weight which they carry about and support is not evenly distributed and balanced throughout the twelve major bones of the foot framework.

Ligaments are stretched, due to long and careless standing especially those which bind the weight-supporting and key bones together, these ligaments finally yield in about the fifth or sixth year to strain and abuse, and pull away from the bone attachments. The rest which the night affords is not enough to counteract continuous strain during the day.

This same law holds true of the muscles and tendon attachments of the feet which lift the body weight on the metatarsal heads or pivots. On the other hand, constant pressure causes wasting of tissue.

If the muscles do not hold the weight-bearing joints of feet in proper dovetailing and interlocking action these joints become deformed, misshaped and deformed because of the pressure of the body weight upon their point surfaces.

When we consider that we drive hundreds of tons of aggregate weight into the twelve major bones of each foot every day that we live it is easily understood why feet degenerate.

Can you be well with unhappy feet? Those headaches, those backaches, those leg pains may be caused by the shoes you are wearing.—Adv.

Have you ever noticed that the fellow who insists on singing his own praises, can't carry a tune?

GILBERT POPULAR

CONTENDER IN LT. GOVERNOR'S RACE

The following is an editorial taken from the Adair County News, Columbia, Ky., June 28:

"While the Governor's race holds the most prominent place in the public attention at this time, the numerous candidates for the Democratic nomination for Lieutenant Governor are also attracting attention."

"The race is obviously between Judge Ralph Gilbert of Shelbyville and Rodes K. Myers of Bowling Green, with the former, in our opinion, the stronger candidate."

"Judge Gilbert served as Congressman for several terms when Adair county was part of the old Eighth District and is very popular here. He will carry Adair county by a large majority."

"He has also done valuable work in the Kentucky Legislature and is known as a capable man, qualified in every way for the post."

John Young Brown

NEXT GOVERNOR OF KENTUCKY

Gathering momentum as his campaign enters the final month, John Young Brown, candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, Wednesday was assured equal representation in Louisville on the selection of election officers and challengers at the polls on election day.

At the same time, Mrs. Lennie McLaughlin, number one political aid of the late M. J. Brennan, announced that "Louisville will go for Brown."

Mrs. McLaughlin, who last year was organization leader in Louisville for Senator Barkley's successful primary fight, stated that a substantial majority of the city's 623 precincts this year would be under the direction of the same workers and precinct captains as last year. Brown's Louisville organization this year will be "about the same as Senator Barkley had last year," Mrs. McLaughlin stated.

Following Mrs. McLaughlin's statement, Jefferson County Judge Mark Beauchamp, who far many years headed the county workers for the Brennan organization, stated that Brown would have exactly the same organization in the County that gave Senator Barkley such a majority last year.

YOUR BEST ASSURANCE FOR GOOD GOVERNMENT

Attention Mr. Farmer:

Keen Johnson)

"Kentucky is primarily an agricultural State. I oppose any and ALL efforts to increase taxes on land. High land taxes affect not only the land owners but make it impossible for the tenant and farm laborer to acquire their own farms and homes. I am in accord with the farm program of the national administration, seeking parity prices for farm commodities.

The State Department of Agriculture belongs to the farmers. It must be re-organized and re-vitalized. Of immediate need is a militant Division of Markets. Such a division should be staffed with well-qualified technical men. The Division of Markets would stress promotional efforts and help farmers in setting up farmer-cooperatives. It should supplement rather than duplicate educational activities of the marketing division of the College of Agriculture. I also favor an appropriation for research by the College of Agriculture as proposed by the Farm Bureau, in an effort to find new uses for tobacco."

Attention Mr. Laborer:

(From Mr. Johnson's Shelbyville speech)

"There are many splendid men who are dues-paying members of the CIO. I have no word of criticism for them. They are doing the best they can to make a living for their families. But I am against the practices of their dictatorial leaders, leaders that exploit honest working men, leaders which the dues-paying members have no voice in selecting.

"I believe that working men should be permitted to join any union they desire and that no dictator should be given power to require them to join the union of which he is the Czar and dues-taker.

"I have demonstrated my sincere friendship for labor at every opportunity. I shall, as Governor, be sympathetic with all reasonable labor legislation which improves the condition of the working man without reducing employment opportunity."

Attention

Car and Truck Owners:

(From Text of Mr. Johnson's Address)

"Rural roads to lift farmers OUT OF THE MUD and ON TO THE PRIMARY roads is a State service for which farmers pay, and to which they are fully entitled. A fair apportionment of State road funds will be made for farm-to-market roads."

Boone County obtained more miles of hard-surfaced highway during J. Lyter Donaldson's (Johnson's state campaign manager) term as a member of the State Highway Commission than during any other like number of years in the history of the county.

Highlights in the Life of KEEN JOHNSON

The story of a newspaperman, a World War veteran and a public spirited citizen interested in community and state public service is contained in the career of Lieutenant-Governor Keen Johnson, one of the most attractive candidates ever to declare for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination in Kentucky.

Though only 43 years old, Lieutenant-Governor Johnson has crowded into the short period of years since he reached manhood enough activity for several persons. Son of a Methodist minister, he was born at Brandon's Chapel, in Lyon County, January 12, 1896. His parents were the Rev. Robert Johnson and Mrs. Mattie Holloway Johnson.

He received his early education in the public schools of Western Kentucky where his father filled a number of pulpits. In 1914, he graduated from Vanderbilt Training School, a boy's preparatory institution, at Elkton.

At the outbreak of the World War, in 1917, Keen enrolled in the first officers' training camp at Ft. Riley, Kansas, May 5, 1917. Here he was commissioned a second lieutenant and assigned to duty with the 354th Infantry, 89th Division, going overseas where he saw more than a year's service in the A. E. F. He was discharged from the Army in October, 1919, as a first lieutenant.

Leaving the Army he embarked on his first newspaper venture, acquiring The Mirror, a weekly newspaper, in Elizabethtown, which he edited and published for more than a year. He then enrolled at the University of Kentucky, where he continued his studies until his graduation in 1922. While a student at the University he worked as a reporter on the staff of the Lexington Herald. Upon graduation from the University, he became editor and co-publisher of the Anderson News, Lawrenceburg, where he remained from 1922 until 1925, when he went to Richmond to become editor and co-publisher of the Richmond Daily Register, a newspaper connection he has continued ever since.

In 1932 he was elected secretary of the Kentucky State Democratic Central and Executive Committee and was re-elected to this post in 1936. His present term as secretary of the Democratic party's governing body in the State will expire in 1940.

In 1935 he became a candidate for Lieutenant-Governor and after winning the party nomination in the primaries, was swept into office by a majority of more than 100,000 votes.

He is a past president of the Kentucky Press Association and president of the University of Kentucky Alumni Association. He is a member of the American Legion, the Forty-and-Eight, and the Veterans of Foreign Wars and, as Lieutenant-Governor, is chairman of the Kentucky Disabled Ex-Servicemen's Board. He is also a past president of the Kentucky Conference of Social Work. He is a member of the Masonic Order, the Junior Order of American Mechanics and the Elks.

He was married, in 1917, to Miss Eunice Nichols, of Missouri. They have one child, a daughter, Judy, 12 years old.

"THE OPPOSITION"

Attention Taxpayers:

(Statements of Mr. Johnson)

"The greatest service that can be rendered farmers, business men, property owners, or laborers—is to PROTECT them against either high current taxes or a big uncontrolled State debt that eventually means taxes so high as to be confiscatory.

Any new or higher taxes will be a heavy burden. I can conceive of nothing worse than passing the buck to a fact-finding commission. I am against "Hooverizing" of this kind. Modification or revision downward of existing taxes only should be considered. I shall oppose enactment of any general retail sales tax. I oppose any State laws that will increase the expenses of counties."

Attention School Teachers:

(From Johnson's platform)

"The present appropriation for common schools in Kentucky is $12 per child. This is the most generous contribution for public schools in the history of the State. It should be maintained, with such increase in the per capita as becomes possible without bankrupting the school funds. In addition, a teachers' retirement fund will add an estimated $750,000 and should be provided for. I favor also the submission of a Constitutional Amendment to permit an equalization fund which is the only solution to the problem of inequality in distribution of school money."

Attention Job Seekers:

(From Mr. Brown's Platform)

"To those who do most for me, I will in turn do most for."

The above quotation is directly opposite the fundamental principles of Civil Service, yet Mr. Brown advocates a reform in the Civil Service.

The above quotation is advance notice that Tom Rhea, Seldon Glenn, Sam Caddy, and Fred Wallis are to be put in the driver's seat should their candidate be elected.

KEEN JOHNSON has made no promises to you concerning a job. HONEST and EFFICIENT government is not made possible by job promises. Only a FEW misinformed voters are swayed by such outlandish promises.

Fri. and Sat.—"Saint Strikes Back"
Sun. & Mon.—"I'm From Missouri"
Tuesday—"King of the Turf"
Wed. and Thursday—"Stagecoach"

Neil Hamilton, popular leading man of silent films and the early days of talkies, today is meeting with equal success as a character actor. He is currently appearing in RKO Radio's "The Saint Strikes Back" which introduces George Sanders as "The Saint" in the series of films the studio is producing around the exploits of Leslie Charteris' popular mystery fiction character.

You'll see Bob Burns in top hot, white tie and tails and cavorting about in London's best circles instead of on the customary prairies, in his new picture, "I'm From Missouri!" But he's still the same plain-spoken, rough-hewn Burns who rates as the nation's most popular native humorist, and it's only a Missourian's natural love for his mule—and devotion to his wife—that make him desert the Mississippi for the Thames!

You'll want to see this picture.

Two of the greatest figures of the turf were brought together for the first time by Alfred E. Green, who directed "King of the Turf," the Edward Small film production which will be shown at the Gayety Tuesday. Playing the role of a jockey in the picture is Smokey Saunders, who rode Omaha to victory in the 1935 Kentucky Derby, and who came in first on the same mount in that year's Preakness and Belmont Stakes. A little older and playing an extra role was Charles Borel, whose name for years topped the list of outstanding American jockeys. It was Borel who rode Pennant to victory in the Futurity of 1913.

With Claire Trevor and John Payne playing the top roles, Walter Wanger's new frontier drama "Stagecoach," which will be shown at the Gayety Theatre on Wednesday and Thursday, July 26-27, unfolds a gripping story of pioneer courage—of the brilliant heritage that has descended to young Americans from men who fought and hewed a nation out of a wilderness. It is a saga of brave men who went with them to bring comfort and love to lonely outposts. It was filmed before a backdrop that took sun, wind and rain thousands of years to build and color—Monument Valley 180 miles from the nearest Arizona railroad.

"The Gracie Allen Murder Case," with Gracie Allen, Warren William, Ellen Drew, Kent Taylor—Sunday, July 23rd. "Take it from Gracie!" "It's a crime the way people go around killing other people... The cops grab Gracie and Gracie cops the laughs... as she and Philo Vance match wits and half-wits with a clueless S. S. Van Dine's fastest, funniest mystery."

"The Jones Family in Hollywood," with Jed Prouty, Spring Byington, Ken Howell, Geo. Ernest Monday, July 24th. "The movies' first family takes money in Hollywood... and what a time they have. Jack gets tangled up with romance—Rogers tries to lick the whole movie colony—Lucy takes a screen test, and Dad takes an aspirin."

"Silver on the Sage," with William Boyd, George Hayes, Russell Hayden, Ruth Rogers—Tuesday, July 25th. Another rip-roaring round-up of Cassidy thrills. The outlaws want him on their side... the law wants a budding hero... murder. Which will he choose? The hero of a hundred thrill round-ups is back in his best.

"Prison Without Bars," with Corinne Luchaire, Edna Best, Barry Barnes, Mary Morris—Wednesday, July 26th. A romantic melodrama of a trio housed in a seminary for Wayward young women. Prison rebellion—sardonic treatment—reformative procedures and romantic interludes go to make up the picture.

"The Lone Wolf Spy Hunt," with Warren William, Ida Lupino, Rita Hayworth, Virginia Weidler, and Ralph Morgan—Thursday, July 27. A foreign cigarette his calling card... a beautiful blonde his accomplice... a ruffled safe his love letter... the gayest of all bandits is battling a spy ring now.

"Only Angels Have Wings," with Cary Grant, Jean Arthur, Richard Barthelmess, Thos. Mitchell—Friday and Saturday, July 28th and 29th. Drama skimming the peaks of the towering Andes... and probing the depths of human hearts. What though the fog blinds... the rains lash... and the winds from the mountains howl terror and death... For men must fly... and women must weep... as the year's most magnificent drama of love in far places thunders to its heart-stabbing climax.

PLAY AT HOME

If you have space in the yard, make a see-saw from a carpenter's horse and a smooth plank. Dump a load of sand in a shady spot for the small children. Nail barrel hoops to a stationary clothespole for older ones to practice basketball. Pieces of gas pipe sunk in cement will be a solid standard for a swing for old and young.

Farmers may worry when their calves are out, but that is an old story with girls in this county.

CINCINNATI MEN ARRESTED THURS.

NIGHT FOLLOWING CHASE ON DIXIE HIGHWAY BY OFFICERS AND POSSE OF FLORENCE CITIZENS.

Four men registered as Edward Barber, Willard Crowe, Chester Campbell and Samuel Darboe, all of Cincinnati, were arrested Thursday night following a chase by two police officers and a volunteer posse of 150 residents, charged with having entered an unoccupied residence about two miles south of Florence on Highway 42 and taking a set of harness.

B. Craycraft, Florence farmer, who was preparing to move into the house the men allegedly entered, saw them as they got into their auto to drive away. He jumped on the running board of the car, wrestling with the driver in an effort to stop the flight. The car sped toward Florence, with Craycraft still trying to bring the car to a stop.

Just as the car reached Florence a tire blew out, throwing Mr. Craycraft from the running board. He escaped injury, and shouted his story to the gathering crowd.

State Patrolman Nick Winterburg and Marshal Wood Stevens, of Florence, along with approximately 150 Florence residents sprang into action, manning available autos to give chase to the fleeing auto.

The posse and officers separated into several groups and searched the woods near which the abandoned car was found. The four captured were caught in pairs. The men claimed they had purchased the harness they had taken from the house.

Wednesday morning as ETOAINE The four men were brought to Burlington where they are being held and placed in jail.

Wednesday morning as we go to press an examining trial is in progress in Judge Riddell's court, the outcome of which we are unable to give in this issue.

Drivers have been usually slow in obtaining their drivers licenses this year, according to records of the Circuit Court Clerk, which showed that only 987 had purchased their licenses up to Monday of this week.

This year, unless licenses are purchased before August 1st, drivers will be unable to turn in their old license and have a new one issued. Late applicants must take a driver's test, according to reports.

The Clerk's office will be open each evening until August 1st.

The Constance Hilltoppers took the fast Elsmere nine by the score of 5 to 4 Sunday on the winner's grounds. Brinkman, pitcher of the losers struck out 12 men, but allowed 12 hits. Satchwell received his fast-breaking curves. Goodridge and Fox hurled fine ball for the winners, Goodridge allowing 2 hits in four innings and Fox 3 hits in five innings. Snelling and Lane divided the catching duties for the Hilltoppers.

Constance made four errors in succession permitting three runs to cross the plate. The most thrilling play of all the game was Sel Vahlsing, of the Constance team hitting a triple with the bases loaded in the eighth inning.

Next Sunday Constance plays Bromley at the Constance park. Bromley defeated Constance earlier in the season, so did the Elsmere Merchants, but the team is much improved, having won now, four games in a row.

Excellent Tobacco Crop Grown By Petersburg Twins

Garnett and Louis Surface, the ten-year-old twins of Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Surface, of Petersburg, have one of the best 4-H club tobacco projects in the county, according to H. B. Drake, assistant county agent.

These boys not only look alike, but work together like twins. They planted their crop of one and seven-tenths acres together and have worked it together, doing all the work themselves, except a little of the plowing which was done by their father. Their tobacco was some of the largest seen and the most uniform of any crop visited by the members of the Petersburg 4-H club on July 21st.

Mr. Surface reported that the boys are very much interested in their tobacco crop and are quite anxious to do all the work. They will, no doubt, furnish some strong competition in the 4-H tobacco show to be held this fall.

The tobacco is on the Wm. Cox farm located on the Lawrenceburg Ferry Road.

PROSPECTS GOOD FOR DAIRY ASS'N.

IN BOONE, KENTON AND CAMPBELL ACCORDING TO REPORT OF J. B. SMATHERS, DAIRY SPECIALIST.

Boone, Kenton and Campbell counties have possibilities for the organization of a full 25 member cow testing or Dairy Herd Improvement Association, according to the report of J. B. Smathers, dairy specialist, to the county agent, the past week.

The organization of a full-time testing association will help create greater interest in better dairy feeding, breeding and management practices among all farmers. It will give to the individual member accurate records on his herds as to individual cow production, test, feed costs and breeding records. These records, with the help of the tester, will enable the dairyman to carefully select the animals from which to build the herd and in turn will be a source of valuable breeding stock to the entire community.

The organization of the Northern Kentucky Dairy Herd Improvement Association will begin in Boone County on Wednesday, August 2nd. Members will be signed up on this date to begin D. H. I. A. testing work on about November 1st. Four dairymen have already received membership. They are R. B. Huey and Son, Robert Youell and Jess Wilson, present D. H. I. A. and Bull Association members, and Dr. R. C. Garrison, Burlington. Those interested in securing membership should contact the county agent's office at an early date.

FORMER BOONE CO. BOY IN RACE

HORACE CLEVELAND HAS COLORFUL AND VARIED BACKGROUND—WAS REARED ON FARM NEAR CONSTANCE.

Probably no candidate for any political office in the State of Kentucky has a background that is as colorful and varied as that of Horace S. Cleveland, Democratic candidate for the office of Commissioner of Agriculture.

Having been raised on a farm, he knows the many complicated problems that face the farmer today and to this is added urban experience of four years management of the great Kentucky State Fair, which under his ever watchful guidance has grown to greater proportions than ever before.

Following graduation from Burlington High School he entered Transylvania College, from which he matriculated in 1921. He was president of the Senior class and captain of the football and basketball teams. Also, he was in the Army in 1918, and, of course, is an active member of the American Legion now.

With his wife and two small sons, Mr. Cleveland lives on a farm near Frankfort, Henry County, and has been a practical farmer all of his life. He was the first president of the Henry County Farm Bureau and a director of the Henry County Fair for several years.

The last two named activities brought him in close and active contact with Agriculture Extension work in the University of Kentucky and he was a member of the County Committee AAA and Agricultural Conservation Program in Henry County.

Since 1936 the State Board of Agriculture has claimed much of his time because of his membership there and he is rounding out his fourth year as manager of the Kentucky State Fair, during which period the fair has made an exceptional and impressive record for increased service to the state and to the farmers from "Mills Field" to the Big Barn.

Recognizing ability and executive qualities, Cleveland was invited to become a member of the Advisory Committee of the great New York World's Fair, by none less than the celebrated Grover Whalen.

Membership in the Kentucky Poultry Industry Council claims a part of his time as does his trusteeship of the University of Kentucky and membership of the Executive Committee, of the Board of Trustees of that institution.

His selection for this important post was probably due to his aptitude and love for things academic and cultural and for several years he was a high school principal in Henry County, where he now lives. He is a member of the Christian Church, and has found there most every Sunday except when more pressing duties make his Sunday church visit prohibitive.

In heading advice that he run for the office of Commissioner of Agriculture, Cleveland, who also is chairman of the Henry County Democratic Committee, said "In offering myself as a candidate for the office of Commissioner of Agriculture, I do so with a full realization of the problems and conditions that surround this office. My service to the State Board of Agriculture, my connection with the University of Kentucky as member of the Board of Trustees, my active participation in the AAA program, my experience as a member of the Kentucky Legislature and my association with the farm organizations has given me a contact with agricultural problems in the State which should be extremely helpful toward the reorganization and administration of the affairs of the Department of Agriculture."

"I have repeatedly told my friends that I am making this campaign without obligation to any individual or group that would in any way hamper my determination to render a real service to the farmers of Kentucky, because I know that by working together, we can look forward to a greater Kentucky."

TRUTH about ADVERTISING

By CHARLES B. ROTH

GYPS

I STOOD for an hour watching a pitch man coining money. He was selling a useless gadget worth a dime at the ten cent store.

By clothing it with mystery and high-pitched sales talk he sold this gadget like hot cakes—at a dollar.

And the crowd pressed around for more.

I thought it must be wonderful to have a business like that—only if it would last, if only the customers would come back for more. But I knew they wouldn't.

Two days later I passed the doorway where the pitch man had been operating but he had decamped. Where was he? In some other city, probably miles away, going through the same tricks.

These pitch men, almost without exception, die broke. Inspired salesmen, really with a talent for persuading people that amounts to genius, they nevertheless fill pauper's graves, and spend their old age in cheap rooming-houses.

What's the trouble with them? It isn't hard to find. They do not give value. They depend upon talk to replace quality, tricks to do away with honesty. They lose as every dishonest man must.

Charles Roth

You have never seen an advertisement of one of these gyps. You never will. There are two reasons why.

One is that no reputable newspaper will accept their advertising, because a newspaper takes its obligation to its readers so seriously that it investigates advertisers and rejects those that do not give honest value.

The second reason is that advertising is an investment, and not a gamble. And these pitch men are gamblers who do not give honest value.

The man who advertises says in effect to you: "I am operating a business in your service. I will offer goods you want. My prices will be reasonable. I have become a definite part of this community. My money is invested here. Here I intend to remain, a part of your community life. I sell good goods, and in my advertising I tell the truth about them."

Because you have been "gypped" by buying wild cat brands and by patronizing itinerant peddlers and door-to-door solicitors without a responsible place in the community, you now buy advertised goods from merchants who advertise.

This is the course which is followed by the shrewdest buyers. It is the course that has discovered which pays them the best.

It will also pay you best.

sides between home-made and "boughten" ice cream and each side has its adherents, but whether the delicious dessert comes from the home or the factory we salute it as a necessity to good living. A summer without a cone of the double-dip variety or a sundae topped with syrup and nuts, would be a summer worthwhile.

There is many a brand of cheap ice cream to spoil the taste due to not enough butter fat or too much air content. We know that there is something wrong when the fluffiness is past reason and the stuff shrinks in the dish. But whatever the faults, we wish ice cream a happy birthday and long may it live to tempt the palate of old and young, rich and poor.

JEHOSEPHAT: A LIFE OF OBEDIENCE

LESSON TEXT—II Chronicles 17:1-4, 9-12.
GOLDEN TEXT—But seek ye first the kingdom of God and his righteousness.—Matthew 6:33.

Obedience is one of the old-fashioned virtues which has been pushed aside in our present mad rush of self-expression. It needs to be revived if we are to have a happy, contented, and useful people.

The lesson for this week is an excellent opportunity to give class members a right perspective. Many regard obedience as something which is exacted by those who desire to have authority over others, but it is a matter of fact it is a principle established by God for the right and orderly conduct of life, the observation of which results in blessing and prosperity, and the ignoring of which brings chaos, fighting, bitterness, and disappointment. Obedience to parents, to the law of man, and to the law of God should be taught and exemplified by us, even as it was by Jehoshaphat. Obedience in his life made him

I. A Good Son (vv. 1, 3, 4).
He followed his father Asa and his brother David in that they had followed God. Apart from God and the influence of the Christian faith, the tendency is quite the other way.

Frequently we find that a father who came up from poverty by his own diligence and ability will have a wastrel son who amounts to nothing, or even worse, one that ruins himself and others. Blessed is the son who has a godly father and who has sense enough to follow in his steps in obedience to God.

II. A Capable Administrator (vv. 2, 5).
Jehoshaphat faced real problems. The nation was prospering, but there were many difficult questions of foreign relations and in domestic affairs. Especially was he concerned about their fellowship with the sister nation of Israel. Idolatry was still common in the land, new territory had to be consolidated and fortified.

The king, Jehoshaphat, was a man of law and whose heart is lifted up toward Him may expect that all his faculties will be stimulated, and that, furthermore, he will have the guidance of God in the discharge of his duties. This is true not only of kings and national leaders, but of each one of us. If we trust in God and are obedient to His guidance, He will bring about astonishing results in the lives of any one of us.

III. A True Worshiper (vv. 3, 6).
He walked in the ways of his forefathers in his obedience to God. A man does not need to be a blind worshiper of the good old days to realize that America could profit by walking in the ways of those of our forefathers who daily walked with God.

Note also that Jehoshaphat had a real personal spiritual experience of his own. "His heart was lifted up in the ways of the Lord" (v. 6). Spiritual exaltation makes a man better fitted to live in the daily round of life where he must keep his feet on the ground. There is a dearth of new personal spiritual experiences in our time. How long is it since you and I have felt our souls strangely warmed? God is ready and willing to do this for us now, as He was in the days of Jehoshaphat.

IV. A Wise Educator (v. 9).
Here was a real program of religious education. A wise teacher knows that it is not enough to remove the bad, he must replace it with the good. Jehoshaphat tore down the places of heathen worship, but he substituted the teaching of the Word of God. That kind of a program of nation-wide Christian education would be tremendously worthwhile in this year of our Lord 1939 and within the confines of our own beloved country.

Read verses 7 and 8 and you will note that most of the leaders in this teaching campaign were laymen. The priests were evidently for the most part not interested. This has all too often been so, but let not that deter the layman from going ahead in God's name.

V. A Respected Ruler (vv. 5, 10, 11).
His own people gave him the recognition of love and loyalty (v. 5). The jealous nations around him were afraid of him, for they knew that God was with him (v. 10). This was what would be in our day regarded as a rather unusual means of national defense, but note that it was tremendously effective. Would that America were a nation united in loving obedience to God's law. Then would our enemies be afraid because God's hand would be upon us for good.

Wise in All
I know God is wise in all; wonderful in what we conceive, but far more in what we comprehend not.—Sir Thomas Browne.

IN MEMORY

Of Elmer Lee's eleventh birthday, July 18th:

You are gone from us but not forgotten. We miss you more each day you are away.

There is a vacant chair which can never be filled, And the sound of your voice shall always be stilled.

Those big bright eyes we miss so much, And the sunny smile that was so worthwhile.

You were so kind and loving; There's no one that can take your place.

But we hope to meet you again some day Beyond the Golden Gate.

GRANT COUNTY PRESENTS
A MAN

FOR

COMMONWEALTH'S ATTORNEY

Grant County presents R. L. VINCENT for the Democratic nomination for Commonwealth's Attorney. He is one of ten brothers raised on a farm. He worked his way through college; served seven years as principal of some of the best high schools of the State; served eight years as County Attorney of Grant County where he made a splendid record. He is a member of the Grant County Farm Bureau, a member of the Williamstown Masonic Lodge and Chairman of the Grant County Red Cross Chapter. He has the confidence and backing of his home people, having won his last nomination by 900 majority.

The Commonwealth Attorney's office is a very important office. The criminal, with the high-powered automobile, can come into your community after you have gone to sleep and steal your sheep, your meat, chickens and other produce, and be a hundred miles away before daybreak. The safety of your property and the safety of your lives depends upon a FAIR, HONEST and FAITHFUL enforcement of your criminal laws. It is, therefore necessary that we have an HONEST, DEPENDABLE Commonwealth's Attorney.

For the past twelve years Owen County has had the Circuit Judge's office, and for the past twelve years Gallatin County has had the Commonwealth Attorney's office, and for twelve years before that Boone County had the Circuit Judge's office, and for fourteen years before that Carroll County had the Commonwealth Attorney's office. For a period of thirty years Grant County has not been honored with either of these offices.

We realize that we are in a heated campaign for Governor and other state offices but since the Commonwealth Attorney's office is so important to the farmers and business people we urge you not to lose sight of the Commonwealth Attorney's race.

Boone County and Grant County have always stood together. We are in the same Senatorial District and are in the same Legislative District. Two years from now the people of Boone County will be asking the people of Grant County to support a man for Representative and possibly for Senator.

A vote for R. L. VINCENT for democratic nomination for Commonwealth's Attorney will be appreciated.

Keeping of individual cow records in the herd and the culling of low producing cows for greater dairy profits was recommended to members by J. B. Smathers, Field Agent in Dairying, College of Agriculture. He stated that if average feed prices paid were compared with average production at the present price of whole milk, a loss per hundred pounds of milk would result. This means that dairymen producing and selling whole milk must have better than average cows and produce more efficiently to make a profit.

Just Let Me Tell You A Few Facts About Walking, So You'll Realize Just How Much
It Can Do For You.

BY N. TULCH
Foot Comfort Specialist at
AT PEOPLES' FOOT COMFORT
8th and Madison, Covington

The normal heart, you know beats about seventy-two times a minute and pumps about six ounces of blood with each beat. Now, in fast walking, or at the rate of four miles an hour—which is how fast you should walk to do you some good—you'll find the normal heart will INCREASE its beat ten times to the minute, pumping six ounces of blood at each beat, gives sixty ounces per minute or 3600 an hour, which is 225 pounds. You can easily see that 225 ADDITIONAL pounds of blood pumped DAILY through your veins means just that much more life to your whole body.

There's no use of my telling you to get out and walk if you are having trouble with your feet, because I know you don't do it. BUT if I tell you how to get rid of those aching, painful feet, first—then there's nothing to keep you from walking every day and benefitting your health by this wonderful exercise.

It has also been found that millions suffer without knowing the reason why—those headaches, those leg pains, and even sleepless nights may be caused by the shoes you are wearing.—Adv.

NEW TRACTOR WITH
"CULT-VISION" LAST WORD IN IMPLEMENTS

"I couldn't believe it until I saw it," said Mr. Calvin Cress, McCormick Deering dealer at Burlington, Ky., who has just attended a preview of the new Farmall-A tractor, held at the Kenwood Country Club Cincinnati, by the International Harvester Company.

"This latest rubber-tired addition to the Farmall line," continued Mr. Cress, "which sells for a new low Farmall price, brings the grower of row crops something he has never had before—full vision of the work that is being done directly under the tractor. Just as television brings the radio listener something he has never been able to see, so the Farmall-A enables the man who is cultivating corn or other row crops to see what he is doing without having to crane his neck or twist his body.

"It's all in the design of the tractor," said Mr. Cress. "The engine is so cleverly placed it does not obstruct the view of the rows. The driver rides easily in a comfortable sponge-rubber upholstered seat and watches the cultivator shovels at the same close range that is possible on a horse-drawn riding cultivator.

"It's surprising," Mr. Cress said further, "how much more power and low-cost service have been built into the new Farmall-A. It will bring power farming to the man who farms small acreage with 40 to 60 acres under cultivation. It will also be welcomed by the big grower who needs a second or a third tractor to supplement the power of his larger tractor.

"A complete line of quick-attachable field machines has been designed to fit the Farmall-A. The owner will be independent of horse power and freed from the tiresome chores and expensive upkeep of horses.

"At its interesting low price this new Farmall-A will be in big demand immediately. Production at the factory is in full swing and samples should arrive soon. Nothing of such importance has happened in the agricultural implement field for a long time. Growers in this vicinity will look forward with interest to seeing and trying out the new Farmall-A as soon as the first shipment arrives."

SPILLING LIQUIDS

When making a long trip and packing liquids in baggage, apply two or three coats of nail polish around the neck and cap on the small bottles you are storing. This will keep contents from spilling. Be sure one coat of polish is dry before applying next one, however.

The fellow who asks for little here below, usually winds up with just about that much.

F. F. A. NEWS HEBRON CHAPTER

Members of the Hebron Chapter of Future Farmers arrived at the State F. F. A. Camp, Hardinsburg, Ky., about 9 o'clock Monday morning, July 10th. Harold Williams, Robert Grant, Lehman Hollis, John Randall, Lewis Hossman and Jas. Huey, advisor, were the members who enjoyed the week at the camp.

We left Hebron Monday before the town was awake in Mr. Huey's car, with a small trailer carrying luggage consisting of towels, covers, pillows, clothing, etc. We made only one stop, this being in Louisville for breakfast, so we arrived at the camp about 9 o'clock and were the first to register.

Monday's program consisted of organization and planning. We spent the afternoon swimming and after supper visited the town of Hardinsburg. Several went to the show.

Tuesday the different groups began contests in ping pong, shuffle board, horse shoes, soft ball, volleyball and swimming.

Each day the following schedule was followed:

Six o'clock, sitting-up exercise. Seven, Breakfast.

8:00-8:30 Clean-up barracks. 8:30 Leadership training meetings.

10:00 Athletic contests. 12:00 Dinner.

12:30-1:30 Free Period. 1:30-5:00 Contests and swimming.

6:00 Supper. 7:00-10:00 Program and free period.

10:00 Lights out.

There were about seventy boys from various chapters at the camp. We were divided into four groups. Most of us were on a different group.

The meeting and associating with boys from different chapters is a very important part of the camp program.

Saturday morning after breakfast all groups left. Everyone enjoyed camp and many are planning to go again next year.

Our boys took an active part in their groups. Lewis Hossman was elected president of his group and also played on the all-star soft ball team. Harold Williams was treasurer of his group. John Randall was on the program committee and entered ping-pong, shuffle board, soft ball and volleyball in his group. Robert Grant entered the contests in his group and was second baseman of his soft ball team.

Bob's group won first for the week. Lehman Hollis was a base note in a quartet and also played third base on the soft ball team.

A shoe race was the climax of the field meet and athletic contest.

The camp is a 90-acre tract with a large lake, woods, barracks and other buildings. It was formerly a CCC camp. It is now owned and operated by the Future Farmers Organization of Kentucky.

By unanimous vote of our fellows the following winners were found:

Best Letter writer—John Randall.

Best Sleeper—Bob Grant.

Best "stayer-upper"—Tarzan Hollis.

Best Girl Meeter—Harold Date Williams.

Best of All Above—Lewis Green Dress Hossman.

—Hebron Chapter F. F. A.

You may not be allowed to vote more than once, but they don't limit you to how many times you can shake a fool of yourself.

Gayety Theater News

Fri. & Sat.—"12 Crowded Hours"
Sun. & Mon.—Calling Dr. Kildare
Tues., Wed., and Thursday, Aug. 1,
2, and 3—"Hardy's Ride High"

Richard Dix, one of the few stars of the silent film era whose popularity has never decreased, is back in a new picture, "Twelve Crowded Hours." Lucille Ball plays opposite him.

Noted for his virile characterizations, Dix plays a two-fisted newspaper reporter who virtually conducts a one-man crusade against crime in a graft-ridden city. The current offering marks the first time the star has played a news reporter since the immortal "Cimaron."

Dix made his cinema debut in 1921 in a film entitled "Not Guilty." At that time he was a leading man for the Morosco Stock company in Los Angeles. His first picture met with such success that he quickly soared to stardom, has remained there ever since.

In "Twelve Crowded Hours," the action revolves around the operation of the numbers racket, and the efforts of a reporter to smash a gambling ring.

Young "Dr. Kildare" goes thru another whirlwind adventure, this time solving a murder case in "Calling Dr. Kildare," second of the medical-detective series, to be shown at the Gayety Theatre Sunday and Monday with Lew Ayres and Lionel Barrymore.

In the second picture based on Max Brand's stories, Ayres becomes infatuated with Lana Turner, hides a wounded fugitive from the law for her sake, clears him by finding the real murderer, only to discover the day after so he has lost the girl. The wise old Dr. Gillespie, played by Barrymore, solves his problems in a unique dramatic twist.

The sixth of the Hardy family pictures, titled "The Hardy Ride High" will be shown at the Gayety Theatre Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, August 1, 2, and 3. The new story takes the familiar group to Detroit in response to the startling news that they have inherited a fortune.

The same cast which has scored in previous pictures of the series appears again, with several additions. Lewis Stone portrays Judge Hardy. Mickey Rooney is again the irrepressible son, Andy; Fay Holden appears as Mrs. Hardy; Cecilia Parker is the daughter, Marian; Sara Haden is the maiden Aunt Milly; and Ann Rutherford enacts the role of Mickey's Carvel girl friend, Polly Benedict. Don Castle is the admiral of Cecilia.

The family encounters legal difficulties over the expected fortune

In Detroit. Judge Hardy, facing an opportunity to win the money by a bit of dishonesty, faces the issue squarely and they return to the East, as poor as every but equally as honest.

CANVAS CITIES

As you read the goings on in this paper you have noticed that young people here, as throughout the land, are taking advantage of the annual camps conducted by the 4-H clubs. These camps or "canvas cities" give the youth advantages of any regulated summer resort but are conducted along lines of a city government with a mayor and officials to run it. The "citizens" receive awards for merit and there are educational meetings besides the enjoyment of the outdoor life. It is satisfying to all parents who have children to 4-H clubs, and it is with renewed vigor and added vision that these young people return to farms and communities better for the association and knowledge gained on this vacation.

Limestone And Phosphate Make Grass More Palatable

Livestock show a decided preference for grass grown on land that has been phosphated and limed on the Frank Rouse farm north of Burlington, according to H. B. Drake, Assistant County Agent.

Mr. Rouse has a pasture that was treated with lime and phosphate in 1938. Small plots were left without treatment. The entire field has a good stand of lespedeza that has been pastured all year. Grass on the treated plots has a darker green color and is grazed much shorter than the untreated plots. This field was phosphated and limed in cooperation with the Tennessee Valley Authority and the Boone County Extension Service.

Mr. Rouse's experience confirms the observation made by several authorities over the State that livestock prefers grass from land that has been phosphated and limed. There are evidently certain minerals in grass grown on land thus treated that makes the grass more palatable as well as more beneficial to all classes of livestock.

Pastures Need Rest

Many farmers of Boone, Kenton and Gallatin counties who are following soil conserving recommendations of the Soil Conservation Service staff will be able to give their permanent bluegrass pastures a rest during the dry summer months and thus improve their erosion control program.

Pastures, Mr. Darnell points out, need a rest, just like human beings, especially during mid-summer dry weather. From mid-July to early September summer pasture production usually falls off due to lack of moisture. If overgrazed at such times pastures may become eroded. Many farmers during this period use a timothy, alfalfa and clover meadow for supplementary pasture. They report that it will provide excellent grazing after a first cutting of hay has been made.

By early September these farmers can return to their stock to the bluegrass pastures because they usually will again be in production due to fall rains.

Use of meadow for supplementary pasture cuts down an expensive summer grain feeding and keeps up milk and beef production as well, Mr. Darnell says.

CARE OF STRAWBERRY PATCH

Spaworth growers of Kentucky differ widely in opinion as to the best methods of handling the field after the first harvest. Many successful growers spend no money or labor in working out the old field. It is pointed out in a circular published by the State College of Agriculture, but simply allow it to remain, cut it over with the mower in June and October, and pick the crop the following spring. If June, July and August are dry, the yield the following year may be greater than it would have been if the field had been worked out. Where this method is followed it is not necessary to apply a mulch.

FARMERS URGED EARN ALLOWANCE

IN SOIL-BUILDING PRACTICE—COUNTY HAS SET UP $54,818 IN SOIL-BUILDING ALLOWANCE—OCT. 31 LAST DAY.

Boone County farmers have until October 31 to earn approximately $31,477.63 in soil-building practices or this money will be lost, according to H. R. Forkner, county agent. This amount represents the difference between $27,349.27 estimated from the field supervisors' reports as earned to date and the approximate $58,818 soil-building allowance set up for the county.

Every farmer wants to earn 100 percent of the allowance calculated for his farm especially when he receives $3.00 per acre for seeding alfalfa, $1.50 per acre for seeding all grasses and clovers other than red top, timothy, Korean lespedeza, plus seven-fifty cents per acre; $1.50 per ton for use of lime and $1.50 per hundred pounds for the use of 47 percent superphosphate on soil-conserving crops.

Marked improvement in our farm lands has been seen during the past four years. The tide has turned from the wasteful destruction and erosion of our soils to improving the fertility and increasing the productivity of our lands with luxuriant growth of grass and legume crops. Investment in soil improvement and better grass and legume crops is an investment not only in a better farm, but in a better county.

This year it is possible for practically every farmer to earn 100 percent of his soil-building allowance. Those who do not have funds for carrying out soilbuilding practices may secure suitable loans by contacting the county office.

Lime dealers at present can supply all needs for agricultural limestone, phosphate is still available through the AC program and seeds are cheap enough that farmers can be well paid for their seedlings. Act now! Earn 100 per cent of your 1939 allowance!

LARGE CROWD HEARS JOHNSON

AT BURLINGTON COURTHOUSE THURSDAY—SCORES OPPONENT FOR CONNECTION WITH C. I. O.

Citing his record as Lieutenant Governor and President of the Kentucky State Senate, the Richmond publisher compared his accomplishments with the citizens of Kentucky with that of his opponent, who was speaker of the House during the term of Ruby Laffoon.

Mr. Johnson scored his major opponent's program for the laborers and his connection with the C. I. O.

"There are many honest and hard working men who hold membership cards in the C. I. O. and they deserve much credit for their efforts to make an honest living, but the leaders of the organization are not symbols of Americanism," Mr. Johnson said. He also criticized Mr. Brown for his failure to help laborers while serving in the United States House of Representatives.

Speaking on Kentucky schools Mr. Johnson said in part: "Kentucky's school system is more generous today than ever before in the state's history." The present per capita is more than 12 dollars.

Lieutenant Governor Johnson pledged his support to the President and stated that he had always been in full accord with the President's program. He again criticized John Y. Brown for his repeated claim of the Chief Executive's support.

Mr. Johnson praised J. Lyter Donaldson, his state campaign manager. He also told the audience that he remembered the generous majority which the voters of Boone county gave him four years ago in his successful campaign for Lieutenant Governor. Mr. Johnson was introduced by Chas. W. Riley, Boone County campaign chairman.

The Simon Kenton High School band composed of 20 places entertained the crowd from the courthouse yard for an hour before Mr. Johnson's address.

Mrs. Fay Hiler and daughter Margaret, of St. Paul, Ind., and Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Hiler and daughter Judith Lee, of Bellevue, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Smith.

The Robbins Boys To Appear At New James Theatre August 8

Six fiddle-playing, guitar-picking hillbilly artists, whose playing and rendering of old and new rustic airs have captivated audiences wherever they have appeared are one of the features with Pat Sanders and his Country Cousins, appearing at the James Theatre on Tuesday evening, August 8th.

Also there is that jovial half a ton of county fun, Pat Sanders and his bagful of hearty laugh provoking stories, while the real high point of interest rests on Elanora King's presentation of that hillbilly gal, "Effie" and her strip tease dance.

Appearing on the same bill in a revue type show that dares to be different are the three singing bickies, Curley and his fiddle, them Robbins boys, hillbilly radio favorites and Pat Sanders.

These features are women to gether in a fast-moving hillbilly revue that will keep you well entertained.

On the screen—"Smoking Guns" with Ken Maynard.

TODAY ONLY: $5 BILLS FOR $1.98

ANY times, on a wager, men have been known to sell $5 bills to strangers for as little as $1.98—legitimate $5 bills worth $5 anywhere. They have usually failed.

The reason is simple to see: Lack of confidence.

Their proposition sounded too good to be true, failed to arouse the confidence of the prospects, who were afraid to buy.

No one trusted the seller because no one knew him. He might be a counterfeiter. Who knows? He might have some trick up his sleeve. Who knows? Better have nothing at all to do with him.

Confidence is not a matter which can be bought. It must be earned.

It is a process of growth. The idea of confidence grows from one customer to the next one. It gives vitality to everything about a business.

business transaction, everything about it becomes pleasant. But whenever confidence is absent, no amount of any other qualities can take its place.

You have often bought something from someone you did not know, say a solicitor who succeeded in taking away your money at the door. Will you ever see him again? Will you get the goods you have paid for? Was it a miniature swindle? You wonder and worry.

You spend hours in painful doubt. Perhaps everything turned out all right. Even so, the profit went out of the transaction when you had to worry about getting your money's worth. Buy goods that are advertised from merchants who advertise.

One of the chief services of newspaper advertising to consumers is that it denotes which merchants or products are worthy of confidence.

Because newspaper publishers are so jealous of their advertising columns and are quick to reject anything which does not live up to their standards, readers know that if a thing is regularly advertised in the newspaper it is worthy of their confidence.

As a matter of fact, the appearance of an advertisement in a newspaper is a recommendation of the character and quality of the goods being advertised.

ELIJAH: A LIFE OF COURAGE

LESSON TEXT—I Kings 18:30-39
GOLDEN TEXT—"The Lord is far from the righteous.—Proverbs 15:29."

"Let courage rise with danger." Such is the plea of Webb's great hymn, "Stand Up for Jesus." Christianity in our day calls for courageous men and women.

Courage should be distinguished from such related things as bravery, valor, or bravado. Bravado is an affectation of a reckless bravery which surely has no place in Christian life and activity. Valor is associated with daring and vigorous action, for example, in battle. To be brave means to meet a challenge with confidence and resolution. To be courageous means to steadily meet perils of which one is deeply conscious, doing so because of the call of duty. Courage holds a deeper and nobler meaning than the other words carrying with it the idea of moral strength and, in the case of the Christian, faith in God as one devoted to His cause.

Elijah was courageous, and he stands before our Christian youth today as an example of that godly courage which

I. Works in the Open (v. 30).

Men whose deeds are evil love the darkness rather than the light. God does not work in the dark. All of His workings are in the open sunlight. Every one is welcome to "come near" and see what is done.

Elijah knew God and he acted like God's man. What a tragedy it is that not all of God's servants have followed his example. If we had the open and above-board dealings

Elijah in the affairs of our churches, we might see more of the fire and power of his ministry. Certain it is that the administration of church affairs which has been carried out in hidden corners by whispered conversations and by secret manipulations behind the scenes, is not God's work at all, it is the work of man.

II. Asks No Favors (vv. 33-35).

God's man. What a tragedy it is that not all of God's servants have followed his example. If we had the open and above-board dealings

Elijah in the affairs of our churches, we might see more of the fire and power of his ministry. Certain it is that the administration of church affairs which has been carried out in hidden corners by whispered conversations and by secret manipulations behind the scenes, is not God's work at all, it is the work of man.

III. Honors God, Not Man (vv. 30-32, 36-37).

A man of bravery wants recognition for himself, while the courageous man asks only that the cause for which he fights shall be successful. Elijah had long since demonstrated that he was absolutely fearless and sought no favor or glory (read the entire story). Now in the tenseness of this moment, he carefully rebuilds the altar of the true God (v. 30), makes a testimony of unity to a divided Israel (v. 31) and he does it all in the name of the Lord (v. 32).

His prayer (vv. 33, 37) is a profoundly simple expression of a complete faith in the true God and His power on the part of a man who recognized himself as being only the divine servant. He made no plea that God would vindicate him or his ministry, but he did plead that the name of the Lord should be honored in the midst of an unbelieving people.

IV. Brings Eternal Results (vv. 38, 39).

"The fire of the Lord fell." The lying prophets of heathendom were routed. Many recognized Jehovah as the true God. While Israel did not long remember the lesson learned here, the story has continued as a testimony that will strengthen the people of God as long as time continues.

In God's Treasury

Treat the weakest and the worst with reverence, for, like yourself, they are the temples of the living God.

Abides Forever

The world passes away and the lust of it, but he that doeth the will of God abides forever.—I John 2, 17.

Attractive Holiness

The holiness of Christ did not awe men away from Him, nor repel them. It inspired them with hope.

GOVERNOR

He is a practical farmer and business man. He has his interest at heart and is eminently fitted to aid the farmer and his helpers in their economic problems.

He is intensely interested in farm ownership as well as home ownership and believes in encouraging the small farmer and home owner by making their tax burden lighter.

He is a friend to the laboring man, and he knows their problems. He believes there should be the closest cooperation between labor and capital, and that our Government should always be sympathetic and helpful in its dealings with all our citizens.

He is not a professional politician. He is genuinely interested in the welfare of you and our Kentucky.

John Young Brown
FOR GOVERNOR

I have listened attentively to every speech that Mr. Keen Johnson has made over the radio, and last Thursday at Burlington, in the interest of his candidacy for Democrat nomination for Governor, and at no time have I heard correct statements and facts regarding the Chandler-Johnson Administration, nor have I ever heard a candidate like Mr. Johnson, seeking the highest office in the gift of the people, lowering his DIGNITY and using the UNSCRUPULOUS policies as calling his opponent, the Hon. John Young Brown and his supporters, UN-AMERICAN.

Johnson Administration traded out the farmer to the liquor industry and levied a tax of approximately 40c per lb. upon his burley tobacco, which amounts to $400.00 per thousand pounds on all the tobacco produced on his farm. I would like to ask them if it isn't a fact, that when the tobacco tax bill was introduced in the House, and first defeated, if Governor Chandler wasn't out of the State, and when he heard of the bill's defeat, he rushed back to the Capitol, and Keen Johnson joined hand in hand with Governor Chandler and lobbied among the members of the Legislature. The bill was then passed in both the House and Senate. Keen Johnson was president of the Senate, and was presiding over the Senate at that time. I want to ask you if this all didn't happen after an over-night visit at the Capitol by Grover Whalen of New York, with his little black bag, representing the liquor industry?

If you will recall the Campaign four years ago, Governor Chandler pledged to the people, if he were elected governor, that he would levy a production tax on liquor and condemned the Laffoon Administration for levying a production tax of only 5c per gallon on liquor. He said the liquor industry had agreed with Ruby Laffoon for a 15c per gallon production tax on liquor instead of the Sales Tax. Chandler's statement was that Laffoon said he knew what the people wanted and that he was going to give it to them. That was the Sales Tax.

The Chandler-Johnson Administration promised us, taxpayers and farmers, that they would get their revenue from a production tax on liquor. But the liquor industry said they knew what the Chandler-Johnson Administration wanted, so they sent a Mr. Whalen to the Capitol, representing the liquor industry, and the Chandler-Johnson Administration instead of giving us the production tax on liquor, gave the farmers and the tobacco industry the tobacco tax.

You have heard him in practically every speech he has made condemning labor. I wish to state that no candidate or group of people can oppose labor, and in return claim to be a friend to the farmer. If a laborer does not receive a fair and reasonable compensation for his labor, he cannot in return buy commodities, which our farmers produce.

Keen Johnson has been a candidate for Governor for four years, and Governor Chandler, acting as Huey P. Long dictator, has stated time after time that he was going to give us Keen for our next Governor. They are using every deceitful and unscrupulous method to ram him down the peoples' throats, whether they want him or not.

Keen Johnson, being a candidate for four years, was unable to formulate a platform for himself, so he endorsed the Chandler-Johnson Administration 100%, including secret and padded payrolls. But, after the Hon. John Young Brown announced his candidacy and gave his platform to the public, Keen Johnson substituted John Y. Brown's platform, which is quite a contrast to the Chandler-Administration. But, Keen says that he can administer a program under the Brown platform, but that John Young Brown cannot find money to do so.

The Hon. Keen Johnson tells you in his speeches that the Chandler-Johnson Administration did not have the money and could not raise the money to pay our old people $30.00 per month, instead of measly average of $8.40 per month. I want to call your attention to the fact that there was a bill introduced in the Senate and House to levy production tax on whiskey to the amount of 10c per gallon to raise sufficient funds to pay the Old Age Pensioners the maximum $30.00 per month, and KEEN JOHNSON and GOVERNOR CHANDLER lobbied on the floor of the Senate and the House among the members of the Legislature that brought about the defeat of the bill. That is why our old people are going hungry and needy.

Shame unto Keen Johnson and Governor Chandler, asking the people of the Commonwealth of Kentucky to nominate Keen Johnson for Governor, who had the opportunity to raise sufficient funds without injury to the taxpayers of Kentucky, that has deprived our old people the payment of $30.00 per month. It shows you that Keen Johnson is willing to let our old people go in hunger and need in order to protect the liquor industry and New York Capitalists.

There is much talk of the Chandler-Johnson Administration removing U. S. 25 from Boone County. The new road has already been surveyed through Kenton County. I want to remind the Boone County voters that we are still paying on the bond issue that was pooled with the Federal money with which U. S. 25 was built through Boone County. If John Young Brown is elected Governor of Kentucky, the citizens of this county will be able to keep U. S. 25 in its present location.

State Fair Catalogs Ready For Release

The catalog and premium list for the 36th Annual Exhibition of the Kentucky State Fair, which will be held under the auspices of the Kentucky State Fair Board, September 11th through the 16th, is now ready for release. H. S. Cleveland, Managing Director of the fair, advised today.

Perusal of the contents of the book reveal a widely diversified exhibition of products of the farm and home as well as industry and business. Exhibits of livestock, farm and garden produce, handicraft and manufactured articles are expected to exceed in quality and number the display of other years. Entertainment such as never before presented to fairgoers is offered this year and a big "name band" will be on hand to play nightly for the Horse Show and later play for public dancing on a specially constructed dance floor on the grounds.

KENTUCKY FARM NEWS

Herb Taylor, an Adair county farmer, produced a satisfactory crop of boysenberries this year. He trains the runners on wires, similar to the culture of grapes. Boysenberries are a comparatively new crop in Kentucky.

Grayson county 4-H club members have 68 calves on feed for the annual show and sale at the Bourbon Stock Yards in Louisville in November. County Agent R. T. Faulkner said there would be in the county at least two carloads of unusually well-finished calves by show time.

What Every Driver Should Know

Your Original Operator's License
Your operator's license may have the word "restriction" noted on it. This means you may not drive under certain conditions. The most common one is "glasses," which means you must wear eyeglasses while driving. Cripples may be restricted to driving cars with special pedals or levers, which they may need to drive safely. Some drivers may be restricted to daytime driving because they cannot see well at night. If you do not heed the restrictions, you violate the law and your license may be taken away.

You must always carry your license with you while driving and remember: Any circuit court clerk, Highway Patrol examiner, justice of the peace, peace officer, or representative of the Department has the right to see your license. Any such officer may stop you at any time to ask to see it.

If you change your name by marriage, or for any other reason, or if you change your address, you must notify the Department of Revenue at once.

Your license is good from the date issued until the following August 1, unless you make it necessary for the Department to take it away for the safety of others. You may renew your license by applying to your local circuit court clerk before August 1, and paying the $1.00 fee. You should plan to renew your license a month before August 1, to avoid the rush and the possibility of having to take another examination by allowing your license to expire.

Duplicate Licenses

If you lose your license you may get a duplicate license by applying at the office of the circuit court clerk of the county in which you reside. The fee for this duplicate is 25 cents.

Your Licenses May Be Taken Away

Your driver's license gives you the privilege of using Kentucky highways only so long as you do so safely. If you disobey the laws of the State, or become disabled for driving in any way, your license may be taken away by the Circuit Court or the Department of Revenue; or if a judgment has been rendered against you for damages and you fail to pay such judgment, the Division of Motor Transportation of the Department of Business Regulations, Frankfort may suspend or revoke your license until you have paid the amount of the judgment and have taken out insurance as required by the Division of Motor Transportation.

There are some things for which the law says your license must be revoked. The Circuit Court or Department must do this if you are found guilty of:

1. Carelessly killing anybody while driving a car.
2. Driving while intoxicated or drugged.
3. Any crime in which a motor vehicle is used and for which you could be sent to the state prison.
4. Hit and run driving, if serious property damage or injury has resulted.
5. False statement under oath about ownership or operation of a motor vehicle.
6. Reckless driving three times within one year.
7. Assault and battery resulting from an automobile accident.

The Circuit Court or Department may also suspend your license for as much as a year. This may happen if:

1. You have done something for which your license must be taken away when you are found guilty in court.
2. You are responsible for a serious accident.
3. You have a bad record of accidents.
4. You seem unable to drive safely.
5. If you have lent your license to someone else, driven without heeding its restrictions or otherwise misused it.

When the Department believes that your license should be suspended, you will get a letter saying so. If you want a chance to explain, you should ask the Department for a hearing. Of course, if you think the act of the Department is not legal, or that the Department has gone further, in your case, than the law allows, you make take the matter to the Quarterly Court of the county in which you reside. (See Section 2739m-70 of Baldwin's 1938 Supplement to Carroll's Kentucky Statutes.)

When the suspension of your license is lifted, your license will be returned to you at the proper time if it has not expired meanwhile; but you may have to take the regular examination for new drivers before you get it back.

If you are convicted of driving while your license is suspended or revoked you must serve 7 days in the county jail, and may receive a sentence of 6 months in jail with a possible fine of not less than $25.00 or more than $500.00, and, in addition, you will have your license suspended or revoked for an additional like period.

The Department may make you give up your license if you get into trouble in another state just the same as if it had happened in Kentucky.

The Department may withdraw the driving privileges in Kentucky of any non-resident who violates any of the Kentucky Motor Vehicle Laws which would warrant the suspension or revocation of a Kentucky operator's license.

More grass and legumes for hay and pasture than ever before in the history of the county, says County Agent E. E. Sparks of Clay county. Superphosphate, limestone grasses and legumes, with winter cover crops, are revolutionizing farming, he declares. Nineteen carloads of 47 percent superphosphate have been delivered.

VOTE FOR R. L. Vincent

--for--

COMMONWEALTH'S ATTORNEY

Grant County presents R. L. VINCENT for the Democratic nomination for Commonwealth's Attorney. He is one of ten brothers raised on a farm. He worked his way through college; served seven years as principal of some of the best high schools of the State; served eight years as County Attorney of Grant County where he made a splendid record. He is a member of the Grant County Farm Bureau, a member of the Williamstown Masonic Lodge and Chairman of the Grant County Red Cross Chapter. He has the confidence and backing of his home people, having won his last nomination by 900 majority.

The Commonwealth Attorney's office is a very important office. The criminal, with the high-powered automobile, can come into your community after you have gone to sleep and steal your sheep, your meat, chickens and other produce, and be a hundred miles away before daybreak. The safety of your property and the safety of your lives depends upon a FAIR, HONEST and FAITHFUL enforcement of our criminal laws. It is, therefore necessary that we have an HONEST, DEPENDABLE Commonwealth's Attorney.

For the past twelve years Owen County has had the Circuit Judge's office, and for the past twelve years Gallatin County has had the Commonwealth Attorney's office, and for twelve years before that Boone County had the Circuit Judge's office, and for fourteen years before that Carroll County had the Commonwealth Attorney's office. For a period of thirty years Grant County has not been honored with either of these offices.

We realize that we are in a heated campaign for governor and other state offices but since the Commonwealth Attorney's office is so important to the farmers and business people we urge you not to lose sight of the Commonwealth Attorney's race.

Boone County and Grant County have always stood together. We are in the same Senatorial District and are in the same Legislative District. Two years from now the people of Boone County will be asking the people of Grant County to support a man for Representative and possibly for Senator.

A vote for R. L. VINCENT for democratic nomination for Commonwealth's Attorney will be appreciated.

"Made For Each Other."

How a fast-thinking rancher is able to solve a baffling robbery and murder mystery and bring the criminals to justice, forms the basis of George O'Brien's latest starring film, "Trouble in Sundown," which will be shown at the Gayety Friday and Saturday.

With its background in a western frontier town, the story presents O'Brien as the cattleman who tracks down a trio of bank robbers, and in so doing saves the life of his sweetheart's father, a banker accused of the crimes.

"Overland With Kit Carson," a 15 chapter serial, a thrilling story of the Old West will start Friday and Saturday, August 4th and 5th at the Gayety Theatre.

"Never say die but always say laugh" is evidently the motto of those two unbeatable comedians Bob Hope and Martha Raye, in their new picture together, "Never Say Die," which will be shown at the Gayety Sunday and Monday.

Never in their many film adventures together have Hope and Miss Raye got into so many amazing situations and never have they got themselves out again with such a mixture of luck, resourcefulness and originality. For sheer laughs and good fun the new comedy even tops their recent "Give Me a Sailor," which is saying a good deal for it.

"Never Say Die," Hope's and Miss Raye's fourth vehicle together in little more than a year, is a merry story of a millionaire hypocrite diac who thinks he has only a month to live and acts with the fatal carelessness peculiar to those who believe themselves doomed. As if his approaching death were not a big enough worry, Hope takes on an even graver one when he marries Miss Raye, a screwball American girl, in order to help her elude a Russian prince her father has chosen for her.

No matter how much you liked "Naughty Marietta," that musical sensation of 1935, you're sure to like "Rose Marie" even more. Again co-starring Jeanette MacDonald and Nelson Eddy this Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production will be shown at the Gayety, Tuesday.

Replete with haunting music, a tender love story, magnificent photography and backgrounds, it is truly the film sensation of the year.

Miss MacDonald plays the name role, an opera star who travels disguised in the wilds in search of her dissolute brother, a criminal from justice.

Midway Victorious Over North Erlanger

AT THE JAMES WALTON, KY.

Jas. E. Falls, owner of the James Theatre, is giving the people of this vicinity one of the best line-up of attractions you will ever have the opportunity to see. The first being "Lawless Valley" with George O'Brien. It is an exciting screen play of a modern cattle war showing that while methods may change, the best man with the quickest gun still gets the decision and the girl. This show will be on Friday, August 4th and the admission is only a dime.

The second big attraction comes on August 5th, Saturday matinee at 3:15, being "A Woman Is The Judge." What more enticing picture could you want to see on election day, a drama that bridges the gulf in our every day lives, played by our favorite stars, Rochelle Hudson, Otto Kruger and Frieda Innescott. Admission only 10c.

The big attraction for the weekend is "Young Mr. Lincoln" with Henry Fonda, Marjorie Weaver and Alice Brady. It's the story of Abraham Lincoln that has never been told, one of the best pictures you will see this year, playing only one night, Saturday, August 5th. Two shows at 6:45 and 8:30. Regular admission prices 10c and 30c. We ask you to get to wait for the last show.

On Sunday, August 6th, you have an opportunity of seeing one of the most talked of pictures of the day, "Goodbye, Mr. Chips," with Robert Donat and Greer Garson. Don't miss it. Matinee at 2:30, evening show at 7:30.

Monday, August 7th, our big bargain night special attraction, "Sweepstakes Winner," with Johnnie Davis, Allen Jenkins and Marie Wilson. See what happens when they leave their best gal holding the bag. But they didn't know there was $150,000 in it. Two shows at 6:45 and 8:30.

The biggest thrill of the week is "Fat Sanders and His Country Cousins" in person on the stage

Tuesday, August 8th. Eight hill-billies bring you your favorite songs and tunes as you have never heard them played before. The big climax of the evening is "Effie" and her strip tease dance—well worth twice the admission price for this one act. In conjunction with the vaudeville act we are showing Ken Maynard in "Smoking Guns." Two shows at 6:45 and 8:30. Admission children 10c, adults 30c. Don't miss this one show if you don't have the opportunity to see any of the rest.

MORE FARMERS USING SOIL CONSERVING METHODS SAYS DARNELL

The farming picture changes in the work area of the Walton CCC Camp, according to Ward T. Darnell, superintendent.

More and more landowners are adopting conservation farming practices to save the soil, he reports.

In the fiscal year just closed, Mr. Darnell points out, 65 new cooperatives were formed, covering 6878 acres were signed. This brings the total to 137 farmer cooperators in the Camp area.

Plans for the 65 new farms in the work area involve longer rotations. Decreases in crop land, increases in pasture and permanent meadow acreages, protection of woodlands, winter cover crops, and methods of cultivation that will reduce soil losses of row crops.

Analysis of the 65 new farm plans show that the total cropland acreage will be reduced from 4421 acres to 2795 acres, and of the remaining cropland only 699 acres will be in row crops in an average year, as compared to a former average of 1479 acres in row crops. Average rotation is increased from 3 years to 4 years.

Practices that will be followed on cropland include 1470 acres of contour strip cropping; 2345 acres of contour tillage, with vegetated waterways, diversion terraces, and buffer strips.

Forty-eight acres of woodland protected from grazing is increased to 341 acres under the new plans, and of this amount 154 acres is newly planted. Grazing will be controlled on 4804 acres of pasture, and 2336 acres will be treated with lime and phosphate.

These cooperators have discovered, Mr. Darnell says, "that by replanning their farm programs in the interests of soil conservation they can put their land to better use, greatly decrease erosion losses, build up soil fertility, and maintain or even increase yields."

The citizens of our district will have an opportunity on Saturday to commed through their sufferage, a man who is honest, dependable, and capable and one who served his state and nation during the world war as a member of the American Expeditionary forces in France.

Shortly after the outbreak of the world war in 1917, Judge Hardin, enlisted in the Army and in January, 1918, was sent to France and in June of that year assigned to the front lines, remaining there until October, at which time he was wounded in action. He is the holder of two military citations and decorations as result of his services one from his own Government and one from Republic of France.

JOHNSON'S MAJORITY EXPECTED TO REACH THIRTY-FIVE THOUSAND

CARRIES BOONE COUNTY BY MAJORITY OF 749—VINCENT, YAGER AND JETT ARE WINNERS.

Returns from two-thirds of the 4307 precincts in the State Tuesday night indicated that Keen Johnson, candidate for governor would win the nomination by a majority of 35,000.

The Fifth Congressional District, first district, reports a complete count, went for Johnson by 9720, led by Kenton and Campbell, which contributed 5300 of this total.

Carroll, home of Johnson's state campaign manager, J. Lyter Donaldson went for Johnson by 1390 and Brown had a margin of only 37 in Grant county to give him his only county in the district.

Johnson carried Boone county by a majority of 749 votes, carrying every precinct in the county with the exception of Beaver. Ward Yager candidate for Circuit Judge led the ticket in Boone County with a majority over his opponent Judge J. G. Vallandigham of 1429. Yager carried every county in the district with the exception of Owen.

Vincent was second in Boone county with a majority of 941 over his opponent Judge R. L. Hardin of Carroll county. Vincent carried Boone, Gallatin, and Grant county, while Hardin carried Carroll and Owen. Vincent's total majority for the five counties was 1019.

John E. Jett was an easy victor in Boone carrying the county by 467 votes. However, in Grant the outcome was quite different with Pettit carrying that county by a majority of 217. Representative, Rodes K. Myers, Bowling Green, probably will be Johnson's running mate as the Democratic nominee for lieutenant governor, but R. M. Bagby, Grayson banker, still had an outside chance to overtake him.

Standing of the leaders in the main races: Governor, Democratic, 2895 precincts, approaching two-thirds of Kentucky's 4307; Johnson, 193,640 Brown, 169,336.

Governor, Republican, 2707 precincts; Swine, 72,669; Cooper, 43,388; Swope's lead 29,271.

Lieutenant governor, Democratic 2109 precincts; Myers, 57,092; Bagby, 43,987; Hecht Lackey, Paducah 37,632; Theo (Tate) Hageman, Kenton county 23,772.

The 11-candidate race for the Democratic nomination for secretary of state remained close, but Miss Ora L. Adams of Harrodsburg had a lead of almost 400 votes.

Ernest E. Shannon of Louisville, state auditor, took a lead of almost 2 to 1 for the democratic nomination for state treasurer.

D. A. Logan of Brownsville, brother of M. M. Logan, United States senator, went far ahead of the field on returns from 2150 precincts for Democratic nomination for state auditor.

ACP COMMITTEES HOLD MEETING

TO DISCUSS WAYS AND MEANS OF AIDING FARMERS IN EARNING 100 PERCENT OF 1939 ALLOWANCE.

The county and community Agricultural Conservation Association committees met at Burlington, Tuesday evening, August 8, to discuss ways and means of aiding farmers to earn 100 percent of the 1939 soil-building allowances.

Better understanding on the part of the farmer as to what his allowance means and how he may earn 100 percent of his allowance was considered of utmost importance in order to prevent Boone County from losing approximately $50,000.00 this year.

The following points were considered of immediate importance: (1) Committee visits to farmers. (2) Securing of agricultural limestone through local dealers: W. J. Craig, Rabot Hash; Stanley Graves, Hebron; J. W. Moore, Hebron; Charles Kraft, Ludlow, Ky. R. 2, Box 54; Orville Y. Kelly, Burlington, Ky. R. 2; Carl Stevens, Florence, Ky. R. 1; Dance Bros.

Crittenden, Ky., or through local pulver operators pulverizing on farms: Charles Kraft, Ludlow, Ky. R. 2, Box 54; Orville Y. Kelly, Burlington, Ky. R. 2; Dance Brothers, Crittenden, Ky.; and Carl Stevens, Florence, Ky. R. 1.

(3) Securing of 47 percent phosphate through the county office (now available) or from commercial dealers.

(4) Fall seedlings of bluegrass, red top, timothy, orchard grass, alfalfa (before September 1st), 1939 crop Korean and sweet clover, and rye grass.

(5) Credit now available for all farmers to purchase seeds, lime, phosphate, etc., to carry out soil-building practices.

An honor roll of all farmers earning 100 percent of their allowance will be made up this fall. Every farmer is urged to be on this honor roll.

IF FARMERS COOPERATE FULLY IN AGRICULTURAL CONSERVATION PROGRAM—FARMERS URGED TO USE LIMESTONE.

Boone County farmers cooperating in the 1939 Agricultural Conservation Program will receive $61,205.81 if they cooperate fully under the program earning 100 percent of their soil-building benefits, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent. Seventy nine and a half percent of 1,052 of the 1,320 farms in the county have been signed up for cooperation in this year's program. Farmers would have received a total of $76,988.45 had 100 percent of the farmers signed up this year.

The division of the maximum payments on the basis of 79.5 percent of farmers cooperating is $45,263.76 or 74 percent on soil-building practices, $14,740.54 or 24.1 percent for tobacco benefits, $336.48, one-half of one percent on wheat and $771.00 or 1.4 percent on commercial vegetables. A study of the above figures shows that soil-building practices and tobacco account for 98.1 percent of the total payment and that soil-building alone accounts for about three-fourths of the total payment.

Because soil-building is not only a major source for benefit payments but represents one of the greatest agricultural needs, every effort should be made to see that every farmer earns 100 percent of the allowance set up for his farm. Present reports from field supervisors indicate that on cooperating farmers that only $21,047.64 or 46.5 percent of the allowance has been earned. This leaves $24,216.12 yet to earn. The remaining allowance will set up for his farm.

COMPLETION OF D. H. I. A. IS NEAR

NINE DAIRYMEN HAVE REQUESTED MEMBERSHIP IN BOONE COUNTY—ONE MORE WILL COMPLETE GOAL.

Boone County's quota of ten Northern Kentucky Dairy Herd Improvement Association members is just one short of the county goal, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent. Kenton and Campbell counties have been allotted the remaining sixteen dairy herds. A total of nine dairymen had requested membership at the close of the first week. They are R. B. Huey and Son, Robert Youell, Jesse Wilson, George Kearns, R. C. Garlison, Hubert Pecker, A. A. Liggett, Grant Maddox and William Moore. Several additional dairymen have advised the county office they are interested but have not definitely requested membership.

The Dairy Herd Improvement Association is composed of twenty-six dairymen who cooperatively employ a full time tester who one day each month weighs and tests each cow's milk in the herd, calculates feed costs, profit or loss above feed costs, keeps breeding records and works for a better understanding and efficient improvement in the dairy herd.

It is easily calculated from available records that if the unprofitable cows in the herds of the country were eliminated, the entire milk surplus would be removed and a higher price for dairy products would result. D. H. I. A. members become outstanding breeders because they are first interested in improving their herds and second in that they have accurate records on each individual cow and a higher price for dairy products would result. They also have more profitable herds in that boarder cows can be identified and eliminated.

The cost of membership is $125.00 for the first quarter year and $100.00 per year thereafter. The records are supervised by the College of Agriculture and are accepted as official D. H. I. A. records for both the herds and individual cows in the herd.

Homemakers To Sponsor Landscaping Demonstration Aug. 17-18

A series of lawn landscaping demonstrations will be sponsored by the Homemakers Club of Boone County, August 17 and 18, according to Mary Hood Gillespie, Home Demonstration Agent.

Mr. N. R. Elliott, landscape architect from the University of Kentucky will conduct the demonstration.

The following communities have asked to be in Mr. Elliott's two-day schedule: Burlington, Hebron, New Haven and Walton. Any one interested in having help with planning the placing of shrubs and trees are requested to notify Mary Hood Gillespie, Home Demonstration Agent. Mr. Elliott has held two series of demonstrations previous to this year. These lawns also will be checked during the tour.

MIDWAY TAKES GAME FROM MUDLUCK SUNDAY

The Midway nine defeated the Mudluck aggregation Sunday by a score of 8 to 3. R. Craddock and R. Gruell formed the battery for Midway, with Afterkirk and Snow for the visiting team.

Next Sunday the Union All Stars will play at the Midway park.

Constance Nine Again Victorious

The Constance Hilltoppers defeated Union in a loosely played baseball game Sunday at the Constance park by the score of 14 to 7. Each team made three errors and many fly balls fell safely for hits that with a little closer defense should have been outs. Each team played with a patched up lineup, four regulars being absent from each team. Scott and Craddock formed the battery for Union and Hankins and Lane for Constance. The winners made 17 hits while the losers made 8.

Constance meets the fast Burlington nine, managed by Charles Benson Sunday, at Constance. This promises to be a good game as the two teams met earlier in the season, and Constance was lucky to nose out Burlington by the score of 3 to 2.

Bob And Gene Win Over Heidelberg Sunday By Score 5-0

Bob & Gene's baseball team defeated the Heidelberg boys Sunday when they met at the Crescent Springs ball park to battle for the game which would decide which team would remain in the elimination series, the game Sunday, being replayed due to protest.

The local boys trounced Heidelberg by a score of 5 to 0. Steffen, pitcher for the locals led the attack by collecting 3 hits out of four times at bat. Mahan and Seebree played a good defensive game, both making spectacular catches. Steffen allowed the losers only five hits, which were scattered, while Bob & Gene collected 14 hits and chalked up 5 runs.

The first game played between Heidelberg and Bob & Gene was played under protest, officials ruling the game to Bob & Gene. However, Robert Eads, manager of the local nine stated that he would rather play the game over if that was satisfactory to the Heidelberg boys, which was accepted.

Next Sunday Bob & Gene will play another game of the elimination series. The team the local boys will meet is unknown, due to the fact that the drawing is not held until Wednesday evening.

HOME EXHIBITS TO BE FEATURED

OF 4-H AND UTOPIA CLUB FAIR TO BE HELD AT BURLINGTON SCHOOL GROUNDS, AUGUST 26TH.

Exhibits of farm and home equipment will be a special feature of the Seventh Annual Boone County 4-H and Utopia Club Fair and County Picnic to be held at Burlington school grounds on Saturday, August 26th, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent. Commercial exhibitors are showing much interest in plans to display their products. Commercial organizations who have already requested display space include Calvin Cress, International farm machinery dealer, Burlington; Thurmer, of Aurora, Ind.; Bi-County Farm Bureau Cooperative Association at Devon; Erlanger Electric Shop; Shell Gas Cooking Stove Equipment; Chevrolet Motors and others.

It is hoped the commercial display this year will be the largest on record in that ample space has been provided, displays offer a special opportunity for concerns to contact large numbers of people and again every one is interested in the latest products of useful equipment.

The 1939 fair and county picnic will be the biggest and best on record, according to all present indications. Club members have their project work in splendid shape for display, prize prizes and medals have been increased for the general interest of every body, the Simon Kenton High School Brass Band has been employed to make music all day, the Utopia Club is perfecting their organization to efficiently serve an abundance of eats and drinks on the grounds, rides, swings and special entertainment has been contacted and other features have been added to make the day interesting and enjoyable to all attending. This is Boone County's own county picnic sponsored by our 4-H and Utopia Club organization in cooperation with all our people. It's your fair and one of the best ways to make your fair a success is to be there. Let's all render our fullest support.

FIREMEN TO GIVE PICNIC SATURDAY

AT HEBRON—FISH FRY, DANCE AND FIDDLING CONTEST TO BE FEATURE OF ENTERTAINMENT AT HARVEST HOME.

The Hebron Volunteer Fire Department will sponsor a fish fry and dance at the Harvest Home grounds Saturday, August 12th from 4:00 p. m. to 12:00 midnight.

Extensive plans have been made by members of the department to make this an evening of entertainment long to be remembered by those who attend. The committee has arranged for an old fiddling contest and a waltz contest with prizes given in each division.

Tickets are now on sale in various sections of the county at 50 cents each. Tickets may be obtained at the Sheriff's office, and the Boone County Recorder in Burlington.

When the Hebron fire department was organized, a small chemical tank was purchased. After using this equipment for several months the department purchased a pumper with a 200 gallon booster tank, and is rated as standard fire fighting equipment. This equipment is mounted on a large truck which is capable of making considerable speed, and with this type of fire fighting equipment, the country within a radius of several miles around Hebron is protected from serious fire damage.

According to members of the department Hebron is the smallest town in the United States to boast of standard fire fighting equipment.

Let's all go out and give these boys a boost by attending their fish fry and dance at Harvest Home grounds Saturday night.

MUST THEY BUSTLE?

They give us the "World of Tomorrow." In the next issue we are informed that the old-fashioned bustle is what fashion dictates for fall for female designs. This appeal is written in protest of a nation turning backward as it looks forward. As much out of place as satin slippers for a middy blouse, so is a bustle with a stream-lined train, bullet shaped auto and transcontinental aeroplanes. Style has asked a great deal of man. Its most recent infringement on good taste being the amazing head-gear worn by women folk. After giving us ruffled petticoats that show below the dress, it is asking too much of any nature to accept bustles with a smile.

As powerful as is fashion, can she turn the freedom in dress of our women into the confined apparel of their grandmother's day? This is 1933 when we look into a test tube and see glass turned into dress material, "linen" made from spruce and hemlock, a combination of water, coal and air transformed into silk, another form of silk made out of natural gas. Could a bustle enter into this picture of things. The head of a large advertising agency is amazed that newspapers aren't giving more space and comment to this new trend. We figure the women in Boone county will do what they like without any space, but could not pass up the chance to make the comment.

TOO EASY

In reading the divorce items in any paper, it is easy to see that many marriages are made for only a temporary time. The main idea used to be to do your thinking before you took the step. It seems today, with divorce made so easy, modern marriages are only trials and tests. If the participants don't like it, they can try again with someone else. You so often see where a license to marry is obtained immediately after the divorce is secured. Consider how many frivolous marriages are made and think of how often the reasons for divorce are equally frivolous. Take the case of the mid-western couple who landed a neighboring husband and wife. The four married people got together to talk it over, traded wives and children. A cow changed homes in the deal. There are numerous divorces throughout the nation where couples are quick to pick up the most foolish and childish reasons for putting an end to a marriage that might easily be God-made is only constancy, fairness and love have been used in the proceedings. There are difficulties in every home, but we are of the opinion that folks hereabout are not signing the marriage page with one hand and the divorce order with the other.

TOO MUCH STRAIN

At a recent American Optometric Association meeting, a doctor told the assembly that two million school children failed to pass their grades each year because they have faulty eyesight. He also stated that the student of today has to read 15 times as much as the pupil in 1913. This gives us the connection between faulty eyesight and the strain placed upon eyes through heavy study. The question that will arise in many a parent's mind will be whether the child of today is getting 15 times as much out of education as the child of 1913.

REAL SPORT

It was in the year 1868 that a newspaper editor wrote of the importance of muscular exercise through swimming. He suggested that this be taken up by more Americans where possible to suit the sport to the climate. Since exercise wards off disease the editor of 1868 hoped that some day there would be such a thing as a swimming "rink." Today we have hundreds of thousands of pools. Lessons in swimming are given in the schools and camps. Matrons may learn in W. Y. C. A. classes. The folks in Boone county swim because they enjoy it rather than because it wards off disease. But

TRUTH about ADVERTISING

By CHARLES B. ROTH

OH, FOR THE GOOD OLD DAYS

GRANDPA BUTLER was 84 when he died, but he held out to the very last for what he affectionately called "the good old days." He liked to tell about them. Life was simpler then, said he. We didn't hurry so fast. We had more time to read and to enjoy our friends. And the cost of living—say you could live for a third of what it costs a fellow these days.

Charles Roth

Butler's logic fell down in his confounding the standards of living when he was a boy and when he was an octogenarian.

When he was young you could live for less—but you had less in your life. You put up with discomforts which would be unthinkable today. You ate unbalanced meals, lived in uncomfortable homes, had no radio sets, automobiles or electric servants.

As a matter of fact—but we were never able to convince Grandpa Butler of it—the cost of living today, dollar for dollar of value considered, is far less than it was in his young days.

Your dollar actually buys more, brings you more value, than any other dollar in history.

whether you are a wader, dabbler or floater, take advantage of stream, lake, ocean, pool or quarry. It is real sport!

WANTED—A SONG

There reposes upon the editor's desk a bit of literature concerning an intensive drive and nationwide search for new song-writing talent. We wondered if there might not be some reader who has tried a hand at song writing. There is often hidden talent that lies buried until a friend pushes the shy soul into the limelight. From a number of the songs we hear sung and played over radios, we figure that some of our neighbors might do better. Modern composing gives us some pretty melodies, but many of them live the life of an afterthought. Kentucky Home and Sweet Alice? The songs that live through the years are not the fly-by-night ditties that cause a spasm and are gone on the breeze.

WARMING UP

With talk getting warmer and minds more firmly set with the forthcoming political campaign for the presidency, we heed the numerous leaders who are suggested as timber and reflect upon their merits. The tension will grow monthly before we get too warm to let us sensibly consider the subject.

There aren't many folks in this county who jump from one party to another for no reason, or for political jobs. The majority of voters look for a leader in their leader. It is more popular to vote for sound policies and principles than because the wrong man appeared on your ticket and your party "do or die." There are disgruntled citizens everywhere but before this election we change he should study the question seriously. The heated arguments and propaganda will be upon us next year. We must begin early to get the situation in hand. Our country is too important to use snap judgments and another fellow's opinion to formulate our decision. Be well informed concerning candidates, what they stand for, their previous record and the principles they advocate. In school they call it cramming before an exam, we call it preparation before the attack.

MISSING PENNIES

The U. S. mint informs us that 5 billion pennies have been lost since they first started minting them. These misplacedoppers may be in many children's banks, a lot of them here in Boone county. These that have disappeared from circulation may be down a drain or lost in small cracks by hundreds of Anyone who understands simple economics will tell you why. Two words will do it. The words are mass production.

Without mass production, it is impossible to get the things we need. They stay in town two or three weeks disposing of it. Consumers have to go from stall to stall and dicker for everything they want.

If you have these time and enjoy trading, that sort of thing is fine, is fun; but most of us have other things to do. We find it simpler to do our trading by reading the newspaper advertisements, decide what we will buy and then go down to the store or telephone.

It saves time. It saves money. Without advertising to smooth the route of goods from seller to buyer, the cost of everything is higher than when everything is in the pipeline.

youngsters. The sales tax on articles have brought forth the lack of these coins, no doubt. Someone suggests that we have new coins minted with a hole in the center as do the Chinese. We could string them on ribbons for necklaces.

We recently read where a plate of pennies appeared on the street of a mid-western city. A man had heated the pennies to a red glow and tossed them to children to hear them cry when they touched the hot coins. A judge didn't hesitate to fine this fellow an amusement tax with a jail sentence to cool off the episode. The entire affair turned out to be less amusing than the donor of the pennies expected, and we don't thank him for putting the coins back into circulation in this way.

ELISHA: A LIFE OF HELPLESSNESS

LESSON TEXT—II Kings 5:1-14.
GOLDEN TEXT—Be ye kind one to another as I have been to you.

"Loving kindness and tender mercies" (Ps. 103:4) are among the glories of our God, and consequently characteristic of His people who love and serve Him. The world has all but forgotten these virtues, for in its brutal determination to everything that is only outward vane of courtesy and consideration which extends itself primarily to those from whom some advantage may be obtained or who are highly regarded because of their wealth or position. The poor and needy, the aged and afflicted are quickly brushed aside as unfortunate hindrances in the path of progress.

In all times God's people have been those most considerate of others. It is they who have given time and means to help those in need. The life of Elisha is well characterized as a life of helpfulness. It is surprising to find how many of his miracles were for the purpose of helping others. God's servants are called to be leaders and to be preachers, but they are nonetheless called to carry on a life of helpfulness. Elisha's experience with Naaman suggests how we may exercise such a ministry. Without seeking to designate verses in the text, shall we observe that we must Find the One in Need. It is not always that the one with the deepest need makes himself known. In fact, it is commonly true that those who have the greatest need are possibly the most worthy of help keep their sorrows to themselves. Certainly it is true that those afflicted with the leprosy did not often come to church. "We must go out and seek them and bring them in."

One of the weaknesses of many churches today is that they go through their regular services, which may include preaching the gospel, and then they lament the fact that sinners do not come to the services to hear and be saved. Let us be reminded that it is our business to go out into the highways and the byways to find those in need. Naaman's experience illustrates how the simple word of a little slave girl may be the means of bringing the leper in touch with the man of God. Had she failed in her responsibility, the prophet would have missed his opportunity to minister. Even the poorest believer has his important work, seeking out the lost and needy, and may thus be the means of bringing about great blessing.

Locate and Diagnose the Condition. Naaman knew that he had leprosy, but he did not know that he had a blight of soul called pride. The prophet believed that the guidance and control of God's spirit was at the heart of things when he directed Naaman to crush his pride and to show his faith by obeying God's command to wash seven times in the Jordan.

The story has many important applications. Let us be sure that in our efforts to help people physically or socially, we get through to their real need of need of Christ. Let us also be careful not to modify or change God's requirement. There is one way of salvation—through faith in Christ; there is no other remedy for sin. A man "must be born again" or "he cannot enter the kingdom of God" (see John 3:3-7). If men are too proud to go that way, they cannot be saved. Observe also that there was no respect of persons on the part of Elisha. Naaman was a great and distinguished man, ready to bestow rich gifts, but the man of God had no interest in those things. He wanted only to give God's message.

Apply the Remedy. One would be quick to condemn the trained physician who, having found his patient and having given his attention to his need, made a careful and accurate diagnosis and then sent him away without applying the cure which was in his possession. As the servants of Christ the great Physician, engaged in the cure of souls, we need to be equally wise. It is commendable to engage in a discussion of the problems of needy men and women, expressing our heart interest in that need. It is desirable that we clarify our knowledge of their need and accurately understand the truth of the gospel which meets that need. However, all of these things are quite useless unless they result in the bringing of the gospel to bear on the lives of the unconverted.

Solitude. An hour of solitude, passed in sincere and earnest prayer or conflict with, and conquest over, a single passion or subtle bosom sin, will teach us more of thought, will more effectively awaken the faculty and form the habit of reflection than a year's study in the schools without them.—Coleridge.

SAYS TOBACCO LAND
NEEDS COVER CROPS

Tobacco is not "hard" on land, but many practical, that sometimes go with its culture may cause large losses of plant nutrients, says Prof. George Roberts in a circular entitled, "Soil Management for Kentucky," published by the College of Agriculture at Lexington.

Tobacco usually is grown on the best ground, and after the crop has ceased to take up nitrogen, there usually is a considerable period of warm weather in which soluble compounds of nitrogen are formed in the soil. These compounds will be lost if there is not a cover crop on the land that makes a large growth before winter.

Cover crops sown after October 1, Prof. Roberts points out, usually do not make enough growth to take up all the soluble nitrogen formed in the soil following most cultivated crops. The richer the soil, the larger will be the losses by leaching if the soil is not fully protected. Grass is the best protection against leaching, and obviously those grasses with long growing periods, like bluegrass are best. Rarely is any appreciable amount of soluble nitrogen found under growing grass.

Of course, adds Prof. Roberts, not all land can be kept in grass, but cultivated land should be kept covered with growing plants as much of the time as possible.

Here's a Woman: (Not old)— that cannot do all the things she would like to do. Why? Her feet hurt. Long before the day is over, her legs ache and draw. Early in the afternoon her back begins to ache—then her head aches. When the day is over, she is a physical and nervous wreck, glad to be in bed. Now maybe after a night's sleep (if she gets a night's sleep) she hopes the day will bring her some body and foot comfort.

THE SECOND WOMAN—About the same age—used to suffer day after day like the first woman. Someone told her that feet out of balance and not properly supported sometimes cause leg pains—back aches—followed by headaches and general nervousness.

BUT SHE INVESTIGATED and found that these things can be corrected. After wearing surgical shoes, the foot pains disappeared—Corns and Callouses vanished—no more leg pains—no more back aches—no more headaches—and the world seemed bright again—Just like being born all over again.

If YOU are suffering—don't put up with it another day—investigate today—Your feet may be causing all your trouble.—Adv

EXAMINATIONS ARE UNNECESSARY RULES

The Kentucky Department of Revenue recently advised all circuit court clerks that they may issue 1939-40 motor vehicle operators' licenses after July 31, 1939, without qualifying examinations to any individual upon presentation of his 1938-39 motor vehicle operators' license or one of a previous year. The law requires that motor vehicle operators' licenses be secured by August 1. The Kentucky drivers operating their cars after August 1 without 1939 operators' license may be fined $25 to $100 or imprisoned six months or both. The annual license fee is one dollar.

Examinations for all applicants who have not previously held a Kentucky operators' license continue to be conducted throughout the State under the supervision of the State Highway Patrol.

VENTILATION OF TOBACCO BARN

Both the quality and the weight of the tobacco crop depends partly upon the type of ventilation provided in barns during curing. For an acre of fire-cured tobacco, by the time the leaf is cured there is an average loss of 800 gallons of water, according to recent tests made by the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station.

For all types of tobacco grown in this State the best ventilation is provided by the ridge ventilator, supplemented by horizontal ground ventilators. In addition, vertical side-door ventilators should be built on air-curing barns.

Information on how to build ridge ventilators on both new and old barns, how to use air circulation in curing burley, fire-cured and dark air-cured tobaccos control for the various stages of curing, and other material is discussed in Circular No. 335, entitled "Ventilation of Tobacco Barns." This may be obtained free from county farm agents, or by writing to the College of Agriculture at Lexington.

There are still those who remember the days when molasses in local grocery stores came in a barrel, and salad dressing sold too slowly to stock much of it.

FARM-TO-MARKET

ROADS CONSTRUCTED
Louisville, Ky.—Rural highways constructed in Kentucky by the Works Projects Administration during the past eight months preceding March 1, 1939 total 1,524 miles—an aggregate mileage sufficient to span the State from Ashland to Fulton nearly three times according to a report released by George H. Goodman, administrator. The bulk of the construction the report indicates, is of the "farm-to-market" type leading from arterial highways into agricultural sections.

In spite of the fact that approximately half the period covered by the report fell during winter months when highway construction always is at its lowest ebb, the rate of construction on a monthly average basis showed an increase over that for the preceding three years.

At the same time, Mr. Goodman said that WPA had built 584 new bridges in Kentucky totaling 11,986 feet in length and had repaired 221 similar structures 5,323 feet in length. Towns in the State have received 102 miles of new streets and 31 miles of sidewalks. Other improvements to the State's highway system consisted of the building of culverts totaling a mile in length and the drainage of roads 55 miles in length.

"Hundreds of miles of roads built by WPA during the past four years constitute one of the most important contributions the work relief program has made to Kentucky's welfare," Mr. Goodman said. "Much of this work has consisted of feeder roads from main highways reaching to farm areas previously more or less isolated. Farm-to-market roads built by WPA have given much better access to markets and shipping centers to many Kentucky farmers, greatly improving their economic condition and bringing them nearer to schools and churches."

Homemakers Plan Exhibit For 4-H Fair

Boone County homemakers are making plans to have an educational exhibit at the 4-H and Utopia Free Fair, according to Mary Hood Gillaspie, home demonstration agent.

A committee, appointed by the County President, Mrs. Sam Sleet, met last week in Burlington to make arrangements for the exhibit. Samples of "before" and "after" of refinishing furniture, cane seats, Hong Kong seats and slip covers will be displayed by the homemakers. Handicraft work done as minor projects will also be shown. This includes woven rugs and knitting bags done with looper clips and hand made gloves.

The committee making arrangements for the exhibit are Mrs. George Casper, chairman; Mrs. Orville Kelly, Rabbit Hash; and Mrs. J. R. Williams, Bullittsville.

Walton Attorney Relieved Of Liability In $10,000 Note Case

John L. Vest, Walton attorney was relieved of liability in connection with a $10,000 note signed for T. O. Morton, president of the now defunct Taylor National Bank of Campbellsville, in order of Federal Judge H. Church Ford at Lexington Thursday last week.

Vest had been used as signer by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, a receiver of the closed bank. Judge Ford traced the history of the signature, in a written opinion. The opinion related that Vest and Morton were friends, that Morton obtained Vest's signature on the note by saying that he wished to borrow the money himself, but did not want it known he was borrowing the money for the bank.

Morton agreed to post collateral to cover the debt fully, and at first did deposit securities then worth approximately $12,000. Vest said, Vest received $10,000 and immediately turned it over to Morton, at no time deriving any return from the transaction.

Four-H Girls Are Preparing For Fair

Forty-nine 4-H girls enrolled in the canning project are preparing exhibits of canned products for the 4-H and Utopia Fair, scheduled for August 26. Local adult leaders are holding project meetings during the summer for the girls. Each girl enrolled in the canning project attends three to four meetings during the summer, conducted by a local leader. The newest methods of canning fruits and vegetables are demonstrated at these meetings.

Each canning member is preparing to make an exhibit of her work and record book at the fair, according to Mary Hood Gillaspie, home demonstration agent. The following classes have been provided:

TWO-DAY MEETING ON STOCK FEEDING

Livestock raisers and feeders and dealers in commercial feeds have been invited to a two-day feeding school at the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture August 30 and 31. Attendance will enable feeders to make more efficient use of purchased feeds, to supplement home-grown feeds, and also help feed dealers to more adequately serve the needs of their communities, says the announcement. Speakers will discuss the best feeds for various kinds of stock, the use of minerals and other problems involved in stock raising.

It doesn't mean that summer has gone just because they are showing women's hats for fall.

142 Homemakers Visit Kentucky State Parks

Kentucky state parks and historical points of interest have been visited by homemakers from clubs during July. One hundred and forty-five homemakers and their families made all-day truck or automobile trips to Central Kentucky.

These trips were planned after the Homemakers' Clubs had studied the minor project "Know Kentucky," according to Mary Hood Gillaspie, home demonstration agent. The study of "Know Kentucky" had included historical points of interest, state parks and types of agriculture.

Twenty-seven of the Burlington club made an all-day truck trip to Central Kentucky. They made stops in Frankfort to see the old and new Capitol, Harrodsburg to visit Fort Harrod, Dix Dam, High Bridge, Shakertown and Lexington. The trip of 250 miles cost each individual 90c.

The Petersburg and Bullittsville Club took a truck trip July 28th to Frankfort to see the capitol; Bardstown to visit My Old Kentucky Home and St. Joseph's Cathedral to view the famous paintings and Louisville. The homemakers traveled 300 miles on this trip.

The Hebron group took their trip to Butler State Park at Carrollton on July 30th for a picnic. A ball game, hikes and swimming was enjoyed by the ninety homemakers and their families present on the trip.

Educational trips have been planned by the New Haven and Constance clubs for August.

Gayety Theater News

Friday and Saturday—"Hound of the Baskervilles"
Sun. & Mon. "Lucky Night."
Tues., Wednesday and Thursday, Aug. 22, 23, 24—"Union Pacific."

A scintillating new comedy team will come to the Gayety Theatre Sunday and Monday in "Lucky Night" in which Myra Loy and Robert Taylor make their first appearance together before the cameras.

It was a lucky thought on the part of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer to take the romantic Taylor and team him with the joyous and irrepressible Miss Loy. Taylor demonstrates a flair for comedy as authentic and wile as he has displayed in drama. Miss Loy is even more beautiful and stunning than in previous pictures for the producers have been lavish with their budget in gowning her.

Interweaving moving heart throbs with uproarious laughter, the story unfolds the accidental meeting and later marital careers of Cora Jordan and Bill Overton. Cora, the spoiled daughter of a millionaire steel magnate, walks out on her fourth engagement to hunt for a job. Bill is a playboy down on his luck. Following an accidental meeting on a park bench, they gamble, frolic and fight their way to fortune. Don't miss this big picture.

Seven turbulent years—among the most important in all American history—are spanned by Cecil B. De Mille's "Union Pacific," the epic story of the people who built our first transcontinental railroad. The film will be shown at the Gayety Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, August 15, 16, 17.

Barbara Stanwyck and Joel McCrea are starred in the screenplay, which was written by Walter DeLeon, C. Gardner Sullivan and Jesse Laskey, Jr.

With Miss Stanwyck cast as a fiery frontier girl and daughter of the "U. S." first engineer, and McCrea as a stalwart trouble-shooter sent out by Washington to help bring a semblance of law and order to the West, "Union Pacific" depicts their great struggles against not only hostile nature and more hostile Indians, but against East-

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT

Whereas it has pleased our Heavenly Father in His infinite wisdom to remove from our midst two of the directors of the Florence Deposit Bank; viz. B. H. Tanner, who departed this life on July 13, 1939 and J. B. Respass, who departed this life on July 25, 1939, therefore be it resolved by the Board of Directors of this bank, that it has lost two of its most highly esteemed and capable directors; that the family of each of said deceased directors has lost a kind and considerate and devoted member, and the community in which each resided, a true and faithful neighbor and friend; and Boone County two of its most highly respected and worthy citizens:

Be it further resolved, that these resolutions be spread on the minute book of this bank, and a copy thereof be sent to the family of each of said deceased directors, and that same be published in the Boone County Recorder.

Adopted August 5, 1939.

MAKE YOUR OWN FERTILIZER TEST

How to make crop tests for the need of lime and fertilizers is discussed in a leaflet, written by Prof. George Roberts, head of the agronomy department at the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station. For instance, one can lay off small plots in a field where he can test the need of lime and superphosphate. Legumes or a mixture of grass and legumes are considered the best crops for such tests. The leaflet tells how crop tests can be made to the best advantage. Copies may be had from county agents or by writing to the Experiment Station.

CANNED HINTS

Add a pinch of salt to kettle of fruit and cook for 15 minutes before adding sugar and you will not need as much sugar as usually required. Since sugar costs more than salt it is a saving if you are canning a large amount of fruit. . . . If you own a French fryer, that is a pan with a wire basket, put your can lids and jar rubbers into basket and boil. When ready to use remove basket and sterilized lids and rubbers are removed without burning your fingers.

FIRE DESTROYS LARGE BARN SAT.

ON FARM OF MRS. EMMA H. CLECK—LOSS ESTIMATED AT $1500—CAR, FARMING TOOLS AND HAY DESTROYED.

During a severe wind, rain and electrical storm last Saturday that swept through the Union section of Boone county, a large barn owned by Mrs. Emma Cleck on Highway 42, near Union was destroyed by fire after being struck by lightning. The barn and all contents were completely destroyed.

Loss was estimated at $1500.00 by Mrs. Cleck, which was partially covered by a $1000.00 insurance policy in the Farmers Mutual Fire Insurance Co., of Boone County. Contents of the barn included 20 tons of hay, one automobile, farming tools and harness.

The tenant, Henry Sleet, who owned the automobile, farm tools and harness, suffered a complete loss, having no insurance on either the car or farming implements. Crops in several sections of the county were reported to be damaged from the high wind, and rain Saturday.

Florence Firemen Extinguish Blazing Car

The Florence Volunteer Fire Department answered a call one night recently on Highway 42 when a car caught fire. According to reports the car was approximately 7 miles west of Florence on Highway 42 and the department made the run in seven minutes.

The blaze was quickly extinguished by the firemen, but too late to save the car which was completely destroyed. The car was owned by a Covington man.

The new pump of the Florence Fire Department, recently purchased by them, is one of the best in this section of the state, and adds much to the safety of residents within a radius of several miles of Florence.

SPONSORED BY HEBRON VOLUNTEER FIRE DEPARTMENT—WILL BE AN ANNUAL EVENT IN FUTURE.

The fish fry and dance sponsored by the Hebron Volunteer Fire Department attracted a large crowd Saturday night, at the Harvest Home grounds, near Lima-burg. Approximately 400 were in attendance.

This was the first picnic sponsored by the department, but it was reported by members that the event will be held each year.

Fish sandwiches, coffee, and lemonade were served on the ground by the members. Those desiring to dance were entertained by a string orchestra. This feature of the program will be much better next year, as an orchestra will be employed for those who care to round dance, and a string orchestra for those who care to square dance.

Proceeds from the entertainment will be used toward purchasing new fire-fighting equipment. The Hebron department deserves much credit for the splendid progress made since being organized, and at the present Hebron is the smallest town in the United States to boast a standard fire fighting equipment.

Members of the fire department expressed their appreciation for the splendid attendance and co-operation extended them in their first entertainment.

Lee Roy Pendry, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Elijah Pendry was born in Boone county, Ky., July 27, 1924 and died at the Bethesda Hospital August 10th at the age of 15 years and two weeks, after undergoing two operations. He united with the Bellevue Baptist Church, the fall of 1937, where he had manifested the spirit of his Master until death called him to lay down his armor. "Roy" as he was generally called lived in such a manner as to win the confidence of everybody. He had a generous, unselfish spirit and passionate devotion to the Lord that is seldom exhibited in a child his age. No doubt his spiritual fortitude enabled him to live as long as he did when medical science had come to its end. He is survived by his father, mother, two sisters, Betty Jane and Loretta, three grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Leomere Loudon, Mr. and Mrs. Jasper Pendry, and other relatives and friends, who will mourn his passing.

Phosphate Demonstration Is Planned In Boone Co.

Fifty-five thousand six hundred pounds of triple superphosphate were ordered Monday, August 14, from the Tennessee Valley Authority for demonstration work in Boone County, according to H. B. Drake, Assistant County Agent.

The seventeen farmers conducting these demonstrations will use the phosphate on meadow or pasture land, leaving it unplowed for at least four years. Limestone will be applied on this land as well as in most cases. Chemicals are left in order to show the fertilizing value of the material.

A small area is left without any treatment, one with phosphate only and one with lime only. By observing the differences in growth on the various plots, it will be easy to determine the comparative results obtained through the use of these two important fertilizing materials.

Farmers ordering phosphate for starting demonstrations this fall are: J. A. Aylor, H. W. Baker, W. L. Crigler, E. W. Franks, B. S. Wagner, E. W. Jengens, Wm. H. Moore, Albert Parker, Vernon Scott, Fred Slekmans, J. B. Sleet, Wilton Stephens, Harry Tanner, Ira M. Tanner, J. R. Worthington, J. J. Kloppe, and F. H. Rouse.

Covington Will Have New Shoe Store Sept. 1

Covington soon will have a new shoe store. Not just another shoe store, but something different, due to a persistent public demand.

Encouraged by its great success, which exceeded even fondest expectations, the Quality Sample Shoe Shop, 627 Madison Ave., Covington, will open a second store in the new store building, 101 Madison Ave., Covington, about September 1. It will be called Quality Sample Shoe Shop No. 2.

COMMUNITY ACP MEETINGS HELD

IN BOONE COUNTY THIS WEEK—GOOD FARMING PRACTICES ARE RECOMMENDED BY ACP COMMITTEE.

Two community ACP meetings were held this week to discuss with farmers ways of earning 100 percent of the 1939 soil-building allowance, according to Mark Cook, chairman of the county committee. One meeting was held at Burlington last evening, August 11. Boone county farmers to date have approximately $24,216.12 that must be earned before October 31st, or it will be lost to the county.

Meetings were held at the following places this week: Hamilton School, Tuesday evening, Aug. 15, at 7:30 p. m.; Walton school, Wednesday evening, August 16 at 7:30 p. m. These meetings will be followed in about two weeks with a series of meetings in other communities.

The county and community committees in a conference at Burlington last Tuesday evening recommended as good farming the following soil improvement practices to be carried out for credit under the ACP program this fall:

Alfalfa seeded from 12 to 20 pounds per acre in August or before September 10th. Now is an ideal time to seed alfalfa. The program pays $3.00 per acre seeded.

Korean and sweet clover of the 1939 growing seed crop, seed in October.

Orchard grass, blue grass, timothy, red top, annual ryegrass or mixtures or grasses, vetch and crimson clover seeded now or not later than October 31st. Ryegrass should be seeded now in corn fields or early in September as soon as the tobacco crop is cut.

Ground limestone pays $1.50 per ton and may be applied on any field or fields in the farm before October 31st.

Phosphate pays $1.50 per hundred pounds when applied on grass and legume crops or new seedlings of grass and legume crops provided no small grains are seeded this fall in connection with phosphate. Ryegrass may be used as winter cover crop instead of small grains and full credit for use of phosphate is given. Ryegrass also pays $1.50 per acre when seeded this fall and the farmer may also sow other grasses with ryegrass, but credit for only one seeding will be given.

There are a few other practices on which farmers may receive credit or payment under the program. Where there is any question, the farmer should call the county office phone, Burlington, 412. Every farmer should carry out sufficient practices to earn 100 percent of the allowance set up for his farm.

SHEEP ASS'N TO MEET SEPT. 4TH

AUGUST 31ST WILL MARK FIRST YEAR OF SUCCESSFUL OPERATION—LOSSES REPORTED AS SMALL.

The Boone County Sheep Protective Association will complete its first year's successful operation August 31st, and will hold the first annual meeting at Burlington courthouse, Monday, September 4th, according to H. E. White, president of the association.

Losses have amounted to approximately fifty per cent of funds paid the association and all claims will be paid in full with the members being offered the privilege of lowering the rates for 1940.

The sheep protective association has given farmers greater confidence in the development of the sheep industry in the county. This past year 100 farmers insured more than 5,000 sheep through this mutual cooperative organization. This represents approximately one-third of all sheep in the county.

A large increase in membership is expected following the September meeting. All existing insurance expires the first of September and both old and new members must sign up for the 1939-40 year if they are to receive insurance protection after this date. New applications may be signed at the County Agent's office in Burlington, at the annual meeting or by the precinct directors of the association.

Officers and directors for the 1939-40 year will be elected at the annual meeting.

TO A QUEEN'S TASTE

Life is good, and it sets a mighty fine table at this time of year. That old saying of "living like a king" or "off the fact of the land" must have been spoken over a pattern of corn-on-the-cob and fresh beans boiled with a hunk of ham. Consider the sliced tomatoes, beef-steak if you prefer, and the new potatoes simply oozing with melted butter. There are two schools of thought regarding the superiority of the round red or long which icicle radish. It is a poor table indeed, without a dish of crisp sliced cucumbers although it has its ups and downs where minds differ on the digestibility of the dish. Of course there comes the huge bowl of berries, all kinds of berries, but each one fresh and dewy looking and that is the kind-of-up of a tribute to Nature. Most of us live like kings as far as our palate is concerned and if summer weather is not too dry, a neighboring government may be politically upset, a neighboring state having labor trouble, a neighboring city its relief investigation, but what concerns us more in our county is how the neighbor-

TRUTH about ADVERTISING

By CHARLES B. ROTH

TRADE MARKS AND DOLLAR MARKS

WITHOUT giving the matter much thought you might define a trade mark on a package or advertisement as a mark of identification which protects the interest of the seller against imitators; a selfish symbol, you know, which exists to help some one man or firm to get rich.

Actually a trade mark is as much to your interest as it is to the man's who owns it and has it registered in his name.

For it is a buying guide for you which you can absolutely trust. You can buy anything under a trade mark and know that the quality, the quantity and the price will be right. You do not even have to examine the package before you buy. If the trade mark is there, so also will the quality be there.

The merchant knows that. He prefers to sell trade-marked, that is, advertised, goods because they have the confidence of the public and can be sold easily, quickly and in quantity.

Back of the trade mark is advertising. It stands for the trade mark for the trade mark itself is merely a design etched on paper, until advertising gives it life in the minds of only surplus food produce. The stamps are good at any co-operating grocery store and the government redeems these stamps at their face value. We will watch the experiment in the hundred other cities to be added. The idea of relieving the surplus crops is feasible to everyone in Boone County.

THE LOVELIEST

A rural high school graduate was named from among 3,000 contestants as the nation's loveliest farm girl. She appears at the New York World's Fair as harvest queen. Her name is Mary West. She says she knows nothing about riding a horse, can milk a cow if she likes to, but doesn't want to. She likes movie magazines but doesn't read books. As for farm cooking and raising, she helps if necessary, but would rather see a movie. What farm girl around Boone County wouldn't? But this is not the liking of all lovely farm girls. Many of them do farm chores from choice. Some of them wouldn't change their whole existence. Often a ruddy, plain body makes the happiest ideal wife for a farmer boy. She goes ahead with her eyes open to the hard work and her hands willing to carry, a life where a movie is a real treat, and time to read a magazine is hard to find.

VERONA

(Delayed)

The New Bethel Homecoming held July 30th was largely attended by people in the immediate vicinity and by those out of town. Rev. H. C. Wayman delivered the principal address for the occasion. An old fashioned basket dinner was served and probably recalled many memories to the present who had attended similar occasions in years past. Next year, 1940, marks the church's centennial. It is hoped the homecoming will be the largest in its history.

The Y. P. T. U. attended a supper at Butler Park on Sunday afternoon.

The Daily Vacation Bible School closed Friday, August 4th. Many children attended and took part. Since this was the first attempt, it is evident it was quite successful. This school is a yearly training unit and every effort will be made to make it even more successful next summer.

The revival conducted by Rev. Roy Johnson, of Covington, closed Friday night. There were no additions to the church, but the community received a great spiritual blessing from the messages and assembling together.

The Benson reunion was held

BEVERAGE ALCOHOL AND THE COMMUNITY

LESSON TEXT—Joel 1:5-7; Daniel 5:1-5, 17, 23-25.
GOLDEN TEXT—Woe unto him that drinketh his neighbor's drink.—Habakkuk 2:15.

"None of us liveth to himself" (Rom. 14:7).

What concerns the individual concerns the community, for the community is made up of individuals. The man who uses alcohol has no right to stand for full value wherever it happens to be found.

But unidentified goods are as uncertain as counterfeit money, and the wise man or woman avoids both.

And how close these trade marks are to our lives and how comforting they are to us when we buy! You go into a store. On the shelves are familiar marks you have seen all your life.

You recognize them as you do familiar faces in a strange crowd—and they give you the same comforting feeling of familiarity and respect.

Trade marks exist to help you buy more serenely and profitably.

STATION STUDIES

WIREWORM INJURY

Several practices have been studied at the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station to observe conditions under which wireworms do greatest injury to tobacco.

On fall-plowed ground, 65 percent of the plants were injured in one season studied, compare with 68 percent on spring-plowed ground. On slight ridges, 57 percent of the plants were injured, as compared with 70 percent of plants set in slight furrows, a difference of 13 percent in favor of ridge planting.

Four different sizes of plants were tried. Small plants suffered by far the most damage. Also small plants recovered much more slowly than larger plants, and the difference was noticeable after the season was well advanced.

A greater percentage of early-set plants were injured than of late-set plants, the difference being as great as 39 percent. Five extra cultivations of the ground in addition to the usual preparation reduced injury about 20 percent.

FLOWER CONTAINERS

If you are short of flower holders, or with odd shaped ones that do not fit certain vases, try putting about an inch of sand in the bottom of flower bowl or vase. You can stick the stems into the sand in any arrangement that you desire. The flowers will look more natural, too.

KEEP THEM HANDY

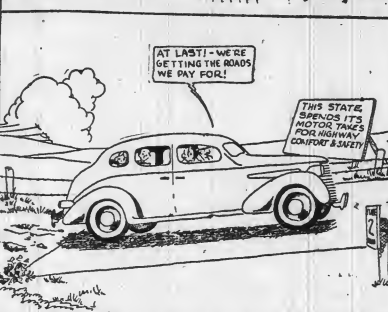

When you are sewing or embroidering, tie a piece of tape or a ribbon on your scissors and hang them around your neck. Scissors are usually lost or sliding away from you just when you need them.

INSPIRATIONAL

Rest is not idleness, and to lie sometimes on the grass under the trees on a summer's day, listening to the murmur of water, or watching the clouds float across the sky, is by no means waste of time.

The Rhoades Family by Squier

BETTER ROADS—Three states—California, Michigan and New Hampshire—adopted constitutional amendments at the last general elections, to prevent the diversion of automotive tax funds to non-highway purposes. Four other states have adopted constitutional bars to diversion, thus assuring motorists of these states that they will get full value for their taxes.

In The Land Of Hiawatha

By Mrs. Cam White

I will try to describe our vacation trip. In our party were Harold White, Pauline White Ryle, Mr. White and myself.

We started July 14, spending the first night in Indiana. The next morning we started on our way through Indiana by way of Greensburg, on to South Bend.

The land is very level and fine for farming. We saw many fields of wheat and a number of threshing machines at work. We drove through Indiana into Michigan. It was very cool, although the sun was bright. We saw many orchards of peaches, apple and cherry also large fields of currants and raspberries that were ripe. The cherry orchards were beautiful. They were the large black, yellow, sweets and red sour, the trees being heavily laden with ripe fruit. We purchased some of the sweets and they were delicious.

In Michigan you will see many road signs that read "good water," so we stopped. We looked to our left and there was the beautiful blue waters of Lake Michigan. The lake was very rough. You could see large steamers far out on the lake. We had read that the water of Lake Michigan was ice cold, so Harold and I might we would test the water. I shed shoes and socks and stepped into the water. It was cold that water. You could feel that it was winter time. We drove on to Silver Lake. This is not a large lake, but it is very pretty. This is where the large sand dunes are. Our cabin was on the lake shore, just across from the dunes. They are higher than our hills and run in ranges. They change shape every day, due to the wind. There are many hundreds of acres in the dunes. From our cabin they looked like hills of snow. There is neither grass nor tree on these hills of sand. We crossed the lake to see them. We watch the sun set from the top of them. We climbed to the top of the highest peak and in order to climb these dunes you must be barefooted. It is a task to reach the top for you sink into the sand up to your knees. We were well paid for our effort. I have never seen a picture that was as beautiful. The dunes are between Lake Michigan and Silver Lake. In the West the sun was sinking into the beautiful blue water of Lake Michigan casing a beautiful glow on the sand dunes of pale yellow, blue, pink, orchid and a deep rose, and a few fleecy clouds in the sky, and far out on the lake a ship that looked as though it belonged to the heavens as much as to the blue waters. We turned your face to the East and another picture that nature has painted. Silver Lake, with its lovely green water and shores dotted with cabins that have blue smoke curling up lazily out of the chimneys, for it is so cool one must have fire. Then on the lake you see boats here and there with fishermen in them. The background of this picture are the beautiful pines reaching to the heavens. One never tires of looking at this beautiful picture and could rest forever—no noise, only the call of a loon or gull to their mate.

Our vacation is also a fishing excursion. On our way to our cabin in Mr. White hooked a large pike for our breakfast. The nights are so cool you sleep under three heavy woolen blankets and are not too warm. The next day we started to Frankfort. We spent the night at Bear Lake and enjoyed a swim. Yes it was cold, and we enjoyed fishing here too. We drove to Frankfort, where we were to sail on the steamer to Manitowish. But to our dismay the boat sailed the day before. We found a nice cabin by the bay and spent the night there. The next morning at 4:30 on the Am. Arthur No. 7. The lake was very rough when we started and the boat rocked badly. It was a large steamer heavily loaded, carrying 32 loaded freight cars. The cars were loaded with coal and iron. It was a beautiful night on the water. We could see many steamers and freighters. We did not see land for several hours, then we came in sight of an island. We could hear the roar of navy guns as they were having target practice.

We landed at Manitowish after seven and one-half hours' ride on the boat. We drove to the Kitcheniki spring (Mirror of Heaven). We visited this spring last year. It is so lovely you never tire of the beauty of it. We drove to Indian Lake, rented a cabin for the night and the next morning Harold, Polly and my father went to entice the funny tribe our way. Harold caught a large pike. We bought our supplies, for we were headed for the great forest. There is something about this country that keeps calling to you. I would not advise anyone that does not like to rough it, who do not like the great outdoors as it was created with its beautiful virgin forest, lakes, deer and all things made by our Creator not to make this trip.

On our way into the forest we saw one bear and the track of a large bear at a trout stream, where she had been fishing. They told us at the lodge she would weigh 450 pounds. We saw many deer—they would come to the lake to drink, as we were in our boat fishing, we saw 26 deer in three days. We rented our cabin and exchanged hello's with the chauffeur and then the Whites went angling, returning with a large amount of bass. We spent one morning trout fishing, catching twelve, Harold 7 and Mr. White 5. Polly and I picked blueberries, the first we had ever eaten.

We visited the forest ranger at the tower and Harold climbed to the top with the ranger and saw a ranger explained how they located forest fire, took pictures, and the fires and our help.

We fished quite a lot. Polly caught a large bass, Harold and Mr. White catching a number of pike, the smallest measuring 24 inches, and three weighing 15 lbs. We caught bluegills, perch, bass, trout, walleyes, rock bass, northern pike.

We now visited with our old friend Ed, the trapper and caretaker and head the interesting stories of the wilds, how they learn to ride on skis. His baby daughter at the age of three weeks came to their home in the forest in the arms of her father on skis, and the mother rode in a sled drawn by two great huskies. It was 40 below zero and it took the dog team 9 hours to travel three miles. Ed said they were warm as toasts.

We have been invited to spend a winter at the home of the caretaker and see for ourselves the beauty of the snow on pines and lakes with the snow to the roof, and to be lulled into dreamland by the song of the coyote as he passes the cabin looking for his supper. That for our meals, venison steak, and all the trimmings, besides the wild turkey and other game. I would like very much to spend a winter here.

Now good-bye to our old friends, and new ones. We drove to Munising on Lake Superior and it was a nice drive. The spring flowers were in bloom, peonies, roses and such. The temperature was from 34 to 45 while we were here. It was 31 degrees a few days before we arrived.

On to the straits, and two days later finds us at Polly's. We had a wonderful trip and I wish everyone that reads this could see and enjoy it as much as we did. I have tried to picture to you the beauty of this great country as I have seen it.

PASTURES GIVE ONE-THIRD DAIRY FEED IN CORN BELT

Good pastures are good business for the farmer. In seven different districts of the country where the United States Department of Agriculture studied feed requirements for market milk production, pasture furnished nearly one-third of all feed, but was only one-seventh of the feed cost. On 478 Corn Belt farms, pasture furnished more than one-half the feed for beef cattle, but was only one-third of the total feed bill. Because good pastures are a good investment, the A. A. A. is helping many farmers in the Northeastern, East Central and a number of Southern States to improve pastures with lime and superphosphate. In these regions, farmers may pay for lime and superphosphate with the conservation payments they earn for carrying out soil-building and soil-conserving practices. The farmers obtain the soil-building materials with the understanding that they use them to improve their pastures.

Farmers with depleted permanent pastures have found lime and superphosphate of particular value for they aid desirable grasses and legumes in driving out and replacing weeds and poorer grasses.

Whenever Dame Fashion wants to put men in their place, she swears to bring back the bustle.

STORE EMPLOYEES
HELP TO HARVEST

Boone County has an estimated 196 "unofficial tax collectors" who indirectly are helping local, state and national governments harvest their annual revenues, the National Consumers Tax Commission declared today.

The unofficial, and generally unwilling, "tax collectors" according to the NCTC are the proprietors and employees in the 130 local retail stores.

"There are 898 official tax levying and spending governmental agencies in Kentucky," said Mrs. Melville Muckelstone, president of the national-wide women's organization. "But every clerk behind a store counter is actually a tax collector, too."

"In every sale, these clerks collect fractions of hidden taxes that have increased the cost of production and distribution of the article purchased. These taxes, of necessity, must be passed on to the consumer as a part of the price. A major share of all local, state and national taxes now are hidden to the consumers who pay them this way."

"However, retail merchants should not be blamed. No business could possibly survive today if it attempted to absorb the multitude of taxes to which it is subject. In consequence, every ring of the cash register represents not only a sale but a tax payment."

The NCTC now has study groups in approximately 5,000 communities in 45 states in its educational campaign to expose "unnecessary consumer-penalizing taxes," Mrs. Muckelstone said. The crusade in this state is led by Mrs. J. E. Warren, of Mayfield, state director.

BEST BURLEY SOLD

EARLY IN SEASON

Studying the changes in quality of burley tobacco offered for sale during the marketing season, the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station found that in most years the average quality improved for the first two or three weeks after the market opened, and then declined for the rest of the season, following a course similar to that of the weighted average price for all tobacco on the market.

Regarding price changes, studies indicated that about 50 percent of the seasonal fluctuations were due to variations in quality and 50 percent to changes in prices, grade for grade. No allowance was made for variation in quality within the grade, or for changes in the distribution of sales between the major groups of grades, however, and these figures offer further explanation of varying prices.

Higher grades showed relatively less variation in price during the season than lower grades. Quality seems to have been an important factor, and other factors were only in addition to quality.

A similar preliminary analysis of prices of Eastern fire-cured tobacco shows that there is much less seasonal fluctuation both in price and in quality in that type of tobacco than in burley tobacco.

CLEANING AND RESHAPING FELT HATS A HOME CHORE

By midsummer a light-colored or white felt hat may look a little the worse for wear. It is possible to dry-clean it at home, says the Kentucky College of Agriculture. Use carbon tetrachloride, because it is non-inflammable. It should be used in a well-ventilated place, however, and there should be enough on hand so that the hat may be dipped into two separate bowls. Brush the hat well, dip in the dry-cleaning solvent, brush well with a soft brush, and rinse thoroughly in fresh solvent. While the hat is still saturated with carbon tetrachloride, dust over it a thick layer of absorbent material such as French chalk, powdered magnesia, cornstarch or white talcum powder. Let the hat lie in a covered box overnight. In the morning, shake off the loose powder, let dry, and then brush off the remaining powder. Rubbing the hat with fine sandpaper improves it. Sometimes the dusting treatment without the dip in the solvent is enough for a light-colored felt.

Farm statistics show that hogs increased over five millions this last year. We wonder if that includes those on the road, too.

After singing a song, "We've a Story to Tell the Nation," we repeated our watchword, our Bible Study, "The Ever-Enlarging City of the Kingdom" was brought by Mrs. Fothergill.

Mrs. Rouse gave us a very inspiring talk on "The Great Commission and the Orient." We were then brought messages by members of the society on the different countries of the Orient, showing to us their need of the Gospel and Missionaries; thus enabling us to realize our responsibility.

Mrs. Ruth Mason told us in a very able way why we should be responsible for the Missionary training and education of our young people. After singing, "Jesus Calls Us," we were dismissed by Mrs. Rouse.

THE GARDEN

NEXT YEAR'S GARDEN

By John S. Gardner, Kentucky College of Agriculture

The object in discussing next year's garden now is to bring to the fore-front the importance of planning plenty of humus, soil-benefiter, the way to assure it being to sow a winter cover crop, and now.

The ways a cover crop benefit a garden are several. By having the garden covered with winter-hardy growth, the soil is kept from washing; that is to say, the soil itself is saved. Apart from holding the soil, a cover that continues growing absorbs and holds the soil's fertility that might otherwise leach below root-reach or that might change into gases lost to the air. The greens cannot qualify fully in these respects, for severe cold may destroy them or at least make them too inactive to function. Even so, the killed plants and the roots contribute to do what the more usual cover crops do. Greens are by no means to be ignored as cover crops grains and the winter hardy but much better are the small grasses.

Rye is most widely used, because it is the most winter hardy, but its drawback is that its straw is so tough and hard that it rots slowly, particularly if plowed under too late, or if dry weather follows. Wheat is better in this regard, and barley is better still, but barley is uncertain in surviving the winter weather of northern Kentucky. Lastly, a new cover crop plant has come over the horizon, rye grass. Not enough is known of it generally, but in the lower half of the state it shows enough promise to displace all the small grasses.

The above mentioned cover crop plants do not add new plant food, but if a legume were added, the nitrogen they gather from the air would improve the soil's fertility. The most reliable legume is hairy vetch for it lies through any winter weather Kentucky may encounter, and makes growth on any day the growing season can take place. Another is crimson clover, but the same criticism that applies as to the winter-tender small grain; crimson clover does not survive dependably except in the lower counties of the state.

A dependable cover crop still is rye, combined with hairy vetch, one bushel and one peck, or rye used alone, 1½ bushels per acre. Where wheat and barley stand successfully, a bushel of either with 10 pounds of crimson clover makes a good combination. When the small grains are used alone, the rate should be the same as for rye. For rye grass, seedling for cover crop purposes should be 15 to 18 pounds per acre.

Seed bed preparation is simple, the chopping necessary to clear the garden of weeds or of garden debris, usually sufficing. Chopping in a light dressing of stable manure helps; so does a manure top dressing, any time during the winter.

Cover crops should be turned under before they have begun to turn woody; the best time is when the grain heads just begin to shoot. The legumes may be left until blooming is full; except when sown with small grains, when the rule that applies to these should govern. It will pay any gardener to consider how he may arrange to have at least part of his garden covered with a cover crop this winter. Sowing time is during August.

Feet And The Law Of Tissue

BY N. TULCH

Foot Comfort Specialist at PEOPLE'S FOOT CONCERT
(SHOE STORE) COVINGTON

There is a natural law constantly at work in the tissues of the human body. We must understand that bone, muscle and nerve consist of millions of ever changing tiny bodies called cells. These cells are held together with the tissue fluids and substances of the body.

Therefore bone, muscle and ligament respectively share the influence of this law, that constant tension causes wasting especially in the feet when the body weight which they carry about and support is not evenly distributed and balanced throughout the twelve major bones of the feet framework.

If ligaments are stretched, due to long and careless standing especially those which bind the weight-supporting the key bones together, these ligaments finally yield in about the fifth or sixth year to strain and abuse, and pull away from the bone attachments. The result is that the right foot is not enough to counteract continuous strain during the day.

This same law holds true of the muscles and tendon attachments of the feet which lift the body weight on the metatarsal heads or pivots. On the other hand, constant pressure causes wasting of tissues.

If the muscles do not hold the weight bearing joints of feet in proper dovetailing and interlocking action, these joints become deformed, misshaped and deformed because of the pressure of the body weight upon their point surfaces.

When we consider that we drive hundreds of tons of aggregate weight into the twelve major bones of each foot every day that we live it is easily understood why feet degenerate.

Can you be well with unhappy feet? Those headaches, those backaches, those leg pains may be caused by the shoes you are wearing.—Adv.

USING EGG YOLKS

Egg yolks not used in cooking may be kept a few days by covering them with little water or milk and placing in refrigerator. You can drop them in hot water and cook gently until hard. These latter will be good for garnishing either chopped or pressed through sieve. Also is good added to fish sauce.

Budget of $100 Rejuvenates Home

READING, Pa. (Special)—The decorative results that can be accomplished by imagination coupled with ingenuity and a wise investment in plate glass mirrors were interestingly illustrated here by a homemaker with but $100 to spend on three rooms.

Mrs. Roy Shugart, of Wyomissing, a suburb of Reading, was the homemaker who glorified three rooms on a decorating budget of $100, accumulated by careful housekeeping economy and giving up a few recreational pleasures. But the results in a rejuvenated home more than justified the sacrifices to save the necessary funds.

Fireplace Redeemed
Faced with the problem of a badly proportioned fireplace, and eager to achieve something out of the ordinary in the way of decoration, Mrs. Shugart decided on mirrors as offering the most in charm at the least expense. She first attacked the fireplace.

The mantel was high and narrow. Therefore, if it was to become an asset instead of a liability the proportions must be changed. An eight inch board across the top was removed and a pane of mirrored plate glass reaching to the ceiling was installed at a cost of $42.07. Mrs.

Shugart felt justified in spending this amount for the mantel since the mirror gave gaiety and charm to the entire room and made the formerly ugly fireplace a focal point of interest by reflecting other furniture groupings and two excellently proportioned windows at the opposite end of the room.

Next a little-used and antiquated piano was removed and in its place were put a gateable table previously in another part of the room, a lounge chair and a maple arm chair brought down from a bedroom. In order to catch the vistas from two more windows opposite this grouping, Mrs. Shugart spent $9.85 on another mirror.

Slip Covers for $12
The divan and two upholstered chairs were treated to new slip covers at a cost of $12.00 for materials, the work being done at home. Other expenditures in the living room were for pictures, ornaments, lampshades, a lamp, rug, radiator cover and an end table, amounting to $14.48.

Furnished in simple maple, which had been a wedding gift, the dining room's particular problem was a pair of necessary but unattractive chests. Again a mirror seemed indicated and for $5.85

the amateur decorator secured a good mirror in a simple frame. Her husband removed the green paint from the old chest and rubbed it down with oil. Above the chest directly opposite Mrs. Shugart hung a wall shelf bought for $1.25 and stained at home, using bright bits of pottery and vases of field flowers to brighten it. Thus two drab corners were delightfully redeemed at a cost of $7.55.

Mirror in Nursery
The nursery received a "face lifting," with a total investment of $13.66. Paint and gay but inexpensive chintz revived the nondescript furniture and the man of the house contributed a home-made but attractive bookcase for $1.90. A mirror removed from a chest and framed for $1.75 served to emphasize a charming view of a park and to remind an untidy little daughter of her appearance. Chintz and bedspread materials cost $4.87 and a chest and a child's chair required another $5.06.

The decoration budget added up to $99.63 but, says the woman who accomplished this miracle of room transformation, the results are uplifting the spirits of the family are out of all proportion to the amount she spent.

What Every Driver Should Know

Accidents

If you have an accident of any kind while you are driving, you must remember to do three things:
1. Stop at once and give all the help possible to anybody who is hurt;
2. Let anybody else in the same accident know who you are and where you live. Show your driver's license and the number plates on your car;
3. Make a full report of the accident within twenty-four hours if anyone is killed or injured or if the cost of fixing up either or both cars will be $50.00 or more. (Forms for this purpose may be secured at most police stations and A. A. A. garages.)

Each driver must report the accident whether he is at fault or not. If he is hurt so badly that he cannot make the report, anyone else who may be riding in his car should do so. These reports are confidential and cannot be used against you in court. They are to tell where and when accidents happen and what kind they are, so steps may be taken to prevent them. The report should be made directly to the Division of Highway Patrol, Frankfort, Kentucky.

Your Car

No matter how well you can drive you are not safe as a motorist unless your car is in good shape. The law says what safety equipment must have on your car, but ever good driver wants his car to be more than just good enough to meet the requirements of the law.

Reasonable Driving
The law states that no operator of a motor vehicle upon a public highway shall drive at a greater speed than is reasonable and prudent, having regard for the traffic and for the condition and use of the highway. It also provides that the car at all times shall be under proper control and shall be operated in a manner and at a rate of speed that is reasonable, having regard for the following conditions:
1. Width, traffic and use of highway.
2. Intersections.
3. Weather conditions.
4. Danger to life, limb or property of any person, including the driver himself.

Speed Limit
Driving at a speed in excess of 45 miles per hour is considered unreasonable and dangerous. Where a highway passes through a closely built up business portion of any city or town, the speed limit of passing automobiles thereon should not exceed 20 miles per hour unless the speed limit is regulated by city ordinances. Where the highway passes through a residential portion of a city or town, the speed limit of passing automobiles thereon should not exceed 25 miles per hour unless the speed limit is regulated by city ordinances. Where the highway passes through a residential portion of a city or town, the speed limit of passing automobiles thereon should not exceed 25 miles per hour unless the speed limit is regulated by city ordinances. Where the highway passes through a residential portion of a city or town, the speed limit of passing automobiles thereon should not exceed 25 miles per hour unless the speed limit is regulated by city ordinances.

THIN SHELLS CAUSE HEAVY EGG LOSSES

Breakage on the way to market, as a result of thin shells, causes heavy losses to egg producers. Cause listed by experts at the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture include lack of limestone in the feed, a thing which should not, but often does, exist under Kentucky conditions. Where limestone cannot be had, oyster-shell should be fed.

Of course, there always is the question of proper feeding, the use of balanced rations for laying hens. Hens to do well must be fed well. Turned loose to pick up their feed, they won't do well. They may get along for a time during the summer, but they never will produce a lot of good eggs, the experts declare. Their advice is to feed balanced rations and provide limestone or oyster-shell and plenty of good, clean drinking water.

If they start making bicyclists in Boone county buy licenses, watch out for baby buggies will be the next.

Gayety Theater News

Fri. & Sat.—"Undercover Doctor." Sunday and Monday—"It's A Wonderful World."

Tues. Wednesday and Thursday, Aug. 23, 24, 25—"Rose of Washington Square."

Another dramatic episode adapted from the exciting true-to-life J. Edgar Hoover book, "Persons in Hiding," forms the basis of the thrilling film, "Undercover Doctor," which will be shown the Gayety Friday on Saturday. The Paramount picture traces the career of a brilliant but weak-willed surgeon who can't make the grade because of his fondness for liquor. His nurse, instead of acknowledging her love for him, leaves him, hoping that he will be spurred on by new efforts. Unfortunately the surgeon is called upon an emergency case which becomes a turning point in his life, for the man he saves is a notorious gunman hunted by the nation's police. The gangsters convince the surgeon that they need a good undercover doctor to take care of them after their frequent sorties with the law. Don't miss this picture.

A new comedy theme, bringing a delightful new team in unusually novel and happy complications, comes to the screen of the Gayety Theatre Sunday and Monday when "It's a Wonderful World" makes its local debut starring Claudette Colbert with James Stewart in the male lead.

Catching the elusive spirit of Claudette Colbert's Academy Award hit, "It Happened One Night," the new romantic comedy strikes out into new zany channels both in characters and plot. Stewart is an All-American football player cast as a private detective who needs to keep an irresponsible, off-married millionaire playboy out of trouble. Miss Colbert is, of all things, a poetess. We won't tell you any more, come and see it.

A whiff of lavender, the sight of a once-loved book, the taste of "peppy candy"—such are the little inconsequential things that can bring back the past to many of us in a rush of memory. But there is one thing dependable above everything else to work this result, and that's the popular song.

So bound up in the individual romances of our daily lives are the heart songs and hit songs of yesterday and today that just over-hearing a familiar refrain opens the gates of memory. This was one of the reasons for the popularity of the recent film, "Alexander's Ragtime Band." To this nostalgia, also, is largely due the acclaim which has greeted the newest entertainment highlight from Darryl F. Zanuck and 20th Century-Fox, "Rose of Washington Square." The romantic stars of "Alexander's Ragtime Band"—Tyronne Power, and Alice Faye—are joined by Al Jolson in "Rose of Washington Square" which will be shown at the Gayety Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday August 22, 23 and 24th.

The music in this picture serves only as a highlight of the stirring deeply human romance that is the central theme of the picture, a true-to-life story that is summed up simply in Rose's declaration: "Listen! I love this man from here to breakfast! Want to make something of it? He's tricky! So all right, he's tricky! He's hurt me? So what? I love him! He's my man!"

It's a picture you will remember for years to come! Don't miss it!

FSA LOANS DESIGNED TO HELP FARMERS IMPROVE FARMS

"In a great many cases farmers in Boone, Kenton and Callahan counties eligible for the credit and farming advice which the Farm Security Administration has to offer will want to start a farming program which gradually will build up the land, so that the farm may become a profitable enterprise," said Mr. W. O. Blackburn, County FSA Supervisor.

The soil improvement and farm improvement phase of FSA's rehabilitation program will be emphasized during the balance of this year, according to Mr. Blackburn.

"A sound farm plan should be worked out for each individual farm, and it is not too soon for farmers planning to take advantage of this service for next to begin making their applications."

Eligible farmers should consult with County Supervisor Blackburn, courthouse, Independence, who may be able to furnish credit and to assist in working out farm plans for gradual improvement of their farms.

Loans can be made for purchase of lime, phosphate, seed for cover crops, livestock, farm implements, fencing for pastures, minor repairs to farm buildings and other items necessary in a sound farming program.

"When the farmer is a renter, a satisfactory lease is necessary for both tenant and landlord to get the fullest benefit from this program," Mr. Blackburn said. "A rental agreement covering a period of years, or one with renewal clause is preferable."

"The credit and advice offered by the Farm Security Administration is not for the purpose of promoting a highly specialized type of cash farming, but rather for the purpose of enabling the farmer to work out and follow a long range 'live-at-home' farm plan, embracing the production of food for the family, feed for livestock, adequate cash for farm and family necessities and repaying the loan," he pointed out.

"Loans for non-recoverable goods, as seed and fertilizer, must be paid in one year, but a longer period is allowed for the part of the loan which goes to purchase lime, phosphate, livestock and farming equipment, also for repairs of a permanent nature," he pointed out.

There is nothing to give a man a feeling of confidence in himself like being right in picking a good watermelon or cantaloupe.

BLUEGRASS GROWING FOR ALL KENTUCKY

It is the belief of Prof. George Roberts, noted authority on soils and crops, that bluegrass can be grown anywhere in Kentucky.

"I have seen first class bluegrass pastures on formerly unproductive land in eastern Kentucky and on typical upland in Fulton county," he says in a College of Agriculture circular calling, "Soil Management for Kentucky."

FOUR-YEAR TIME LIMIT SET FOR CHECKING OF SOCIAL SECURITY RECORDS

Congress has placed a four-year time limit on the period during which wage records of the Social Security Board may be checked and credited. This announcement was made today by Frank B. Decker, Jr., manager of the Social Security Board's field office in Covington, Ky.

"Workers whose recorded earnings will be the basis of their old age insurance should remember this fact," Mr. Decker said.

"The action of the Congress will prevent a worker who is covered by old age insurance from going back more than four years to get a revision of his wage record. The amended law provides that at the end of the fourth calendar year following any year in which wages were paid records of the Board shall be regarded as conclusive."

"This does not mean the Board will change its policy of giving all possible aid so that a worker's wage records may include every earned dollar that should properly be there. But it does mean a worker who suspects some of this wages have not been reported by his employer and are not credited to the worker's account, will lose his right to an examination and adjustment of his record if he waits too long."

"Wage records for 1937 and 1938 are now available to all workers covered by the Social Security Act and may be had by the use of cards which are now available at our office," Mr. Decker said.

Dove Season Opens

September First

Attention is called by Major James Brown, Director of the Division of Game and Fish, to the opening of the Dove season on September 1st.

Major Brown stated that those men and women who wished to hunt doves must refrain from hunting them over baited fields. Unfortunately many hunters in the past have been reluctant to abandon the practice of baiting fields. As a result of this many prominent but thoughtless persons have been arrested and prosecuted and fined for illegal hunting of doves.

"It is hoped," Major Brown stated, "that this year will see such a practice discontinued. Dove hunters have to accept prohibitions against baiting just the same as the migratory water fowl hunters have accepted it in their line of sport," Brown said.

"It is the opinion of this Division," Brown pointed out, "that the baiting of fields for doves will never be again seen, directly the Dove hunters accept this condition it will be undoubtedly necessary within the next few years to put a permanent closed season on this particular bird. But if the dove hunters will obey this restriction, limit amounting to no dove shooting will be possible each year."

The federal regulation states that waterfowl and mourning doves are not permitted to be taken by means, or in any way, directly or indirectly, of corn, wheat, oats, or other grain or products thereof, salt, or any kind of food whatsoever, placed, deposited, distributed, scattered, or otherwise put out whereby such waterfowl or doves are lured, attracted, or enticed.

The season which opens on September 1st, closes on October 31st.

HOW TO DRESS WELL ON LITTLE MONEY

Few women to be "fashion right" Miss Iris S. Davenport of the Kentucky College of Agriculture makes the following suggestions:

Make a thorough study of at least one copy of a fashion magazine. Learn the trends of the fashions. Learn which styles are just coming in, which going out, and which have a basis of permanence.

If the income is very limited, plan the wardrobe as a whole. As to fall styles, Miss Davenport says a popular color will be navy-green, a rich shade in which many women will look well. Black is again being worn and not just as mourning but rather as a fashionable color.

Shoes will not be "out out" to any extent. They will be sturdy and simple in design. Gloves also will be simple.

The beret and the bolero are back again.

Many styles again stem from the movies that have historical background. The fall of the Bastille in France many years ago still resounds—if only in deciding the fashionable silhouette by keeping costumes reminiscent of the day.

Simple, serviceable clothes were never better from the fashion angle, as far as sports wear is concerned. But simple doesn't mean dowdy. Miss Davenport wants by a right combination of youthful colors and tricky designs even the plainest of sports clothes can be made interesting.

A FORGETFUL PUBLIC

In Ohio, recently two women, convicted of a reformatory escape and remained in hiding for over a month before their capture. During this period the newspaper of the state made front-page news of the cases. As usual, a certain amount of sentiment was aroused in favor of the culprits and many letters were sent the superintendent of the reformatory. She was advised to use leniency and forgiveness upon the return of the prisoners. There were so many sympathetic notes that the superintendent said she was hounded to death. The reason for the sympathy was through the publicity and propaganda during the period of the escape. There were even offers of marriage made to the women while they were in hiding. Did the letter-writers realize that one of these women had murdered her husband because he would not go to a bridge party after a day of hard work? They had probably felt a former horror when the deed had appeared on the front page of their paper. Should women be dealt with lightly, forgiven for their beak and treated as heroines? The superintendent asks why pin a rose on these two when she has 300 women who are doing the right thing. Too often there are not such level-headed "powers that be." The Ohio taxpayers sleep sound when they know that competent hands are at the heads of public institutions. This case brings to our minds in Boone County that the public is very forgettable sometimes, when they should be more reasonable than sympathetic.

EDUCATING TO DRINK:

We are informed that the liquor industry is about to launch a publicity campaign in small towns and weekly newspapers. This means of advertising is supposed to bring good will in the small towns of America. There are a lot of papers which will refuse the ads, although advertising is the means of making the wheels of the presses go round. Other papers will print them as intended, for educational, social, economic and political sides of the liquor question, by the liquor industry. Perhaps this will harbor good will, although it may stir up distaste. It seems that the art of drinking is really a gift and not a case of in-temperance when conducted in the right manner! Today when advertising is the main means of selling a product, the advertiser tries every ingenious way to unload his product. The age of camouflage has been given set-back, however, for more often the manufacturer and producer finds that "honesty is the best policy," after all. We shall see what is to be offered by the liquor industry to clear up a problem that has always been an important issue, creating enemies among friends among staple, honest, citizens, political upheavals among organized campaigns. We shall see if there is a side to logical drinking, a good, sound argument on favor of intoxicating liquors. Folks are wondering what there is to be said in its favor. They will form their conclusions accordingly.

SALUTE IT:

A southern state has made it lawful for public school children to salute the flag. The court has ruled that the act has not a relation or connection with the religious belief of the school child. Some states have ruled otherwise, through their lower courts. The symbol of our flag is a symbol of our liberty, and so is the liberty of religion closely linked to the flag. But, by the act of the salute, does the school child deny his religion? Does he repudiate the faith of his father by giving allegiance to his country? It is through the waving of that flag in favor of the culprits and many letters were sent the superintendent of the reformatory. She was advised to use leniency and forgiveness upon the return of the prisoners. There were so many sympathetic notes that the superintendent said she was hounded to death. The reason for the sympathy was through the publicity and propaganda during the period of the escape. There were even offers of marriage made to the women while they were in hiding. Did the letter-writers realize that one of these women had murdered her husband because he would not go to a bridge party after a day of hard work? They had probably felt a former horror when the deed had appeared on the front page of their paper. Should women be dealt with lightly, forgiven for their beak and treated

TRUTH about ADVERTISING

By CHARLES B. ROTH

KEEP YOUR SALT

THE other day I read of an eccentric old woman, rich and socially prominent, who went from house to house judging the occupants by the condition of the salt cellars on their tables.

If these were clean and well kept she put her stamp of approval on the household, but if they were not, regardless of the graciousness and charm of her hostess, she put them down as dirty folks.

Not all of us, fortunately, are quite so critical, but in one sense we are. And it is good that we are. We are critical of the merchandise we buy and of the merchants from whom we buy it. It is our criticism which keeps the standards of goods and stores high.

One of the many advantages of advertising is that it invites us to be critical of the goods being advertised.

The advertiser assures us that his goods are good. He invites us to compare them with others. We do. If he relaxes for a minute and lets his standards drop, we discern it. We tell others. We cease buying his product.

He knows that even the finest of commercial reputations will suffer if a mere handful of people get wind

A GOOD SCOUT:

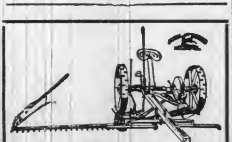

Again we pay tribute to the greatness of the organization of Boy Scouts. Due to their training the boy recently lost in a Maine wilderness, found his way to safety and life. We credit the lad for his resourcefulness, and we honor his clear thinking, but it was with the help of his scout lore that he fought his way home. The lesson, learned by a scout: "If you ever lose your way in the woods follow a stream and it will lead you some place." So this boy, lost eight days, found his way to a hunting camp. We salute the Boy Scouts of America; we shall always feel them a worthy and reputable organization and so have all Boone County citizens. We credit the training and the noble deeds performed by the noble scouts of a mighty worthwhile group.

WISE WORDS:

Today and yesterday, tomorrow and thereafter, brings to us the constant plea of "be patient." How hard it is to obey how difficult to heed the warning of patience and its virtue. There is the wisdom of words and quality of genius in the obeying. From our childhood comes to us from lips we love, "you must be patient." From our adulthood we speak the same to those we love. The man is wise pays heed. The Bible gives us the counsel of patience and the things to be accomplished through it. There may be a patience for evil, but patience for good is the right sort of staying power. Too bad, that too late we appreciate the wisdom of the quality and too often we are too busy to try it out.

NOT ACCIDENTAL

A man who dies from much alcohol is not entitled to be covered by the double indemnity clause on life insurance which covers accidental deaths, was a ruling recently made by the New York Supreme Court. It is sound reasoning. You can have a sunstroke or choke to death on a fish bone and a policy would call it accidental. But the fellow who uses intoxicating liquors knows that excessive drinking will shorten his life and death comes not unexpectedly. Webster defines an accident as "an event that takes place without one's foresight or expectation, an undesigned, sudden and unexpected event." So our readers will agree that the man who kills himself by over-indulgence is apt to come under the heading of suicide rather than accident.

of the fact that the goods are sub-standard. They will tell their friends. Soon a whispering campaign is under way. He suffers.

It is only by being careful at every minute of the goods and services are up to high standard that the man who advertises can succeed.

You expect more of him, than you do of the man who does not advertise. The non-advertising manufacturer or merchant can fall down in delivering quality and service. You may expect him to. But the man who advertises has to live up to his high obligation.

So you see that advertising is a great vigilance committee, established and maintained in your interest, to see that the men who aspire to sell you will always be worthy of your trade.

The merchant who advertises must treat you better than the merchant who does not. He must treat you as though you were the most influential person in town.

The matter of cold fact you are. You hold the destiny of his business in your hands. He knows it. He shows it. And you benefit by good service, by courteous treatment, by good value—and by lower prices.

Be critical of advertised goods and stores which advertise. They want you to be critical. Advertising invites you to compare before you buy. It stands or falls on value alone.

DEATH AND TAXES

Few who do not feel the American Institute of Public Opinion has given us the most accurate picture of public sentiment on important questions arising in the American mind. Their hand on the pulse of the nation permits them to give us reports of truth and fact. They found that a survey revealed that 25 percent of people questioned, declared they paid no taxes! There are many other folks who feel if they do not own property or in too low an income group, they are tax free. What about the purchase of autos, gasoline, liquor or cigarettes. There is money taken for social security and some states impose a food tax. We should be more keen regarding taxation. It is one of the most important questions of the present. The only man free of taxation is the man who spends no money and lives on the charity of others.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By HAROLD L. LUNDQUIST, D. D.
Dean of The Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.
(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

Lesson for August 27

Lesson subjects and Scripture texts used in this lesson are: Uzziah; Lesson of Religious Education; used by UZZIAH.

UZZIAH: A KING WHO FORGOT GOD

LESSON TEXT—II Chronicles 26:5, 16-21.

GOLDEN TEXT—Every one that exalteth himself shall be abased; and he that humbleth himself shall be exalted.—Luke 14:14.

"Pride goeth before destruction and a haughty spirit before a fall" (Prov. 16:18).

The life may begin with every promise of greatness and he may prosper in everything for years as he honors God, and then by presumptuous disobedience he may reveal him as a sudden destruction, living the closing years of his life in disgrace and going down to his grave in sorrow. That fact is written so large on the pages of history that one marvels that "wayfaring men though fools" need to "err therein" (Isa. 35:8). Pride makes a man blind to his own weakness and so presumptuous that he walks right into trouble. The story of Uzziah points a moral both obvious and needed by all of us.

As prosperity (v. 3-5).

"I, Prosperity as he sought the Lord, God will prosper" (v. 5).

With a heart right toward God, the background of a rearing by God-fearing parents (how much that meant) and the counsel of a man who was an "expert" in his understanding of the ways and the will of God, Uzziah prospered greatly.

Chapters 25 to 27 of II Chronicles reveal him as a man of affairs, a successful warrior, a capable agriculturist, an able government administrator, and a king whose fame was known far and wide. For one who took over the government at a tender age of 16, following the tragic death of his father, Uzziah made a remarkable and commendable record.

When he was young, his heart was lifted up to his destruction" (v. 16). What sad words! Prosperity ruined a man who had made a name for himself in times of adversity. In presumptuous pride he attempted to take the place of the priest ordained of God, in effect declaring that the State was over the Church, as we would put it in our day.

There is no greater danger attaching to the life of Christian service than the danger of presumptuous pride. I mean that the case of much of the failure in many lives here. It is a pride which says: "I can dispense with the Word of God"; which persists in living on a minimum of prayer and communion with God, and in yet going about the work of God as of old; a pride which, like Uzziah's, seeks carnal prominence in spiritual things. For that was his sin. He sought a carnal prominence in service which God had ordained was to be of an entirely spiritual order" (J. Stuart Holden).

The King was a leper . . . and was cut off from the house of the Lord" (v. 21). The priests of God had boldness in rebuking the king, a quality which we could hope would never be missing in the testimony of God's servants. The king, however, resented their wise words of counsel, and punishment from God, his sin swift and terrible, came upon him.

If the judgment upon Uzziah seems too drastic, let us remember that the king was presuming to set aside an order established by God. It was a question of whether God was to rule or the king. We should also bear in mind that what looks like a single outward bit of presumption was really the expression of a heart that had long since gone far from God. When men in high position either in the State or in the Church fall into sin, it is not very often the result of a yielding to a sudden temptation, but rather the inevitable showing forth of what has long been true in the inner life. The leprosy of Uzziah's heart now showed forth in his face, and he had to be shut off from his people and from his royal position.

God Sees the Heart
Neither is there any creature that is not manifest in his sight; but all things are naked and opened unto the eyes of him with whom we have to do.—Hebrews 4:13.Spiritual Contradictions
He that was called in the Lord being a servant, is the Lord's man; likewise he that is called, being free, is Christ's servant.—I Cor. 7:22.Patience That Endureth
It is in length of patience, endurance and forbearance that so much of what is good in mankind and womankind is shown.—Arthur Helps.Power of God
Religion wields the greatest power in the universe, the power of God.FLORENCE CHRISTIAN CHURCH

SUGGESTS REMEDY

FOR POOR PASTURE
Believing Negro farmers in Christian county, Kentucky, needed more livestock, County Agent Raynor Story studied the pasture situation, and found: lespedeza pasture for only six months in the year; the stand of other grasses poor; many pastures overworked; lack of fences to shift stock.

His remedy: sow Italian ryegrass in old pastures, also crimson clover and rye grass in corn in fall for winter pasture, and lespedeza in spring for hay; use limestone and manure on pasture; mow pastures twice a year; use temporary fences on the inside of the farm, so pastures can be rotated.

COLORFUL AND NOVEL

DISPLAY AT STATE FAIR

Louisville, Ky.—The "drama in industry" might well be the slogan for the huge $300,000 Merchants and Manufacturers' Building, which will again be thrown open to the thousands of visitors who will see the 1939 edition of the Kentucky State Fair, which is being held this year from September 11th through the 16th.

Colorful and novel displays of everything from a baby buggy to huge tombstones will be presented for the approval of Mr. and Mrs. Kentucky this year, according to advance information from Horace S. Cleveland, Managing Director of the State Fair.

In addition to the hundreds of exhibits will be several interesting programs including the selection of the State Fair. There will be a number of exhibits in this amphitheater of industry than at any time in the past.

One entire section of the building will be given over to a BETTER HOUSING COLONY. Here one may find everything pertaining to the building of a modern home, how to finance, rebuild, repair or modernize. There will be displays showing new types of roofing, insulation and electrical fixtures. Plans and specifications for the many types of modern homes will be shown and explained to all by a corps of experts from the Federal Housing Administration. This will be a section of the M. and M. Building every home lover should not fail to see.

Another section, termed "Safety Lane" is set aside for the display of everything pertaining to vehicular transportation. The State, County and City Traffic Departments are cooperating with the State Fair Management towards making this section of the building extremely interesting. Safety glass, new types of brakes, in fact each item pertaining to safety will be explained in detail to visitors at this section.
In addition, there will be several miniature picture shows, food shows, and the two Louisville Radio Stations, WHAS and WAVE will continually broadcast from this point. According to plans set up by Managing Director Cleveland, this building will be one of the busiest spots on the State Fair grounds.

Other groups which will be in the building are the Woman's Department with their Arts and Crafts exhibits, field, seed and grains, vegetables, plants and flowers, dairy, creamery and bee products, culinary and other.

KEEP FARMS GREEN

SUBJECT OF COLLEGE STATE FAIR EXHIBIT

"Keep Kentucky's Farms Green" will be the theme of the College of Agriculture's exhibit at the State Fair in Louisville Sept. 10-16. The college's exhibit will be housed in the Grandstand Building.

Designed to emphasize the fact that soils kept green are not troubled by erosion and leaching to any great extent, that profits are better and the way of life more desirable as a result, the theme of the exhibit will be carried out in many ways.

The agronomy department will feature graphically how cover crops held till land, and also show how to increase corn yields by using hybrid seed, thus leaving more land free for pasture. "The Value of Pasture in Swine Feeding" will be the topic of the animal husbandry exhibit, while the market departments will show how to produce and sell sorghum molasses.

The State seed law has a part in keeping the soils of the State green, by helping eliminate weeds. This will be shown in a huge chart.

Through a children's exhibit pertaining to toys and books, the home demonstration department will offer suggestions. This comes from a year's study of child care and development.

The 4-H club exhibit will be one of the largest. Work done during the year by 4-H club members will be shown—sports clothes, canned and baked goods, and other features.

One exhibit will illustrate how to grow better tobacco at lower costs and on less land.

INSPIRATIONAL:

The world's worry: The world is looking for the man who can do something, not for the man who can "explain" why he didn't do it.

What Every Driver

Driving in Traffic

When driving in traffic all drivers should use about the same rate of speed, keeping far enough behind each other to prevent collision in case of a sudden stop. Remember that the faster you are going, the greater should be the distance between cars. Slow moving cars should keep as far to the right as possible, in order not to hold up other traffic. If two or more cars are travelling together, they should keep a safe distance between them in order that other cars may pass them one at a time.

Position on Road

The good driver makes it a habit to keep to the right always, except when passing from the rear. Near drivers often keep too near the center of the road because they are afraid of going into the ditch. A little practice will show you that it is easy to drive well to the right, and yet drive safely.

Starting Up

When entering traffic after parking at the curb you should be careful to look behind you and to wait until the road is clear. If a car is approaching, signal it to pass before you leave the curb.

Overtaking and Passing

Allowing Others to Pass
If you are operating a motor vehicle and meet a car coming from the opposite direction, or if you are being overtaken from the rear by another car, you should give at least half the road to the person passing and, if necessary, should slow down. The same rule applies when meeting horse-drawn vehicles, bicycles or pedestrians.

If you wish to drive slowly, and road conditions are such that other drivers cannot pass you, because of oncoming traffic, curves or hills, it is a courteous act to draw entirely off the road (if there is room to do so) when you see a car coming up behind you.

Passing From the Rear

If you wish to pass another car from the rear you should give the right of way to anyone coming towards you. Sound your horn before passing on the left of the car in front of you. Do not again drive to the right-hand side of the road until you are reasonably sure of the car you have passed. A good way to judge that you are safely past the other car is not to turn back to the right until you can see its left headlight reflected in your mirror.

Places Where Passing is Forbidden

It is against the law:

1. To pass a car when on a hill or curve in the highway where the driver's view along the highway is obstructed.

2. When approaching within 100 feet of any bridge, viaduct, tunnel, or when coming within 100 feet of or traversing any intersection or railroad grade crossing.

3. Where official signs are in place directing that traffic keep to the right.

Cutting in and out of traffic is reckless driving and the worst kind.

Parked Cars

When passing parked cars you should leave room enough between your car and the parked car to prevent danger should someone suddenly run out from between two cars, or should a door open and someone get out. If you see anyone sitting in a driver's seat of a parked car, be prepared for him to suddenly enter traffic.

COST OF PLANTING A TREE

ON PLAINS UNDER 6 CENTS

The entire cost to the Federal Government of this year's planting of field windbreaks in the Prairie States Forestry Project is being kept to about 5¢ cents a tree or shrub, the Forest Service reports. More than 10,000,000 trees and shrubs of various kinds have been planted at an average of a tree a minutes in the planting season. This cost includes investments in and depreciation of equipment, seed collection, rodent control, and planting and care of about 70,000,000 seedlings and transplants now growing in nursery beds.

The Government supplies the trees, labor, and supervision, and farmers invest an equal amount by furnishing the land, fencing material, and labor in preparing the land and cultivating the young trees during the first few years of growth.

Cost of the prairie tree planting work is carried by W. P. A. funds and all labor is furnished from W. P. A. relief rolls. Technical and administrative supervision is by the Forest Service.

The trees protect crops and soils for 20 times their height and modify the wind to some extent for a distance of 50 times the height of the trees.

The 1939 plantings brought the total since 1935 to more than 127,000,000 trees in over 11,000 miles of field windbreaks on 20,000 farms in eastern counties of the Dakotas, central Kansas and Oklahoma, and the Texas panhandle.

It would be a miserable world if some children were as bad as their neighbors say they are!

F. F. A. HOLD MEETING

The Hebron Chapter of the F. F. A. held its regular monthly meeting at the Hebron high school on August 14th. The main business of the meeting was that the club decided to prepare a booth and place it in the 4-H fair at Burlington. Also a committee reported that the constitution and creed of the club had been framed. The treasurer announced that the banner to hang by the president's station had been purchased.

The program consisted of a very interesting talk on life at the State F. F. A. Camp, at Hardinsburg, by Johnny Randall, and a talk by Harold Williams on the highlights of the State F. F. A. Convention held in Louisville. These talks were enjoyed very much.

After the meeting a blazing fire was built and those antiques called "hot dogs" were quickly demolished.

Now about the F. F. A. Booth at the 4-H Fair: It was meant to show you how the club is advancing and the club would like for everyone to see it. Although the booth is small it contains a lot, and remember that the Hebron Chapter has yet to celebrate its first anniversary.

IT'S A FACT..

AND IT'S A FACT THAT THE COST OF ELECTRICITY HAS COME DOWN 85% IN LESS THAN TEN YEARS

If the average residential customer of this company paid for his present consumption of electricity at the 1930 average rate per kwh., it would cost him $18.90 per year more than he is now paying. In depressions and good times alike, the cost of electricity has followed a downward trend. It is lower now than ever before in history.

LABOR DAY

The celebration of Labor Day holds a most important meaning for all Americans. It is the acknowledgement that it is honorable in our country to work with one's hands. This is not so in many foreign lands where there is a class distinction so pronounced that the laborer for hire and employer who hires are in two distinct and separate classes. Almost every American has a part in labor at some time or another, and the average American is the American laborer.Of course there is a labor problem in this country. For the conditions of labor alter from year to year and such a large organization as is the labor group needs to change in its various responsibilities. New leaders come and go, discord and divisions arise in its ranks. It is the hope of all that such difficulties will iron themselves out and we can continue to respect the purpose and aims of labor. There have been times when exceptional cases have arisen to cause citizens to disapprove tactics of labor. In order to win apoint, violence is not necessarily wise. As a whole, labor and its employers are on a firmer footing, a clearer understanding exists between the two. We wish that the common gain for both will be felt and the steady, strong leadership of such a force as labor will call forth wise and seasoned heads.

FAIR TIME

In almost all such communities as ours folks are busy with plans for state and county fairs. There is great concern over live stock, poultry, farm and home products, various 4-H club projects. All its under way to make each fair the biggest and best ever! The usual exhibits for prizes in canning and preserving intrigue and tempt the stomach of us all. The handwork is always beautiful, while the livestock is one of the fairest points of any fair.Perhaps the most successful feature of any fair is the social time.
Many faces of friends appear at the yearly fair, not seen at any other time. It may mean a family reunion or community homecoming. It brings and renews association of other years. Everyone enters a fair week with pleasure and support. Merchants and business men appreciate any publicity that is given the celebration in this country.There have been many things which have changed in our day, things which would puzzle a grandfather or his father, perhaps, but they would still feel pretty much at home at the fairs. Old friends like pigs and horses, fat cattle and pumpkins, patchwork quilts and apples would greet them to-day as yesterday. There may be popcorn and candy stands crowding the bandstand but that is the same as always! It is indeed good to have the institution of the county fair remaining, as many other American institutions

AGAIN THE AUTO

The harvesters of the great western states have not the need of calling the nation to send hands to help reap the grain. In the days of old when it was mighty hard to reach the fields of the west, there was need of extra help and many a sequest was made to idle labor. Today we have the men and boys who go into the cherry, cotton, peach and wheat section, and in many cases they become too numerous. Many families are supported in this way. It means that with the auto as their means of transportation and living inexpensive by camping out, the helper can go a longer distance and save money as he earns it. The old cry for help from those lands whence cometh our bread, has been answered by the automobile.

TO SEPTEMBER

We bid goodbye to warmer days and come into September with a satisfaction after months of hot sun. The sunshine of September is softer and more kind as it filters through the leaves. The early morning fog lifts on gardens busy

By CHARLES B. ROTH

WHEN SHOULD A MAN ADVERTISE?

BUSINESS men often talk about the problem of when they should advertise most. Should it be when business is good and sales come easily, or when business is slow and sales are hard?Those who believe in advertising most intensively when everybody has money, argue logically enough that it is wise, as Shakespeare himself pointed out several centuries ago, "to take the tide when it serves." Advertising then will prove of most value, some men believe.Those, on the other hand, who believe a business should spend money for telling its story "most aggressively when times are slow, say that advertising is a business-building force and that it is, therefore, needed most when business needs building.Whenever we have a temporary lull in business we see the spectacle of many advertisers "drawing in their horns" and refusing to spend money for advertising until times are easy once more.The late P. D. Armour, great packing magnate, had the sanest view on the subject.He always told his associates:
"Advertise when times are good, because then your dollars show greatest returns. Advertise when timesare slow, because if you don't advertise then your public won't know what you have to sell."The public responds immediately to the man with courage enough to invest his money in advertising even when the condition of the market is not so good as he would like to see it. The public responds always to courage.In 1921, when America had a short-business depression, A. W. Erickson, now dead, made the directors of a company in which he was interested, agree to spend $150,000 a month for advertising during the next 12 months.Business fell off. The directors wanted to renege. Mr. Erickson wouldn't let them. He made them spend their monthly advertising allowance. He had faith.When prosperity returned, as it always does, that company, because it was thoughtless, skyrocketed to the top, a position it still holds.What had happened was that its public, you consumers, read those advertisements and subconsciously became friendly to a business which would continue to tell us its story, in bad times as well as in good. The public reciprocated by giving it its trade.Whenever a business man advertises it shows he has faith in himself, in his community, in his goods and in his customers.He is a good business man with whom to trade.cent of all fires, say the experts, could have been prevented. They need never have occurred. But they did occur—because someone was thoughtless, someone was ignorant, someone took a chance.Back of all these fires, great and small alike, lies the human element. A cigarette butt tossed from a speeding car—a camp fire not quite extinguished—a cleanup job left undone till tomorrow—
wrecks—these are the things that make fire, this year, last year, next year.There can be no recompense for the fires of the past—unless it is in a general campaign to prevent the fires of the future. It can be done. It's up to us—each of us, as an individual, holds the weapon that will destroy the great destroy-
er.WELCOME HOME
This is about the time when folks in Boone County are returning from vacations with many stories to tell of trips and sights, experiences and meetings. The family that went north start off with a photograph of a child that makes an angler's palm itch.
Of course we know how often we have pictures taken with the other fellow's catch! There is the inevitable tale of the big one that broke the line, at the bait, lead, and sinker, pulled the boat around tangled with the anchor and left without saying goodbye.
There are the folks who travelled many hundreds of miles from home and came across a fellow who used to live in Boone County and went to school here in the old days. We remark how small the world seems! The neighbors who saw the World's Fair tell us of amazing sights and predictions of the future.Those of us who remain at home and not been lucky enough to have a vacation may be a bit envious of it all, but we are glad too. We welcome the travellers back and listen to your experiences, and say,
"glad to see you home again."THE GREAT DESTROYER Fire, the great destroyer, has been in a few little this summer.
Fire, raging and uncontrolled, has made black and barren and ugly, thousands of acres of the nation's finest forest land. Fire has turned pleasant homes into smoking piles of debris. Fire has ravaged factories, and added men and women to the long rolls of the jobless. Fire has marched irresistibly through farms, killing livestock, razing buildings, and ruining crops.If any of these fires may be unavoidable. But they are very few indeed, and so rare as to be hardly worth mentioning. Eighty percent of all fires, say the experts, could have been prevented. They need never have occurred. But they did occur—because someone was thoughtless, someone was ignorant, someone took a chance.Back of all these fires, great and small alike, lies the human element. A cigarette butt tossed from a speeding car—a camp fire
not quite extinguished—a clean-
wrecks—these are the things that make fire, this year, last year, next year.There can be no recompense for the fires of the past—unless it is in a general campaign to prevent the fires of the future. It can be done. It's up to us—each of us, as an individual, holds the weapon that will destroy the great destroy-
er.WELCOME HOME

TO GODLESSON TEXT—Isaiah 6:1-13
SUNDAY TEXT—Isaiah 6:1, 9-10; Isaiah 6:3Crisis! We have had so many of them that they have almost become commonplace. There has been one war crisis after another. There have been world crisis and domestic crisis until the word has almost lost its meaning.In the life of the individual, however, the times of crisis are very real and important. In a critical illness one knows when the crisis comes, and he who safely passes that hour is on the road to recovery. More vital than a physical crisis is a spiritual crisis, when a man meets God face to face and his future destiny is determined by the response which he makes to God's call. Isaiah had such an experience when he came to realize God's glory, confessed his own unworthiness, and sought cleansing of life as a preparation for commission to service.I. "I Saw the Lord" (vv. 1-4).
King Uzziah, who had begun well but had forgotten God, was at the end of his life, a leper because of his sin, and dying in disgrace. Israel which had known unprecedented prosperity under God's blessing now hardened its heart nationally against God and was about to go into eclipse. God needed a man to speak for Him in such an hour, to bring to His people a message and judgment, and also of blessed invitation. "To prepare that man, the great Isaiah, God gave a remarkable manifestation of His glory and power."It is essential that the man who speaks for God should first see the Lord high and lifted up and to hear of His holiness and glory. The negative tone of the present-day message, the lack of enthusiasm and interest in holy things, the low standards of personal holiness, the failure to preach boldly the truth regarding God's holy standards are the signs we expect to find that there has been no vision of the eternal holiness and glory of God.
The need of the people today is the same as it was in the time of Isaiah.Where are the men and women who are ready for a vision like his and for the commission which will follow?
"We is Me! for I Am Undone" (v. 5).To see the holiness of God is to be immediately conscious of one's own sin and unworthiness. The obvious conclusion which one draws from that fact is that anyone who is proud, who is not concerned about his own sins and the sins of his people, is living far from God and has either never known or has forgotten about His divine holiness.Isaiah spoke of the pollution of his lips, thereby confessing that his heart was not right. Whereof the heart is full, thereof speaketh the mouth. For we find in the 12:34 that out of the abundance of the heart the mouth speaketh. Remember "that even though Isaiah was a believer he recognized the need of cleansing."III. "Then He Touched My Mouth" (vv. 6, 7, R. V.).
"Then"—what an important word! When Isaiah called out in humble confession, "Oh, that I was cleansed," the turning point is right at that place for any life. Only when we come to the place of confession and contrition which Isaiah attained, did he expect the Lord to send the cleansing fire and the enabling power.None but God can give this cleansing. Man is unable to wash himself clean. "For though thou wash thee with nitre, and take thee much soap, yet thine iniquity is marked before me, saith the Lord" (Jer.
2:22. See also Jer. 13:23). Reformation, through water and new life, is character development, all commendable in their place, are not sufficient.
There must be divine cleansing of the life if there is to be a commission to service.IV. "Here Am I; Send Me" (vv.
8-13).
God had a difficult and unpopular message to be delivered but now
He had a man who was ready to carry it. Isaiah had to proclaim to Israel that because they had turned from the sunshine of God's love, which would have melted their hard hearts, it had for them become the sunshine of His wrath, which could only progressively harden them and turn them from Him.
The same sunshine that melts the wax hardens the mud.The work of God in our day awaits the man or the woman of vision—the one who has been prepared by confession and cleansing and who has then received the divine commission.Faith
Of all the forces at the disposal of human effort, faith has always been one of the most tremendous, and the gospel rightly attributes to it the power of moving mountains.FLORENCE CHRISTIAN CHURCH

Instead of hanging the kitchen towel on a nail, fasten a spring clothespin to a string and hang from a nail. Then snap the towel into the clothespin. This eliminates causing towels to last longer...Use discarded fruit jars as a substitute for muffin tins... Put the fork in the fat of the steak when turning it. If put into the meat the juices will escape... Place a piece of waxed paper over knife when slicing butter. This makes a smooth cut and butter does not stick on the knife.SEWING HINTS In stitching sheer material or velvet on a sewing machine, slip a strip of toilet tissue under the material. The seam will not pucker or draw, and the paper tears away more easily than tissue paper... To shrink materials, mark it with chalk, then lengthen the stitch on the machine as far as it will go.
The material can be drawn evenly to the desired length.

Overtaking and Passing School Bus

It is the law that a driver of a vehicle upon a highway outside of a business or residential district, upon meeting or overtaking any school bus shall come to a complete stop, and then proceed with due caution for the safety of any children. In no event should the driver exceed ten miles per hour in passing such school bus.

Ambulances and Fire Apparatus

Ambulances, carrying a car or taking patients to a hospital, and fire apparatus on the way to fires have the right of way at all times. Upon their approach, or when the fire siren is heard, you should at once get as far as possible to the right-hand side of the road and stop.

Pedestrians

According to law pedestrians have as much right to walk on the highway as automobiles have to drive on it. The law says that where traffic control signals are in place, the driver of any other vehicle approaching from the rear must not overtake or pass the stopped vehicle.

Pedestrian should use the right half of crosswalks, but when walking on or along a highway should walk on the left side of the highway facing traffic. It is unlawful for a pedestrian to stand in a road for the purpose of soliciting a ride from the driver of any vehicle.

A pedestrian started or starting across any crosswalk on a green light has the right of way over vehicles, including those making turns.

INTERSECTIONS

Turning at Intersections

Right of Way at Intersections

When two cars reach an intersection at approximately the same time, the right of way belongs to the one coming from the right. This rule makes it simple to decide who ought to go first, but it does not mean that you should take the right of way. Any vehicle being operated on a lesser class highway must come to a stop before entering a main highway. You should stop in obedience to all stop signs.

Stop Streets

If you are driving from a side street, you must bring your car to a complete stop before entering a street or road marked "STOP." After stopping the car you should wait a great care in entering the main road. Merely slowing down and changing gears is not complying with the law.

Traffic Lights

When traffic at an intersection is controlled by lights you should observe the following rules:

When light shows Green: Go on. When light shows Red: Stop! When Yellow follows green: Stop! unless already within the intersection. If you have already started across the intersection continue cautiously.

When Yellow follows Red: Wait; do not start until the light is green.

New Old Age Insurance Program Under New Set-Up, Says Decker

With the signing of the new social security legislation by President Roosevelt, plans for putting into operation the new old age insurance program were going forward today in the Covington field office of that federal agency.

The President's signature makes the amendments adopted by the Congress the law of the land," said Frank B. Decker, Jr., manager of the Covington field office of the social security board.

"Effect of the amendments is far reaching. Time will be required for study of the new law and to work out benefit schedules which are now established. These studies have been started in the Washington headquarters of the social security board; also in the Cleveland regional office, which serves the States of Kentucky, Michigan and Ohio.

"Immediate effect of the new legislation so far as our local office is concerned is to put an end to the payment of lump sum benefits which heretofore have been available to those reaching the age 65 after having worked in employment covered by the social security act. Monthly benefits will replace these single money benefits after January 1, 1940. We shall continue to pay single money benefits to the leg heirs of deceased workers who have died after serving in employment covered by old age insurance.

"The new benefit schedules are based on a formula which uses average wages rather than total wages, so far as the payment of monthly annuities is concerned. This schedule is now being worked out and will be announced later.

"Starting next January there will be expanded benefits for workers who have aged wives and who retire from employment covered by old age insurance after having served in such jobs since the social security act was adopted in August 1935. There also are certain supplementary benefits for dependent children and dependent parents of such workers.

"Much thought must be given to the new legislation and procedure for payment of the benefits will require a great deal of study. We hope the holders of social security numbers in our service area will bear with us while we are working out methods which will enable us to do all the things continued in the law.

"We suggest that any one who desires information regarding the new legislation write or call our office, giving his name and address. In a few weeks we shall have literature which explains the new old age insurance system in detail. The literature will be sent to all who request it. Requests may be made through a personal or telephone call or a postcard will do," Mr. Decker concluded.

Starting after Labor Day he is planning a broad program of informational activity to acquaint residents of his service area with their rights and duties under the amendments.

Batter Up!—One of the features of men's sports clothes this season is their all-round usefulness. The new coat-poles, for example, are serviceable for lounging before and after the baseball game—and for any other sport you might mention. The above inset shows one of the popular 1939 coat-pole models... comfortable enough for active sports, and smart enough for cocktails at the club after the game.

White Tux for Summer!—The summer of '39 has brought many interesting developments in men's apparel... not the least is the increased popularity of light shades in summer dinner jackets. If this season is any criterion, the white tuxedo jacket made of Crown Treated spun rayon seems to be here to stay. It's very much in vogue... and with good reason. It's just the thing for August dances. These jackets also are selling in light tan and grey shades.

On the Golf Course!—The prevalence of knitted shirts on the golf course was a matter of comment in golf fashions this season. Knitted shirts are on the rise in popularity for both active and inactive sports. The current styles are attractive... brightly designs; stripes in high colors. Then, too, they are roomy, and agreeably yielding to the body.

What's New in Shirt Designs?—We put that question to a leading men's wear retailer last week. For answer, he showed us his latest arrivals. It was an eye-filler. The new shirts feature the usual fall trend toward conservatism: plain shades and whites. But stripes also are holding their own; and green is still far from a back number. In the way of fall sports shirts, plaid flannels are coming to the front and will be seen in your own men's stores.

ed by Richard J. Carr and Miss Betty Jean Carpenter. Their many friends join in wishing them many years of happiness and prosperity. This community was shocked when news reached here of the death of Mrs. J. F. Brown, who passed away Friday evening at Booth Memorial Hospital, Covington, from an attack of "spotted" Rocky Mountain Fever. Mrs. Brown resided on a farm on U. S. 42. All who knew her, loved her for her kind and loving disposition. She will be sadly missed in her church and home. Funeral services were held Monday from the Florence

Baptist Church at 2:30. Burial was in the Richmond cemetery. She is survived by her husband, John F. Brown and three daughters, Mrs. Marie Kinman, Mrs. Cecil Falm and Mrs. Elva Aylor. We extend sympathy to the bereaved family. The country home of Mrs. Rena Yelton Richards, situated on U. In Your Shoes

Foot Comfort Specialist at
PEOPLE'S FOOT COMFORT
(SHOE STORE) COVINGTON

You actually pound 181 tons of weight into your shoes every mile you walk. (Figures based on 150 pound person).

Do you realize why feet let down, hurt, develop corns, bunions, callouses and more serious ills?

Science has made an amazing advance in orthopedics—as great an advance as in other modes of transportation. Science has discovered many new things about feet, and how vitally your hurting feet affect your entire system. It's hard to believe that 50 percent of maladies traceable to feet are above the hips, but it's true. Do you wonder that when your feet hurt you are utterly fatigued, depressed, nervous, discouraged? Poor feet cause much misery, BACKACHE, HEADACHE, and many body ills may be traced to feet.

Even symptoms like those of rheumatism and arthritis now are being banished with proper surgical and prescription shoes. Stop crippling your feet today and let's get everything back to normal. Normally there should pass through the feet 15 gallons of blood every 24 hours, then the feet are properly nourished—waste matter properly carried away—and bones repaired, as should be, when all this comes to pass, (normally) our feet are healthy and we'll walk briskly (not timidly) in walking briskly, we breathe 85,000 gallons of air, that will help to purify the blood that will make us feel better all over.

If your feet hurt, is it not wise to check up now? Come in for a free analysis of your feet, and Walk in Health With Happy Feet.

Gaiety Theater News

Fri. & Sat.—"Cisco Kid."
Sun. & Monday—"Blondie."
Tuesday—"Down On The Farm."
Wed. & Thurs.—"Young Mr. Lincoln."

Wanted—by 100 sheriffs, the United States cavalry, and 500 senioritas! It's the Cisco Kid, lovable outlaw of the Old Southwest, the gayest gun-fighter of them all! He will be at the Gaiety Friday and Saturday.

Warner Baxter dons again the sombrero and silver-mounted gun of the famous O. Henry desperado he so thrillingly brought to life in "In Old Arizona" and the result is as hilarious and thrill-packed as that first triumph.

Other than a nodding acquaint-tance on the same newspaper page, "Harold Teen" and "Dagwood Bumstead" of Chic Young's "Blondie" comics had nothing in common until Arthur Lake came along.

Now Harold and Dagwood are blood kin, as one with Arthur. Arthur Lake got his real picture start some years ago as "Harold Teen." He appeared in an out of numerous other roles with varying success until his recent appearance as Dagwood in Columbia picture "Blondie."

"Blondie," with Penny Singleton as Dagwood's pert wife, and Larry Simms as the irrepressible Baby Dumpling will be shown at the Gaiety, Sunday and Monday.

"Down On The Farm," latest picture in 20th Century-Fox's ever popular Jones Family series will prove that even in the comparative tranquility of country life, the Joneses can stir up more trouble, more fun and excitement than all your neighbors put together. The hilarious story centers around a corn-husking contest which Dad Jones is called upon to enter after having boasted of his boyhood prowess.

"Young Mr. Lincoln," which will be shown at the Gaiety Wednesday and Saturday, is a story which Henry Ford in the title role will keep the audience enthralled. This is the story that has never been told of his thrilling, romantic, eventful youth in the backwoods town of Springfield, Ill. — the busy, jockeying lawyer who wrestled with the boys, boasted an endless fund of funny stories and a keen wit and fell in love.

The film sparkles with the choicest of the witticisms and anecdotes for which Lincoln was famous and which, through the romance enough to suit any taste.

Henry Ford proves the perfect choice for the young Lincoln and turns in a performance that is truly great in its humor and understanding.

Others who score in the great east are Alice Brady, Marjorie Weaver as Mary Todd, Arleen Whelan, Eddie Collins, Pauline Moore as Ann Rutledge, Richard Cromwell, Donald Meek, Doris Bowdon and Eddie Quillan.

There were a large number of commercial displays on the grounds all of which added to the interest in the fair. It is hoped that next year that a larger and more elaborate display of commercial products can be made.

The fair was sponsored by the 4-H and Utopia Clubs, Homemakers Clubs and Future Farmers Clubs of the county through their executive committee, the Boone County 4-H and Utopia Club Council. The council wishes to thank all committees, leaders, members, patrons and commercial organizations for their splendid cooperation.

The holding of a successful county fair is not the work of any one individual, but the cooperation of all the people.

There are many improvements being planned for next year. Let's look forward to 1940 for a bigger and better event!

BURLINGTON, KENTUCKY THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 7, 1939

NUMBER 15

SHEEP ASS'N. POST REWARD

FOR ANY PARTY FOUND GUILTY OF STEALING SHEEP FROM SHEEP PROTECTIVE ASSOCIATION MEMBERS.

A reward of $50.00 for the arrest and conviction of any party or parties found guilty of stealing sheep or lambs from members of the Boone County Sheep Protective Association was unanimously voted by members at the first annual meeting of the association, held at Burlington courthouse last Monday, according to H. E. White, President. A number of sheep raisers over the county and especially in the Beaver Community have reported losses this year and a reward is offered as protection to association members, in addition to the regular dog loss insurance.

The association reported a most successful year, which closed Aug. 31st. A surplus of $443.00 accumulated the first year and was placed in the Association's reserve to take care of future losses. All reported loss claims were paid in full. It was voted to maintain the 10c per head premium rate again this year to build up a still larger reserve to take care of any future unexpected losses that may occur. The association voted to give all old members thirty days of grace from August 31st to sign up for protection for the new 1939-40 year, beginning September 1st of this year and closing August 31 of 1940. All old members who sign up during the thirty-day period are protected from losses.

One hundred and two members insured 5,127 sheep, representing more than one-third of all adult sheep in the county, were protected the past year. It is expected that this number will be greatly increased this year. All sheep raisers are urged to sign up immediately as the rate is the same whether insured for one month or two months for the year ending August 31st. No insurance will be issued new members who have suffered losses from dogs within the sixty-day period, previous to application for insurance.

The rate is 10c per head for adult sheep, 20c per head for registered sheep and $1.00 initial fee for new members signing up for the first time.

H. E. White, Burlington, president.
James Pennington, Walton, vice president.

John W. Conley, Beaver, secretary-treasurer.

Directors: Hebron—Constance, Chas. B. Beall; Burlington—Florence, L. H. Congleton; Petersburg—Grant, Chas. White; Hamilton—Carlton, Frank Allen; Union—Beaver, Russell Sparks; Walton—Verona, Walter Johnson.

Applications may also be left at the County Agent's office, as a matter of convenience to farmers. Sheep men are urged to sign up now as the larger the number of members the more effective the insurance program.

RECORDERS MOVED TO NEW LOCATION

All machinery and office equipment of The Recorder are now housed in our new location, just opposite the post office.

Your paper was printed in our new building last week, and was delivered to our subscribers only a few hours late. This week our paper goes to press at the regular time, Wednesday morning. Last week was the first time our paper has been late since last Christmas when we published a 24-page edition.

We have been busy during the past few days arranging and adjusting our machinery and taking care of any commercial printing brought in to our shop.

Those who have visited us since moving into our new location have been surprised at the large amount of new machinery installed, and many of our visitors who call at various printing offices in this and other states claim we have the best equipped country newspaper within a radius of 200 miles.

We appreciate the patronage extended us during the past four years, and will endeavor to merit your business in the future.

Mrs. Ida Balsky spent Monday with Dr. and Mrs. S. B. Nunneley, of Petersburg.

Covington Stores "On Parade" September 11 Through 16th

The Covington Retail Merchants Association, through its President Francis Vehr, has announced that National Retail Demonstration Week will be observed in Covington the week of September 11th.

Elaborate plans are being made by the retail stores of Covington to present to the public an array of the newest and finest merchandise ever before offered at prices that will appeal to the keenest of "bargain hunters."

Mr. Vehr has appointed Mr. Bernard Ellerman as Chairman of a special committee in charge of the program for the week, which is designed to acquaint the public with the important place held by retail stores in the social and economic life of a community.

Employees of the various Covington stores are becoming greatly interested in National Retail Week and are taking advantage of the opportunity to have their friends visit the stores during these days that are especially set aside to offer quality merchandise at real savings.

Many of the Covington stores have arranged to have their annual sales during these days, so that all in all it will be an excellent time to shop in Covington.

On Friday night, September 15, on the old market square at Seventh and Madison Avenues, there will be a big public entertainment and old fashioned square dance sponsored by the Retail Merchants Association of Covington.

Boone County will be represented with two sets of old-time square dancers that will compete for the prize awards that are being offered for the best set of dancers and also for the best couple. Prizes are to be offered in merchandise orders and the grand prize in cash.

BACK TO SCHOOL

Wide swings the doors of America's schoolhouses as youngsters of this great nation pour in the millions of classrooms seeking the education in preparation for the future existence among their fellows. There are many of these feet that go reluctantly as human nature hasn't changed as much as the one-room schoolhouse into the large consolidated building of indirect lighting, swimming pools and school movie cameras. We are told that modern educational methods make school days more interesting and the subjects of old are still there but covered with sugar and child psychology.

Today's concern is whether or not the school door will swing open, and how long it will remain so. The situation of lack of funds is a problem in many communities. Many schools will open late, others will run part-time until money runs low. This is critical and not a rare issue for "what shall be done about our schools?" confronts America everywhere. It is the privilege of each child to receive an education and their future must not be endangered by

USE CAUTION

With this return to school comes the increased motor accidents. How many times have we been horrified by instances of young lives being taken in school bus accidents, of schoolhouse disasters, of youthful students on roads being hit by rushing motorists. Despite many precautions in school patrols and other safe-guards, there are numerous fatalities due to lack of one. Citizens must realize that it is taxation which maintains schools. In many homes sacrifices are made to meet taxation, homes that scrimp and save that taxes may be paid. Though it is hard to do without present day luxuries, by cutting here and saving there we are giving the youth of this country the open door to education and their rightful heritage.

COMPETE WITH THEM

There aren't many citizens in this country who haven't noticed the large number of third-class packages which make their way into the local postoffice around this time each year. This is the literature from mail-order houses, giving their fall and winter business a big send-off. This is not necessarily objectionable to the majority but you can't blame local merchants for not welcoming it with a banquet and a town band! There are many folks who buy through the mail, who will thumb through the catalogue pages and place many an order. Again rises the question of loyalty and cooperation for the fellow citizen who is struggling to meet your needs and serve you while making a living for himself. He may sit beside you in church, greets you at a town meeting, his children play in your yard, your wife belongs to a sewing club with his wife, you go to the high school games.

The way to combat the situation of mail-order buying is through advertising in the home town paper. It goes into the same homes as the catalogue. Give this home your message, your line of goods, price and guarantee. Tell your story and it won't cost you nearly as much as the outside company. Compete with them!

IT WAXETH HOT!

The summer of 1939 is giving Day is one to cause friends and neighbors to gnash and clutch. Whatever the outcome of the proposal, we comment on the records of these Thanksgiving days of the past. They inform us that the Pilgrim Fathers made many changes in their dates. The observance might be in July or occur in December were more favored months. Canada, who has used the idea of our Thanksgiving have found that our date of November 30th is too late in the season. They observe it in October. Let us not forget that in the early days when the Pilgrims observed the first Thanksgiving they didn't pay much attention to the business of early Christmas shopping, the turkey market and football schedules.

USE CAUTION

With this return to school comes the increased motor accidents. How many times have we been horrified by instances of young lives being taken in school bus accidents, of schoolhouse disasters, of youthful students on roads being hit by rushing motorists. Despite many precautions in school patrols and other safe-guards, there are numerous fatalities due to lack of one. Citizens must realize that it is taxation which maintains schools. In many homes sacrifices are made to meet taxation, homes that scrimp and save that taxes may be paid. Though it is hard to do without present day luxuries, by cutting here and saving there we are giving the youth of this country the open door to education and their rightful heritage.

COMPETE WITH THEM

There aren't many citizens in this country who haven't noticed the large number of third-class packages which make their way into the local postoffice around this time each year. This is the literature from mail-order houses, giving their fall and winter business a big send-off. TRUTH about ADVERTISING

By CHARLES B. ROTH

WHAT ABOUT PRICE?

"A WOMAN" once remarked the famed Hoosier humorist Abe Martin, "will buy anything she thinks the store is losing money on."

That was merely a funnyman's way of saying that in all our buying price is a most important consideration—the one thing with which we are concerned every time we spend a cent.

Now what really constitutes price and how are prices established? Without getting too deep into economic principles, we know that prices are established by what is called the law of supply and demand.

This law teaches us that when the demand for anything exceeds the supply, prices go up. Conversely, when supply is plentiful but demand is light, prices go down. But how can we as customers know that this law won't be tampered with by unscrupulous, scheming, selfish, step in and raise prices and gouge us by making us pay them? They could, you know, and we would not be any the wiser.

Our safeguard against this is the advertising we see in the newspapers. That protects us. Under our competitive system of buying and selling, one merchant vies with another merchant for our trade. Each comes out publicly in the newspapers with his price. We consult these prices before we buy.

Seen in this light, advertising becomes the informant that prevents dishonest sellers from taking advantage of us and our ignorance of prices we might have to pay.

A recent mystery drama has the villain contriving to plunge the city into complete darkness for one night, so that he and his henchmen can dash in and make away with their loot. "We have some thing to put over on you," he observed, "must needs fear the light."

High prices, skimpy quality, gyp products also must needs fear the light. That is why they are cloaked in such phrases as: "We don't advertise. We pass the savings along to you." "Why pay the high cost of advertising? We put it into our goods," etc., etc.

But the merchant who advertises uses the light of advertising, and asks you to compare his goods and his prices and to find out before you buy. You can always pay his price, because it is the right price. That you know because the protective power of advertising has told you that it is.

This advertising power of advertising is working for you every time you unfold your newspaper and read an advertisement. That black print on white represents a buying guide which is worth several hundred dollars a year to you and your family.

to carelessness by either child or motorists. Boys and girls of small towns are more apt to use the highways and therefore should use extreme caution in journeying to and from school. The summer vacation has made us let down on safety sense for students and with the return of fall many accidents will find their way into public print. Lives of youths are too precious to forget carelessness. Let teachers and parents stress safety. Let the driver use caution.

GONE BUT NOT FORGOTTEN

You may have forgotten the old horse and buggy days, and your children may never have ridden in one, but there are still folks who remember and revere the bygone days. There gather in Flint, Mich., a group of 200 men who used to build buggies in that city. They pay tribute to their aged product. Today this same city is famous for its automobile manufacture and many of these 200 men are occupied with buggies in the motor industry. But they meet to laud the high and noble art of the harness and shining trappings that rolled along behind a well-groomed horse who was proud to transport such magnificence. It is a far cry from buggy days in Flint to auto days in the same city.

GOOD SENSE

It is often we find something that we wished we had said, and just the same way! We felt our readers would like for us to pass this on to them for it is well worth the remembering. Henry Ford, a man who has a great distaste for the land, wrote just recently: "The land! That is where our roots are. There is the basis of our physical life. The farther we get away from the land, the greater our insecurity."

From the land comes everything that supports life, everything we use for the service of physical life. The land has not collapsed or shrunken in either expense or productivity. It is there waiting to honor all the labor we are willing to invest in it, and able to tide us across any local dislocation of economic conditions.

"No employment insurance can be compared to an alliance between man and a plot of ground." This is sanity and truth. We could use it as a foundation of life.

GRIM REALITY

As long as there will be the western "thrillers" in magazines and on movie screen there will remain in the minds of many the idea that the west is wild and woolly—at least it should be. The days of scalping and war-whooping, flint and arrows, can't be as far away as some may think. If so why did a woman telephone "Indians" to the state police and insist she heard Indians on the war-path and shooting in the vicinity? Even if the disturbance was a movie group making battle scenes it brings us mighty close to the reality of the old west, except for the telephone part.

COLOR AND BUGS

Did you ever see insects ever cared about the finer things in life, such as color? Other countries have made a study of color and insects and we learn from their research. Canadian Soldiers, or June bugs, will swarm around white bulbs but not colored ones. Moths prefer the white light. Too. Tests were made when they found one fly on blue paper where 18 gathered on the clear green. A fly likes rose better than red or yellow. Certain French clinics and hospitals have painted their walls blue to repel flies. In Denmark they have erected slaughterhouses and factories with blue intriors. An Englishman painted the walls and ceiling of his kitchen a powder blue to free his house of the pests. This is an idea if housewives care to follow it.

WHEN PRESSING

In pressing a new garment, test the iron first on a small piece of the materials from which the article is made. This is especially true of modern synthetic materials. You should try washing a sample of dress material so wash you will know whether to wash or dry clean the garment.

INSPIRATIONAL

Do not falter or shrink; But just think out your work. And just work out your think.

—Nixon Waterman.

TURNS AND SIGNALS

How to Make a Left Turn

1. At least a block before the intersection at which you wish to turn left, begin to pull towards the center of the road, at the same time signalling by pointing to the left or by using a mechanical signal. Gradually slow down, watching the mirror to see that the operator of the car behind you has understood your signal. If the road is wide enough for you to do so without crossing the center line, leave room for the following car to pass on your right. Be sure that no car behind you is trying to pass on your left from the right-hand lane. If you are unable to work your way to the center early enough, go on to the next corner.

2. When you reach the intersection wait until the way is clear. The car coming down the road toward you and the car coming up the crossroad on your left are both likely to be going faster than you are, and both drivers expect you to have common sense enough to wait until they have crossed the intersection. Wait even while a long string of cars pass—an opening will come some time.

3. When the road is clear make your turn, not too fast, keeping to the left of the center of the intersection.

4. Watch out for people trying to walk across the street.

How to Make a Right Turn

You must take right turns from the extreme right-hand side of the road. Many new drivers have a habit of swinging to the left before turning right. This is likely to make the following, suppose a left turn is intended, so that the following car swings to the right and continues, causing an accident. Keep to the right when turning right.

Signals by Drivers

The law requires that every driver of a vehicle, before slowing down, stopping, changing the course of such vehicle, or before turning such vehicle when starting the same, shall see first that there is sufficient space for such change or turn to be made in safety. He shall give priority of right to the operators of other vehicles of his intention to change, turn or stop by the use of his hand and arm or of an approved electrical or mechanical device, and shall use the following positions of the hand and arm in announcing his intention.

Stop or Slow. Shall be indicated by extending hand and arm beyond either side of vehicle in down direction.

Right Turn. Shall be indicated by extending the hand and arm horizontally.

Turning on Curve or Crest of Grade. You may not turn a vehicle so as to proceed in the opposite direction upon any curve, or upon the approach to, or near the crest of a grade, where you cannot be seen by the driver of any other vehicle approaching from either direction within 500 feet.

WSAI BEGINS PROGRAMS TO AID JOBLESS

"I Need a Job," a program of interviews with persons sincerely interested in finding jobs, is now being broadcast over WSAI Mondays from 8 to 9:30 p. m. EST.

During the course of the program Ed Mason, WSAI announcer brings to the microphone persons who are out of work and have tried in vain to secure employment. Mason will call upon his radio guests to state their cases and tell what kind of work they desire. Only persons who can show evidence that they are sincerely interested in finding work and have tried hard to find it will be allowed to appear on the broadcast, officials of WSAI stated.

The program has been broadcast in several of the larger cities in the west and middle west with surprising success. It was first tried in a California city, where jobs were sooner or later secured for nearly everyone who appeared on the program.

Wherever it has been tried the program has been met with cooperation from all sides. Most of the stations have carried the program without a break since the day of the program's inauguration.

A telephone, program officials say, will be placed in the WSAI studios from which Mason will broadcast his interviews with job-seekers. Though no names will be used, the persons interviewed being given number, employers who desire to hire outright or further interview any person on the program, is asked to telephone the studio. The ringing of the phone will be heard during the program station officials say, and Mason will then bring to the microphone a report of his conversation and announce over the air which person has landed a job.

Those to be interviewed on "I Need a Job" will be chosen by the WSAI program department. Persons wishing to appear on the program are requested either to write or phone the station.

FOOT TEST

PEOPLE'S FOOT COMFORT

Usually the first sign of foot trouble is the running over of the heels of shoes.

In a strong healthy human foot the 266 bones held together to form a substantial support for the weight of the body and they are held together in place by strong ligaments, tendons, and muscles. These bones are so arranged that they form four separate and natural arches.

The heel bone and ankle bone lean out of position more or less in almost every kind of foot trouble. The cause is that ligaments, muscles and tendons which hold the heel bone and ankle bone in place, become weakened, and are not strong enough to hold those bones in their normal position.

Backaches, headaches, and many body ills may be traced to feet. Even symptoms like those of rheumatism and arthritis now are being banished with proper shoes.

Also nervous indigestion, sleepless nights, etc., are sometimes traceable to foot troubles. If you suffer with foot ills of any kind come for a free analysis of your feet. No obligations at all. We'll be glad to help you and you'll walk in Health with Happy Feet—Adv.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

If you like a little stiffening in fine linens and silks, dissolve 2 ounces of gum arabic in 1 pint of hot water. Use in the proportion of 2 tablespoons to 2 quarts. One of best covers for an ironing board is new unbleached muslin washed to remove starch. Use left-over ceiling paper for shelf paper in pantry. It stays clean longer.

STATE'S LARGEST WATERMELON WILL BE SHOWN AT FAIR

The largest watermelon ever grown in the State will be on display at the Kentucky State Fair, which will be held this year from September 11th through the 16th, if the entry lists are any criterion. Horace S. Cleveland, Managing Director, declared today, when he was checking over the entries. Mr. Cleveland is member-in-charge of the Vegetable and Melon exhibits at the fair, Estel Roberts, Louisville is Superintendent and John S. Gardner, Lexington, is judge of this section.

This fall, when the results of the harvest are put on display for competition between the growers, prizes will be offered for the best to 24 separate kinds of vegetables ranging from five varieties of beans to as many as ten varieties of watermelons. All the other staple table fixtures will be represented, such as potato, both Irish and sweet, lettuce, cabbages, carrots, egg plant, squash and others.

As usual, the vegetable will be on display in the mammoth Merchants and Manufacturers' Building and awards will be made by the single judge system. Entries in this department will close at 6:00 P. M. September 5th, and those wishing to make entries must notify the Supervisor of Exhibits not later than this date. Those not living in Louisville who wish to make entries may ship their display to the Kentucky State Fair, Louisville, and their exhibits will be placed for them. It is important that the freight, or express, be prepaid on these shipments, fair officials warned. The exhibits must be shipped so that they can be placed not later than 4:00 p. m. on the opening day of the Fair, September 11th.

About the most strenuous work done during hot days is at the table with a knife and fork.

U. K. EXPERT SAYS SOIL MAINTENANCE IS AN OBLIGATION

The holding of the soil should be viewed as a trust, its value to be maintained or increased in the holding. So declares Prof. E. K. Karkner, agronomist of the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture, in a circular dealing with Kentucky soils. He tells, in a simple way, how properly to use Kentucky soils, and especially how to maintain and increase their productivity.

Other statements introducing chapters follow:

The restoration and maintenance of the productivity of Kentucky's soils is vital to her well-being.

Unrestrained soil erosion inevitably leads to land destruction. Limiting the use of phosphates, and the growing of legumes are basic to the restoration and maintenance of soil productivity.

Almost as if by magic, the proper use of these practices makes good soil out of poor and brings about a prosperous agriculture in much of Kentucky.

A prosperous farming community is shown by its attractive homes, good roads, well-kept lawns, and, even more truly, by a generous acreage of legumes and legume-grass sod crops.

To find out what nutrients are deficient in soils for crops and how to supply them, is a necessary part of farming.

How plants grow is a fascinating study and the products of plant growth bulk large in our present-day civilization.

Strawberries, about one quart. Chill pastry shell before strawberry mixture is added. Pour cold water in bowl and sprinkle gelatin on top. Mash enough strawberries to make ¼ cup pulp, add one-half cup sugar and bring to boil. Add cold berry pulp, lemon juice and salt to gelatin. Cool. Beat egg whites, add ¼ cup sugar and beat well. When gelatin mixture thickens slightly fold in egg whites. Turn into pastry shell and chill several hours.

Before serving cover with whipped cream and garnish with whole berries dusted with powdered sugar.

PARAGRAPHS

What puzzles many a youngster in this country, is how their parents have lived this long without knowing any more than they do.

The vacation some men had was in doing the things their wives had thought out for them to do during the winter.

The doctors surely made a big mistake in assuming that the healthiest people are those who expose their flesh to the sun. Too many liberties are being taken with the suggestion.

We've always wondered whether the absent-minded professors ever forget to register?

By DR. JAMES W. BARTON

© Bell Syndicate—WNU Service.

A PROMINENT lawyer was going down hill physically. He was seventy years of age but had always been able to look after his legal work despite attacks of indigestion and an irritation which caused painful and frequent emptying of the urine.

The indigestion gave him loss of appetite, sour taste in the mouth, a bloated feeling, gas on the stomach and in the intestine, patient that matter from the stomach, either constipation or diarrhoea.

He didn't want to go to a doctor as he was afraid of an operation, perhaps two or three, might be necessary, and at seventy years of age he was making "no chances."

The symptoms however—terrible attacks of indigestion, and the frequent desire to pass urine—made him feel that he was making "no chances."

Some months later friends meeting him on the street stopped him and congratulated him on his splendid appearance, good color, brisk walk, calm, serene face.

Don't Put Off Operation.

To the inquiry as to the cause of the change in his appearance, he quite casually remarked, "Oh, they found some gall stones and removed my gall bladder, and then a little later I had them remove the gland at the neck of the bladder, so with these two annoyances removed I'm feeling young again."

The point here is that while operation can never be treated lightly and operation on one past seventy would seem somewhat of a serious risk, nevertheless when gall stones are present it is not the age of the patient that matters from the standpoint of a good recovery after operation, but the length of time the patient has allowed the symptoms to be present before undergoing the operation.

So if your doctor advises removal of the gall bladder, don't put it off too long. If it should come out, the sooner the better.

Dieting Daughters.

One of the unfortunate things about prescribing reducing diets, particularly for young women, is that so many young women of normal weight, or even below normal weight, believe that they will have a better appearance, and look "slim," if they follow the general rule of reducing weight, which, after all, is "just to eat less food."

Intelligent young women, college and business girls, who would not think of using a drug such as thyroid extract to reduce weight, will deliberately "starve" themselves to get the slim boyish figure.

"Of all the conditions found on examination of large groups of young women, the one which is about the most universal and like to be most likely to prove dangerous," I am quoting Jane Foster, R. N., in Hygiene. Miss Foster is assistant director of health, Sarah Lawrence college.

"There is then the problem of the girl of eighteen or nineteen consciously controlling her own weight. It is a standard below that for good health. Now the greatest cause for death in this age group is tuberculosis, the predisposing factor of which is malnutrition—underweight."

"The greatest cause of stress in college health records is found to be infections of the nose, throat and chest and these, too, go with pronounced underweight. Other companions of underweight may be irritable disposition and a lack of the natural mental ability or alertness. Those who work with this age group are frequently impressed with the large number who complain of fatigue and general dissatisfaction with life."

Of course the cause of this fatigue, irritability, dissatisfaction with life, is that these young women, who should be eating more food at this age than at any other age, are actually eating less than the body needs just to keep it working, aside from the extra food needed for growth in height and width, and the food that should be eaten for growth and strength—meat, eggs and milk—are not included to any extent in the diet of these slim-minded girls.

What these girls of normal weight forget is that underweight means undernourishment, and undernourishment means that a reduction of the "energy reserves" of the body occurs when the body is not fed, and eaten and the body is below normal weight.

The energy reserves of the body—the reserves needed to promote health and growth, and prevent or lessen the effects of illnesses—can only be maintained by a generous all round diet at this important age in a woman's life.

Administration records show that a large part of these families—nearly half of them—although living on the land, were farming on a scale not much greater than subsistence gardening. One-fourth of the families were cultivating less than 5 acres, and more than a half were cultivating less than 20 acres.

It still holds true, a tight outfit is a danger in the makeup of any automobile—or it's driver.

Marion Seaman and Elmo Heck, of Lawrenceburg, Ind., and Irene Green and Stanley Parsons of North Bend neighborhood motored to Indianapolis, Ind., Labor Day and attended the Indiana State Fair.

EGGS CHEAP: MAY BE EATEN EVERY DAY

Now that eggs are cheap and plentiful, one or more a day may be used to advantage for every member of the family, says Miss Florence Imlay, extension nutritionist for the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

Eggs are one of the best of the body builders, adds Miss Imlay. They are, especially the yolks, an outstanding source of iron, a mineral in which many diets are low.

The vitamin A and D value of eggs is in the yolk. The amount of either one present depends on the feed of the hen. Eggs also contain varying amounts of three other vitamins, and they are rich in calcium and phosphorus.

Consumers looking for good eggs on the market will do well to place more emphasis on the way an egg has been handled than on its age or the color of the shell, Miss Imlay believes.

An egg only 24 hours old that has been kept in a warm place at the time will be less fresh than an older egg that has been kept cool. Color of shell is no clue to either egg quality or food value.

Good housekeepers know that when eggs are brought home they should go into the refrigerator in the next 15 to 20 minutes.

If the shells are soiled, wipe them with a rough, dry cloth; but do not wash them, because water removes the "bloom" of the egg that forms a protective seal for the shell.

STAINS

If garment is perspiration stained, soak for few minutes in lukewarm water to which you add a small amount of carbonate of soda. Do not put stain into suds as soap will set it.

To remove dandelion stains, rub law well into spot with a stiff brush. Stand about half an hour before washing in warm water with mild suds. Rinse well and repeat if stain is not removed.

To remove mustard stains you can wash the material with warm water and mild soap. If stain is not washable remove stain by rubbing gently with warm glycerin.

"REVOLUTIONS" IN FARMING

Untold centuries ago, an authority on agriculture has observed, the art of farming was revolutionized.

The first crude plow marked the initial application of mechanical power to farming.

Since that far-off time there have been many revolutions in agriculture. And today there is an immensely important, if quiet, revolution going on, though it is not of a mechanical character. It lies in the comparatively new awareness of the fact that the one-man enterprise is not enough in this age—that the energies, the brains and the abilities of many men must be enlisted together if each is to succeed and prosper.

Its concrete manifestation is found in the fact that the old, strictly individual, agricultural marketing cooperatives which dot the nation. And a "revolution" which makes it possible to distribute crops more quickly, surely and to better advantage for all concerned is as important as a "revolution" which makes it possible to produce them with greater efficiency and reduced effort.

SELLING OUT POOR FARMS

CHANCE FOR BETTER START

When the Government, under the Land Use Program, buys out the owners in an area too poor to afford a decent living for the families on the land, the sales usually mean that most of the families will have to move.

The Federal Department of Agriculture has been handling with care 13,000 of these families. Two thirds or more, it finds, are able to relocate themselves satisfactorily. Selling out usually means a welcome chance to make a new start.

To help the remaining families make the change taxes the ingenuity of Federal workers. Each family is an individual problem. There are no ready-made rules that can be applied to groups. The Farm Security Administration finds that the nearest families "are usually so near the margin of poverty and failure that for them to lose anything is often to lose everything."

Most of the families that need help in relocating are already severely handicapped by the fact that the heads of families are elderly. Forty percent of all the owners bought out were more than 50 years old, compared with about 30 percent the same age in the general group of farm owners. Ill health, ranging from simple paralysis, is common. Limited education and large families are the rule. Many have been on relief.

Administration records show that a large part of these families—nearly half of them—although living on the land, were farming on a scale not much greater than subsistence gardening. One-fourth of the families were cultivating less than 5 acres, and more than a half were cultivating less than 20 acres.

It still holds true, a tight outfit is a danger in the makeup of any automobile—or it's driver.

Marion Seaman and Elmo Heck, of Lawrenceburg, Ind., and Irene Green and Stanley Parsons of North Bend neighborhood motored to Indianapolis, Ind., Labor Day and attended the Indiana State Fair.

LOW FEED COSTS HELP POULTRYMEN

Although egg and poultry prices are low to farmers, the marketing department at the Kentucky College of Agriculture considers the situation encouraging because of cheap feed. The relation between feed and egg prices has tended to push prices up since 1929. Story are holdings of poultry products are high, and production is expected to continue large. However, prices of wheat, corn and commercial feeds may be expected to stay at a relatively low level, which will help to offset lower poultry prices.

HOGS CONTINUE TO BE MONEY-MAKERS

Hogs continue to be one of the best friends of Kentucky farmers, declares Grady Sellards of the University of Kentucky college of Agriculture. Efficient consumers of feed, they return profits most years, especially when consideration is given to balanced rations and the use of pasture. In fact, good pasture, he says, gives hog raisers in Kentucky an advantage over farmers in some other states.

To encourage good practices in hog raising, Sellards uses the ton-litter method. Farmers over the state cooperate with him in demonstrating that it pays to feed well, to push pigs through to market condition, to use good pasture.

Take the case of C. P. Blakney of Marshall county. His 12 cross-bred pigs averaged 43 pounds when eight weeks old, and 220 pounds when sold at the age of 185 days. They brought $225 a hundred, or $236.60. That was last year. The net profit above feed, pasture and labor was $113.10.

Sellards pointed out that this litter was farrowed Feb. 4, early enough to be ready for market when prices were near the peak.

The pigs received a variety of feeds, including corn, commercial feed, tankage, skim milk, linseed meal, and good korean lespedeza pasture, which insured a balanced ration. The result was rapid gain, good finish, and marketing at an early age.

SUGGESTS WAYS TO HANDLE LATE LAMBS

Many Kentucky farmers with lambs still on hand have not weaned their lambs. Continuing the lambs on the ewes at this time of year will mean more late lambs next year, says Richard C. Miller of the College of Agriculture. It is better both for the ewes and the lambs that the lambs be weaned immediately. The lambs should be treated for worms and put on clean pasture and the ewes given a chance to get in condition for earlier breeding.

All lambs that weigh 75 pounds or more and are finished should be sent to market; others, kept in a healthy condition and carried over until the nights get cool, and be grown out to good market weights and condition and sold in the fall. Goats should be sold as soon as they are weaned. If lambs be treated but the ewe flock as well, and if the lambs are in an unhealthy condition, they should be treated a second time within a week. This treatment should be continued at monthly or three weeks intervals until October, if the lambs are to be marketed then. They should then be placed on some field where sheep have not been handled during the season if possible. Use may be made of corn and stubble fields. Turning the lambs in the corn field will not injure the corn and will do the lambs a great deal of good.

The only excuse for parasite infested lambs still on farms in Kentucky, lambs that are losing weight instead of gaining, is neglect and carelessness. Any farmer who will begin early and carry out a parasite control program will prevent lambs getting in this condition. Failure of farmers to keep their lambs in a healthy condition is costing the sheep industry of this State more than a million dollars a year, declares Miller.

PERCH STRIKING AT HERRINGTON LAKE

Conservation Officers of the Division of Game and Fish who patrol Herrington Lake stated yesterday that "white perch" are striking at any sort of bait at the lake now and many large strings of this particular species of fish are being taken both by trolling and by still-fishing.

A conservation officer stated that two fellows went out in a boat after lunch a couple of days ago and came back in around four o'clock and had caught over 80 pounds of white perch between them and after getting a bite to eat and putting their fish on ice, they went back to the sport of catching more perch.

The officers stated that bass and new light fishing is intermittent at present but should pick up around the first of September and then should continue good through October.

There may be no new sins in this modern world, but lots of folks are having a blamed good time with the old ones.

How often folks would figure a radio performance was punk if they didn't know the high salaries paid the artists!

HOMEMAKERS CLUBS TO REVIEW WORK

The fall series of annual meetings of county home demonstration groups will be held in 32 Kentucky counties beginning August 29 and ending November 10, according to Miss Myrtle Weldon, state leader of county home demonstration groups. Project leaders will report on accomplishments during the past year, and goals will be set for the new year and plans as to ways and means devised. New county officers and leaders will be elected.

A feature of each meeting will be a report by Miss Weldon on the meeting in London of the Associated Country Women of the World, of which the Kentucky Homemakers' Federation is a member. She will show color slides of various places visited.

At each of the meetings the district director will be present to discuss "The Value of Working Together."

Homemakers' Camps—The last of five district homemakers camps recently was held at Owensboro for the Kentucky district with an attendance of 113 homemakers and home demonstration agents. Other camps held were at Crestwood, with 135 attending; at Columbus with 63 present; at Sulphur Well with 121 there; and at Quicksand 50 were present.

Features of the meeting were the making of handicraft such as whisk brooms from thistle, decorative book ends, and decorative objects for the home from a combination of serpentine crepe, skill and sheen. The program in music appreciation led by Miss Mildred Lewis of the University of Kentucky music department, and recreation. The latter included folk games, community parties, boat trips, water sports and picnics. Plenty of time was allowed for rest and visiting.

FARM WOMEN PLAN DIETS FOR HEALTH

Better living for the family thru better health continued to be a principal aim of thousands of homemakers on American farms last year, according to reports from extension workers in home economics in all parts of the country.

Better health through more adequate diets was an important part of the home demonstration program in more than 37,000 communities. Demonstrations conducted by extension agents representing the United States Department of Agriculture and the State agricultural college helped homemakers learn what constitutes a generously adequate diet. How to provide that diet the year around with available home-produced and purchased foods was the subject of other meetings.

As a part of this program farm women and 4-H Club girls reported that they canned 70,000 quarts of fruits, vegetables, and meats. A total of 407,000 families served better-balanced meals as a result of recommendations of home demonstration agents, while 169,000 families followed food-buying recommendations discussed in extension meetings.

Boys and girls in 16,138 schools had better lunches because home demonstration groups and similar organizations provided hot dishes to supplement the noon lunch brought from home.

Home demonstration agents in some States assisted by public health agencies and local physicians, held child-health clinics in hundreds of communities.

STORAGE TOO COOL INJURES MANY FRUITS, VEGETABLES

Warm-natured fruits and vegetables from the tropics are more likely to break down under storage that is too cold than products of the more temperate zones. Some of the tropic products, particularly bananas, pineapples, mangoes, and avocados, lose flavor and texture when kept in the home refrigerator for several days. If served cold, they should not be stored until immediately before serving.

Research by Federal Bureau of Plant Industry scientists shows that many products have a "critical storage temperature" below which injury is likely to result although this temperature may be several degrees above freezing. The low temperature, damage may show in many ways—in appearance, flavor and texture; in chemical composition; and in susceptibility to decay from storage.

Most of the damage grows in temperatures nearer the freezing point than those from the tropics or those whose original home was in the tropics but are now being grown in the temperate zones. Tomatoes, eggplants, and cucumbers are examples. Bananas and pears are good examples of exceptions. Potatoes held at 40 to 45 degrees F. for several weeks undergo a chemical change in which the starches turn to sugar rendering them unpalatable.

Stored pears must be removed and ripened at temperatures ranging from 60 to 70 degrees. If held too long at around 32 degrees some varieties lose their ability to ripen and "set dead."

Constant improvement of storage conditions has prolonged the market life of most perishable products and has helped to retain their "fresh" taste and appearance.

CONSERVATION OFFICERS REPORT 39 ARRESTS DURING PAST MONTH

The Conservation officers of the Division of Game and Fish made 39 arrests during the month of July and received 8 convictions and at the same time checked 3,600 hunting and fishing licenses.

The majority of the violators had not been tried when the wardens' monthly report was gotten up and that is the reason for the small number of convictions. Of the 39 arrested only 11 had been tried and 8 of these were convicted, leaving 28 to come up for trial in the near future.

The officers confiscated the following contraband: 2 seines; 17 fish traps; 36 nets; 2 cut offs; 2 rascos; 149 pounds of fish; 8 fish baskets; one boat; 11 trot lines, and one fish dam was destroyed.

Kentucky Politics

By Tyler Munford
Louisville, Ky., Sept. 6.—Democratic county chairman and party leaders throughout Kentucky are turning their attention this week toward registering every available Democrat prior to the deadline Friday night, September 8.

State Campaign Chairman, J. Lyter Donaldson, director of Keen Johnson's successful campaign for the party nomination for governor, completed his registration organization early this week. In letters to chairmen of all Democratic county committees Mr. Donaldson pointed out that at least 50,000 eligible Democrats in the state are either not registered or are improperly registered. He also called attention to registration activity of the Republican Party and warned against the Democratic party taking any chances by failing to register its membership.

Mr. Donaldson suggested that Democrats now registered in voting precincts in which they do not reside but where they have been voting a matter of agreement or custom should have their names changed to the proper precinct in order to safeguard their vote in the November election.

Harmony Apparently Exists In Party Ranks
An indication of the harmony that exists in party ranks was unanimous selection by the Democratic State Central Executive Committee and all party nominees of Mr. Donaldson to serve as state campaign manager for the November election. Added to this action was a cordial message from Senator Alben W. Barkley pledging his active support of Keen Johnson and all party nominees. This is a far cry from the picture of four years ago when a split in the party resulted in a result of gubernatorial primary of that year resulted in a major deflection in November.

If there is any bitterness among the rank and file of Democrats it is not in evidence, at this time. Many of the leaders of the opposition to Lieut. Governor Keen Johnson have volunteered their unequalled support in the November fight. This spirit of sportsmanship coupled with the active aid of the Roosevelt administration, party leaders believe, will assure an unprecedented Democratic majority in November.

Organization To Take No Chances
Despite the optimistic outlook, Chairman Donaldson said this week that no chances would be taken and that a militant organization would be perfected in every precinct within the next three weeks. The state manager pointed out that the Democratic majority this November would be of great aid in presenting a solid and unified front in next year's presidential election.

Republican Ranks Unsettled
As Result of Primary
Where four years ago there was turmoil in Democratic ranks, this year finds the situation reversed. There were sharp clashes among Republican leaders over that party's primary election. On the surface everything is peaceful, but behind the scenes many of the GOP big wigs who opposed Circuit Judge King Swepe are none too happy over the outcome. They still believe that John Cooper would have been the most formidable candidate this November. They contend that Swepe had his big chance in 1935 and missed—that for the sake of party welfare and harmony he should have been contented to stay out of the picture and give young John Cooper an opportunity to try his running ability. So it seems safe to surmise if there is any deflection in either party it will be in Republican ranks.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Bretenback, Mrs. Amelia Zapp, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Bretenback, all of Madison, Ky., and Mrs. Mary Zapp and family of Carrollton will arrive here this week for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Phil Zapp and they will attend the graduation of Miss Alma Zapp, who is a nurse in St. Elizabeth Hospital, Covington. Exercises will be held Saturday evening, September 9th.

We wish to express in this week's news, our sincere thanks to our friends and neighbors for the words of condolence and many deeds of kindness shown us during our sad bereavement in the loss of a devoted husband and father, Julius Corbin.

The many friends of Mrs. J. D. Northcutt, wife of Dr. J. D. Northcutt, will be sorry to learn that she is confined to her home with a broken arm and bruises sustained when struck by an automobile recently.

The many friends of R. G. Kinman regret to learn that he has been confined to his home on Dixie Highway since giving a blood transfusion in a futile effort to save the life of his mother-in-law, Mrs. John Brown, who died Aug. 25. He is greatly improved at this writing and expects to be back in his office Tuesday at 408 Coppin Building, Covington.

There will be a euchre party given at St. Paul auditorium Wednesday, Sept. 20, at 8 o'clock. The committee consists of Mrs. Pannell Scott, Mrs. Lillie Scott, Mrs. Shirley Scott, Mrs. Lucille Roberts, Mrs. K. Heger and Mrs. Minnie Dringenberg in charge.

Mrs. Lora Lalle entertained at her home last Sunday with a family reunion in honor of her brother Ed (Babe) Skirvin, of Louisville. All came with well filled baskets, and at noon a delicious dinner was spread in the shade. The following guests were present: Mr. and Mrs. Ed Skirvin and daughter, Mrs. Russell Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Corbin, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Woods and children, Mrs. R. L. Brown, Miss Geraldine Herrington, Miss Katharine Lea Lalle, Miss Helen Lalle.

Kentucky Politics

By Tyler Munford
Louisville, Ky., Sept. 6.—Democratic county chairman and party leaders throughout Kentucky are turning their attention this week toward registering every available Democrat prior to the deadline Friday night, September 8.

State Campaign Chairman, J. Lyter Donaldson, director of Keen Johnson's successful campaign for the party nomination for governor, completed his registration organization early this week. In letters to chairmen of all Democratic county committees Mr. Donaldson pointed out that at least 50,000 eligible Democrats in the state are either not registered or are improperly registered. He also called attention to registration activity of the Republican Party and warned against the Democratic party taking any chances by failing to register its membership.

Mr. Donaldson suggested that Democrats now registered in voting precincts in which they do not reside but where they have been voting a matter of agreement or custom should have their names changed to the proper precinct in order to safeguard their vote in the November election.

Harmony Apparently Exists In Party Ranks
An indication of the harmony that exists in party ranks was unanimous selection by the Democratic State Central Executive Committee and all party nominees of Mr. Donaldson to serve as state campaign manager for the November election. Added to this action was a cordial message from Senator Alben W. Barkley pledging his active support of Keen Johnson and all party nominees. This is a far cry from the picture of four years ago when a split in the party resulted in a result of gubernatorial primary of that year resulted in a major deflection in November.

If there is any bitterness among the rank and file of Democrats it is not in evidence, at this time. Many of the leaders of the opposition to Lieut. Governor Keen Johnson have volunteered their unequalled support in the November fight. This spirit of sportsmanship coupled with the active aid of the Roosevelt administration, party leaders believe, will assure an unprecedented Democratic majority in November.

Organization To Take No Chances
Despite the optimistic outlook, Chairman Donaldson said this week that no chances would be taken and that a militant organization would be perfected in every precinct within the next three weeks. The state manager pointed out that the Democratic majority this November would be of great aid in presenting a solid and unified front in next year's presidential election.

Republican Ranks Unsettled
As Result of Primary
Where four years ago there was turmoil in Democratic ranks, this year finds the situation reversed. There were sharp clashes among Republican leaders over that party's primary election. On the surface everything is peaceful, but behind the scenes many of the GOP big wigs who opposed Circuit Judge King Swepe are none too happy over the outcome. They still believe that John Cooper would have been the most formidable candidate this November. They contend that Swepe had his big chance in 1935 and missed—that for the sake of party welfare and harmony he should have been contented to stay out of the picture and give young John Cooper an opportunity to try his running ability. So it seems safe to surmise if there is any deflection in either party it will be in Republican ranks.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Bretenback, Mrs. Amelia Zapp, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Bretenback, all of Madison, Ky., and Mrs. Mary Zapp and family of Carrollton will arrive here this week for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Phil Zapp and they will attend the graduation of Miss Alma Zapp, who is a nurse in St. Elizabeth Hospital, Covington. Exercises will be held Saturday evening, September 9th.

We wish to express in this week's news, our sincere thanks to our friends and neighbors for the words of condolence and many deeds of kindness shown us during our sad bereavement in the loss of a devoted husband and father, Julius Corbin.

The many friends of Mrs. J. D. Northcutt, wife of Dr. J. D. Northcutt, will be sorry to learn that she is confined to her home with a broken arm and bruises sustained when struck by an automobile recently.

The many friends of R. G. Kinman regret to learn that he has been confined to his home on Dixie Highway since giving a blood transfusion in a futile effort to save the life of his mother-in-law, Mrs. John Brown, who died Aug. 25. He is greatly improved at this writing and expects to be back in his office Tuesday at 408 Coppin Building, Covington.

There will be a euchre party given at St. Paul auditorium Wednesday, Sept. 20, at 8 o'clock. The committee consists of Mrs. Pannell Scott, Mrs. Lillie Scott, Mrs. Shirley Scott, Mrs. Lucille Roberts, Mrs. K. Heger and Mrs. Minnie Dringenberg in charge.

Mrs. Lora Lalle entertained at her home last Sunday with a family reunion in honor of her brother Ed (Babe) Skirvin, of Louisville. All came with well filled baskets, and at noon a delicious dinner was spread in the shade. The following guests were present: Mr. and Mrs. Ed Skirvin and daughter, Mrs. Russell Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Corbin, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Woods and children, Mrs. R. L. Brown, Miss Geraldine Herrington, Miss Katharine Lea Lalle, Miss Helen Lalle.

SPEAKING AS

Did Izak Walton Wear a Sweater?

—Frankly we don't know—it's not in the record. However, fishermen of the 1939 variety are sticklers for clothes. Whether midstream or at the surf, the wise ones insist on apparel that is both comfortable and good-looking. Coat sweaters fit the bill nicely on that score. Excellent if you want a practical body garment on your fishing trips. And don't forget a muffler for chilly mornings!

For That September Swim—One

new highlight in sportswear this summer was the rage for bold shades in swim trunks. Indeed, gay colors and good tailoring combined to give new life to swimming trunks. We saw some smart lines lately... swim trunks made of Crown-Tested rayon satin and elastic textile yarn. Good-looking garments, all right. The new colors add zest, while the tailoring gives an athletic prowess to one's beach appearance.

Corduroy Sports Coats—Corduroy is becoming popular as a fabric for men's sports coats... and signs are that this latest advance to the sports coat family will be actively sponsored at autumn resorts. The corduroy fabric used for these coats is comparatively lightweight but sturdy enough to stand rough usage. It is worn with matching or contrasting slacks.

Knit Elastic Braces—You just can't stop that craving for elastic apparel. Now we have a new one—men's suspenders, made of knitted elastic fabric. This unit has a double elasticity—in the yarn, and in the knitting. And they tell us it does away with that tug at the shoulder so characteristic of the old-type suspenders.

U. K. EXPECTS LARGEST ENROLLMENT IN HISTORY

The largest number of students ever to enroll at the University of Kentucky for a single term is expected to register for classwork when the University opens Monday morning, September 18.

Advance registration for rooms in both the men's and women's residence halls is taken as an indication of the record enrollment expected. The men's halls, which accommodate 315 students, are filled, with a waiting list of 25 or more now on record in the office of the dean of men. The women's residence halls, even with the addition to Boyd Hall, which was constructed this spring and summer and which will be ready for available. The combined capacity of the fall term, has only 25 vacancies for the three residence halls for women is 304.

The schedule for the opening week at the University of Kentucky opens with classification tests and physical examinations for all new students Monday morning, September 18. Tuesday afternoon of that week freshmen registration will be held and that same day a meeting of the Board of Trustees is scheduled. Wednesday morning, September 20, freshmen will classify, and Wednesday afternoon and Thursday upper classmen will classify and register. Classwork will begin Friday morning at eight o'clock.

According to the University calendar, Monday, October 2 is the last date upon which a student may enter an organized class.

All freshmen are urged to report to Memorial Hall Monday morning, September 18th at eight o'clock, where they will be met by a faculty committee and divided into groups for their classification tests.

VERONA HOMEMAKERS ENJOY TOUR SEPT. 1ST

The Verona Homemakers went on an interesting and delightful tour Friday, Sept. 1st for their regular monthly meeting.

They made a tour of the homes of the ladies who had participated in the different projects studied in the club during the year, under the leadership of Miss Mary Hood Gillaspie, Home Demonstration agent.

Seventeen ladies went on the tour. They met at the home of Mrs. W. T. Renaker and after viewing the display of articles she had completed in home improvement work, the group journeyed to the home of Mrs. W. B. McCormick, then to the homes of Mrs. Clara Vest, Mrs. Lela Wasson, Mrs. Lora Stephenson, Miss Lizzie Vest, Mrs. Arch Noel, Mrs. J. T. Roberts, Mrs. O. K. Powers, Mrs. John Myers and Mrs. Raymond Stephenson.

Forty-five articles had been completed by the members of the club in home improvement and the members are to be highly complimented on the splendid work they have done. Much credit is due to Miss Gillaspie, Home Agent as director in this work.

Tea was served at the home of Mrs. John Myers.

The Homemakers were pleased to have as guests on the tour, Miss Russell, home demonstration agent of Carroll county and Miss Ida C. Hagman of the Home Improvement Dept., Extension Division, College of Agriculture, University of Kentucky, who offered a constructive criticism and praise, while visiting in the different homes and gave an interesting summary of her observations at the end of the tour.

The ladies were so enthusiastic that it was decided to have a tour again next year.

The next regular meeting of the Homemakers will be Oct. 6. New officers for the coming year will be installed at the October meeting.

All members are urged to be present and visitors are cordially invited.

There was that southern gentleman who, at the age of 70-odd went in for his marriage license. When questioned regarding the bride's first name he studied a bit and "thought it was Louise." When the bride-to-be came in to write her signature it proved to be Stella. This fellow is going to get thunder on anniversaries.

The old bromide about it being "hard to keep a good man down" might be spoken of most weed gardens.

SCALING IS CONTINUED BY U. S. HOUSING AUTHORITY

Washington, D. C.—The United States Housing Authority continued its scaling down of rentals in low-rental housing projects to meet the needs of families in the lowest-income groups by announcing reductions averaging $7.93 per unit per month in the shelter rent of the 354 dwellings in Will Rogers Courts in Oklahoma City.

The new shelter rentals will average $10.81 per dwelling per month, 42.3 percent below the present scale.

The new schedule will go into effect September 1.

The reduced rentals automatically result in a substantial lowering of the income "ceiling" placed by the USHA on tenant families in conformance with the United States Housing Act. Under the old schedules, maximum income levels for admission to Will Rogers Courts ranged from a low of $1,069 to a high of $1,989.

In sharp contrast, the new maximum limits for admission will range from a low of $690 for a family of seven.

The maximum income limit for admission for families of three will be $780; for a family of four, $840; for a family of five, $925; and for a family of six, $990.

These new income levels are the maximum and few, if any of the new tenant families will have these maximums. A great majority are expected to have much lower incomes.

In announcing the new schedule, Nathan Straus, USHA Administrator, pointed out that the "average shelter rents of $10.81 per dwelling per month will make it possible... to provide low-rent housing of the character contemplated by the United States Housing Act of 1937."

The average shelter rental of $10.81 per dwelling per month does not include utility charges for heat, hot water, light, cooking and refrigeration. The cost of utilities averages $4.43.

Mr. Straus estimated that the average shelter plus utilities rent of $15.23 will be sufficient to pay, with 3 percent of the units vacant, the cost of management operation, maintenance and insurance, will provide for a payment to the City of Oklahoma City in lieu of taxes, and will set aside an amount as reserve for future repairs and replacements and for other necessary reserve funds.

The project, which was constructed by the Housing Division of the Public Works Administration and was opened in September 1937 has been approximately 100 percent rented ever since.

Indications are that a number of the present 354 families will exceed the new maximum income limits for continued occupancy and probably will be forced to move to other quarters to make way for families whose incomes fall within the lower limitations scheduled.

In scheduling the new rentals, Mr. Straus pointed out that "net income" when used with respect to a family applying for admission to, or residing in, a dwelling in the project, means the aggregate income, in whatever form received, of all members of a family, less allowable deductions.

Aggregate income is defined as including all wages, salaries, commissions, fees, tips, earnings from work relief, and other compensation in kind, such as meals or food provided to inmates and hotel workers; pensions, unemployment compensation and Social Security benefits; relief payments in cash, and the cash value of relief allowances—in kind; alimony or other contributions or gifts toward the support of the family; and all other income from any and all sources whatsoever.

"Net income" at any time means the amount of the family's net income for the twelve calendar months next preceding the date of application or review adjusted to reflect the anticipated net income of the family for the twelve calendar months next succeeding.

Occupancy of a dwelling in the project is limited exclusively to a natural family or to a cohesive family group, which may be composed of or include dependent relatives or other dependents clearly established as an inherent part of the family group; or working adults known to have regularly lived as an inherent part of the family group, whose earnings as an integral part of the family income and whose resources are available for use in meeting family expenses.

A natural family or cohesive family group may not be comprised of or include two distinct family groups, lodgers or transient pay-

Gayety Theater News

Fri. & Sat.—"Blue Montana Skies"
Sun. and Monday—"Cryin' in the Chapel"
Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Sept. 12, 13, 14—"Tarzan Finds a Son"

Gene Autry, who has built up an enviable reputation riding round-up rustlers and singing and playing on his "gee-tar," now has ridden far afield to seek his cinematic fortunes in the Far North! "Blue Montana Skies," Republic western which will be shown at the Gayety Friday and Saturday, presents Gene as a cattle man who journeys into the "gee-tar" to outwit a gang engaged in smuggling white fox furs.

His adventures are entertainingly delineated on the screen, with luscious June Storey for feminine appeal and the ubiquitous Smiley Burnette for comedy effects.

When a honky-tonk showgirl gets stranded in a cow town like Big Horn, Wyoming, anything is liable to happen and does in "Maidie" showing at the Gayety Sunday and Monday with Robert Young and Ann Southern at the head of an excellent cast.

Her invasion of the wide open spaces, in the person of the personable Miss Southern, not only sets the romantic apperit of Young but eventually finds him in a trial for murder. "Maidie" is a comedy drama set in the West, but is not a western of the so-called horse opera variety. Rather, it is a smart story of men and women from the sophisticated start of America and laid in a background of cow ponies and round-ups.

Thrills, drama and tender romance, told amid the jungles of Africa, are enthralling and will be shown at the Gayety Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. The picture reunites Johnny Weissmuller and Maureen O'Sullivan in "Tarzan Finds a Son," a new character comes to the screen in the fourth of the stories based on the Edgar Rice Burroughs characters in a "Tarzan Junior," played by John Sheffield, amazing five-year-old athlete who plays the boy in this picture. A wild ride of a chimpanzee cavally mounted on elephants with Weissmuller at the head, routs the savages in a dramatic climax.

The cavalry charge, rescue of the baby from a charging rhinoceros, amazing underwater swimming by Weissmuller and young Sheffield, and dramatic sequences in the jungle tree house are high points in the adventure romance.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED
IN REGARD TO DOVE LAW

Now that the dove-shooting season is here for the sportsmen of Kentucky to enjoy there still seems to be a large number of hunters who are not up on their federal regulations pertaining to dove hunting. In every town, village and country store in the state, groups have been talking about and sometimes arguing about the various restrictions on the methods and places by which and in which doves could be taken legally.

Capt. R. C. Soaper, game management agent of the Bureau of Biological Survey in Kentucky answered some of the more common questions in regard to the shooting of doves and the Division of Game and Fish here passes them on to the sportsmen:

1. Does the Federal law comply in all respects with the state law? Yes. The state law is the Federal Regulations, whatever they may be.

2. Does the law say that doves can be hunted from 7 a. m. to sundown? Yes. Which almanac will be considered official on the sundown time? Captain Soaper advises to take the sundown time published in afternoon papers or given by the nearest U. S. Weather Bureau.

3. Is it against the law to shoot at or near a natural watering place? No.

4. Is it against the law to shoot at a roost? No. Provided you do not shoot after sundown.

5. Is it against the law to shoot where there are exposed rocks around which does come for gravel? No, but be sure no salt has been put out near these rocks.

6. Is a field from which the wheat has been harvested and which is overgrown with weeds considered an illegal place to shoot? No, but be sure no grain has been put out in the field.

7. Is a corn field which is being plowed down considered an illegal place to shoot? No.

8. Is it illegal to hunt around a straw stack? No, if there is no evidence of feed having been put out.

9. Is it illegal to shoot doves with a rifle if BB shot cartridges are used? Yes. The law says that doves may be shot only with a shotgun, from the shoulder or with a bow and arrow. The shotgun must be no larger than 10-gauge and the magazine so plugged with a one-piece metal or wooden filler that cannot be removed from the loading end of the magazine and so that the gun will hold no more than three shells.

The dove season opened September 1 and will close October 31. The daily bag limit is 15 doves and the possession limit is the same with hunting from 7 a. m. until sunset each day.

ROTARY CLUBS STAGE

BOAT RIDE SEPTEMBER 11

For the second consecutive year the Rotary Clubs of Carrollton and Madison, are staging a boat ride for Rotarians of Kentucky and Indiana, their Anns and friends.

The most magnificent of all river boats, the Island Queen, has been engaged for the occasion, and on the afternoon of September 11, Kentucky Rotarians, Anns and friends, representing all sections of Kentucky will embark at Carrollton at 5 p. m., proceed to Madison where a large crowd of Indians will join with them for a festive occasion.

Clyde Trask and his famous orchestra, floor shows, and many other features will be provided for the entertainment of the guests, and a full five hours of delightful entertainment is promised to keep everyone happy until 10 p. m. when the "Queen's" Callope will play the finale "Home Sweet Home."

The "Queen" has a capacity of 4,000, glass enclosed decks, non-sinkable steel hull, and the Rotary Clubs of Carrollton and Madison are sparing no effort to make this the year's most outstanding one of its kind ever held.

Rotary Clubs from a large part of the state will be represented, and all Club members may include as many friends as they wish, and of course the kiddies may be expected in great numbers. The boat will be with Mom and Pop as to who shall have the most fun.

Last September a like party was given by the Carrollton and Madison Clubs, and a total of 935 persons attended. Requests from all parts of the state for tickets to the two Clubs to stage this year's event, which promises to far exceed in numbers and interest, that of last year.

WHEAT INSURANCE IN KENTUCKY NEXT YEAR

Thirty-two counties in Kentucky have been designated as wheat crop insurance counties in 1940, it is announced from the state office of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration at Lexington. However, a producer in "any" county planting wheat in the fall of 1939 or eligible to obtain a federal crop insurance policy on his wheat. The insurance offered wheat growers is "all-risk," which means that the growing crop is protected against anything that may happen to it between seeding and threshing, except a loss of seed by the farmer's own carelessness.

Wheat growers will apply for policies before the time their 1940 crop of wheat is seeded. The normal yields and premium rates are now being established for commercial farmers based on the actual risk of growing wheat on the farm during the past thirteen year base period. The policy will guarantee the producer up to 75 percent of the normal yield for the farm.

Premium rates and indemnity payments are calculated in terms of wheat and not in dollars and cents. Each producer who wishes to pay his premium by taking actual wheat to the elevator and getting a warehouse receipt, or the producer may pay his premium in cash equivalent based on a computed number of bushels converted into dollars and cents at market prices. Premiums may also be made in the form of a request for an advance from the Secretary of Agriculture. The premium payments are converted into stored wheat by the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation in order that the plan of insuring wheat which yields fall below their insured production may be paid when due.

Kentucky is in a low-risk area and each individual farmer's premium will be calculated on the basis of his own experience in growing wheat and the average experience in the county. Kentucky farmers will not be required to pay premiums based on any high-risk area outside their own county or State.

FARM LOANS FOR CONSERVATION

Dean Thomas P. Cooper of the College of Agriculture, University of Kentucky, discussed before the bankers' institute at the university a phase of rural banking doubtless familiar to his audience.

The general public may not quite understand what is behind the paternal interest of the government in guaranteeing low-interest farm loans for a period as long as an industrial mortgage bond issue. It is the effect of scientific experiments on agriculture, demonstration that the fertility of soil can be enhanced as well as destroyed. Productivity of soil is just as important a factor in the permanent wealth and annual income of a rural community as the output of industry is in an urban community.

The interest rate and length of the mortgage loan affect farm management. It takes as long a time to realize on an investment in a farm as in an industry; but the farmer hasn't the advantage of issuing bonds. The short-time loan often forces him to wear out his land to meet the charges. It has reduced many Kentucky owners to tenancy. In the aggregate, depletion of the soil and depreciation of values are not merely individual losses; they constitute a loss to the whole area on which it thrives.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

KENTUCKY ON DISPLAY

Dreamy, hazy days of sunshine—golden moonlit nights of happiness.

That is Kentucky in the fall, the season of fairs and of the Kentucky State Fair at Louisville, where the products of Kentucky proudly compete for honor and awards.

There is gaiety in Kentucky and you'll find it at the Fair where Vincent Lopez swings his music and Betty Hutton sways her songs.

There is earnestness in Kentucky and you'll see it in the faces of the Judges and the eyes of the owners, at the cattle and live stock rings, as competition waxes hot and the champions are being chosen.

There is pomp and ceremony in Kentucky. You will see it when the band plays at the Horse Show and the horses parade in the show ring, and the soft lights reflecting on white shoulders and white shirt fronts in the boxes, make you reflect on the decades of tradition and charm of Kentucky.

There is happiness in Kentucky. You will see it on the faces of the people and hear gay laughter on the midway, for a bountiful season of productiveness is over and life is good to live in Kentucky.

Betty Hutton and Vincent Lopez.

 570 SOUTH FOURTH

Peaslee-Gaulbert Paint and Varnish Company Makes Outstanding Products

Back in 1867, three men—Charles R. Peaslee, George Gaulbert and J. W. Gaulbert—decided to go into the paint business—formed a partnership with a capital of $30,000—purchased U. E. Everts & Company of Louisville—and established the now famous Peaslee-Gaulbert Company.

The new Company took over a business which was small—principally retail—and largely confined to Louisville and nearby towns. At first the firm had only two traveling salesmen, but its business expanded rapidly. In 1884, Peaslee-Gaulbert was incorporated with a paid-in capital of $200,000. Greater expansion followed—and with it other increases in capital. In 1925, the Company's capital and surplus mounted to $4,000,000, with annual sales of about $10,000,000.

MASTIC PAINT MARKETED

Early in its history, the Company began the manufacture of paint in a small factory on Bullitt Street in Louisville. Mastic Paint was Peaslee-Gaulbert's first house paint, and constant improvement through the years has kept it high in the regard of painters and home owners. Today, Mastic Paint is used in the famous Pee Gee Two-Coat System.

From the start, the manufacturing side of Peaslee-Gaulbert's business was successful and the Company soon outgrew its original paint plant. A larger factory was erected on the same location. This, in turn, was replaced by a still larger plant at 15th and Portland Avenue. On April 1, 1902, a disastrous fire destroyed the paint factory and all of the Company's warehouses. The Company then erected its present plant. Additions to this plant were made in 1910—increasing its capacity by about 50%.

VARNISH AND LACQUER

In 1891, the Peaslee-Gaulbert Company started manufacturing varnish—purchasing the plant of the Collins Varnish Company in Louisville. This business grew so rapidly that the Company erected the General Varnish Company plant in 1919, and four years later made extensive additions to it. With the advent of lacquers, another completely equipped building was added.

In the meantime, the fame of Pee Gee paints and varnishes was spreading all over the South. In October, 1920, a branch office was established in Dallas, Texas—and later a distributing warehouse in Houston. In 1921, another branch office was opened in Atlanta, Georgia, to serve the southeast.

1938 marks the Seventy-First Anniversary of this Company. Sound management—constant research and improvement of products—broad-gauge sales and distribution policies have made it seventy-one years of steady progress.

MR. J. B. DANT
America's Oldest Living
Master Distiller

Old-Timers in Kentucky, who remember "way back when," tell of the giants who ruled the making of Kentucky's famous beverage in the purity era long before the interlude of prohibition. Prominent among the names most frequently mentioned is Joseph Bernard Dant, for many years the active head of the famous Taylor and Williams Distilleries, located in Yellowstone Gardens, Louisville, Kentucky.

Mr. Dant bears the proud distinction of being the oldest living Master Distiller in the United States. His earliest experiences extend back to the original Dant Distillery founded in 1836 by his pioneer father. Here young Joseph mastered the meticulous ritual of the ancient Dant family formula, from the frost-cold spring water as it gushed from the limestone ledge until it sparkled into amber-colored bubbles as fragrant bourbon whiskey.

PHOTOGRAPHY ON THE FARM

The modern camera is much more than a toy with which the children can have fun on picnics and at parties.

Photography is the most powerful advertising and selling agency used in modern practice, and if you are raising any product, animal or vegetable, that you wish to sell to advantage, learn how to make a picture of it that will convince your buyer that he is getting what he wants.

One stock raiser here in Kentucky, paid for a high priced camera by sending pictures of two bulls to a prospect in Nebraska. The pictures made the sale at higher prices than he could get locally.

It takes a bit of study and experience, but in Louisville is a firm that makes a specialty of teaching and instructing camera users. The firm of W. D. Gatchel & Sons has a long record of efficient service (Founded in 1885) and any customer can have this service free. They will make your camera purchase a profitable one.

National Retail Demonstration Week, sponsored by members of the Covington Retail Merchants' Association, opened Monday with the business establishments extending a special invitation to northern Kentuckians to visit their stores during the week.

Special sales are being offered by the merchants as inducement to the local buying public. These specials will be offered every day of Demonstration Week.

On Friday night the merchants will sponsor a huge square dance contest on the esplanade of Market square and Seventh street and Madison avenue. Couples from Boone, Kenton and Gallatin counties are invited to compete in the dance contest.

The contest will start at 8:15 p. m. Any one wishing to enter may file entry with any of the co-operating stores or at the Chamber of Commerce. Many prizes will be awarded the various winners.

Francis Vehr, president of the Merchants' Association, is assisted by the following committee in staging the Demonstration Week activities: Bernard Ellerman, William Macklin, Dave Liebschutz, A. J. Ostrow, William Frank, Charles Jacobs and Charles Willenborg.

The object of the tieup with National Retail Demonstration Week is for stores to co-operate here to acquaint the public with the importance of the retail industry, which ranks well up near the top of the list among America's largest businesses.

GREEN LINE NINE IN FIRST PLACE

AFTER DEFEATING BOB & GENE SUNDAY BY SCORE OF 18 TO 1—VERONA NINE ELIMINATED BY CHALKS TEAM.

Bob and Gene's nine, strong contenders for the Campbell County Baseball League championship went down to defeat Sunday at the hands of the Green Line aggregation by a score of 18 to 1.

Guy Daines, on the mound for the Green Line team allowed only four hits, striking out ten. Bob & Gene had three pitchers on the hill during the game. Steffen started the game, was relieved by Cliff Stephens, with Roy Mahan finishing on the mound for the locals.

In another series game the Chalks eliminated the Verona Merchants by a score of 7 to 2. The elimination of the Verona team leaves four clubs in the running for the title.

McClure, on the hill for Verona allowed nine hits, while his team collected only five hits off Lefty Ampler, the winner pitcher.

Bob & Gene's team is composed of Boone county ball players, and is rated among the best in the league. However, the local boys have suffered two defeats during the elimination series, and one more loss will eliminate them. Next Sunday the boys will be battling for another win, which will place them in good standing one more.

YOU CAN HELP

In this issue of The Recorder will be found many advertisements from our Covington merchants, all of whom are offering outstanding bargains in observance of National Retail Demonstration Week, September 11 to 16th. When in Covington making your purchases you can boost your county and your county newspaper by just saying "We read your advertisement in The Recorder."

Many of our readers make purchases from merchants, after reading their advertisements in our paper, but it seldom they think to mention the fact to the merchant. Give your county newspaper a boost when making your purchases during National Retail Demonstration Week and every week in the future. We will appreciate your help.

2,000 BIRDS FOR DISTRICT

IS BEING PLANNED BY FISH & GAME ASSOCIATION OF KENTUCKY—SPECIAL MEETING SATURDAY AFTERNOON.

The local Fish and Game Association of Boone County will be called to a special meeting at the courthouse Saturday afternoon at 2:00 (C. S. T.) for the purpose of discussing plans for their part of the mail that will come to Boone County this year, according to Chas. W. Riley, president.

A special invitation is being sent to all committeemen that served on the last distribution of quail in this county, and their attendance is especially urged at this meeting. Also it is very important that every member of the club, as well as all those interested in conservation in this county, be present for this meeting.

Boone County has a larger supply of quail this year than they have had in many years, which is largely due to the activity of the Fish & Game Club here in the County. It is their program to obtain even more quail this coming year, but this will require the support of all persons interested, and all are urged to be present Saturday afternoon to discuss plans.

W. D. Brock To Hold Revival At Bellevue

Final arrangements have been completed for the annual revival meeting to be held at Bellevue Church of Christ, Sept. 25th to Oct. 7. The church is privileged to have as their evangelist W. D. Brock, minister at the Church of Christ, of Brilliant, Ohio. Mr. Brock has been in this type of work for several years, having won many souls to Christ. His last meeting was held a couple of weeks ago at Antioch, West Virginia, with 82 additions in a two week's meeting. His work in this community has proven a success and he continues to win friends where ever he goes with a permanent smile and a mind to work for God.

Assisting in the meeting as pianist and worker with children is one qualified for both positions and proven to be successful. Ruth Holderson from Fort Wayne, Ind., has for the past two years served as organist for the Wayside Church featured over WKRF from 8:30 to 9:00 a. m. E. S. T. every Sunday during the fall and winter months. She is now pianist for Latonia Church of Christ. Many audiences at evangelistic meetings throughout the Tri-State district have thrilled to her playing while children have learned to love her as a teacher. She has graduated from Cincinnati Bible Seminary and made a place for herself in the evangelistic work she comes now in the interest of Christ and His Church.

"I'll Put Jesus First in My Life" is the theme of the entire meeting with special numbers arranged for each evening. Vocal numbers, instrumental music and choral pieces are a part of the program planned.

The climax of the first week will be reached Saturday evening Sept. 30 when a play written and directed by Louise Miller Novotny, entitled "Putting Jesus First" will be presented by the original cast as it was given at Winona Lake, Ind., on July 16 at the Christian Action Conference.

The play is a modern-day setting with an age-old problem. Every emotion will be stirred as we live again with the Deans. You will thrill to the courage of aunt "Letty" and laugh at the sincere but humorous efforts of Maimie to be helpful, but above all you will be inspired to take a firmer stand for the ideals of a Christian mother. Every effort has been made to make this two weeks, one of the events in your life you will want to remember for its enlightenment and enjoyment.

Looking at a war-torn world let us climb a little higher, where we can see farther, and on the horizon see victory for God.

Former Boone Countians Visit Recorder Friday

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Aklin, of Rising Sun, paid The Recorder office a pleasant call Friday. Mr. and Mrs. Aklin were enroute to Beaver Lick, where they expected to visit for a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Alle Rottler.

Mr. and Mrs. Aklin are both natives of Boone County, having been born in the Bellevue community, where they resided until about 30 years ago, when he accepted a position with the Whitlock Furniture Co., of Rising Sun, where he now is employed.

The Akins called on many of their old friends in this county among them being Mr. and Mrs. Ruby Aklin, Minnie Carpenter, Mr. Johnny Batchelor and many others. Mr. Aklin stated that he was always glad to return to his native county.

ACP ALLOWANCE DRIVE PLANNED

ONE HUNDRED PERCENT OF ALLOTMENT SET AS GOAL BY AGRICULTURAL CONSERVATION COMMITTEE.

The Boone County Agricultural Conservation Committee are planning an intensive educational drive to aid farmers in earning 100 percent of the $57,083.19 allotted the county for carrying out soil building practices, according to John E. Crigler, Secretary. Boone County farmers to date have earned approximately $30,000.00 or about 50 percent of the total.

The remaining allowances for individual farms can be earned from two main sources, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent. These two sources are:

(1) Seedings, and (2) use of fertilizers. Sufficient cash loans are available to purchase limestone or seeds or 47 percent phosphate can be supplied most farmers to earn 100 percent of their allowances. The County Office should be contacted in this connection.

The county and community committeemen have approved and strongly recommend the following practices for farmers to carry out between now and October 31st, to earn 100 percent of their allowance:

(1) Seedings: New seedlings of blue grass, timothy, red top, the 1939 crop of sweet clover seed, and the 1939 growing crop of Korean lespedeza seed. Each acre seeded costs of $1.50 depending on the particular kind of seed used. Farmers who seeded the new crops of Korean and sweet clover seed the last half of October last year got good results. Old seed of these crops were failures.

(2) Seedlings: Seed now. Each acre seeded pays $1.50. Seed costs only about 75 cents per lb. (3) Seeding crimson (not red) clover or vetch, $1.50 per acre. Seed early.

(4) Fertilizers: (a) Use Agricultural limestone anywhere on the farm, $1.50 per ton. (b) Use of 47 percent superphosphate on grass and legume crops only—not in connection with small grains—1.50 per 100 pounds.

Farmers can make money two ways by earning 100 percent of their soilbuilding allowances. First, most acres can be seeded for much less than $1.50 per acre with the farmer making a cash profit for his work. Second, limestone and phosphate applied to ground that will be plowed in the future will give increased yields of the cultivated crops as well as to the grass and clover crops. While land should not be limed heavily before tobacco, heavy application of phosphate will add materially to the ripening qualities and market quality of the tobacco. The grass and legume land thus treated this fall will be in much better shape to produce higher quality crops at a later date.

Mr. C. E. Williams, chairman of the County Committee, states that every farmer wants to earn 100% of his allowance. There are two main reasons if he fails to do so. First, he overlooks the time he has to do this work. Most practices should be carried out now, with October 31st, being the last date. The county office or committeemen are well trained to advise well all farmers interested in knowing about their allowances.

Second, the farmer does not have the money. The county office can now secure funds to assist practically every farmer in earning 100% of the allowance for his farm.

Act now! Be a 100% farmer!

Sheep losses from dogs remain one of the greatest deterrents to the fullest development of this profitable industry. Dogs are also one of the greatest friends of man. Every dog owner and dog lover should cooperate fully with the sheep men in the attempt to protect both the sheep and the dogs in order to hold losses to the minimum.

Foot Health

BY N. TULCH
Foot Comfort Specialist
AT PEOPLE'S FOOT COMFORT
(SHOE STORE) COVINGTON

There is a natural law constantly at work in the tissues of the human body. We must understand that bone, muscle and nerve consists of millions of ever changing tiny bodies called cells. These cells are held together with the tissue fluids and substances of the body. Therefore bone, muscle and ligament respectively share the influence of this law, that constant tension causes wasting especially in the feet when the body weight which they carry about and support is not evenly distributed and balanced throughout the twelve major bones of the foot framework.

If ligaments are stretched, due to long and careless standing especially those which bind the weight-supporting and key bones together, these ligaments finally yield in about the fifth or sixth year to strain and abuse, and pull away from the bone attachments.

The rest which the night affords is not enough to counteract continuous strain during the day.

This same law holds true of the muscles and tendon attachments of the feet which lift the body weight on the metatarsal heads or pivots. On the other hand, constant pressure causes wasting of tissue.

If the muscles do not hold the weight-bearing joints of feet in proper dovetailing and interlocking action, these joints become deformed, misshapen and deformed because of pressure of the body weight upon their point surfaces. When we consider that we drive hundreds of tons of aggregate weight into the twelve major bones of each foot every day that we live it is easily understood why feet degenerate.

Can you be well with unhappy feet. Those headaches, those backaches, those leg pains may be caused by the shoes you are wearing—Adv.

"Goodbye Mr. Chips."

The youth of the world will see in RKO Radio's "The Flying Irishman," in which Douglas Corrigan enacts his life story, the result of perseverance, self-denial and determination. It is said to be a stimulating message that should encourage and embold those who feel their particular talents are unwanted in a supposedly career-filled world.

The story of a resolute, poor, unassuming American boy who achieved fame in spite of obstacles, heart-aches, and disappointments. "The Flying Irishman" is not only an account of Corrigan's life, but a saga of youth.

The newest starring team to come out of Hollywood—George Raft and Ellen Drew head the cast of Paramount's thrilling drama of the race track, "The Lady's From Kentucky" which will be shown at the Gayety Sunday and Monday.

Cast together for the first time, George will be seen as a small time gambler, a tout, who through a twist of circumstance, finds himself involved in the noble sport of racing horses. Lovely Ellen Drew is cast as a gentlewoman of old Kentucky who has inherited her father's racing stable.

Fast-talking, glib, cocky Lee Tracy as a "fixer" for a circus—an all-round, handy-man human trouble-shooter—whose job it is to out-talk, out-think, out-smart and outlast any and all customers under any and all circumstances; this is the choice tidbit that Fixer Dugan offers. It's the big show! Don't fail to see it.

The greatest motion picture of any year! Packed with power, tenderness and emotional thrills that will burn themselves into your memory forever! Starring Robert Donat who surpasses his triumph in "The Citadel" and introducing lovely Greer Garson, destined to be the star sensation of 1939. Even greater than James Hilton's powerful novel. "Goodbye Mr. Chips," is very entertaining. Don't fail to see this big picture.

MONEY

It's a funny world. If a man gets money, he's a grafter. If he keeps it, he's a capitalist. If he spends it, he's a playboy. If he doesn't get it, he's a never-do-well. If he doesn't try to get it, he's a lack of ambition. If he gets it without working for it, he's a parasite. And if he accumulates it after a lifetime of hard work, he's a sucker.

QUIETING DOWN

We expect to see a slight war panic among householders as there seemed evident an increase in commodity prices. Goods would be affected at higher than normal prices, but after the first rush to prevent family shortage, the buyer realized this nation is equipped to care for its own with a surplus in commodities. We feel we will be protected from the war profiteer who causes an increase in prices. A legitimate and reasonable profit is not unreasonable and is expected when war prices create a certain rise. But save us from the extensive profiteering of 1914. The sensible purchase of everyday produce, the wise buying of staples, will help business to keep its head, if the purchaser keeps his.

POTATOES IN GERMANY

Since necessity is the mother of invention, German scientists have produced newswort made from potato plant fiber. An edition of a certain newspaper of 100,000 copies was on this potato paper. Since Germany is the largest producer of potatoes in the world, they can make a quantity of paper! The potato crop is five times that of the U. S. and since it is a major food item, the people of Germany are careful to tend the crop and to ride it of potato bugs which have been invading the farms. Potatoes are fed to live stock for food. Germany has a shortage of many materials and must avail herself of all things synthetic and substitute materials to her use.

WHAT WILL WE DO?

Can we keep our heads when all the world seems mad? Can we keep the nose of Uncle Sam out of the business of other nations? Is it possible to disregard propaganda which comes from all sides where they hope we will become enraged and take part in the war by lining up our youth for butchery as a symbol of our "world mindedness"? Shall we sacrifice ourselves again for a cause that seems never to be understandable after the smoke and fire dies down? We can recall how we censored the citizens who cried for peace during the opening days of the world war how we termed him dicker, coward and worse, perhaps when he saw then what we were to see later on when the bands stopped playing and the flags were returned to public building and attic trunks.

We are too rational and too sentimental to line up our children for a wholesale slaughter when by staying at home "tending to our knitting," we hope to save these lives from serving for a cause that they neither understand or hope to solve. We no longer hope to make the world safe for democracy, wipe out dictatorships, bring world peace. We do not have to fight to be good neighbors and be termed brotherly, brave heroic. History tells us of the outcome of these wars if we haven't already found out for ourselves! Who are we to question the years of experience of History? Happy is the sound of the universal cry, "We have learned the lesson."

IT HAPPENS

We are frequently warned of short changing and short weights by Better Business Bureaus. There fortunately is a lack of these sort of businessmen in Boone County. Due to a system of scale inspection, weighing short is not frequently practiced by "shysters." The often used trick of weighing the thumb when reading the scales occurs where petty thieving is practiced across the counter. The excuse of accidental may suffice once but not again and again. The customer pays little at a time but the house nets a neat profit in a month of this practice. Everyone is warned against the man who short weights or short changes his customers. Careful buying and observing is a safeguard.

TRUTH about ADVERTISING

By CHARLES B. ROTH

$2 EGGS

WHEN my mother went overland in a covered wagon to a new home in the West, the country was just settling up. Transportation was slow, was expensive. Prices of everything were high. She preserved a newspaper of her girlhood on the frontier, and it interests me occasionally to read the current prices of things you buy every day now for a few cents.

Eggs were $2 a dozen in those days. Sugar brought 40 cents a pound. Kerosene was $3 a gallon. Candles cost 25 cents a piece.

Compare these prices with the prices you see advertised in your newspaper today and you will see that, although much talk is bandied back and forth concerning the increased cost of living, the fact is that the cost has gone downward consistently since frontier times.

One of the reasons for high prices then was undoubtedly the difficulty with which the supply was obtained—the hazards and expense of transporting goods.

But the chief reason was that the cost of necessities could not be spread out over enough customers to bring them at lower cost to all. The merchant had to pay the cost of his business out of sales to a comparatively few customers. Costs had to be high.

Prices on everything you buy today, regardless of whether you live in a village or a large city, would be higher now if we were not for the service of advertising in lowering them to your advantage.

As soon as a manufacturer or a merchant begins to advertise he begins to sell more. As he sells more it costs him less to sell to each customer. He cuts the price. More customers come. Again he is able to cut the price.

Pretty soon you have the situation of improved quality and lower prices, brought about through the creative service of advertising to the consumer.

Advertising and high prices do not go together at all. They are extremely incompatible to each other. It is only the product which is unadvertised, which has no established market, that costs more than you can afford to pay.

Whenever you go into a store and buy an item of advertised merchandise, it doesn't make any difference what you are getting more for your money—more in quality and service—than you would get if you spent the same amount for something unadvertised.

The man who builds a business on advertising can give you more for your money because advertising enables him to give more for less. See how advertising pays you every day.

$1300 PLUS FROM ONE

SOW IN FIVE YEARS

A sow that has farrowed 132 pigs in five years, 78 of which have sold for $1,800, is owned by O. W. Breeding, a farmer in Adair county, Kentucky. Ninety-seven of the 132 pigs were raised, eight of them slaughtered for home meat, and 11 are still on the farm. Mr. Breeding bought the sow as a yearling in December, 1934. Along with her was a litter of seven pigs.

Grady Sellards of the Kentucky College of Agriculture gives the following description of this efficient sow: "A long, thick-bodied animal that now weighs about 500 pounds. She can nurse 14 pigs at a time, which is an important consideration in the selection of a sow. At present she is living on four ears of corn and a little ship daily. She is running on excellent Korean lespedeza pasture. On this limited ration she is tending to get fat, which shows that she makes efficient use of feed."

Mr. Breeding owns a farm of 118 acres. He grows 350 to 500 bushels of corn and around 100 bushels of wheat or barley a year, feeding all to livestock. He also milks six cows, selling the cream and feeding the milk.

WEEK'S BEST RECIPE:

Broiled Corn: Spread in shallow baking pan 2 rows of 12 kernels each, drained. Sprinkle with ½ T salt. Pour over surface 3 T chili sauce. Cut into small pieces and dot over top 2 strips of bacon. Put under broiler 375 degrees from 10 to 15 minutes until bacon is crisp and brown.

FASHION NOTE:

Bright rosy tweeds are very popular for sport type coats for fall. They are attractive with sued hats. . . Plaids in woollens of all styles leading short in turner. . . Sweaters and "swing" skirts are again in the front row. . . Many jumper dresses are being shown for youthful figures. . . Tyrolean patterned knee socks are shown for campus wear.

APPEARANCE'S SAKE:

Mirrows help small rooms to look larger. Place it opposite a view of garden, pretty doorway or attractive corner. . . Use dainty containers for dainty flowers and heavier vases for sturdy flowers. When curtains are white colored cotton cords and tie-backs make a pleasing contrast. . . If waxed flowers look "stuck" renew them by dipping in melted paraffin and they come to life again!

ROAST YOUR CORN:

Try putting the ears of corn, still in their husks, into a hot oven. Of course the best way is to place them in hot ashes and roast about a half hour until corn is tender. Many people tie ends of husks shut with cord. This is a delicious way to treat corn.

A FASHION NOTE

Leave it to the French to give us a stylish note, even in gas masks! The contour of a mask may be business-like and unattractive but the French are making cloth covers to carry their masks to harmonize with the garments of the women. The cases vary for each outfit and no doubt very fanciful in design, as are many French creations. The seriousness of gas-masks is rather offset by making their necessity into an occasion for technique in costuming. A serious angle of war broken up with notes of fuss and feathers, fashions and fancy.

One thing to remember, that the roads to happiness may be detours at some time or other, but they are never all closed to traffic.

TO A HAT

September 15th is National Hat Day. We don't know whether it means for men folks in Boone County to get out their last year's number and brush it off, or go to town and purchase a new one in honor of the day. Probably from a commercial standpoint we should buy a new one and something tells us that this is purely a commercial observance! Where sentiment enters into the picture is when a fellow separates himself from his old felt hat that has reposed in the family clothes closet for many seasons. You feel it is silly to ask us to celebrate some of these national "days," but if they figure that a lot of us buying felt hats might relieve the business situation, we will throw our favorite felt into the ring along with the rest of the folks.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By HAROLD L. LUNDQUIST, D. D., Dean of The Moody Bible Institute of Chicago (Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

Lesson for September 24

Lesson subjects and Scripture texts selected and copyrighted by International Council of Religious Education, used by permission.

ISAIAH: FORETELLING THE BIRTH OF THE MESSIAH KING

LESSON TEXT—Isaiah 7:14; 9:1-7; 11:1-5
GOLDEN TEXT—His name shall be called Wonderful, Counsellor, The mighty God, The everlasting Father, The Prince of Peace.—Isaiah 9:6.

Christ is coming! Christ has come! Christ is coming again! All three of these great truths are declared by Holy Scripture. In our lesson for today we study the prophecy of His birth.

It is entirely appropriate that the lesson for today should be taken from the Old Testament and relate to the prophecy of the coming of the Messiah King, thus binding to the Old and the New Testaments. Isaiah's prophecy prepared us to study His life in the Gospel of Matthew, beginning next week.

I. The Coming of the King (7:14; 9:6).

To us it is entirely understandable that the Son of God was to become flesh and dwell among us and that all the grace and power of God should be upon Him, for we know that He did come in perfect fulfillment of the Scriptures. But let us not fail to note the marvel of this revelation made centuries in advance through God's prophet.

1. Born of a Virgin (7:14; 9:6).

He was to be born of a virgin, not as a fully matured divine being after the fashion of the so-called gods of mythology, but He entered our needy world as the Babe of Bethlehem's manger. What infinite condescension!

He was to be born of a virgin, and so He was. There are those who would minimize the importance of this, or try to explain it away by interpreting the word "virgin" to mean a young married woman. The late Robert Dick Wilson, an outstanding authority, says, "The great and difficult difficulty lies in the predictive prophecy and in the almighty power of God, or in the desire to throw discredit on the divine Son."

2. God with Us (7:14).

"Immanuel" means "God with us." Isaiah had a foreglimp of the incarnation which brought the eternal Son of God into that God-man relationship which was absolutely necessary if there was to be redemption. Sin had made a barrier between God and man which man could not pass, and only as the God-man Christ Jesus, came through that barrier was there to be redemption. There could be no hope of our salvation.

3. A Great Light (9:2).

The Messiah was to break through the dense darkness of sin and sorrow to bring light and joy. How gloriously that prophecy has been fulfilled!

4. The Character of the King (9:6; 7:11-15).

The prophet foretold not only the meaningful names of the coming Messiah, but pictured in glowing beauty the mighty things which He was to accomplish.

1. Revealed by His Names (9:6). "Wonderful"—that word has been so misused that it means comparatively little to us. It really tells us its true meaning in Christ. He is unique, remarkable, yes, truly wonderful. "Counsellor"—in every detail of life, great or small, an infallible guide. "Mighty God"—not just like God or representing God. Christ is God. "Everlasting Father"—the tender and loving, unfailing One to whom time does not bring any change, for He is the "Father of eternity." "Prince of Peace"—He is not yet the ruler of the nations of the world, hence we hear not only of wars but of rumors of wars. Mark well that there will be no enduring peace until He comes to reign whose right it is to reign, the divine Prince of Peace.

2. Revealed by His Deeds (9:7; 11:1-5).

Eternal justice and righteousness, peace, wisdom, understanding, counsel and might, the spirit of knowledge and the fear of God, unfailing equity—all these glorious accomplishments are the character of the Messiah according to Isaiah's prophecy. Has the prophecy been fulfilled? We know that all of these qualities were in Christ when He came to earth the first time, but the complete fulfillment of this prophecy awaits that day toward which the child of God looks with joy and hope. Christ shall come again. As we study this portion of our lesson, our hearts should cry out with John, "Even so, come, Lord Jesus" (Rev. 22:20).

To Gals Truth

Truth is never learned in any department of industry by arguing, but by working and observing; and, when you get the best of one for certain, 10 others will grow out of it. The assertion of truth is to be always gentle.—Ruskin.

Three phrases in a recent German-Polish pamphlet, "Always use the word 'please.' 'Excuse me.' 'Thank you.' If you lie you will be shot," gives us the impression that saying "please" wouldn't help a whole lot.

What Every Driver Should Know

Parking or Repairing Car on Highways

Not all accidents happen because vehicles are moving. Also, standing still can also cause trouble. A little care will prevent such accidents.

When you stop your vehicle, do not leave it until you have set the brakes and stopped the engine.

When you stop on a hill, turn the wheels toward the curb. There is one, otherwise toward the side of the road so that if the brakes slip your car will roll again the curb or run off the road.

Outside of a business district, it is unlawful to stop on the highway if possible, other cars can pass you and your car can be seen from at least 150 feet in either direction. Police officers are authorized by law to stop any car which is parked in violation of the provision of the Motor Vehicle Laws. If your car breaks down and you are unable to move it, you may not be arrested, but you should do everything possible to prevent other cars from running into yours.

Main states and some cities in Kentucky have certain laws about parking which it is well to obey for safety. The most important parking rules are:

1. Never park alongside another car which is parked at the edge of the street or road. (This is called "double parking").

2. Keep away from fire hydrants.

3. Do not park so near a corner as to keep drivers coming together on the two streets from seeing each other in time to stop.

4. Park so as to let drivers see all signs and signals.

5. Do not park where signs tell you not to.

6. Never stop your car in an intersection, on a sidewalk or in a crosswalk, even when you are waiting for a traffic signal or stopping for a sign, unless a police officer tell you to, or unless you must do so for safety.

Driving While Intoxicated

It is against the law for any person to operate a vehicle upon any of the public highways of the Commonwealth of Kentucky while under the influence of intoxicating liquors. A person convicted of such violation of the law shall be fined, for the first offense, not less than $100 nor more than $500.00, and his license to operate a motor vehicle shall be revoked for a period of one year. For the second and each subsequent offense, he shall be fined not less than $100.00 nor more than $500.00 and be confined in jail not less than 30 days nor more than 6 months, and his license shall be revoked for an additional like period.

Safety Equipment Required

Brakes

The law requires that every motor vehicle operated upon a public highway shall be equipped with both hand and foot brakes in good condition. These must be strong enough to stop the car within the distance given below, when traveling on a hard smooth road, in fine weather:

If car travels 20 miles per hour: Foot brakes must stop car in 30 feet. Hand brakes must stop car in 55 feet.

NOT HUMAN

The average, sane citizens can scarcely conceive of a man deliberately wrecking a train, killing 20 passengers, injuring 114 others. That was what happened in Nevada the 14th of August. They are now searching for the wreck.

To flintishly derail this train, causing misery and sorrow, could scarcely bring satisfaction to him. To read of homes where death robbed a family of a dear one, to fancy cries of the injured should hardly be an entertaining thought to him. Shrieks of terror, crashing cars, grinding metal, could not have been a pleasant sound to him. But the man they seek for an explanation, has no ears and so perhaps he did not get the full sound effect of his diabolical deed.

HERE'S A TIP

A window shade should be six inches longer than the window, to keep it from pulling off the roller when lowered. Have shade four inches wider than window pane to keep out light from along the sides. Raise and lower shades slowly and if it rolls unevenly start it over again. To pull it straight might tear it.

GATEWAY LOCATION NEED CONSIDERATION

In these times of high-speed traffic, safety for members of the farm family requires careful location of gateways, points of agricultural engineers at the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

Children may be endangered on their way to school. The farmer himself and his helpers run risks if the entrance to the highway is made from passing motorists by trees, high shrubs or other obstructions. A slow-moving vehicle or farm implement coming out of such an entrance may be struck, or it may block the road. Perhaps the worst location for an entrance is near the top of a hill where it is impossible for persons using it to see all traffic at a safe distance and impossible for the motorists coming over the hill to see those entering or leaving the farm.

There is also danger if the driveway is not straight, so that turning or backing is necessary in getting onto or off the highway. The approach to the gateway should have an inner radius of not less than 30 feet. If a tractor or truck have to turn, a wide turn, a 40-foot radius is needed. Easy curves make entrance easy.

Other points A well-drained entrance prevents erosion and permits all-weather use. Engineers recommend that, where a field or pasture is entered directly from the highway, the gate—and as much fence as necessary—be set back from the highway about 20 feet further than the fence line. An entrance level or on a gentle hillside is safer than one on a steep hillside.

BURNS AND BRAY COVER HIGH SCHOOL ACTIVITY ON NEW WSAI PROGRAM

Jerry Burns, ace special events man, and Dick Bray, popular sports announcer, will be featured on a new WSAI program series covering all phases of activity in Greater Cincinnati high schools and broadcast Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday from 7:45 to 8 p. m. "High School Highlights" is the title of the series.

The program is designed to acquaint the listening public with the flavor of life in high schools generally, and, specifically, in those of Cincinnati and vicinity.

Burns and Bray will participate in Burns, acting as master of ceremonies, will review the highlight current events at the schools and will introduce students prominent in extra-curricular affairs and scholarship, while Bray will act as guest sports commentator during the sports season.

Burns also will be in charge of arrangements for the programs. He will attempt to provide an accurate cross-section of high school interests by means of interviews with athletic coaches, players, editors, actors, writers for school newspapers and magazines, members of bands, orchestras and choral groups, honor students and many others. The Tuesday and Thursday broadcasts will originate from the studios at the WSAI studios on Arlington Street. There will be no spectators at the Saturday broadcast.

Jerry Burns was born in Kansas City and was affiliated at Station KXBY there before joining the WSAI staff. At KXBY he handled a dual position, as program director and sports and special events announcer, and developed "The Sky Reporter," a popular radio feature in which he interviewed famous personages appearing at the Kansas City airport. In addition to political and screen celebrities, he had the opportunity to talk to Hollywood news correspondents on route to the east, and was able to "break" several important stories concerning the film colony. He attended Kemper Military School, Booneville, Mo., and was a student in the School of Fine Arts at the University of Missouri. He is 32 years old.

Also 32, Dick Bray is one of the youngest officials in the Big Ten Conference and the only radio man refereeing big-time basketball and football. He has officiated in such important grid tilts as Navy-Notre Dame, Santa Clara-Marquette and Notre Dame-Carnegie Tech, and last year handled a full Big Ten basketball schedule. Among the games he worked were Minnesota-Michigan, Ohio State-Indiana and Northwestern-Wisconsin.

Bray already had been a major sports official for seven years when he brought his talents to radio. That was four years ago, and he since has become familiar to listeners for his work at Cincinnati Reds games with Red Barber and Roger Baker, and for all types of individual programs, currently including his "Sport Review" and "Baseball Quiz" over WSAI.

Why ponder over intelligence tests when life itself furnishes a real "sticker"?

Two hundred and fifty homemakers and visitors were present at the Boone County homemakers annual meeting. The all-day get-together was held at St. Paul's Auditorium. Guest speakers included Miss Myrtle Weldon, State Leader of Home Demonstration Agents and Mrs. J. A. Stevens, chairman of the Blue Grass District Federation of Kentucky Homemakers.

The days program was arranged as a climax of a year's study of the associated county women of the world. The program took all who attended the meeting around the world.

Mrs. Sam Sleet, President of the Boone County Homemakers, called the meeting to order at 10:30 a. m. following group singing of the National Anthem-greetings and the invocation was given by Rev. Edmund Priest. Mrs. Vernon Pope county secretary and treasurer, called the roll of clubs and read the minutes of last year's annual meeting. Project reports were given in the form of officers reporting to the captain of a ship. Mrs. Rod P. Hughes, Walton, reported on county membership, according to Mrs. Hughes there are 374 active members belonging to fourteen homemakers clubs. Nutritional highlights were given by Mrs. George Kottmyer, county foods project chairman. She reported that the clubs had reviewed their foods lessons during the past year. Mrs. Allen Gaines, clothing chairman reported that two training classes on general style trends had been held during the year. Mrs. Edward Acra of Hebron told of the highlights on the program of "Farm and Home Week" last January. The county publicity report was given by Mrs. Raymond McCormick, Petersburg and Mrs. Will McCormick, Verona, they reported over 400 inches of publicity had been given the homemakers in local papers during the past year. Constance Nine Defeat Burlington

The Constance Hill Toppers defeated Burlington Sunday at Constance in a slugfest and scoring match that has not been surpassed this season on the Constance diamond. When all the smoke of two Constance and two Burlington hurriers had cleared away, the score stood 11 to 8 in favor of Constance.

Huey and Akins divided the mound duties for Burlington, and Rouse received their slants, while Constance's ace, Fox and Snelling, a former Coca Cola League star performed on the mound for the winners, and Lane did the receiving. Constance gathered 19 hits while Burlington made 14.

Fox pitched a good game, but was not at his best by any means, judging what he did a week ago against Bromley when he turned the Bromley team back in 11 innings by the score of 2 to 1, striking out 22 of the 33 batters that faced him. Snelling did some nice relief pitching. Huey was a little wild other wise doing a creditable job, so did Akins who relieved him.

No Change In Farm Plans, Says Cooper

Dr. Thomas P. Cooper, dean and director of the College of Agriculture and Experiment Station at the University of Kentucky, has joined Secretary of Agriculture Wallace in urging Kentucky farmers to proceed with their plans as if there were no war.

Commenting on a statement which he received from Secretary Wallace Dean Cooper said "American agriculture is in a much better position to meet the shock of war than it was 25 years ago. The very machinery which farmers have used to adjust production to decreased demand in peace-time can be used in wartime to increase production if and when that becomes advisable."

"There is little likelihood that any substantial increase in production of the major crops will be desirable, certainly not in the near future," the Secretary's statement continued. "In any case, the need for increase in supplies can be anticipated in ample time to make any necessary increase in acreages."

The Secretary reminded American farmers that this year's wheat carryover is estimated at 254 million bushels, in comparison to 115 million bushels average for the five years from 1924 to 1933. The present carryover of corn, he said, will probably make the total 1938-39 supply even larger than the 1938-39 supply.

"Supplies of meat animals are expected to be larger next year than for this year, and continued heavy production of milk this fall is expected. Combined supplies of cottonseed oil, lard and soybean oil available for home consumption will be larger during the rest of this year and 1940 than for 1938."

"The ever-normal granary and the stabilization of supplies of meat, milk and eggs which it makes possible serve also as a protection to the consumers against exorbitantly high prices."

The meeting opened by singing the W. M. U. Hymn "I Love to Tell the Story" with our president Mrs. Cochwind presiding. A short business session was held, consisting of the reading of the minutes, reports from personal service committee and Young People's leaders. All reports were helpful and gratifying, especially so were those on the work of our Young People.

The Bible Study on soul-winning was brought to us in a very gracious way by Miss Lucy Newman. The program topic for the month was "The Great Commission and W. M. U. Chief Aims." "Enlistment and Personal Service" "Ways that Win," given by Mrs. Myrtle Marshall; "Enlistment Experiences" by seven of our W. M. U. ladies, and "Obeying the Great Commission through Personal Service" by Mrs. Pearl Blankenship, all were very instructive and inspired each of us on to a more diligent service for our master.

After singing, "Make Me A Channel of Blessing" we were dismissed by our leader, Mrs. Douita Rouse.

FOOT TEST

BY N. TULCH
Not Comfort Specialist at
PEOPLE'S FOOT COMFORT
(SHOE STORE) COVINGTON

Usually the first sign of foot trouble is the running over of the heels of shoes.

In a strong healthy human foot the 26 bones are held together to form a substantial support for the weight of the body and they are held together in place by strong ligaments, tendons, and muscles. These bones are so arranged that they form four separate and natural arches.

The heel bone and ankle bone lean out of position more or less in almost every kind of foot trouble. The cause is that ligaments, muscles and tendons which hold the heel bone and ankle bone in place, become weakened, and are not strong enough to hold these bones in their normal position.

Farmers Use REA Lines

A recent survey by the Rural Electrification Administration of 74 rural electric line projects showed that, after an average length of electric service for only 6 months, 88 percent of the new users had purchased radios, 81 percent had purchased hand irons, 47 percent had purchased washing machines, 25 percent had purchased refrigerators, 17 percent had purchased water pumps, and 9 percent had purchased small motors.

Fairmall Family United

The Fairmall tractor family is now complete. "Little brother" Fairmall-A arrived a few weeks ago, and now comes the middle size, Fairmall-H, and the big Fairmall-M.

Such is the report of the Chas. Zimmer Hardware Co., 537 Pike St., Covington, dealer in International Harvester tractors and machines. They are quite proud of the new "family" of Fairmalls, and he has every right to be.

The new tractors are not only new in appearance, but new in design and performance as well. Growers in this vicinity already are coming in to ask about the samples on display.

International Harvester engineers have been testing the new models at the factory and on farms in all parts of the country for many months. Every feature of design and construction has been proved in the fire of actual work under tougher conditions than will be encountered on the farm.

Motion pictures taken of the new Fairmalls in the factory testing ground fairly take one's breath away. The wonder is that men and mechanical construction can take it. But it's facts the engineers want. They make sure the product will do what is claimed for it before it is offered to the user.

The new family of Fairmall tractors, including the small Fairmall-A with its exclusive "Cultivision" feature, may be seen at the Zimmer, 7c.

New National Trapshooting Champ Fires With Left-Hand And Keeps Right On Throttle Of Busy General Store

Meet the nation's champion trapshooter! Dwight H. Ritchie, Goshen, Ohio, (left) who won the national trapshooting title in the American Grand Handicap held at Vandalia, Ohio recently is shown during a moment of relaxation in his general store in the little rural Ohio town its ace shot has placed on the map of sport. Men of the Mounted

By Captain
G. Elliott-Nightingale
Copyright, WNU

A VERY DELICATE SITUATION

The Northern Lights have seen queer sights and a queer one they sure did see. When one fine night two men—not so bright—swiped two tons of coal, from MacPhee.

IN SPITE of the fact that there were outcroppings of coal here and there, and that settlers could cart the no-so-bituminous stuff away for two dollars a ton, some one went to the trouble to steal two tons of the wretched stuff from a settler's back yard one night, and the incident gave rise to some unusually delicate situations. The loser, a hard-working and worthy native Canadian, kept the news of his loss to himself for several days, meanwhile trying to do some unobtrusive detective work on his own. Ten days passed, without results, so one morning he saddled up and visited the nearest post of the Royal Mounted.

Both the Mounted and the settler realized, of course, that the amount involved was rather small. Nevertheless, the laws concerning property rights must be upheld, and an experienced member of the Royal Mounted was assigned to look into the matter. Starting in on a "cold trail" he had many disadvantages, and the Mounted failed to turn up the slightest clue, for it is impossible to identify stolen coal when all the coal in the district came from the same vein. Furthermore, cold weather had set in and, somewhere that coal was being burned. At any rate, it began to appear that the case of the stolen coal was to join the rather small index of unsolved cases. It was not forgotten, though, by the three men of the Royal Mounted stationed in that district. They stored the details away in the index of their minds confident that some day, somewhere, the first clue would come to light. Nor was their confidence misplaced.

Then one morning a chap known as the "Smiling Constable" was trotting his horse along the patrol when he observed a settler, away over to his right, waving and beckoning him to come over. In a few minutes the settler and the "Smiling Constable" were deep in whispered conversation behind the small stable.

"My daughters know the whole story about who stole the coal from MacPhee's place," said the settler, "but unless you promise to protect their modesty and womanhood, we refuse to help you."

"Protect them?" exclaimed the Man of the Mounted. "Why... of course I will. Witnesses, eh? That's fine. Now, just where were they when they saw the robbery?"

"That's just the point. To show that information in an open court room would be extremely embarrassing to them. One's fourteen, the other's sixteen... and to go into details would..."

"Why extremely embarrassing... was it so awful...?"

"No, perfectly natural. Fact is they were taking care of a little matter that isn't mentioned in popular society. And as it developed that, unseen, yet seeing, these two young ladies had watched two men, whom they knew to be newcomers in the district, very carefully bagging and packing the coal and placing the lumpy bags in a grain-ho wagon. The girls not only identified the robbers, but also described the grain bags, the horses, the harness, the grain-box, and so on, and they clinched their story by asserting that they saw everything quite plainly because at the time the northern lights had broken out brilliantly and strong as they were moments when they could, they declared, have read a newspaper quite comfortably at two o'clock that morning. Within 24 hours the culprits were arrested and two days later the case came up for trial. Meanwhile the prisoners had hired a lawyer who had for some time been under observation by the Mounted because of his sharp and unethical practices.

The Royal Mounted established their charges. The shyster then started shouting for witnesses, but the judge demanded explanations. The Man of the Mounted prosecuting the case asked the judge to step down from the bench for a moment. His honor complied, and the mounted policeman was soon whispering closely into the judge's ear. The judge resumed his seat, at which the shyster began a display of tantrums. Finally the judge, out of breath and words, and the judge asked if they were finished.

"Yes... I am... but what does your so-called British law amount to when witnesses are forbidden to take the stand?" he shouted.

"Why, my dear sir," smiled his honor, "it amounts to 18 months for your clients, imprisonment at hard labor, and if you don't behave yourself, you'll do part of it with them. Next case." Later the shyster learned why the girls had been kept off the stand, and he threatened to reopen the case. The Mounted promised to run him out of the country if he ever tried to reopen that particular case.

The mid-western governor, crusading against crime, says bridge prizes are sinful. Lots of folks in this county think this doesn't mean them for their scores are usually too low for sin.

Winners Announced In Hybrid Contest

The winners in the hybrid corn guessing contest held at the 4-H and Utopia Club Free Fair on August 26 have been announced. The winners are: Nick Webster, first; Jack Hughes, second; Earl Easton, third; and tied for fourth are David L. Tanner, Marvin Long, Harold Worthington, W. W. Craddock, and Carrie Bradford.

The persons who guessed closest to the nearest number of grains in the jar of corn that was on display at the 4-H and Utopia Fair will be awarded as prizes hybrid seed corn for planting the 1940 crop. There were 3801 grains of corn in this jar. The prizes were one-half bushel for first prize and one peck each for the other prizes.

The producers who donated these prizes are the hybrid seed corn producers of Boone County. They are John E. Criger, Wm. H. Moore, Lloyd Sleekman, B. C. Stephens and Wilton Stephens. The varieties raised by these producers are Indiana 845, Indiana 820, U. S. 44, U. S. 13, Kentucky White and Kentucky Yellow. These growers have a total of approximately 18.5 acres and should produce sufficient hybrid seed corn for local needs.

There are about 300 farmers who grew hybrid seed corn this year which represents about 25% of the total acreage of corn grown in Boone County. Hybrid corn has apparently shown up very well in the county this year and it is believed that a considerably larger acreage of hybrid corn will be planted in 1940.

SHORTAGE OF SKILLED LABOR IN LOCAL CITIES NOTICED FOLLOWING AD-VENT OF EUROPEAN WAR

European war has forced a shortage of skilled labor in northern Kentucky. The Kentucky State Employment Service at Covington and Newport reported Friday.

The shortage, the first in many years, follows closely the one felt last week in Louisville and which is spreading rapidly to all parts of the state.

According to C. Darwin Diekh, manager of the Newport office, and Henry F. Hudson, manager of the Covington office, the shortage exists primarily in the "trades," i. e., among factory workers. The construction industry is lagging but with the return of men to work this phase is expected to pick up.

Shortage Noticed
Both offices, it was said, began to notice the shortage early this week and last when workers receiving unemployment compensation failed to return to the offices for their checks. Instead, it was learned, they were returning to regular jobs and regular wages.

At the Covington office it was said 3566 persons had visited the headquarters during July. At Newport 4151 had visited. This number is expected to be far less at the close of September. A report from Louisville, the state headquarters, showed that 98,927 visits had been received during the month.

The present situation may result in the training of new workers or the re-training of old hands, managers of the local office revealed in a joint statement. They said:

Need Skilled Workers
"Although employers are placing orders for workers in increasing numbers, they are insisting on skilled workers with recent experience."

"It now appears probable that those who could find no place during the lean years of the depression will have an opportunity for reemployment. Employers are faced with two alternatives, of either hiring old workers who skills have become rusty and need a short breaking in before regaining normal production, or hiring beginners having no experience, but who have demonstrated an aptitude for manual labor."

"Campbell county workers who have not registered or who have allowed their registration to lapse are urged to report to the KSES office at Ninth street and Washington avenue Kenton workers should register at the Covington office at 18 W. Pike street."

Experienced operators on large planers, experienced boring mill operators, experienced radial drill press operators, experienced upholsterers, experienced power machine operators on shirts, experienced better dress and coat saleswomen, experienced part-time millinery saleswomen, experienced houseworkers to stay on premises, and experienced handpressers on silk dresses.

War Department Orders Are Coming In

Word has been received from Washington that three Cincinnati firms who employ many Kentucky workers have received orders from the War Department totaling $61,831.

The concerns are the American Tool Workers, for engine lathes, worth $10,807; the Cincinnati Milling Machine Co., for $48,978 worth of milling machines, and the J. A. Fay & Egan Co., for mortising machines, worth $1056. Cincinnati Post.

New Crop Korean, Sweet Clover, Recommended Under ACP

The Boone County Agriculture Conservation Program committee is recommending that only new or 1939 crop Korean and sweet clover be used this fall where these crops are to be used on earning the remaining soil-building allowances.

The 1939 grown seed of these two crops if sown during late Oct. in either new seedlings or old pastures do not germinate and come up until spring. Farmers last fall who used new seed secured good results where those who used old seed failed. Many farmers were misled last fall thinking unhusked seed was the same as ew seed. A Kentucky seed tag is required on all seed sold in Kentucky. The date of the germination test as listed on the tag may be of help in determining whether the seed is from the 1939 crop.

Fall is the best time to sow practically all grasses and every farmer who has not earned his full ACP allowance should make his fall seedings at the earliest possible date. Early fall seedings usually stand the winter better than late seedings.

BARN AND CORN CRIB DESTROYED

BY FIRE THURSDAY MORNING NEAR FLORENCE—HAY AND FARMING IMPLEMENTS ALSO DESTROYED.

A large barn and corn crib, owned by Logan Keith was destroyed early Thursday morning by fire. The barn was located just west of the Home Respass farm.

The fire originated in the hay loft of the barn, spontaneous combustion was thought to be the cause. The fire was discovered at 8:15 Thursday morning and had gained such headway that it was impossible for volunteer workers and the Florence fire department to save the structure.

Volunteer firemen of the Florence fire department worked diligently to save other buildings, pumping water from a pond approximately 1000 feet from the fire.

Contents of the barn, consisting of a large amount of hay and several farming implements were destroyed. The corn crib was razed, but a large amount of the corn was saved, according to Mrs. Keith. The buildings and contents were covered by $500.00 insurance in the Farmers' Mutual Fire Insurance Co., of Boone County.

FRUIT GROWERS TO MEET OCT. 25

TO DISCUSS PLANS FOR SECURING INSECTORY FOR NORTHERN KENTUCKY—WOULD BE VALUABLE ASSET.

Fruit growers of Boone, Kenton and Campbell counties are making plans for the securing of a State Insectory for Northern Kentucky. The purpose of the insectory will be to collect data on the dates of hatching of moths, scab spores and other fruit diseases are getting ready to appear and advise growers in time to apply protective sprays. Growers in the past have found it practically impossible to follow a regular, outlined schedule and secure diseases and insect control with definite regularity. Season variations alter the dates diseases regularly appear.

A meeting to discuss plans for the insectory will be held on Oct. 25th, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent.

Fruit growers who are interested in plans for the insectory and in the securing of the valuable information that will result from its establishment should contact the County Agent's office.

Rev. R. A. Johnson Celebrates 14th Year As Pastor of Big Bone

Rev. R. A. Johnson

Sunday, October 1st, marks the beginning of Rev. R. A. Johnson's fourteenth year as pastor of Big Bone Baptist Church, a period of spiritual growth and successful endeavor. At the time of his coming upon the field, the church membership totalled one hundred and seventy-eight persons, whereas today the figure stands at three hundred and twenty-five.

This great man of God has led his people ever faithfully. Though there have been times of sorrow and spiritual depression, yet he has been able to carry us all to the throne of grace, even though laboring at times under ill health.

During his ministry here he has at the same time helped in the re-organizing of other declining churches, has conducted many evangelistic services, and has ever stood ready to visit the sick of any and all denominations. Rev. Johnson is truly a servant of God.

Therefore it has seemed fitting to begin our second revival of this year upon the date of October 1st, observing the anniversary with a day of home-coming and roll call.

We are hoping to have Rev. O. J. Steger to deliver the message of the afternoon session, and all members are urged to attend. At the request of the church Rev. Johnson will conduct this two-week series of revivals with Bro. Mike Acree leading the song service. We earnestly desire the prayers of all and extend a cordial invitation to the public.

BOB & GENE NINE VICTORS SUNDAY

OVER MARTZ CARDINALS BY SCORE OF 8 TO 4—STEFFEN ON MOUND FOR BOB & GENE'S TEAM.

Bob & Gene's baseball team earned the right to meet the Green Line Club for the championship of the Campbell County Baseball League by virtue of an 8 to 4 victory over the Martz Cardinals at Crescent Springs grounds Sunday.

The contest was the only one played, as the Green Line team entered the playoff series by drawing the bye. The two teams will open the title series Sunday.

Elmo Steffen was on the hill for Bob & Gene, defeating the 1938 champions. He was never in trouble, as he allowed but five hits, while his mates gathered nine off Armen, who started and Greenholz, who relieved him in the sixth inning with the bases loaded. Reibling got three of the Martz's teams hits, driving in two runs in the seventh after the first three batters had walked.

Sebrer, Bob & Gene's left fielder hit a home run for the winners in the seventh with two men on. The winners scored three runs in the sixth frame. Armen hit a batter with the bases loaded. The first player to face Greenholz doubled to left, scoring two more runners. Outstanding on defense for the Florence Restauranters was the play of Sebrer and Mahan, both making several game-saving catches. The entire Bob and Gene infield also played airtight ball behind "Mo" Steffen, their curve ball artist.

Features of the opening series game Sunday will be presentation of the teams by the Hon. Joseph P. Goodenough, who at the opening game of the season predicted that Green Line and Bob and Gene would play the series. Other Kenton, Campbell and Boone notables will attend the contest according to Bob Edes, the Bill Kechnie of the Boone county squad. The first game of the five-game series will be played at Crescent Springs ball park Sunday.

LIME DEALERS DO LARGE BUSINESS

IN BOONE COUNTY DURING LAST TWO YEARS—$348.6 TONS OF LIMESTONE USED DURING 1938, SAYS H. R. FORKNER.

Boone County limestone pulverizers and dealers have developed a big business during the last years, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent. This past year farmers used 348.6 tons of agricultural limestone under the Agricultural Conservation Program alone. A larger amount of this important agricultural fertilizer from present indication will be used this year.

The big increase in use of agricultural limestone has resulted from three factors: First, the increased productivity of the soil after treated with two or more tons per acre; second, the large quantities of agricultural limestone used, and the efficient machinery developed has enabled the operators to sell farmers at the lowest rate in history and probably cheaper than they may be able to supply stone during the next few years, and third, the $1.50 per ton paid for use of limestone under the Agricultural Conservation Program allowance.

The present drought has enabled many farmers to get out a supply of rock. Local pulverizer operators will crush this stone at rates varying around 75c per ton. Local dealers will deliver ready pulverized stone to the farm for $2.00 per ton. The present condition of the ground makes it an ideal time to spread the pulverized stone.

Local dealers have been receiving a rush of fall orders for immediate delivery. Farmers who expect to use agricultural limestone this year should contact their dealer immediately.

DOG WEEK

From September 17-23 we honored man's best friend when the dog population of this country came in for their recognition. If we had suffered any deaths in Boone county from rabies during the August dog days, citizens wouldn't be quite so willing to praise their canine friends. The editor is informed of an increase in rabies among dogs this past month, the worst in years. There is no cause for such a condition if people would keep themselves safe by having their dogs inoculated for this disease once a year. The serums for humans bitten by animals with rabies often comes too late when the condition is finally detected. People who love dogs will protect them.

This leads to the question of an increased dog population and to the freedom of dogs on city streets, of dogs in rented houses, of dogs on leases. Too many folks who do not care for dogs, and there are those, are quick to find reasons for complaint against them. Dogs in small towns can run and play more satisfactorily than those city bred animals. Pity the dogs penned up in yards, if there is a yard at all. It is the nature of the brute

By CHARLES B. ROTH

HOSS TRADIN'

MY FRIEND asked me if I would go with him to buy a horse. I went. We traipsed from one dealer's to another. One man asked us $300 for a horse. The next man had a horse which looked no better, but his price was $450. Before the afternoon was over we had seen horses ranging in price all the way from $150 to $14,000.

Now, the $14,000 horse was a much better animal than the $150 horse. No use to deny that. But nowhere along the line did we find a stabilized market. Had we bought we would have been paying a price which the seller thought his horse was worth. There was no market authority we could consult which would tell my friend whether he was being overcharged or undercharged.

That evening I went out to buy a small household item—one which is advertised in all the newspapers. I knew what the market price would be: advertising had told me.

With confidence I asked the clerk for what I wanted and put my 25 cents down on the counter. Had he said: "I am sorry, sir, but the price is 50 cents, I would have left and gone somewhere else."

What assurance have I, as a consumer, when there were no set prices. Each merchant charged what he thought "the traffic would bear." Advertising came to the rescue of the consumer. It led the way to the establishment of a professional buyer who spends his life buying for a large concern.

No one objects to paying the established price for something he wants. But all of us hate to be robbed by an unscrupulous man, who, taking advantage of our ignorance, "soaks us good and plenty."

The way to avoid being "soaked" in this complete way is to buy advertised goods from merchants who advertise.

THE INFANCY OF JESUS

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 2:1-12.
GOLDEN TEXT—And they shall call his name Emmanuel, which being interpreted is, God with us.—Matthew 1:23.

Looking forward to an experience in life which promises to be both interesting and profitable always. Something of that spirit should pervade the Bible schools of our land as they begin a six-months study in the Gospel of Matthew.

Consideration of our Lord's life properly starts with the story of His birth, but we reserve that for our Christmas lesson. Today we stress the manner in which the Child Jesus came to the world. When then as now, were either for Him or against Him. God had only one attitude, that of loving protection and preparation of His Son for His mission.

Christ in the World of Men. The world of today is far different from that of the first century, but the difference is all on the outside. Almost breath taking have been the developments of modern civilization, but these have not changed the heart of man. He still fears and hates and fights and sins. His attitude toward Christ is unchanged. There are still only two classes of people in the world—those who have received Christ and are saved, and those who have rejected Him and are lost.

How do men show their rejection of God's Son? Just as they did at His birth, by a Fear. Herod was afraid of the coming of this one should result in the loss of his ill-gotten gains. His anger and fear made all Jerusalem afraid. In difference. When the Wise Men saw the star, they were afraid. The priests and scribes knew exactly where to find the facts in the Holy Scriptures, but having done so, they related into utter indifference.

They had no interest in the fulfillment of the prophecy. Herod poured out the violence of his heart by killing the first-born. He was the first of many who have hated and hated the Christ who came to save. Sorrow. The tears of the people of Jerusalem had foreshadowed the weeping and wailing which characterized Christ-rejection both in time and eternity.

Men for Christ. Thanks be to God, there were those in that day who were for Christ and, like those who follow Him today, they showed it. A Spirituality. Men have marveled that the Magi knew of the birth of Christ. They must have studied the prophecies of the Word and been responsive to the teaching and moving of the Holy Spirit. Can we say as much for ourselves? b. Interest. Not content to know and to marvel, they shared the priests of Israel by their persistent interest in this great thing which had come to pass. c. Love. They brought themselves in worship and they brought rich gifts from their treasures. You can give without loving, but you cannot love without giving. d. Action. They came. They persisted until they found the Christ. Then they listened to God and protected His Son by not returning to Herod.

Christ in God's World. Men had brought sin and ruin into the world. They had rejected His Son, but God still ruled and we see Him protecting, preparing, and fulfilling prophecy through His Son. 1. Protecting. Men may hate and seek to destroy God's Son. Satan may inspire them with ingenuity and cunning, but see how the Eternal One speaks to Joseph in dreams, how He prepares a place of refuge in Egypt and ultimately in Nazareth, where the boy Jesus may increase in wisdom and stature and favor with God and man.

2. Preparing. God knows of the days of public ministry which are ahead and above all, of that day when on Golgotha's hill Christ was, in His own body, to prepare salvation for you and for me. God is not taken by surprise. He moves forward to the completion of His plan with the stately tread of eternity.

3. Fulfilling. God also sees to it that prophecy is fulfilled. We read in verses 15 and 23, "that it might be fulfilled" and in verse 17, "that was fulfilled." God's Word is always sure, for He makes it so. His infinite and eternal faithfulness guarantees the fulfillment of every prophecy, yes, and of every promise of His Holy Word.

Progress of Mankind. In my youth, looking at this man and that, I marvelled that humanity had made so little progress. Now, looking at man in the multitude, I marvel that they have advanced so far.—George Gissing.

No Love Without Service. It is as impossible for love to thrive without service as for a plant to grow without soil. Love feeds on what we give, not on what we get.

Homemaker's Study
"The Modern Kitchen"

"How to save steps in the kitchen by convenient arrangement of large equipment" was the subject of the homemaker's lesson for project leaders held September 28 in the office of the Home Demonstration Agent. The lesson was given by Miss Ida C. Hagman, Specialist in Home Improvement from the University of Kentucky, assisted by Miss Mary Hood Gillaspie, Home Demonstration Agent. Many practical hints were given by Miss Hagman and great interest was shown. The actual distance one travels in preparing an ordinary meal was measured and the saving of labor which better arrangement could make was discussed. The last part of the meeting was spent in a real kitchen where a study was made with suggestions of changes in arrangements which could be made. The project consists of six lessons. In addition to the project leaders, the presidents of the clubs were also invited. The project leaders for next year 1939-40 are: Bullittsville, Mrs. Lola Ernst, Mrs. Helena Aylor and Mrs. Marge Mastin. Burlington, Mrs. Fannie Riley and Mrs. Robert Clore. Constance, Mrs. Elmer Peeno. Florence, Mrs. Charlotte Wilson and Mrs. Laverne Willeford. Francesville, Mrs. M. F. Judy and Mrs. John Cave. Grant, Mrs. Laura Rogers and Mrs. Ima White. Revival Services Now

In Progress At Bellevue Church

Rev. T. A. Conley

The revival started at Bellevue Church of Christ Monday, September 25, with a large crowd and a fine message by W. D. Brock, evangelist. The prospects are for a splendid meeting.

The climax of the first week will be reached Saturday evening when Mrs. Louise Miller Novotny, writer for Standard Publishing Co., Cincinnati, presents her own play "Rattling Jesus First" with the original cast as she directed them for the initial performance at Wintonia Lake. Mrs. Novotny has been in this work for some time now and you will agree that her time has been well applied as she brings to life some of the problems which are present in the churches of today. The cast of characters are as follows:

Aunt Letty, Miss Eloise Lutz; Mrs. Dean, Miss Mildred Fungmeyer; Janet Dean, Virginia Schmidt; Madeline, Miss Ruth Holderman; Lee Dean, William Greer; Mr. Dean, Tony Conley; Mr. Gerber, Joseph A. Novotny; Jack Carlin, Robert Shondemeyer.

A word of explanation seems necessary at this time. Miss Ruth Holderman who was scheduled to have charge of the children and serve as pianist was unable to be present, but she has been replaced by a very capable pianist from Hyde Park, Cincinnati, Miss Iris McLean.

WEATHER INSURANCE FOR BARN

The big barns throughout the country have long been accepted as symbols of farm thrift—but nothing can give a poorer impression of the owner than a barn that is weather beaten and going to pieces through lack of paint.

Enterprise roof and barn paint is made especially to give the most dependable service and protection for barns, roofs and other out-buildings. It will save guard them against rot and decay, wear and weather and its use at regular intervals will not only beautify your farm buildings but will save you money in expensive repairs.

It is made of the finest and most durable mineral pigments ground in linseed oil.

It is sold at a price by Erlanger Lumber Co., that makes it an economical investment in "Weather Insurance."—Adv.

Miss Gillaspie gave us a very interesting talk on her trip to New York and across the ocean both ways on the Queen Mary. We are looking forward to hearing her tell of her visit to the different countries.

A very nice display of the work members had completed was shown at the meeting.

We were glad to welcome two new members into our club, Mrs. Christina Kirtley and Mrs. Clifford Cutton. Visitors are always welcome.

LAWRENCEBURG ROLLER MILLS

TOWN TALK AND HI-BOY FLOUR
SNOW FLAKE AND FARM KING FEEDS

We desire that prominent and commendable mention be given Lawrenceburg Roller Mills, located at 308 W. High St., which has so long been engaged in satisfactorily serving the people of this community with the base of the staff of life—high grade flour. They feature the popular brand Town Talk and Hi-Boy flour.

This well-known brand of flour is manufactured expressly for the discriminating housewife who wishes to serve her family with good bread and pastries, such as cakes, pies, and biscuits.

The miller in charge here is a veteran in the business and bears the reputation of having an exceptional ability to produce a very high grade of flour, and this is strongly attested by the increasing demand for Town Talk and Hi-Boy Flour. He is the man whose knowledge is the valued medium through which the golden grain is transformed into the delicious flakes of flour.

The mill itself is equipped from power plant to roof with the latest and most approved machinery, and all bins and chutes are kept in a thoroughly sanitary condition and every precaution is used to keep the flour pure and wholesome. The milling process employed here is almost automatic and never is the product touched by human hands.

An establishment of this character is worthy of more than passing notice and in this review we feel it our duty to compliment this progressive firm for their untiring efforts to serve best and most effectively in their chosen field of endeavor.

DR. GEORGE V. FLAIG

Immediate attention to these delicate organs may save you much discomfort and expense. His large patronage speaks for the quality of service.

Some of us inherit eyes subject to certain defects. Others of us have taken bad care of our eyes when we were children and have inherited weakness or any misalignment of the eyes may cause us to need glasses. Because of the delicateness of the eyes no one but an expert should be allowed to examine and correct our vision. A mistake may mean a handicap for life in the way of extremely defective sight.

Dr. Flaig's office is equipped to fit you perfectly with glasses. Back of his work is not only his reputation and experience but his personal guarantee. His glasses must give satisfaction.

If your eyes are causing you any trouble whatsoever, the wisest move is to see him immediately. Your trouble may be only slight and capable of being corrected at once with the proper glasses. Immediate attention of such matters may save you much expense and inconvenience.

If you have children it is a wise thing to have regular examinations made of their eyes, along with a complete physical examination. Dr. Geo. V. Flaig, has made a special study of the trouble affecting children's eyes, and he will be glad to give you the most expert advice on the matter.

DEARBORN GRAVEL CO.

LAWRENCEBURG, INDIANA.

Did it ever occur to you why an architect or a construction engineer will always specify that the sand and gravel shall come from the plant of a reputable dealer in this community? It is because each material that enters into good construction should be of a kind and quality that by test is proven to be the best. To the average persons sand is sand and gravel is gravel, but is a reputable dealer in sand and gravel of any kind to know just what particular grade it is proper to use to insure the best results.

Dearborn Gravel Co., in Lawrenceburg, has gained an enviable reputation throughout the state as a reputable dealer in sand and gravel for every purpose. The contractors and the public in general should exercise great care and use only the very best products, for while sand and gravel are not of major consequence as regards to cost, they become most important as a base for the project they enter into. These products may be likened to the keystone of the arch, a small and apparently inconsequential thing in itself, but without which the structure is not complete.

Dearborn Gravel Co. has furnished vast quantities of its products to public and private enterprises throughout a large section of the country, stimulating and aiding in the progress of many of our communities. Their plant is equipped with every modern appliance for the economical and proper handling of their sand and gravel, and their business methods are of a high character. We wish them every success, for this is one of our most worthy and important institutions.

GEORGE J. SCHNEIDER — FISH MARKET

14 W. 7TH — PHONE COLONIAL 0480

The Geo. J. Schneider Sea Food Market located at Covington is a place where quality, service and satisfaction meet and where people go to find the perfect food center.

This popular sea food market is a feature of the home life of this part of the state as sea foods can be secured here that are in the very best of condition and the housewives have found them of the best quality.

They have a very modern market and all precautions have been taken for sanitation, seeing that the sea foods were properly cared for and were cleaned according to the individual desires of the customers.

Sea foods are becoming more popular all the time as people spend time during their vacation at the shore. In the hinterland the people were only accustomed to eat sea food on Fridays, but today they are becoming the meat for at least one meal each day all over the country.

In this review we are glad to compliment Geo. Schneider's Sea Food Market as a place that makes a continual study of the food problems of the day and as conducting a market that is in advance of the times. They buy poultry and pay the highest market prices.

DEPENDABLE MOTORS, INC.

"USED CARS"

Dependable Motors, Inc., located at 412 Madison Ave., in Covington have gained a splendid reputation in a large part of the country surrounding that city for the dependability of their offerings in used cars. They fully realize the high standard the business has attained throughout the country. Each and every car they offer represents fully as much value and oftentimes more than some of the new cars put out today and the price places them in reach of those who cannot afford the new ones. Others who feel the necessity for more than one car in the family.

A few years ago the buying and selling of a used car was considered more or less a problem. Early transactions in used cars were made at a very great risk to the purchaser, for they were then sold "as is" and in the same condition as when leaving the last owner. However this business today is very highly developed and the dependable dealers in used cars use just as much care in reconditioning them to get the utmost mileage as is given the new car just being delivered to its first owner. It is now possible to purchase these cars with the same expectation of service as any other article we buy.

At this particular time Dependable Motors, Inc., has the lowest prices on used cars and it is hardly reasonable to believe these low prices will prevail so long as they are given the new car look over their stock as soon as possible.

One of the institutions that gives stability to the financial and commercial interests of the country is this modern banking house.

From the day that it first opened its doors to the public it has always been under the management of conservative yet progressive men. Those in charge are men of broad and liberal views in the matter of caring for their patrons' needs and have carefully guarded the best interests of the depositors by demanding the fullest security and adhering to the cardinal law of finance. This invariable policy has gained for this well known bank the greater confidence of the people of all the surrounding country and among its customers you will find some of the community's most prominent men and firms.

The trust department is a most accommodating feature of the institution and performs all of the numerous duties incumbent upon the comprehensive service of this department. They are prepared to act as trustee, executor, guardian, or in any judicial capacity whatever.

The individual cannot render the same service and satisfactory service of this character as can the trust company organized and equipped for the purpose because such work is at responsible, expert, tireless and deathless. It is never sick, incapacitated or away. It is always impartial and unprejudiced.

We wish to compliment the Peoples Liberty Bank and Trust Co., in Covington, its officers and directors and direct the attention of all our readers to this strong financial institution.

The family washing service of this popular establishment will do more than cut in half the work of the household. You can have it rough dirt or the flat pieces dried with garments starched ready to iron; or the finished family wash, everything ready to use.

For draperies, curtains, garments, rugs, etc., the Kays Laundry and Cleaning, Inc., offers a specialized service. And the most particular folks are usually the most enthusiastic over their results.

Their cleaning keeps tiny tots clean like new. Disinfects the hard usage children give them and every germ is eliminated and the cleverness of style is restored.

It's really surprising how the cleaning of this popular concern so completely rejuvenates your garments—replacing grime and soil with a crisp freshness that fairly speaks. There remains no odor or grime to catch the dirt. Send it to Kays Laundry and Cleaning, Inc.

We are glad, in this business review, to compliment the Kays Laundry and Cleaning, Inc., in Covington upon the efficiency of its service and upon the leading position they occupy.

It is to your advantage to transact business with them in the builder supply line.

country and among its customers you will find some of the community's most prominent men and firms.

The trust department is a most accommodating feature of the institution and performs all of the numerous duties incumbent upon the comprehensive service of this department. They are prepared to act as trustee, executor, guardian, or in any judicial capacity whatever.

The individual cannot render the same service and satisfactory service of this character as can the trust company organized and equipped for the purpose because such work is at responsible, expert, tireless and deathless. It is never sick, incapacitated or away. It is always impartial and unprejudiced.

We wish to compliment the Peoples Liberty Bank and Trust Co., in Covington, its officers and directors and direct the attention of all our readers to this strong financial institution.

The family washing service of this popular establishment will do more than cut in half the work of the household. You can have it rough dirt or the flat pieces dried with garments starched ready to iron; or the finished family wash, everything ready to use.

For draperies, curtains, garments, rugs, etc., the Kays Laundry and Cleaning, Inc., offers a specialized service. And the most particular folks are usually the most enthusiastic over their results.

Their cleaning keeps tiny tots clean like new. Disinfects the hard usage children give them and every germ is eliminated and the cleverness of style is restored.

It's really surprising how the cleaning of this popular concern so completely rejuvenates your garments—replacing grime and soil with a crisp freshness that fairly speaks. There remains no odor or grime to catch the dirt. Send it to Kays Laundry and Cleaning, Inc.

Gayety Theater News

Friday and Saturday—"Racketeers of the Range"
Sunday and Monday—"Invitation to Happiness"
Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Oct. 3, 4, 5—"Second Fiddle"

Revealing some of the difficulties that beset cattlemen today, "Racketeers of the Range" starring George O'Brien, is said to be an ultra-modern western thriller. The story shows how rustlers utilize fast motor trucks in playing their illicit trade, instead of the old-time system. In addition, the unscrupulous methods employed by certain packing companies in an endeavor to lower the price of cattle also are depicted in this exciting film.

"Invitation to Happiness," the Irene Dunne - Fred MacMurray starring vehicle, at the Gayety Theatre Sunday and Monday, is the dramatic conflict between a prizefighter and his wife who are both deeply in love with each other. The Spartan regimen of the ring prevents the fighter from living a full normal life. Most of the time he's away from home. And when the baby's born the father is miles away fighting another palooka.

The years slip by. The prize fighter and his wife begin to feel like strangers for they see each other only at rare intervals. Many moments of thrilling and interesting drama is filmed in this picture. See it.

An array of entertainment talent seldom equalled on the screen makes Irving Berlin's "Second Fiddle" big news to moviegoers in this section, who will see, when it is shown at the Gayety Theatre, October 3, 4, and 5, Sonja Heine and Tyrone Power starred, Rudy Vallee and Edna May Oliver featured, new-star Mary Healy, and an eye-filling dancing and romantic to Berlin's six new song hits. Big surprises in the film include Sonja skating with a partner for the first time on the screen, a tropical rumba and tango on ice and a new ballroom dance craze. Don't miss this picture.

DEMOCRATS TO OPEN CAMPAIGN

AT MT. STERLING SATURDAY, OCTOBER 7—CROWD OF 15,000 EXPECTED TO PARTY'S OPENING RALLY.

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 4.—Mt. Sterling and Montgomery county are preparing to put on their best "bib and tucker" on Saturday, October 7, when they will be hosts to the Democratic party of Kentucky which will formally open its campaign for the governorship and other state offices on that day.

Preparations are being made to care for a crowd of 15,000 persons or more. Plans and arrangements for the party's opening rally have been placed in charge of eight committees which are being assisted by the Montgomery County Democratic Executive Committee and the campaign organization.

Those in charge of the campaign hope affairs in Washington will be such as to permit the attendance of United States Senator Alben W. Barkley and the eight Democratic members of the state's congressional delegation. Gov. A. B. "Happy" Chandler will attend and be on the program.

Sponsors of the rally believe one of the largest crowds ever gathered in either eastern Kentucky or the Bluegrass will be in attendance when Keen Johnson, Democratic nominee for governor, begins his key-note address of the campaign. The eight party nominees for state office will be on the speaker's platform and will be introduced to the audience.

The Mt. Sterling opening will be rebroadcast on a statewide radio hookup from 5 to 6 p. m. Saturday, according to Wilbur K. Miller, chairman of the speaker's bureau. The program will not be heard over the radio as it is delivered to the time having been reserved for the broadcast of the World Series baseball game at Cincinnati.

Mr. Ed Berkshire, who claims to be the first man in Boone county to grow this variety, stated that it was the finest display he had ever seen.

If Mr. Rouse has many trees like this one, he will surely have a tremendous apple crop this year.

Soils Demonstration Meetings Held Sept. 26

Better stands of grass and legume crops were inspected in field meetings held on the farm of F. H. Rouse, Burlington and W. G. Kite of Waterloo on last Tuesday, September 26th. The fields had been treated with lime and phosphate with check plots of lime, of phosphate and no treatment left for comparison.

More varieties of grasses legumes and more luxuriant stands were found on the treated plots. Korean lespedeza was practically the only seeding established on the untreated plots. Mr. F. H. Rouse estimated that the treated plots had yielded four times as much pasture as the untreated plots.

The treated plots were more closely grazed than the untreated plots showing that the lime and phosphated plots furnished more palatable food and due to its higher mineral and protein content was preferred by livestock.

This observation is in line with recent experimental results involving a large number of experiments.

Tobacco Carnival To Be Held At Lexington November 1 To 4th

Lexington, Ky.—The Kentucky Tobacco Carnival, at Lexington, although not intended to be a good market for fancy leaf.

In 1938, for example, the burley exhibited at the Lexington show was actually worth $450.00, for it brought that sum when sold later. But the exhibitors received $3,700 in cash prizes.

Dry weather delayed stripping later, and as a consequence the entry list is disappointingly small. However, the premium list was paid in full to the few lucky growers who were able to get their exhibits prepared. The enterprise is underwritten fully by interested firms and individuals, and the payment of full cash prizes offered, and the awarding of valuable silver trophies, cannot be affected by any adverse conditions.

Full payment of prizes advertised is guaranteed in advance, whether few or many planters are able to enter exhibits.

Premium lists for the 1939 show, which will be conducted at Lexington, November 1 to 4, have been mailed to vocational agricultural teachers and County Farm Agents throughout Kentucky, and in burley-producing districts of adjacent states.

Considerable interest is already being shown by growers in the 1939 show, and many inquiries have been received. Prospective exhibitors desiring entry blanks, premium lists, and rules of the contest may obtain them by writing to the Kentucky Tobacco Carnival, Lexington, Ky., if that is more convenient than applying to their County Farm Agents.

The tobacco show itself is perhaps the matter of primary interest to growers of leaf, but the Carnival includes many entertainment features, such as free street acts, six stage shows daily, the crowning of a Tobacco Queen, a banquet, and the formal Queen's Ball. Lexington will take on a festive air during the Carnival, and there will be entertainment to suit visitors of all tastes.

The final day, Saturday, November 4, is reserved for colored people.

GOAL SET AT 100 PER CENT

A. C. P. SOIL-BUILDING ALLOWANCE BY BOONE COUNTY FARMERS, ACCORDING TO H. R. FORKNER, COUNTY AGENT.

Boone County farmers are working toward earning 100 per cent of their 1939 A. C. P. soil-building allowance, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent.

Full seedings of grasses due to the drought has delayed many farmers but there has been marked increases in orders for limestone and phosphate. Conditions have been ideal for the spreading of both these important soil fertilizers.

The use of both limestone and phosphate has shown marked increase during the past three years of the Agricultural Conservation Program. Limestone use has increased from 3,104 tons in 1936 to 6,213 tons in 1937 to 8,349 tons in 1938. Phosphate use has increased from 662 tons in 1936 to 525 tons in 1937 to 792.9 tons in 1938, based on 20 per cent analysis.

Both limestone and phosphate has given farmers splendid results and profitable increases in pasture and hay crop production. The increase in yield has been accompanied by more uniform stands of grasses and clover that live longer, grow faster and produce more palatable livestock feeds. Results being secured by farmers correspond with closely supervised experimental work which shows that it costs three times as much to produce livestock on fields that are not limed and phosphated as it does on fields that are treated.

Boone county farmers are urged to take full advantage of the opportunities under the A. C. P. Program to secure both of these two important fertilizers. A. C. P. co-operators have until this Saturday, October 7th, to order 47 per cent superphosphate through the County office and until October 31st to spread limestone. Credit for securing both of these fertilizers is available through the County Office.

Soils Demonstration Meetings Held Sept. 26

Better stands of grass and legume crops were inspected in field meetings held on the farm of F. H. Rouse, Burlington and W. G. Kite of Waterloo on last Tuesday, September 26th. The fields had been treated with lime and phosphate with check plots of lime, of phosphate and no treatment left for comparison.

More varieties of grasses legumes and more luxuriant stands were found on the treated plots. Korean lespedeza was practically the only seeding established on the untreated plots. Mr. F. H. Rouse estimated that the treated plots had yielded four times as much pasture as the untreated plots.

The treated plots were more closely grazed than the untreated plots showing that the lime and phosphated plots furnished more palatable food and due to its higher mineral and protein content was preferred by livestock.

This observation is in line with recent experimental results involving a large number of experiments.

Twenty-eight farmers took part in the result demonstration meetings.

In 1938, for example, the burley exhibited at the Lexington show was actually worth $450.00, for it brought that sum when sold later. But the exhibitors received $3,700 in cash prizes.

Dry weather delayed stripping later, and as a consequence the entry list is disappointingly small. However, the premium list was paid in full to the few lucky growers who were able to get their exhibits prepared. The enterprise is underwritten fully by interested firms and individuals, and the payment of full cash prizes offered, and the awarding of valuable silver trophies, cannot be affected by any adverse conditions.

Full payment of prizes advertised is guaranteed in advance, whether few or many planters are able to enter exhibits.

Premium lists for the 1939 show, which will be conducted at Lexington, November 1 to 4, have been mailed to vocational agricultural teachers and County Farm Agents throughout Kentucky, and in burley-producing districts of adjacent states.

Considerable interest is already being shown by growers in the 1939 show, and many inquiries have been received. Prospective exhibitors desiring entry blanks, premium lists, and rules of the contest may obtain them by writing to the Kentucky Tobacco Carnival, Lexington, Ky., if that is more convenient than applying to their County Farm Agents.

The tobacco show itself is perhaps the matter of primary interest to growers of leaf, but the Carnival includes many entertainment features, such as free street acts, six stage shows daily, the crowning of a Tobacco Queen, a banquet, and the formal Queen's Ball. Lexington will take on a festive air during the Carnival, and there will be entertainment to suit visitors of all tastes.

The final day, Saturday, November 4, is reserved for colored people.

GOAL SET AT 100 PER CENT

A. C. P. SOIL-BUILDING ALLOWANCE BY BOONE COUNTY FARMERS, ACCORDING TO H. R. FORKNER, COUNTY AGENT.

Boone County farmers are working toward earning 100 per cent of their 1939 A. C. P. soil-building allowance, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent.

Fall seedings of grasses due to the drought has delayed many farmers but there has been marked increases in orders for limestone and phosphate. Conditions have been ideal for the spreading of both these important soil fertilizers.

The use of both limestone and phosphate has shown marked increase during the past three years of the Agricultural Conservation Program. Limestone use has increased from 3,104 tons in 1936 to 6,213 tons in 1937 to 8,349 tons in 1938. Phosphate use has increased from 662 tons in 1936 to 525 tons in 1937 to 792.9 tons in 1938, based on 20 per cent analysis.

Both limestone and phosphate have given farmers splendid results and profitable increases in pasture and hay crop production. The increase in yield has been accompanied by more uniform stands of grasses and clover that live longer, grow faster and produce more palatable livestock feeds. Results being secured by farmers correspond with closely supervised experimental work which shows that it costs three times as much to produce livestock on fields that are not limed and phosphated as it does on fields that are treated.

Boone county farmers are urged to take full advantage of the opportunities under the A. C. P. Program to secure both of these two important fertilizers. A. C. P. co-operators have until this Saturday, October 7th, to order 47 per cent superphosphate through the County office and until October 31st to spread limestone. Credit for securing both of these fertilizers is available through the County Office.

The eight party nominees for state office will be on the speaker's platform and will be introduced to the audience.

The Mt. Sterling opening will be broadcast over a statewide radio hookup from 5 to 6 p. m. Saturday, according to Wilbur K. Miller, chairman of the speaker's bureau. Soils Demonstration Meetings Held Sept. 26

Better stands of grass and legume crops were inspected in field meetings held on the farm of F. H. Rouse, Burlington and W. G. Kite of Waterloo on last Tuesday, September 26th. The fields had been treated with lime and phosphate with check plots of lime, of phosphate and no treatment left for comparison.

More varieties of grasses legumes and more luxuriant stands were found on the treated plots. Korean lespedeza was practically the only seeding established on the untreated plots. Mr. F. H. Rouse estimated that the treated plots had yielded four times as much pasture as the untreated plots.

The treated plots were more closely grazed than the untreated plots showing that the lime and phosphated plots furnished more palatable food and due to its higher mineral and protein content was preferred by livestock.

This observation is in line with recent experimental results involving a large number of experiments.

Hybrid Corn Variety Meetings Are Held

Three hybrid corn variety result demonstration meetings were held last Tuesday, September 26th, at the farms of Richard Schwenke of near Hamilton, Harold Crigler of near Hebron and Charles Riley of Hebron, according to H. R. Foraker, County Agent.

Check plots were harvested and weighed in two of these demonstration meetings. Results of the check plots based on Reid's Yellow Dent as 100 percent are as follows:

Plot No. 1—Richard Schwenke, Reid's Yellow Dent, 100 per cent. Indiana 820—153.3 per cent. U. S. No. 13—138.7 per cent. Ky. No. 12—125.3 per cent. Ky. No. 69—120.0 per cent. Pride of Saline—114.7 per cent. U. S. No. 44—92.7 per cent. Plot No. 2—Harold Crigler, Reid's Yellow Dent, 100 per cent. Pride of Saline—127.5 per cent. U. S. No. 13—126.2 per cent. Indiana 820—122.5 per cent. Ky. No. 69—121.2 per cent. Indiana 845—117.5 per cent. Ky. 72—115.0 per cent. U. S. No. 44—107.5 per cent.

Due to the limited number of check plots and variations, these results should not be taken as conclusive as to which hybrids are highest in yield. Demonstration meetings in which more elaborate check plots were conducted will be held on the farms of Charles Riley, Hebron and L. R. Vice, of Woolper on Wednesday, October 12th. These plots involve varieties of hybrids and open-pollinated corn.

Tobacco Carnival To Be Held At Lexington November 1 To 4th

Lexington, Ky.—The Kentucky Tobacco Carnival, at Lexington, although not intended to be a good market for fancy leaf.

In 1938, for example, the burley exhibited at the Lexington show was actually worth $450.00, for it brought that sum when sold later. But the exhibitors received $3,700 in cash prizes.

Dry weather delayed stripping last year, and as a consequence the entry list disappointingly small. Premium lists for the 1939 show, which will be conducted at Lexington, November 1 to 4, have been mailed to vocational agriculture teachers and County Farm Agents throughout Kentucky, and in burley-producing districts of adjacent states.

Considerable interest is already being shown by growers in the 1939 show, and many inquiries have been received. Prospective exhibitors desiring entry blanks, premium lists, and rules of the contest may obtain them by writing to the Kentucky Tobacco Carnival, Lexington, Ky., if that is more convenient than applying to their County Farm Agents.

The tobacco show itself is perhaps the matter of primary interest to growers of leaf, but the Carnival includes many entertainment features, such as free street acts, six stage shows daily, the crowning of a Tobacco Queen, a banquet, and a formal Queen's Ball. Lexington will take on a festive air during the Carnival, and there will be entertainment to suit visitors of all tastes.

The final day, Saturday, November 4, is reserved for colored people.

GOAL SET AT 100 PER CENT

A. C. P. SOIL-BUILDING ALLOWANCE BY BOONE COUNTY FARMERS, ACCORDING TO H. R. FORKNER, COUNTY AGENT.

Boone County farmers are working toward earning 100 per cent of their 1939 A. C. P. soil-building allowance, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent.

Fall seedings of grasses due to the drought has delayed many farmers but there has been marked increase in orders for lime and phosphate. Conditions have been ideal for the spreading of both these important soil fertilizers.

The use of both limestone and phosphate has shown marked increase during the past three years of the Agricultural Conservation Program. Limestone use has increased from 3,104 tons in 1936 to 6,213 tons in 1937 to 8,349 tons in 1938. Phosphate use has increased from 662 tons in 1936 to 525 tons in 1937 to 792 tons in 1938, based on 20 per cent analysis.

Both limestone and phosphate has given farmers splendid results and profitable increases in pasture and hay crop production. The increase in yield has been accompanied by more uniform stands of grasses and clovers that live longer, grow faster and produce more palatable livestock feeds. Results being secured by farmers correspond with closely supervised experimental work which shows that it cost three times as much to produce livestock on fields that are not limed and phosphated as it does on fields that are treated.

Boone County farmers are urged to take full advantage of the opportunities under the A. C. Program to secure both of these two important fertilizers. A. C. P. co-operators have until this Saturday, October 7th, to order 47 per cent superphosphate through the County office and until October 31st to spread limestone. Credit for securing both of these fertilizers is available through the County Office.

TRUTH about ADVERTISING

By CHARLES B. ROTH

MONTAIGNE'S 'GREAT REGISTER'

IF EVERYTHING else that gifted writer, Michel Equem de Montaigne, wrote were to disappear, the world would still be indebted to him for his ideas on what he called his "great register."

Montaigne was a Frenchman who lived and wrote 400 years ago. Now admitted extensively by a few readers, he's almost forgotten by the world at large. But every time you read an advertisement in your newspaper, you do homage to his memory.

For it was his idea that people, who want to buy, need some place where they can get information about the products which others have to sell. In Montaigne's time, the buyer had to look for the seller, the seller had to look for the buyer.

Montaigne proposed a register to be posted where all might see. Here the owners of things they wanted to sell would list them. Here also those who had needs would list their needs. Buyer and seller would be brought together.

It was a good idea. It still is a good idea. Every time, indeed, you look over the "ads" in your newspaper you express your approval of the idea.

Sellers tell you what they have.

was vitamin building too! But we'll fight disease with the one and hope indigestion won't develop with the other.

THIS REALLY HURTS

With the interest in foreign affairs the more serious, any data concerning their living problems is well to know. War brings the German woman a tightening of her wardrobe. She is not permitted to buy anything new if she already owns 2 dresses, 3 sets of underwear, 2 nightgowns or pajamas, 2 petticoats, 6 pairs of hose, 6 handkerchiefs, 1 pair of winter gloves for her though the men are allowed two pairs. Every man and woman may own two pairs of shoes, two suits, three shirts, one stick of shaving soap every five months is the legal wardrobe for the males. It is almost a case of "having nothing to wear," according to Boone County women. We hope the German moths aren't insistent and persistent!

NEW LAWRENCEBURG BRIDGE TO BE DEDICATED

Saturday, Oct. 21, the fine new bridge over Tanner's Creek at the edge of Lawrenceburg on federal Road 50 and the section of this highway between Lawrenceburg and Aurora will be dedicated, with appropriate exercises.

A big parade, headed by a Roman chariot, portraying the evolution of transportation, will be an interesting part of the afternoon celebration.

The parade is open to all organizations, churches, schools, lodges or any other groups or individuals who would like to make entries. There will be no entry fee and no prizes awarded. Entries are not limited to Dearborn county but may be made from any place.

The committee in charge is especially interested that old methods of transportation be entered including horse-drawn vehicles and automobiles. Those desiring to make entries are asked to communicate as soon as possible with Charles Decker, Lawrenceburg, chairman of the parade committee.

Following the parade, an interesting program will be given. Governor M. Clifford Townsend, Lieut. Governor Henry Schickler, members of the State Highway Commission, Senators Van Nuys and Minton and Governors of adjoining states will be invited to attend and be on the program.

Lawrenceburg extends a most cordial invitation to the people far and wide to attend this celebration on Saturday, Oct. 21.

ABOUT THE HOUSE

Cover spot of spilled ink on the carpet with common salt and wash with vinegar. After laundering blankets, raise nap by brushing gently with clean stiff whisk broom. Always turn back two or three inches when making heading for a curtain. This allows for shrinkage when curtains are washed.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

Lesson for October 8

THE FORERUNNER OF THE KING

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 3:1-17.
GOLDEN TEXT—Prepare ye the way of the Lord, make his paths straight.—Matthew 3:3.

When an earthly king visits his dominions or makes a journey to another land, great preparations are made for his coming. Everything is done to expedite his journey and to assure him of safety and comfort. The United States and Canada have recently had that interesting experience. The King of Kings and Lord of Lords who in loving kindness and gracious condescension had come to earth to be our Redeemer had now grown to manhood and was prepared to enter on His public ministry. God sent John to be His forerunner to prepare the way and to herald His coming.

1. A Herald Prophetically Foretold (vv. 1, 3, 4).
The coming of John (usually called the Baptist) was of such vital concern to God that He had revealed it to His prophets hundreds of years before (see Isa. 40:3).

We should study and believe the message of the prophet, studying the prophecies that pointed to John the Baptist and Christ's first coming also point to the second coming (Mal. 3:1-6; 4:1-6). We know the former took place, why should we doubt the fulfillment of the latter? We do well to take heed to the word of prophecy (II Pet. 1:19).

Let us also prepare the way of the Lord, not as John did, for his was a special ministry, but by making ways for the gospel to reach the hearts of men. We can remove hindrances and obstructions, preparing their hearts to receive Him as Saviour and Lord.

II. An Unusual Man with a Burning Message (vv. 2, 6-12).

What an arresting appearance John must have made as he emerged to the edge of the wilderness, preaching the startling message! God had kept him (like Moses and others) in the quiet of the desert where He could talk with him, away from the distractions of so-called civilization. This simple living had made John strikingly unusual and unusual.

The man who strives for such an appearance to attract attention is but a fool, but on the other hand, unconventionality will not destroy one's usefulness if he has a message from God.

The preaching of John was a burning message of repentance. There had been no prophetic message since the time of Malachi, and in the intervening 400 years the religious life of the Jews had settled down into a barren legalistic formalism. John came with a simple, practical, and plain-spoken indictment of sin, which led to repentance and which made religion vital and real again.

We know that the gospel of the grace of God in Christ goes far beyond the preaching of John. But we also know that the Church needs to get back to the proclamation of a vital heart-searching message, and some genuine old-fashioned repentance. Then we like John will bring men to Christ for salvation, for sanctification, for service.

III. A Humble but Privileged Servant of Christ (vv. 13-17).

The crowning event in the ministry of John was the recognition of Jesus as He came to be baptized. He was deeply conscious of his own unworthiness for this great work and pointed to the coming Saviour. One in whom they should put their trust (vv. 11 and 14. See also John 1:29). John was not jealous of his own position, nor seeking his own advancement (see v. 3 and John 3:30).

To this faithful and humble servant came the inestimable privilege of baptizing the Saviour. The baptism of Jesus presents a mystery which we cannot fully solve. It is certain that He did not come to be baptized for the remission of sin, for He knew no sin. The best explanation seems to be that in His obedience to His Father He was willing to subject Himself to every ordinance of God—a spirit which is not too common, by the way, among His professed followers. He was not a sinner, but He took the sinner's place, thus He both entered upon His ministry and pointed forward to that day when God made Him "who knew no sin" to be "made sin for us" so that "we might be made the righteousness of God in him" (II Cor. 5:21).

Gracious Amid Gloom

Yet for all my Lord's gloom, I find Him sweet, gracious, loving, kind; and I want both pen and words to set forth the fairness, beauty and sweetness of Christ's love, and the honor of this cross of Christ, which is glorious to me, though the world thinketh shame thereof.—Samuel Rutherford.

Children's Feet

By N. TULCH
Foot Comfort Specialist at—
PEOPLE'S FOOT COMFORT
9th and Madison Covington

I want to talk to you about your children and shoes they wear.
Maybe you never realized that the wrong shoes could be the cause of nervousness in your child.
I say "It is the duty of parents, school teachers and family physicians to help bring stability and strength to nervous systems."

Symptoms of nervousness in children are often fore-runners of organic disease. From the physician's standpoint ONLY there are many things that make us nervous. The most important are: 1. Wrong diet. 2. Over fatigue, and 3. poor posture. Let me repeat the last and most important, POOR POSTURE, because you cannot have good posture unless your feet are fitted with proper shoes.

We all know how important posture is to the physical and mental development of a child. At home we teach our children to stand straight, to sit straight and to walk straight . . . that is we TRY to teach them how important it is. But sometimes, do you find that you are constantly reminding Billy of Mary to "SIT UP"—or "STAND UP STRAIGHT"—almost to the point of nagging and even to the point of scolding.

If your child has poor posture—and it seems—and for him to remember to sit straight—I suggest that you take a look at his feet. And remember, when you want to scold him for drooping, that the child is no more responsible for his posture than for the food he is given to eat. There is some reason WHY he isn't standing straight and that reason may be weak, poorly constructed shoes that do not properly support body weight.—Adv.

Birthday Surprise
Tendered W. H. Kerns

On Sunday, September 24, relatives and friends gathered at the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Kerns at Gunpowder with a big surprise, and celebrated in honor of his 70th birthday anniversary. All came with well filled baskets containing all the delicacies of the season. At noon the bountiful dinner was served in the large dining room. The afternoon was spent in pleasant conversation and the taking of pictures. String music was furnished by David Aylor, Mr. Busby and Mr. Shelly Aylor, local talent, and a good time was enjoyed by all until in the night when the guests departed for their homes, wishing him more such happy occasions. Those to enjoy the occasion were as follows: Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wilson and two children Delores and Gene, Mr. and Mrs. John Slayback and three children, John William, Mary Frances and Bettie Lou, all of Rabbit Hash; Charlie Kerns, Clay Kerns, and William Kerns, of Gunpowder; S. C. Wilson, Miss Brenda Craig, Miss Ruby Ryle and Mrs. Minnetta Stephens, all of Rabbit Hash, Mr. and Mrs. Shelly Aylor, Rev. T. C. Crume, Jr., and wife and little son Ronnie, Miss Anna Beatty, Miss Rita Aylor, Mr. and Mrs. David Aylor and little son David, Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Busby and Lawrence Aylor, of Gunpowder.

Just before the guests departed they were called to dining room the second time to partake of another bountiful lunch. Mr. Kerns, a native of Bourbon county came to Boone County over 20 years ago and in all these 76 years he has enjoyed good health and never had an occasion to call in a doctor, which is something that very few people are able to boast.

Gayety Theater News

See Gracie Allen in one of her craziest roles at the Gayety Friday and Saturday in the "Gracie Allen Murder Case." You'll cry from laughter at some of her antics in this, her funniest of funny pictures.

There's exciting news for the millions of Jane Withers fans whose enthusiasm for her pictures has put the mischievous miss right up among the first ten most popular screen stars. Jane's got her first "crush" in her newest film, "Boy Friend." She goes romantic for the first time on the screen, but it's in that madcap Withers way.

It's just Jane's luck to find her first beau when she's busy smashing the gang that put her policeman brother on the spot in the 20th Century-Fox action-packed comedy. And you know Jane! You've got to be able to go places and do things if you're her "feller!"

As Jane says, "What good's a beau if he can't help you fight?" To which George Ernest, the "boy friend" of the picture, comes in the Gayety Sunday and Monday replies, "What a girl friend for a boy friend to have! Give me a nice, quiet war!"

Don't miss this big picture.

Tuesday, "Winner Take All" will be shown at the Gayety. This picture is packed with thrills and is a picture you will remember for many months to come. Starred in "Winner Take All" are Tony Martin, Gloria Stuart and Henry Armetta. Also two reel comedy and sport reel.

Mickey Rooney's latest appearance as Andy Hardy was made a red-letter event in his career when he was reunited with the man he admires more than anyone else in Hollywood, Director W. S. Van Dyke II. Laugh! As Andy becomes author star, promoter for the high school stage spectacle "Adrift in Tahiti!" See "The Great Volcano Eruption!" Roar as Andy decides to quit school and marry the "only girl" because it's Spring and he's seventeen! Thrill as the judge, Mrs. Hardy, Milly and Marian face a crisis... they "get in on the ground floor" but find themselves in the basement! Don't miss the lucky 7th Hardy family hit! It's a wow.

R. E. A. CONTRACT TO BE LET OCT. 13

FOR CONSTRUCTION OF BOONE COUNTY LINES—ELECTRICITY WILL BE AVAILABLE IN 110 DAYS.

Boone County REA signers have a possibility of securing electricity in 110 days, according to Rev. Will Smith, chairman of the Boone County REA committee.

The big problem confronting signers at the present time is the wiring of houses. Three-fourths of the signers must have houses wired or under contract to be wired under electricity is turned into the lines. No house should be wired until it is tagged by the REA engineer.

Chester Roland, manager of the Owen County Association serving Boone, Kenton and Campbell counties met with committee members at the Hamilton Fair last Friday, October 6th. He stated that the contract for staking the line had been let to Roy W. Chambers, Inc., Louisville, and that the contract for the construction of the line would be let at the Owen County office on this Friday, October 13. The contract calls for the construction of the line in 110 days from this date.

Roland advised that no house be wired until the engineer tags the house. This is the official designation that the house will be wired. Signers may proceed to secure bids for wiring the houses, but hold up the work until the house is tagged. The REA makes no contracts for wiring, as this work is done by private trade with the signers and the electrician. The only requirement is that the house wiring must pass inspection. Educational meetings on costs of wiring and kinds of fixtures will be held in the near future.

House wiring is probably the only thing that can hold up securing electricity at the earliest possible date. Signers should begin making plans for this important job.

Willeve Scott

Willeve Scott, wife of D. H. Scott, Glencoe, Ky., passed away Sunday evening at the State hospital. The remains were removed to Chambers and Grubbs funeral home for preparation and laid in state until Wednesday morning, when they were conveyed to the Walton Methodist Church of which she was a member, for services at 10 a. m. by Rev. R. R. Rose. Interment was in the Mt. Moriah, Ohio, cemetery.

CHANDLER TO FILL LOGAN SEAT

FOLLOWING HIS RESIGNATION MONDAY—JOHNSON TAKES OVER AS GOVERNOR—GOVERNOR PRAISES ALLIES.

At noon Monday Kentucky had a new U. S. senator, A. B. Chandler, and a new governor, Keen Johnson.

The Senate chamber of the State House was packed to overflowing when Lyter Donaldson, leading Kentucky Democrat, called the meeting to order and briefly outlined the reasons for the session. At 11:38 a. m. Gov. Chandler was introduced. He paid tribute to his political allies, J. Dan Talbot, and former Gov. J. C. W. Beckham. It was 11:40 a. m. when he turned to Lieut. Gov. Keen Johnson and said, "Your excellency, I resign my office."

In a solemn voice the Richmond publisher voiced his concern at the task thrust upon him and at 11:44 he turned to Chief Justice Alex. Rafter of the Court of Appeals and said, "I am ready to take the oath."

Just a few minutes later Gov. Johnson turned to Private Citizen A. B. Chandler and said, "I now appoint A. B. Chandler to the United States Senate from Kentucky."

"I accept this appointment in the spirit in which it is offered and shall go to Washington to help President Roosevelt keep America and American boys and girls out of war," the new senator said.

And with that appointment the vacancy in the Upper House of Congress caused by the death of Sen. M. C. Logan was filled.

Hybrid Corn Meeting Shows Results In Twenty-Five Varieties

Twenty-five different hybrid corn varieties grown in carefully planted plots on the farm of Charles Riley, Hebron, will be harvested, weighed and judged for quality in a result demonstration meeting this Thursday, October 12th, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent.

The purpose of the demonstration is to find those varieties of hybrid corn that yield best under Boone County conditions. The harvesting of the corn will begin at 8:30 a. m. Central Time.

Mr. Riley, who is County Attorney, extends an invitation to everyone interested in this work to attend this meeting and, if possible, to assist in harvesting.

Fifteen hybrid varieties grown on the farm of L. R. Rice of the Woolper bridge on the commissary road, will be harvested immediately following the meeting at Mr. Riley's.

Mr. and Mrs. B. D. Adams Are Visitors Here Mon.

Mr. and Mrs. B. D. Adams, of Crittenden, Ky., were callers in Burlington Monday morning and while here Mr. Adams called at the Recorder office and had his name placed on our mailing list.

Mr. and Mrs. Adams were former residents of this county, but have been away from here for the past fifty years. They formerly resided at Hathaway. Mr. Adams stated they had been visiting some friends and relatives in this section of the country.

FARMERS MAKE FINAL DRIVE

TO EARN ACP ALLOWANCES BEFORE CLOSING DATE—PULVERIZERS WORKING DAY AND NIGHT TO MEET DEMAND.

Boone County farmers are making a final drive to earn 100 per cent of the 1939 fertilizer allowances, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent. The number of office calls by farmers checking their soil-building earnings to date showed a marked increase the past week. Limestone dealers are reporting their supplies practically exhausted and are being replenished by pulverizer operator working double shifts for night and day pulverizing.

Limestone and phosphate are proving popular with most farmers. Last year 307 farmers used lime and 336 used phosphate to improve the fertility of the soil.

Reseeding of old pastures and new seedlings will reach record proportions the next two weeks, especially if favorable weather develops. Farmers can make 300 per cent on their investment in seed alone on old pastures. Ten pounds of Korean costing 50c; 10 pounds of sweet clover costing 60c; 10 pounds of timothy costing 60c—each pays $1.50 on the soil-building allowance.

The rates per acre for making new seedling run slightly higher but farmers can still make a good profit. The last of October is an ideal time to seed the new crop of seed of both Korean and Sweet Clover over both the old pastures and in new fields.

Despite a few unfavorable reports, large number of farmers have secured splendid results from fall seedings and this practice remains practically as safe as spring seedings with more favorable growth resulting next year from fall seedings. Crop insurance, through benefit payments, are made through the program in either case and the farmer has little to lose provided he carries out his practices.

The use of assignments or loans has also interested a large number of farmers recently. Farmers are finding that for $100 interest on assignments they can pay cash for their seeds and make several dollars profit.

Nineteen thirty-nine will be a good year under the Agricultural Conservation program according to the county office. Farmers being more familiar with the program are going to lose very little of their soil-building earnings through failure to carry out practices before October 31st, the closing date of the 1939 program.

Mrs. Bess Rouse spent several days last week visiting in Cincinnati.

We all enjoyed the day very much, especially the colored slides shown by Miss Weldon, of pictures taken on her trip to England and many other countries. One thing of interest to the Constance Homemakers was the election of officers. We feel very proud, as one of our members, Mrs. Geo. Kottmyer was elected president of Boone County Homemakers, an office we feel sure she is able to fill as she has been a wonderful worker of our club.

UNITED FRONT IS DISPLAYED

BY DEMOCRATS AT OPENING OF CAMPAIGN HELD AT MT. STERLING SATURDAY—BARKLEY AND CHANDLER PRESENT

Representatives of a united and invincible Democracy met Saturday at Mt. Sterling to see the gubernatorial nominee, Lieut. Gov. Keen Johnson, list high the standards of his party, and to hear Senator Alben W. Barkley and Gov. Albert B. Chandler speak with the primary-chosen leader.

It was a day of rejoicing for Democrats in Kentucky, a day filled with abounding and abundant evidence of their desire to place the mantle of authority about the shoulders of the Richmond editor and to invest the son of a Methodist circuit rider with the panoply of high office.

Kentucky is always Democratic, save when Democrats fall out among themselves. That does not obtain this year. The leaders in the primary fight last summer have accepted the mandate of the voters. They are resolved to elect Keen Johnson.

Four years ago Keen Johnson was elected lieutenant governor. His experience during that quadrennium has been invaluable in acquainting him with details of the governorship. He will be inducted into office December 12, not as a stranger to its duties but as a veteran who will lay a practiced hand on the tiller and guide the ship of state safely along the tortuous ways the next four years.

Kentuckians are proud of the nominee. There is nothing to apologize for in supporting him. Well educated, carrying on the high ideals inherited from his father who spent his life in the itinerant ministry, a county-seat editor who knows the problems of the people, and a cosmopolitan from his association with men of the world, the equipment of Keen Johnson for the governorship is rarely equalled.

His platform is built on service to the people of Kentucky; his pledges were not made to catch voters but are binding promises to the people; to translate into action, and with his experience as a guide his administration should be a high mark in the history of Kentucky.

Fruit growers of Boone, Kenton and Campbell counties will meet at the farm of Bert W. Scott of near Crescent Springs on Wednesday, October 25th, to make plans for the location of an insectary.

Growers of the cooperating counties must supply approximately $50.00 for the purchasing of necessary equipment before the insectary can be secured. At least fifty growers in the three counties will be interested in this service, making an average donation or membership fee of approximately $1.00 each.

The insectary will be available to growers for a number of years, once it is established and the necessary equipment is secured. The Extension Service of the College of Agriculture and the State Horticultural Society will cooperate in rendering service to the project after it is established.

AN Ounce of Prevention

Prevent crime! Prevent auto accidents! Prevent cancer! Prevent war! Now to prevent fires! Through schools and civic organizations, press and radio, the nation spends one week being made aware of the national fire debt and the ways and means of cutting costs in life and belongings due to demon fire. Insurance companies warn and suggest methods and procedure to take in homes and buildings to cope with the evil. To clean all rubbish from basements and attics before it appases the appetite of licking flames. Harbor no arsenal of loose matches for young fingers to strike. Clean furnace pipes before starting winter fires and watch for combustion and gasoline fumes. Tend to electric connections and appliances. The fact that you have never had a fire of a serious nature doesn't mean you can ignore the subject and rest safely on your asbestos mattress! Begin at the top of the house and go to the bottom, look inside and outside, check and double check. Pass the word safe from carelessness and negligence.

TRUTH about ADVERTISING

By CHARLES B. ROTH

ADVERTISING'S NO MYSTERY

SOME of us remember well when John Slattery started in business. He couldn't have been over 25 and he had only a few hundred dollars in capital. But he did have a wife and two fine boys. He wanted to make them comfortable. He quit his job, went in on his own.

At first he would come to us and in his frank, likable way ask if we would buy from him. He had run liked John. He flattered us to have him invite us to become his customers. We began trading with him.

He treated us so considerately and so honestly; he gave us such good service; he was so grateful for our patronage, that we enjoyed being his customers. It made us feel good. Others felt the same way. His business grew.

Then he began asking more people to trade with him than he could reach personally. He had run small advertisements in the newspaper, which he wrote himself after store hours.

As he grew larger he ran larger advertisements, and where in the beginning he had a handful of customers, now he had several hundred.

seems to be the goal, perhaps it is well to tighten our grasp.

PLANT PLANNING

Pull out stalks in garden as crop is picked. This makes cleaning of the garden easier. Dig and pot a few clumps of chrysanthemums and plants for your sunny window during winter. Gooseberries and red currants should be moved only in fall as they bud too early for safe transplanting in spring. Primroses for next spring can be planted now. Scatter seeds lightly on top of soil mixture composed of sand, leaf mold, and loam.

He continued to advertise in the newspaper. His business continued to grow. He couldn't know all his customers by name now, of course, but they felt that they could buy from him with confidence because he had been recommended to by another friend whom they had always trusted.

This other friend who recommended John Slattery was the newspaper which carried his advertising.

Whatever you read in the newspaper you naturally feel you can believe, because you know that a reputable newspaper will not accept advertising from any but honest and reliable concerns.

Because this young man starting in business every day, by bringing his advertisements and becoming his customers realized it, they were all indebted to the newspaper for its service in bringing to their attention an opportunity of getting more for their money by publishing advertisements of this enterprising young man.

Advertising is serving us in this same way every day, by bringing information of where we can help most advantageously, by helping us to find what we want the lowest possible prices.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

THE TEMPTATION OF JESUS

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 4:1-11.
GOLDEN TEXT—"For we have not an high priest who is touched with the feeling of our infirmities; but was in all points tempted like as we are, yet without sin.—Hebrews 4:15.

Temptation is the common lot of all mankind (1 Cor. 10:13). The strongest and most noble of men are subject to it; angels were tempted, and our scripture reveals that Jesus was tempted. We recognize that Jesus was tempted as the Messiah (vv. 3, 6) and as one without sin (Heb. 4:15), but it is also true that He was tempted in all points as we are, apart from sin, and that we may learn from His temptation how we may meet and be the victors over temptation.

I. What Is Temptation?

"Temptation is seduction to evil, solicitation to wrong. It stands distinguished from trial thus: trial tests, seeks to discover the man's moral qualities or character; but temptation persuades to evil, degrades, that it may ruin. God tempts" (A. M. Fairbairn).

Temptation is not sin, but yielding to temptation is sin. Luther said, "We cannot keep the birds from flying over our heads, but we can keep them from building nests in our hair." Temptation comes from within, that is, from our own lusts (James 1:13, 14). Satan also tempts us (Eph. 6:11). God may permit temptation as a means of proving our faith (James 1:2, 3).

II. How Temptation Works.

It is significant that the temptations of Jesus were along the threefold line of the temptations of Adam and Eve (Gen. 3:6) and the general threefold temptation of all men, namely, the lust of the flesh, the pride of life, and the lust of the eyes (1 John 2:16). These three temptations really exhaust Satan's bag of tricks, but he can dress up these three fundamental temptations with almost endless variety. He works

2. By appealing to the flesh (vv. 2, 3). By appealing to the normal appetites and desires of a man's body, he excites them to a high degree, and then suggests an improper method of satisfying them. Hunger is normal and a sign of good health. Jesus had fasted forty days and Satan took advantage of that fact to suggest the use of his divine power to satisfy his hunger. This would involve a denial of His entire mission on earth, namely, the redemption of man by a divine person who had become a real man.

3. By appealing to pride (vv. 5, 6). Satan misapplied Scripture to tempt Jesus to presumption on the assumption that He was exercising faith. "God had promised to keep Him 'in all his ways'" (Ps. 91:11). To cast himself down from the temple was not one of the ways in which Christ was called to walk. Satan comes to us with the same kind of temptation. If He cannot get us to forsake faith, he tempts us to become fanatic and to proudly substitute presumption for faith.

4. By appealing to the eyes (vv. 8, 9). By showing Christ the kingdoms of the world and offering them to Him by the short-cut of a brief act of worship rather than by the way of the cross, Satan tempted Him again. Here we devil showed his true desire that man should worship him rather than God.

III. How to Meet Temptation (vv. 4, 7, 10).

1. By the right use of Scripture. If Jesus needed that weapon, how can we do without it? How can we use Scripture if we do not study it and hide it in our hearts?

2. By dependence on God. Every Scripture used by Jesus honored God. We cannot fight Satan in our own strength. To attempt to do so is to fail utterly. The real victory for the Christian is to bring Satan back to the cross where Christ won a decisive victory over him.

3. By denouncing Satan. Jesus sent him on his way. We may do the same in Jesus' name. It is always a serious error to try to argue with Satan or to engage in any discussion with him. Let us meet him with Scripture and with a "Get thee hence."

IV. The Result.

Satan left and angels came to minister to Christ. The overcoming of temptation results in peace, victory, and blessing. This is ever so in the life of the believer. Temptation overcome makes us stronger to meet the next temptation, and also enables us to help our weaker brethren.

Just Let Me Tell You A Few Facts About Walking, So You'll Realize Just How Much It Can Do For You.

N. TULCH

PEOPLES FOOT COMFORT

9th and Madison Covington

The normal heart, you know, beats about seventy-two times a minute and pumps about six ounces of blood with each beat.

Now, in fast walking, or at the rate of four miles an hour—which is how fast you should walk to do you some good—you'll find the normal heart will INCREASE its beat ten times to the minute, pumping six ounces of blood at each beat, gives sixty ounces per minute, 3600 an hour, which is 225 pounds. You can easily see that 225 ADDITIONAL pounds of blood pumped DAILY through your veins means just that much more life to your whole body.

There's no use of my telling you to get out and walk if you are having trouble with your feet, because I know you won't do it, BUT if I tell you how to get rid of those aching, painful feet, first—then there's nothing to keep you from walking every day and benefiting your health by this wonderful exercise.

It has also been found that millions suffer without knowing the reason why—those headaches, those leg pains, and even sleepless nights may be caused by the shoes you are wearing.

FIRE MAY MEAN DEATH IN YOUR FAMILY OR DESTRUCTION OF HOME

Put lighted matches and smokes out before you throw them away. Keep matches where small children cannot reach them. Never smoke in the garage, barn, or attic, nor in bed.

Remove rubbish, waste papers and all unnecessary combustible materials. Provide metal ash and trash cans. Burn rubbish only in a safely covered brick or metal incinerator. Watch the fire.

Examine all stoves, furnaces, and smoke pipes to make sure they are safe and well away from woodwork or other burnable materials. Have needed repairs made at once.

Value the advice of your fire chief who says that many fires are caused by dirty or defective chimneys. Have the chimney cleaned regularly, and have all defects repaired.

Escape the danger of flammable liquid fires and explosions by no gasoline in the house. Do dry cleaning with safe liquids or send the work to the cleaner. Never start fires with kerosene.

Notify the electric company of electrical trouble and the gas company of gas leaks. Replace "blown" fuses with new ones—not pennies. Avoid homemade wiring jobs. Don't look for gas leaks with a match.

Teach everyone in the family to be careful of fire, to watch stoves, fire-places, electric irons and all other possible fire causes, and every day to remove old rags, papers and other rubbish.

Fireproof your home as far as possible by fire-safe roofing, fire stopping in hollow walls and partitions to stop the spread of flame, and a non-combustible basement ceiling.

Inquire of your fire chief when buying a fire extinguisher, to be sure of getting the right kind. Don't hesitate to ask your fireman whenever you have questions on fire prevention.

Remember always where the nearest fire alarm box is and how to send an alarm. If telephoning be sure the address is clearly understood. Use a neighbor's phone rather than one in the burning building.

Explain to everyone in the house what to do in case of fire, how to put out fire in clothing by wrapping in a rug or blanket, what to do when grease catches fire in the kitchen. Safe life and property from needless destruction by fire by keeping the principles of fire prevention always in mind and never taking a chance with fire.

HERE'S THE WAY TO MAKE MONEY RAISING SHEEP

To make money from sheep—

1. Reduce cost of producing lambs.

2. Reduce depreciation on ewes.

3. Increase selling price of lambs.

Such is the deduction of Geo. B. Byers and Ernest J. Nesius of the Kentucky College of Agriculture, made in a study of the flock records of 32 Central Kentucky farmers.

To reduce cost of producing lambs, start with good ewes, and feed them well, so they will have strong lambs and give plenty of milk. Stay on the job at lambing time and save all the lambs. Then feed the lambs well.

To reduce the depreciation on the ewes, have good ewes, and give them the best of care. Reduce death losses.

WALTON CCC FIGHT BLAZE

IN GRANT COUNTY MONDAY—FIRE COVERS BETWEEN 75 AND 100 ACRES OF FARM-LAND.

Members of the Walton CCC were called out Monday to fight a grass fire between Sherman and Crittenden Monday which covered between 75 and 100 acres of farmland.

The fire was believed to have started from train sparks. The blaze spread through the tinder-like grass and weeds through the farms of Claude Israel, Walter Lanter, J. T. Bailey and B. G. Webster.

Thirty members of the CCC of Walton joined residents of the area in the fight. A shortage of water handicapped the fire-fighters necessitating the hauling of three tanks of water from Williamson.

Finally, in the manner of trained fire-fighters, the CCC youths built another fire they could control, thus halting the spread of the main body of flame when it reached that point.

Total damage has not been estimated, but a meat house was destroyed on the Bailey farm and hay and straw stacks and fences were burned on the four farms. The flames were said to have leaped 15 feet high and endangered the home of Walter Lanter before they were halted.

13 Days Remain To Earn ACP Allowance

October 31st is the closing date for the 1939-40 A. C. P. year and the official closing date for carrying out soil-bulding practices for earning 100 percent of the farm allowance.

While the State office has indicated a few days extra will be allowed for spreading phosphate and limestone that could not be made available until after the closing date, farmers should make every effort to complete their practices on schedule.

New crops of Korean and sweet clover seeds are now available for reseeding old pastures and making new seedlings and some splendid results were secured from these seedling last year.

Limestone dealers report they will take care of all lime orders received the next few days.

Act now! Earn 100 per cent of your allowance—be a booster for better farming in Boone County.

Attention is called by Major James Brown, Director of the Division of Game and Fish, to a 45-day season on duck and geese beginning October 22 and continuing through December 5, both dates inclusive.

The federal regulations state that the use of bait or live decoys is prohibited during this year. The regulations also state that hunters may use shot guns not larger than 10 gauge and with magazine capacity of not exceeding three shells. The use of bow and arrow is also permitted but not the rifle.

Additional protection is extended to the Canvasback, Redhead, Buffhead and Ruddy Ducks. Not over three of any kind of these ducks or more than three in the aggregate are permitted in the daily limit of 10.

BOB & GENE DROP CHAMPIONSHIP

SUNDAY TO GREEN LINE NINE BY SCORE OF 7 TO 3—ONLY THREE GAMES NECESSARY TO DECIDE CHAMPS.

Bob & Gene's baseball team lost the third straight game to the strong Green Line nine Sunday by a score of 7 to 3 at the Crescent Springs grounds, losing their last chance to become winners of the Campbell County Semipro Baseball League.

Guy Daines, right-hand hurler for the Green Line nine deserves much credit for the title, pitching the final game, and allowing nine hits, striking out nine of Bob & Gene's men. This was Daines' fifteenth consecutive victory. It was the first time in history of the league that a hurler was able to go through the season undefeated.

Bob & Gene's boys obtained first blood, and at the end of the fourth inning were leading the Green Liners by a count of 3-1. However, in the fourth inning, they banged out four hits, good for four runs, and added a pair of runs in the fifth inning to put the game beyond doubt.

Steffen on the hill for Bob & Gene pitched a nice game thru-out, and had there been no errors behind him, the game probably would have had a different ending.

The local boys have played outstanding baseball during the season, and their manager, Robert Eades, has no doubts as to their defeat, but stated that they would be out there again next year hammering for the championship.

1830 MARRIAGES MORE COMPLICATED THAN PRESENT TIME

Mr. Chas. A. Fowler, of Hebron, was displaying a obtained by his father and mother before their marriage in the year 1830. According to the permit, the couple had to have a signed permit by both parents, which was presented to the County Clerk 30 days prior to the marriage.

At this time a bond of 50 pounds or $250 must be posted by the man which was held until the marriage.

The permit was obtained by Mr. Fowler's mother and father, Edward Fowler and Mary Susanna Brown, dated January 23, 1830, and they were married February 23, 1830. The names of Edward Fowler and Chastene Scott appeared on the bond.

TURN HOME

It is an ill wind that doesn't blow some good from the shore through the sad foreign situation. It creates hardships in some lines and benefits others. There are various companies dealing in peaceful materials that will find certain advantages due to new markets being opened to their products. For instance take the advertisers of tourist travel within this country. More people will see America first and spend millions of dollars here rather than in European travel. Radio listeners who are constantly waiting current war news will stay tuned to stations where advertising sponsors various programs. Newspaper and magazine circulation will increase as a result of the demand for news. The man who preferred European products will now look to America for his needs and if the advertisers are on their toes they will heed the writing on the wall.

The link with Central and South America will be strengthened and cause an increase in these markets, we believe. What is to be done about the making and selling of war materials to belligerent nations we know not and most of us in Boone County dislike thinking it through in case we do make armament while the sun shines. But we can safely use the opportunities of opening new markets through peaceful industry by advertising that which America has been able to offer all along.

BE INTERESTED

With local schools getting well under way it is about time to suggest to the many parents of this county that their job to the school has also just begun. This is not to find fault but to ask that folks not overlook the value of the school to their children, themselves and the community at large. Many parents feel that after their young ones go to school the task is for the teacher who takes charge, while they, the parents, sit back and wait for results. This is not fair to the youth or royal to the teacher. It is necessary to show that you are interested in the work, to visit the schoolroom just often enough to be a help, to show that you are keenly alive to your responsibility, and cooperating with the school system and the community. A child that is questioned about his progress each day, asked what he is reading, what subjects interest him, is impressed with the importance of education. The schools in this county are ones of which we can be justly proud, but we can help to produce better results by giving of our interest and our help.

QUIET, PLEASE!

Of all things, it seems that Mussolini can be upset by the sound of something else going on besides firing of guns! He is doing something about the unnecessary honking of automobile horns, and this is something that people of this section dislike as much as they acknowledge the use of an auto without a horn would be a menace but a horn has its place and should be used in it. The idea of scaring a pedestrian to give the car right of way, of the fellow who insists upon constantly honking to attract attention to his car, using a little leg movement, is when we think a horn is a nuisance. Mussolini is justified in clamping down on the racket. A horn is a warning measure and should be used for only this purpose.

IT'S TOO MUCH

Life seems complicated enough for most of us without piling up more indignities. Women hereabouts may be all keyed up to accept the things but try to imagine such corsets as hampered the figures of the dead past, coming back to local homes. To be faced with a return of the whale-bones and laces is asking a bit too much of progressive males. As we recall the corsets of yore needed extra hands in the tugging and lacing. If the men would sign a pledge not to assist in any way, refusing to become an accessory to the fact, the corset movement may die a rapid death, we hope.

CARE DOES IT

By CHARLES B. ROTH

CAN YOU READ LATIN?

THE law used to recognize the doctrine of Caveat emptor. That is Latin. It means "let the buyer beware." The doctrine for which it stood was simply this: Whenever you bought from another man, your responsibility to see that you got your money's worth, not his.

If he were a dishonest man and wanted to cheat you, you had to protect yourself. The law wouldn't help. "Let the buyer beware," Charles Roth it said. Caveat emptor.

That doctrine, as unsound doctrine always must, has given way to a better one. The modern business man, if he expects to remain in business and warrant your patronage year after year, doesn't expect you to protect yourself.

He assumes the obligation of protecting you. He makes sure that his quality is high. He religiously subjects his product to tests. He introduces improvements. And he establishes a price which is the minimum on which he can remain in business.

For this change, which is one of the most important improvements in business, advertising has been largely responsible. Advertising has given a permanent quality to business.

sound of a shot! Many men enjoy the sport and take down the rifle with a sportsman's pleasure. But with this enjoyment goes the fact that hunting is a dangerous thing. Men who disregard the warnings of each hunting season are a menace to any countryside. To travel the land with a cocked gun, climb through or over a fence pulling the gun after you, to shoot at the first slight sound or movement without being sure what is before you, all are instances when accidents occur and deaths result. The man who hunts with an inexperienced shooter should be especially careful. Teach safety to the hunter, the proper procedure and safe method of handling firearms. Protect your life and be a sportsman by maintaining a live one.

RABBIT HASH

There were services at the Baptist Church Saturday evening and at the M. E. Church Sunday and Sunday night.

C. W. Craig is still in the hospital at Louisville where he attended a corn shucking and wood sawing at Mr. F. L. Scott's Wednesday. He remains quite ill.

Mrs. Paul Acra attended a funeral of Mrs. Smith in Rising Sun last Monday.

Jno. Slayback and wife entertained with a dinner October 8. A large crowd was present and the day was enjoyed very much.

Robert Thurman is driving a new car. Robert and E. C. Clure spent the week-end at Patriot, Ind.

Mrs. B. W. Clure spent a few days last week visiting her daughter Mrs. Hazel Dyltho and family, and called on several while there.

Mrs. Martin Williamson was the guest of her parents in Big Bone last Tuesday.

October 15th being Sallie E. Scott's 21st birthday, her family gathered at her home to help celebrate the occasion. Those present were as follows: Mr. and Mrs. Solon Ryle and family Mr. and Mrs. Gene Wingate, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Ryle, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Ryle and family, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Acra and family, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Ryle, Lawrenceburg, Ind., Orville Scott and the host and hostess. Mrs. Scott was very much surprised. Her mother decorated an Angel Food cake which had 21 candles. All left wishing her many more happy occasions.

Mrs. Edna Mae Delph's aunt, of Cincinnati, O. visited them a few days the past week. Wilma Lucille Hodges spent last Wednesday night there.

B. W. Clure took dinner with H. M. Clure and family Thursday. Ivan Ryle and wife, and Mr. Trapp were guests of Mrs. Fannie Christena last Sunday in Indianapolis, Ind.

Garnett Dolph and family from Ohio called on Mrs. Lou VanNess Saturday afternoon. Mrs. Nellie Ryle also called on her and Mrs. Alberta Clure Wednesday. George Sullivan and brother, Robert Sullivan have our sympathy in the loss of their brother, who died last Friday.

Mrs. Vida Stephens called on Mrs. Pauline Loudon and Mrs. Hattie Loudon.

W. M. S. MEETS

The W. M. S. of the Bellevue Baptist Church held their regular monthly meeting at the church last Wednesday afternoon. Fourteen members were present to enjoy a volunteer program of which everyone there responded with a suitable part to follow out the subject "Our Debt to God," also our business meeting and discussion.

ness. A man who advertises must be scrupulous in his integrity. He cannot write lies. He has to live up to all claims. This means that you, as a customer, can buy from such a man with absolute confidence.

Not long ago Owen D. Young, one of America's clearest thinkers and a great business executive, declared that:

"Dishonesty in various forms is becoming rarer in business. Whenever it occurs it is exploited in newspapers, because it is the unusual, not the common thing. A store keeper may short-measure or short-weight his customer and make a little. He may even induce a clerk to short-measure or short-weight. But he cannot build a big business on that basis. Honesty and uprightness must exist in great business organizations."

And it must also exist in smaller business organizations, which expect to grow large.

Whenever a business man advertises, it is a sign that he wants to operate an honest business, one from which you can buy with confidence and trust.

Advertising is thus the guiding light which you can follow in getting more for your money. Daily it leads millions of American customers to better values, to greater satisfaction, to the security which comes from dealing with men and organizations they know they can trust.

IMPROVED
UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL
SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSONBy R. H. L. LUTHER, D. D.
Dean of The Moody Bible Institute
(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

Lesson for October 22

Lesson subjects and Scripture texts selected and copyrighted by International Council of Religious Education; used by permission.

THE CITIZENS OF THE KINGDOM

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 5:1-16.
GOLDEN TEXT—Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven.—Matthew 5:16.

Great and historic discourses are preserved with care and are read by succeeding generations with profit and interest even though they are recognized to be the utterances of weak and fallible men. The lesson before us presents what is "undoubtedly the greatest single discourse ever uttered by any teacher or statesman or philosopher in the whole history of the human race" (Smith). Take up your Bible and read the words of the text.

These verses are addressed to believers, to those who have actually taken Christ as king of their lives. These beatitudes are not a substitute for the gospel. They are not laws that the unbeliever can keep and thus be saved. They are to be utterly impossible for anyone to do, except the one who has been born again. Only he who knows and lives upon the power and grace of God in Christ can qualify to walk as a citizen of His kingdom.

I. The Christian's King (vv. 1, 2).

The words which fell from the blessed lips of the Lord Jesus on that day as He sat on the mountain-side were not the powerless declarations of an earthly philosopher or statesman, but of the Son of God who had humbled Himself and become the Son of Man who was still the King of kings and the Lord of lords. If you have not given glad and free allegiance to Him, do it now and you will then be ready to go on and learn of the Christian's character and influence which may be your possession in Christ.

II. The Christian's Character (vv. 3-12).

The eight characteristics of the Christian are presented in the form of extended individual attention, but we can offer only brief suggestions. "Blessed are the poor in spirit" speaks of humility as a commendable quality. How contradictory the present-day philosophy which calls for self-assertion and self-reliance. But Jesus not mistaken. The way into the kingdom of heaven is not that of assertive self-sufficiency.

"Blessed are they that mourn." The world does not believe that statement. It shuns the house of mourning. It tries without avail to philosophize away the fact of sorrow. The Christian, on the other hand, feels with his fellow man and thus receives a blessing.

"I walked a mile with Pleasure, He chattered all the way; But left me none the wiser For all she had to say."

"I walked a mile with Sorrow, And met a word said she; But oh, the things I learned from her While sorrow walked with me."

"Blessed are the meek." Ah, yes, poverty of spirit comes when a man rightly sees himself, and has a sympathetic touch with sorrow. Then he "inherits the earth," because he truly comes to enjoy it as a place of service and Christian growth, and not because he has a deed to a single foot of soil.

"Note that it is the hunger and thirst for righteousness, and not the possession of it, that is blessed" (Plummer). Self-satisfied people know nothing of the glory of having such a hunger and thirst filled by God.

Time falls us to speak of the Christian's spirit of mercy which invites divine mercy; that purity of heart and absolute cleanness of mind and sincerity of purpose which enable a man really to see God even in this impure world; that Christlike spirit which makes him a peacemaker in a fighting world—yes, that spirit which makes him like the Master in sweetly bearing unjustified persecution. These indeed are the marks of the man who follows Christ the King.

III. The Christian's Influence (vv. 13-16).

"Salt" and "light." What pungent and powerful folk are the real followers of Christ! Salt fights against rottenness, keeps things sweet and fresh. Dr. J. H. Jowett says, Christians "are to confront rottenness in politics; they are to meet it in the realm of business; they are to make for it in the field of sport; they are to be its enemies in the crowded streets of common intercourse; they are to defeat it in the quiet and sequestered ways of art and literature; everywhere they are to provide the antidote to corruption, and they are to overcome and destroy it."

Light has one function, namely, to illuminate. Wickedness and sin always lead darkness, because their deeds are evil (reads John 3:19-21). If Christ really dwells in us we cannot help but shed light about us wherever we go—a divine light which drives out the darkness of sin, of ignorance, of superstition, and replaces it with the sunlight of God.

APPLESAUCE

Good applesauce is light colored, well flavored and smooth. To get it smooth remove skin and core carefully so as not to leave lumps when cooking. Use as little water as possible. Sugar depends upon sweetness of your juice but too much sugar lessens the food value. If sugar is added just before sauce is done the sauce will taste fresher and be lighter in color. Cooking rapidly also helps to keep the color light.

It would be as easy to change human nature as it would be to stop yawning.

THE FARM AND HOME

In stacking hay, a bottom of poles or dry trash is advisable as is a well-tramped center built high and covered with a foot or more of grass hay to shed water. Stacks should not be small, since stacked hay is subject to loss from weathering on the surface.

Carrot custard recipe: Beat 3 eggs slightly, add 1½ cups of grated raw carrot, 3 cups of milk, 3 tablespoons of melted butter or other fat and a teaspoon of salt. Pour into a greased baking dish, place on a rack in a pan of hot water, and bake in a moderate oven for about an hour.

After picking the strawberry crop, the rows are narrowed to about 8 inches and given a side dressing of sulfate of ammonia or nitrate of soda, at the rate of 20 pounds to a tenth of an acre or 50 pounds to the quarter-acre. This is about a pound to a 50-foot row. Fertility is the cause of many eggs spoiling before they reach the market. Dispose of all rosters and produce infertile eggs the rest of the year. Gather eggs at least twice daily, and store them in a cool place.

It is estimated that manure worth $15,000,000 is wasted in Kentucky annually. Before the coming of the soil conservation program, this represented more than eight times the expenditures made by Kentucky farmers for commercial fertilizers.

EXPERIMENT STATION TRYING TO IMPROVE CURING OF TOBACCO

Methods of curing tobacco which may help farmers make high-quality leaf of larger proportions of their crops are being tested at the Kentucky Agriculture Experiment Station. Nine curing chambers are being operated in which there is complete control of such curing factors as temperature, humidity and circulation of air.

The experiments to date, while in no way conclusive, indicate that control of humidity rather than control of temperature may be the most important factor in curing tobacco. Best results have been obtained where the humidity ranged from 65 to 70 percent. So far as temperature is concerned, expert graders were unable to distinguish consistently between tobacco cured at 75 degrees and at 90 degrees. This would seem to indicate, according to the experimenters, that the purpose of using fire in curing tobacco should be to decrease the humidity rather than to increase the temperature. If this is to be accomplished, ventilation should be left open, particularly at the top of the barn during firing.

In 14 out of 16 instances, the expert graders employed to grade the experimentally-cured tobacco preferred leaf cured at a constant humidity of 68 percent to leaf cured at a humidity of 77 percent for two weeks, and then reduced to 68 percent. Every grader discriminated against tobacco cured at a relative humidity of 77 percent or higher throughout the curing period.

Plans for the operation of the nine experimental curing chambers the year-round for several years, until sufficient tests have been made to obtain definite information regarding the best methods of curing high-quality tobacco. As soon as the laboratory tests are far enough advanced to determine the best conditions for curing, a barn will be designed to make it as easy as possible for farmers to maintain these conditions.

Extensive chemical laboratory tests also are being made at the Experiment Station, in an effort to obtain information about the chemical changes which occur during the curing process, and the chemical differences which exist between good and poor tobacco.

There also are plans for burning quality, color, texture, elasticity and the like, which buyers consider in making purchases. In all these factors, it is hoped that chemistry will reveal information which will be of value in perfecting curing methods.

MORGAN FARMERS STAGE COMEBACK

The greatest comeback in a generation, says County Agent Yandal Wraether, writing about farm progress in Morgan county, Kentucky. Four years ago leading men of Morgan county gathered in the county agent's office to survey the situation and to map plans for the rejuvenation of agriculture. They found farms averaging 65 acres in size, supporting an average of 15 persons, seventenths of an acre in tobacco, eight acres in corn, three acres in small grain, 40 hogs, a third of a sheep, two and a half cattle, less than a team per farm. Farmers were spending $90,000 a year for land and meat.

The improvement program was to include the use of limestone and superphosphate, more hay and grass, more livestock, more food and feed from the farm. Last year 7,000 tons of limestone were spread. The year 13 carloads of superphosphate have been ordered. One merchant last year sold 118,000 pounds of crimson clover seed, and a total of 32,340 acres of grasses and legumes were seeded.

Farmers are being helped to build up herds of cattle, and there is a demand for sheep. Wraether says there should be 25,000 sheep in the county, that the annual income from lambs and wool should reach $250,000.

STREAMLINED TURKEYS AT POULTRY CONGRESS

The modernized small turkey will be shown in its present stage of development at the Seventh World's Poultry Congress, to be held in Cleveland, July 28 to Aug. 7th.

The display, part of the U. S. Government exhibit at the Congress will include two live small-type white turkeys—a young tom and a young hen.

Exact reproductions in wax of four dressed turkeys also will be shown, two of them modeled after male and female small-type turkeys with dressed weights of approximately 14 and 8 pounds, respectively, and two after male and female of the common Bronze variety, with dressed weights of approximately 21 and 14 pounds, respectively.

The aim of the breeding work is to develop a small turkey to fit the modern small oven and suitable for the modern small family.

There is a growing demand for small market turkeys. The smaller turkeys out of the annual crops of the standard varieties sell at a premium of ¼ to 5 cents a pound.

If You Cannot Dance and Talk, Leave Floor

DO YOU think it good manners for a couple to practically stop dancing on a crowded dance floor in order to carry on a conversation in which they are obviously very much interested?

Answer: If two people can not manage to dance and talk both at the same time, then I certainly think they should find a place off the floor somewhere to finish their conversation.

Week-End Invitation

DEAR Mrs. Post: I am just twenty-one and live with a woman who is not a relative and also not very broad-minded about this modern age. I'm always living in fear that I am going to suggest doing something wrong to displease her. A friend has asked me to go to New York with him over a week-end. His older brother will be with us on the train and I am to stay with this married aunt, who has invited me personally. May I go and will I place my foster-mother under any obligation in accepting this invitation? I believe in this case that is the point that will annoy her especially.

Answer: If you have received a DEFINITE invitation from his aunt and your foster-mother does not disapprove of this man (or of his aunt) I can see no impropriety in your going to stay with her. Your acceptance of the invitation will not put your foster-mother under any obligation whatsoever.

Shower at Home

DEAR Mrs. Post: My sister's friends have asked me to give a shower party for her at my house, since I have better space for having parties. The shower is being given because a baby is expected soon. Since they have asked me to give it, do you still think it would be unsuitable for a member of her family to do this?

Answer: If the two or three who proposed this party will send out the invitations on their cards, the fact that the party will be in your house is not important.

"GUNBOAT" INVENTS THE "SNOWBALL" BRAND

"GUNBOAT" CHARLIE, so named on account of his big feet, sat down by his little branding fire puffing and winded, for he had just thrown and tied a young white-faced bull that would fetch a handsome price once he met up with anyone who really knew anything about that sort of animal. And, as he regained breath and poise, he gave some attention to the iron rod of the fire, moving the end of it well down into the red coals, for it must be plenty hot for the job he had on hand. And, as he waited, hemmed in by the blackness of a cloudy Saturday night, he pined for himself on the back for the way in which he had escaped detection. They were all plain dumbbells, even the Men of the Mounted, or they'd have caught up to him long ago. On the other hand, he was right smart, was "Gunboat," for he was wily and cunning, and he knew how to hide a branding-fire in the recesses of a gully at coolies. He just used his head, that's all, and as long as he had that, he'd be able to carry on. Moreover, he knew just where to find a buyer.

A few minutes later, red-hot rod in hand, he scooped rapidly over to the prostrate young bull and the bluish-white smoke from burning hair and hide was coiling upward into the night. With all the care and precision of a surgeon doing a difficult operation, "Gunboat" moved that red-hot iron over the original brand until he had made a nice round spot. "When that heats up it'll be kinda whitish, so we'll just call it the Snowball Brand," he muttered as he finished. Within the hour he had performed a like operation on the three fat steers, and then rolled

AUTO TIPS

Cheeseclones should be used commonly in auto care. The material is firm yet loosely woven so that grease comes out rapidly when it is washed. . . . To detect noises in your car let it coast. If the noise is in the engine it will disappear when the motor is idle, and if it is in the body the noise will continue. A cloth soaked in oil will add a bright polish to plated parts of your auto.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to all relatives, friends and neighbors for the kindness and sympathy extended us at the loss of our beloved husband and father, Bernard Jones.

Especially do we wish to thank Dr. G. R. Coker for his untiring efforts, Rev. Roy Johnson for his kind and consoling words; the doctors of the beautiful floral pieces; and Chambers and Grubbs, funeral directors for their efficient management of the funeral.

WEEK'S BEST RECIPE

Mulligan Stew—2 cans concentrated tomato soup, 1 can Irish stew, 1 can hominy, 1 can spaghetti with tomato sauce, 1 can peas, 4 or 5 sliced onions, salt and pepper to taste. This is a hurry-up way of feeding a hungry crowd. You put all the above together in a large cooking kettle and heat through.

SINK SAVER

Put a rubber mat on the surface of the sink where you will be using aluminum pans. These pans leave dark spots on tables also. The mat helps prevent the marking. To remove the stain use a mild cleaner on a damp cloth.

PAINT BEFORE WINTER COMES

There is much to be done NOW on your home to protect it against the rigors of winter weather. If your home is in need of painting, don't let it go through the winter without paint and risk serious damage.

And don't overlook the roof; it, too, should be painted at this time. A little inspection will disclose many uses for paint right now.

Gayety Theater News

Fri. & Sat.—Heritage of the Desert Sun. & Mon.—"Some Like It Hot" Tues.—"Million Dollar Legs." Wed. & Thurs., Oct. 25 & 26th—"You Can't Take It With You."

The accent is squarely on swing in the new romantic comedy, "Some Like It Hot," which will be shown at the Gayety Sunday and Monday. Starring Bob Hope, Shirley Ross and Gene Krupa and his orchestra is featured in the picture, the plot concerns the hair-brained efforts of Bob Hope to promote a place in the bigtime for himself and Krupa and his orchestra. But Bob is turned down by a hard-boiled agent, and when he meets Shirley Ross, she attempts to encourage him by letting him hook her ring so that he'll have money to finance his efforts. Then Bob has to lose the ring in a crap game, and he loses almost everything when the girl and the orchestra break into the big-time on their own momentum. Fitting into the plot of the picture are two grand new tunes. One is "Some Like It Hot," played with mad abandon by Krupa, "king of the hide-beaters" and his orchestra, and the other is "The Lady's in Love With You," sung by Bob and Shirley and guaranteed to make you recall "Two Sleepy People" and "Thanks For The Memory."

"Million Dollar Legs" Paramount comedy of college life, coming to the Gayety Theatre Tuesday, features a roster of brilliant new talent, among them being Betty Grable, Jackie Coogan, Joyce Mathews, Donald O'Connor, Larry Crabbie and John Hartley.

"Million Dollar Legs" is a laugh-provoking film about the less serious side of campus life. Because the college's chief patron is opposed to all sports except basketball, the students take matters into their own hands when they request for a college crew is thrown down. Pawning their books, bikes, and tennis rackets they scrimp together a hundred dollars which they bet on a 20-1 turf shot. They have been assured that with Jockey O'Connor riding, the nag, they can't lose. See this picture.

"You Can't Take It With You" is one of the best pictures of the year, starring Jean Arthur, Lionel Barrymore, James Stewart, Edward Arnold, Mischa Auer, Ann Miller and a strong supporting cast. This play won the Pulitzer prize. Be sure to enjoy this wonderful picture. ... Wednesday and Thursday, the Gayety Theatre will celebrate their first anniversary. The picture to be shown on these nights will be "You Can't Take It With You." Each adult attending will be given a flower and each child will be given a bar of candy.

The Gayety has been located in its new building one year Wednesday. This place of entertainment has been well patronized during the past year by Boone and surrounding counties, and the management wishes to take this means of expressing their appreciation for past patronage, and assure their patrons of high class entertainment in the future.

A TRIBUTE TO EX-SENATOR LOGAN

When the proposition was up to request Senator Logan to resign for a better position so that Governor Chandler could be appointed Senator, Senator Logan was approached about the matter. His reply was, "No, my Kentucky constituents elected me to represent them as Senator. I would be against my convictions and conscience to fail to represent them. I have to live with my conscience, which is more sacred to me than any promotion or gain."

I consider this the greatest sentiment and words uttered by anyone excepting Christ. If men and women in Church and State, from the highest to the lowest in all responsibilities of life would realize they can not get away from their conscience, and treat their fellow man right, what a great world of ours this would be to live in.

PROGRAM CHANGE HELPS WHEAT MEN

All wheat farmers in Kentucky have been notified of their 1940 wheat allotment or usual acreage, according to the state office of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

It also is announced that farmers who grow wheat as hay, pasture, green manure or cover crop may reclassify their farms to non-allotment wheat farms. This enables them to follow their regular system of farming and at the same time cooperate more easily in the farm program, since only wheat acreage harvested for grain would be classified as wheat. Farmers who change to non-allotment wheat growing will not be eligible for wheat loans or price adjustment and conservation payments on wheat in 1940, but will be eligible for wheat insurance on their usual wheat acreage.

Before a farmer applies for wheat insurance he must decide whether he wants to be an allotment wheat grower. This must be done before wheat is seeded, but not later than Sept. 30. Wheat harvested for hay on non-allotment farms will be classified as soil-depleting unless it is used as nurse crop for legumes and grasses and cut green or grown with a mixture of 25 percent by weight of Austrian winter peas or vetch.

WEEK'S BEST RECIPE

Chocolate Chiffon Pie—1 teaspoon gelatin, one-fourth cup cold water, 1/2 cup boiling water, 2 squares melted, unsweetened chocolate, 4 egg yolks, 1 cup sugar, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 4 egg whites. Soften gelatin in cold water. Mix boiling water and chocolate to smooth paste, add gelatin, stir until latter dissolves. Add egg yolks beaten until fluffy, combine with 1/2 cup of sugar. Stir in salt, vanilla, cool until slightly thick. Beat egg whites stiff, add remaining sugar, beat until it makes a peak. Fold in chocolate and put in pie shell. Put in ice box 12 to 24 hours. Spread with thin layer of sweetened whipped cream when serving.

Too many folks are figuring on a T-bone steak existence when all they might have is a soup-bone income.

Our sensibilities may be with the foreign democracies, but our common sense is "All American."

The fellow who insists there isn't anything new under the sun hasn't heard lots of the radio propaganda!

The nicest part about happiness is that when you spray it on yourself the perfume scents all those about you.

We respect the opinion of almost every man, except the fellow who says he knows all there is to know about raising chickens!

Tall fish tales are being brushed aside for those more recent tall cornstalk stories.

KEEP YOUR RED CROSS READY

THIS striking painting of a Red Cross nurse keeping the symbol of mercy flying is the keynote of the 1939 appeal for membership in the American Red Cross. Paced with the need for strengthening daily Red Cross services in 3,700 chapters, and with its chartered obligation to aid in some manner in meeting the distress of the men, women and children refugees in war-torn countries across the sea, the Red Cross asks every man and woman in the nation, able to do so, to join as a member this year and support America's official voluntary relief agency.

Franklin Williams, a distinguished artist, is creator of this ideal conception of the nurse heroine. The roll call for members will be held November 11 to 30—join through your local chapter. Help your Red Cross help others by becoming one of the millions who will add their names to the roll of mercy.

FLY-FREE SOWING DATES FOR WHEAT

Surveys made by the Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine with the Kentucky Experiment Station show that there is an infestation of Hessian fly ranging from 1 to 30 percent among 14 counties examined.

Webster county had a maximum infestation of 30 percent. Other counties examined had infestations high enough to warrant the observance of the recommended fly-free sowing dates. These are as follows:

October 4 to 6, for the following counties: Boone, Kenton, Campbell, Bracken, Pendleton, Grant and Gallatin.

October 6 to 8: Carroll, Trimble, Oldham, Henry, Owen, Harrison, Robertson, Mason, Lewis and Greenup.

October 8 to 10: Jefferson, Shelby, Franklin, Scott, Bourbon, Nicholas, Fleming, Bath, Rowan, Carter, Elliott, Boyd and Lawrence counties.

October 10 to 12: Meade, Breckinridge, Hancock, Davies, Henderson, Union, Webster, Crittenden, Cumberland, Clinton, Monroe, Metcalfe, Barren, Allen, Edmonson, Butler, Warren, Simpson, Logan, Muhlenberg, Hopkins, Todd, Christian, Caldwell, Livingston, Lyon, Trigg, Calloway, Marshall, McCracken, Graves, Ballard, Carlisle, Hickman, and Fulton.

APPLES PLentiful: EAT MORE OF THEM

Kentucky has a good apple crop this year, and the price is considered reasonable. Eat more apples, say home economists at the State College of Agriculture, who offer the following recipe for fried apples and bacon.

Part apples, and cut into cubes to make about two quarts. Fry bacon in a heavy skillet, and when crisp drain on absorbent paper, and keep in a warm place. Leave about four tablespoons of bacon fat in the skillet, fill it with apples, sprinkle on a fourth of a cup of sugar, cover, and cook slowly until the apples are tender. Then remove the cover, turn the apples gently so the pieces will keep their shape, and let them brown and become transparent. Serve on a hot platter with the bacon. If desired, use thin slices of ham or salt pork, or sausage.

Applesauce To make applesauce, wash, pare, quarter and core the apples; or leave the skins on if the sauce is to be put through a colander. Cook the apples until soft in a covered pan, using just enough water to keep them from scorching. Put the sauce through a colander, or stir until smooth. Sweeten to taste, and add a few grains of salt.

Flavor may be varied by adding lemon juice or spices, such as cinnamon or cloves. Nutmeg should be used only in applesauce which is to be eaten at once, for it is likely to make flavor bitter on standing.

STUDY SHOWS FARM COST ON INCREASE

How farm expenses have increased in recent years is revealed in a study which the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture made of farms in Union county. On 10 farms where records were kept, expenses more than doubled from 1934 to 1938.

Geo. B. Byers, who dictated the study for the farm economics department of the College, said the increase in farm costs during the five-year period was caused largely by increasing labor and machinery expenditures.

Expenses on the Union county farms studied increased from $1,281 in 1934 to $2,718 in 1938, dropping to $2,564 in 1938. Net earnings averaged $2,385 per farm in 1934, and $1,215 in 1938. Most of this decrease in earnings was due to higher costs.

Since Union county is in a good corn growing region, livestock furnishes the major part of the farm income. For the past five years hogs have furnished more income than all other kinds of livestock combined, except in 1934. Best cattle ranked second as a source of farm receipts. Wheat furnished the largest income of any single crop, except in 1934.

KENTUCKY FARM NEWS

Applications of limestone and superphosphate the use of good seed, plus a good growing season, combined to give Montgomery county farmers the biggest hay supply in years. Buildings are full of hay and there are hundreds of ricks and stacks in fields.

Six kinds of hybrid corn grown in Adair county this season averaged 49 bushels to the acre, compared to 39 bushels for common kinds. Hybrid also had better root systems, more evenly placed ears, less shuck and better matured ears.

Jefferson county 4-H club members won $292 on dairy cattle exhibited at this year's Kentucky State Fair. Campbell county boys and girls won $275, and Shelby county juniors, $246. John Elmer Kalney, Jefferson county boy, won $100 for eight Holsteins.

Operating for the fourth consecutive year at the University of Kentucky is the 4-H Cooperative House for young women. By doing their own buying, cooking, laundering and housework, the cost of their education is cut in half.

GRASS FIRES CAUSE CONSIDERABLE DAMAGE

IN COUNTY DURING PAST WEEK—WILD LIFE, SOIL GREATLY AFFECTED—600 ACRES BURNED OVER.

Grass fires in Boone County destroyed all vegetation on approximately 600 acres of land in Boone County during the past week, according to reports received at this office Tuesday evening.

The largest fire reported was in the North Bend bottoms which covered approximately 400 acres. Forty CCC boys from the Walton camp were called and fought the blaze until 6:30 in the afternoon, when the blaze was brought under control, according to Mr. Lay, officer of the camp. A group of boys remained on the grounds for several hours to see that the fire did not break out at another point.

The fire in the North Bend bottoms was believed to have been started from tractor sparks. The blaze spread through the farms of Dr. Crisler, Lloyd, and Frank McGlasson. Another fire at the farm of W. B. Eggleston was believed to have been started when hot ashes were dumped on some dry grass.

Sunday morning citizens of the Big Bone neighborhood and the CCC boys fought a fire which covered approximately 175 acres, destroying an old house and barn, and threatened at one time to destroy a large barn of Harry Adams and sister. Fire fighters were busy all day Sunday fighting a blaze which spread over the lands of Stanley Richards, Lute Baker, Harry Adams and John Gore. The CCC boys were called again Monday to the Big Bone neighborhood where it is believed, sparks from a stump which was burned over Sunday had ignited another fire. The blaze was extinguished with little difficulty.

V. W. Gaines, of the Garrison neighborhood reported Monday that fire burned over approximately 100 acres in his neighborhood last week, 50 acres on his farm and 50 acres on a farm adjoining. He stated that twenty-five or thirty neighbors and friends were kept busy for several hours before the fire was brought under control.

Erlanger Youth Dies From Burns Sunday

Robert William Hamilton, 21, of 539 Dixie Highway Erlanger died Sunday, following an explosion Saturday. Burns were received when gasoline he was using to clean a truck exploded. The accident occurred at Stonewall, Scott county.

Hamilton was cleaning the motor or with gasoline taken from an open can when the fluid was ignited by a hot wire. He attempted to throw the can aside, but the blazing contents splattered over him, burning the greater part of the clothing from his body.

He was rushed to John Graves Ford Memorial Hospital, Georgetown. He ran into the hospital unaided, and his condition was thought to be good. His death was unexpected Sunday.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Elizabeth Hamilton, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Buford Hamilton, all of Erlanger and a number of other relatives.

Funeral services were conducted at Corinth Christian Church at 3:00 Tuesday.

BOONE COUNTY REVIEW PLANNED

FOR 25TH ANNIVERSARY OF EXTENSION WORK—BANQUET AND PROGRAM SET FOR NOVEMBER 3RD.

The committee in charge of plans for the 25th Anniversary Celebration of Extension work in Boone County completed plans for the celebration of the event at Burlington school on Friday evening, November 3rd, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent.

The program will review county development since the passage of the Smith-Lever Act in 1914, providing for the cooperation of Federal and State and County governments in this form of educational work among farm families.

Dean Thomas P. Cooper of the College of Agriculture, in reviewing Agricultural Extension Work, recently called it "the greatest movement in adult education the world has known." He said that the extension workers and homemakers have utilized extension work greatly to their advantage. One has but to visualize the tremendous agricultural progress made in this State to realize the vast economic and social advantages that have occurred.

"Work in agricultural extension touches in one form or another every industry and business that serves agriculture. It affects the outlook of villages and cities and relates them to agriculture. It touches either directly or indirectly almost every farm and farm home and serves our people as a whole. When the history of extension work in Kentucky is written, its service will stand out as the most important contribution to the agricultural economy, wealth and rural welfare that has been undertaken in the life of the State."

Boone County will review local progress during this period with the following program to be presented at a banquet dinner on November 3rd:

Toastmaster, A. B. Renaker. Invocation, Rev. J. M. Smith. Special Music.

Community Singing. Sketches of Extension Progress and Development from 1914-1939 will be given in the following order:

1914-1919—Edgar Riley. 1919-1924—Frank H. Rouse. 1924-1929—E. J. Aylor. 1929-1934—Mark Cook. 1934-1939—John Crigler, Mrs. J. F. Cleek and Grant Maddox.

Looking Ahead—T. R. Bryant. Music. Dinner furnished by Burlington P-T-A, 50c per plate.

Adjournment. Invitations have been extended to all county extension workers employed in the county since 1914 to be present. All farmers, farm wives and agricultural and home economics leaders are urged to attend.

566 FARMERS ON 1938 HONOR ROLL

FIVE HUNDRED AND SIXTY-SIX OUT OF 1162 COOPERATING IN ACP EARN 100 PERCENT OF ALLOWANCE.

Five hundred and sixty-six out of 1162 farmers cooperating under the 1938 Agricultural Conservation Program earned 100 percent of their soil building allowances and qualified for last year's honor roll for farmers earning out soil-building practices, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent. This number is expected to be increased for 1939.

Goals for each farm are set up under the program. The goals in most instances are set up so that farmers carry out more soil-building practices than normally in order to qualify on the honor roll. Last year 307 of these farmers used limestone and 398 of these farmers used phosphate on soil-building practices.

The 1938 Honor Roll farmers by communities are as follows: Petersburg-Grant Community. Arthur Alloway, Cadmus Berkshire, Brady Brothers, Grace S. Brown, J. F. Buffington, John C. Burns, Elmer Worford, R. B. Carter, Carlos Cason, R. C. Cason, T. B. Cason, Edith Caudill, A. H. Cook, Elmer Deek, Cordelia Early, Mrs. Walter Edgington, D. C. Fields, Joseph Flickinger, Jas. E. In Your Shoes

Foot Comfort Specialist at—
PEOPLE'S FOOT COMFORT
3th and Madison Covington

You actually pound 181 tons of weight into your shoes every mile you walk. (Figures based on 150 pound person.)

Do you realize why feet let down, hurt, develop corns, bunions, callouses and more serious ills?

Science has made an amazing advance in orthopedics of the feet—as great an advance as in other modes of transportation.

Science has discovered many new things about feet, and how vitally your hurting feet affect your entire system. It's hard to believe that 50% of maladies traceable to feet are above the hips, but it's true. Do you wonder that when your feet hurt you are utterly fatigued, depressed, nervous, discouraged?

Poor feet cause much misery, BACKACHE, HEADACHE, and many body ills may be traced to feet.

Even symptoms like those of rheumatism and arthritis now are being banished with proper surgical and prescription shoes.

Stop crippling your feet today and let's get everything back to normal. Normally there should pass through the feet 15 gallons of blood every 24 hours, then the feet are properly nourished—waste matter properly carried away—and bone repair (as should be when all this comes to pass, (normally) our feet are healthy and we'll walk briskly (not timid) in walking.

briskly we breathe 85,000 gallons of air, that will help to purify the blood that make us feel better all over.

If your feet hurt, is it not wise to check up now and WALK IN HEALTH WITH HAPPY FEET?

KENTUCKY DEMOCRATS

LET'S SHOW THE NATION

We are Proud of and Appreciate the Record of Achievement Made By Our

STATE and NATIONAL ADMINISTRATION

THE FORGOTTEN MAN during the last few years has come into his own, with the New Deal's Social Security program working in his behalf, WPA, PWA, the CCC, Old-Age Assistance and other agencies are DEMOCRATIC in origin and the Republican Party has never put forward anything to take their place, although criticizing and seeking to curtail or eliminate these governmental relief organizations.

THE FARMER, through the Agricultural Adjustment programs, has been greatly aided, his income materially increased, in many instances his farm saved by the DEMOCRATIC NATIONAL ADMINISTRATION.

THE LABORING MAN has won recognition of his honorable contribution to the nation's welfare during the DEMOCRATIC administration of Franklin D. Roosevelt as never before. Hours and wages have been regulated for the benefit of the Laborer, Job Insurance has come about, the right to bargain with employers is guaranteed and Labor's cause greatly advanced.

BUSINESS AND INDUSTRY have been safeguarded and regulation by the DEMOCRATIC administration at Washington. Wall Street has been regulated for the protection of small investors.

BANK DEPOSITS have been INSURED by the DEMOCRATIC national administration and essential industries have been aided by government loans during this DEMOCRATIC national administration.

KENTUCKY HAS MADE MORE PROGRESS during the last DEMOCRATIC STATE ADMINISTRATION than in the previous generation and a half. The State Debt of more than $28,000,000 has been reduced to $6,000,000 during the present STATE DEMOCRATIC ADMINISTRATION.

KENTUCKY HAS A BALANCED BUDGET and is living within her income, a great accomplishment of the present DEMOCRATIC STATE ADMINISTRATION, at a time when governmental units everywhere are staggering under huge debts and the people of other states and nations are heavily burdened by taxes.

KENTUCKY'S SCHOOL CHILDREN are receiving the highest per capita allotment in the history of the State under this DEMOCRATIC ADMINISTRATION.

COMPLETE REHABILITATION of the State's penal and charitable institutions has been undertaken under this DEMOCRATIC STATE ADMINISTRATION and Kentucky will rank first among the states in caring for her unfortunate citizens when this program is completed under another Democratic administration.

KENTUCKY HAS COME A LONG WAY forward under DEMOCRATIC administrations in recent years. The progress thus begun should be continued and this can be guaranteed only by a continuation of DEMOCRATIC control of the State's affairs.

FAR FROM OFFERING SOMETHING BETTER than the accomplishments which have come to the Nation and to Kentucky under DEMOCRATIC ADMINISTRATIONS, the REPUBLICAN party, in State and Nation, has not presented any program for meeting the great needs and emergencies of the hour and has "ONLY A STARK AND NAKED POLITICAL APPETITE" as its excuse for asking political preference in Kentucky this year.

THE EYES OF THE NATION are upon Kentucky and the result of the election Tuesday, Nov. 7 will have great influence upon the Presidential election in 1940.

DHIA ORGANIZED OCTOBER 27TH

CYRIL TUCKETT SELECTED AS OFFICIAL TESTER, TO BEGIN WORK NOVEMBER 1—EIGHT SIGNERS IN BOONE COUNTY.

The Northern Kentucky Dairy Herd Improvement Association held its organization meeting at Independence courthouse on last Friday evening, October 27th. Henry J. Feldman, Campbell county, was elected President; Harold Crigler, Boone county, Vice President; and Grant Maddox, Boone county, Secretary. Treasurer, Joseph Kahman, Kenton county, H. S. Bailey, Pendleton county, and George Kearns, Boone county, were elected directors.

The Board of Directors in a business meeting following the organization met and selected Cyril Tuckett tester to begin work November 1st.

Reports of the organization committee showed Boone county had eight signed members, Campbell county eight, Kenton county four and Pendleton county two members. Several prospective members had not reported and the members were confident that the four additional members needed for a full 25-day association could be secured. This report did not include three additional Boone County D. H. I. A. members of the Boone County Bull Association who are continuing their association membership in the Boone, Carroll, Shelby County Association in which John Hood is tester.

The eight new Boone County members of the Northern Kentucky D. H. I. A. are: George Kearns, R. C. Garrison, Albert Parker, A. L. Liggett, Grant Maddox, Wm. H. Moore, Henry Sleekman, T. F. Helle, Harold Crigler.

ACP Payment Applications Being Signed At Co. Office

Nine hundred twenty applications for payment for farmers co-operating in the 1939 Agricultural Conservation Program are now ready to be signed according to John E. Crigler, Secretary of the Boone County ACP Association.

Farmers who have carried out late soil-building practices may report these at the county office and sign their applications for payment at the same time. Most farmers like to receive their payments at the earliest possible date. Those who sign their applications reasonably early are more likely to receive their benefit checks at an earlier date.

Boone County farmers will receive approximately $78,277.98 for soil-conservation work performed in the 1939 program.

LARGE CROWD TO ATTEND BANQUET

IN OBSERVATION OF TWENTY-FIVE YEARS' EXTENSION WORK IN BOONE COUNTY, PROGRAM TO BE PRESENTED.

Banquet dinner reservations indicate there will be a large attendance of agricultural leaders and friends at the 25th Anniversary Celebration of Extension work in Boone County at 6:30 p. m. at the new Burlington school on this Friday, November 3, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent.

Boone County is one of the oldest counties in the State in agricultural and Home Economics Extension work. A splendid group of leaders will present sketches on the high points of agricultural and home economics improvement during this period. Former county and assistant agents have been invited to attend and many of them have already reported they will be present. Music and special entertainment will be provided.

The Burlington P.-T. A. has completed plans for serving an excellent fifty-cent banquet dinner in the new school building. This is Boone County's own silver anniversary celebration. Everyone is invited to attend. It is very important that reservation be made by Thursday morning or the earliest possible date in order that sufficient diners may be prepared by the P.-T. A.

Committee Appointed To Locate Insectary

Twenty-five fruit growers from Boone, Kenton, Campbell and Bracken counties met at the farm of Bert Scott of near Crescent Springs on last Wednesday, Oct. 25th, and voted to cooperate with the College of Agriculture and the State Horticultural Society in locating an insectary in Northern Kentucky. The purpose of the insectary is to study and report developments of insect and disease activity to fruit growers and advise them on the time and kinds of sprays to use for control.

This information is valuable to fruit growers whose greatest production problem is the producing of clean fruit.

Boone County: Frank Rouse, of Burlington; B. C. Stephens, Burlington.

Bracken County: Adam Kalb, Brooksville.

Campbell County: Paul Fehr, Cold Springs.

Kenton County: Robert Scott, R. 2, Ludlow; John P. Westerman, R. 2, Ludlow; George A. Eubanks, R. 2, Ludlow.

BURLINGTON P.-T. A. TO MEET NOVEMBER 9

The Burlington P.-T. A. will hold their regular monthly meeting at the new school house on Thursday night, November 9 at 7 p. m. All members are urged to attend.

QUOTA VOTE SET FOR NOVEMBER 21

GROWERS TO DECIDE IF GOVERNMENT WILL CONTROL CROP SIZE FOR 1940—TWO-THIRDS APPROVAL REQUIRED

The Agriculture Department, Washington, D. C. set November 21 as the date for a farmer referendum on marketing for next year's burley tobacco crop.

If approved by two-thirds of the farmers voting, the quotas would establish a national marketing allotment of between 315,000,000 and 320,000,000 pounds.

The national allotments would be divided among growers under a formula set up in the Crop Control Act of 1938. Growers selling in excess of their quotas would be subject to a penalty tax of half the market value of the excess sales.

States in which the referendum will be conducted include Ohio, Indiana, Missouri, Kansas, Virginia, West Virginia, North Carolina, Kentucky and Tennessee.

Under the 1940 farm program, each burley tobacco grower would be assigned a planting allotment designed to produce his marketing share. Each farmer would be permitted, under quotas, to market the entire production of his planting allotment.

J. B. Hutson, Assistant Agricultural Adjustment Administrator said marketing quotas were advisable because the supply of burley tobacco October 1 this year was the third largest in history. He said it totaled 1,048,000,000 pounds compared with 999,500,000 pounds a year ago.

OLD CLOTHING IS OBJECTIVE

OF LOCAL RELIEF OFFICE IN DRIVE TO CLOTHE ALL NEEDY CHILDREN DURING THIS WINTER.

An extensive effort is being made throughout Boone County to collect all old or discarded clothing, shoes, or anything that could be repaired and put to use for needy children of the county. It was announced this week by the local relief office under the management of Mrs. L. T. Utz, Florence. The collection will be made for the next few weeks.

Although many citizens of this county are unaware of the fact, there are several families in the various communities that are unable to properly dress their children, and consequently they must be kept home from school. It is reported in a few cases that unless clothing is provided before winter, some little children will undoubtedly suffer from exposure.

Almost every home in the county has some old clothing that will never be used again and will either be burned or thrown away. It is the opinion of the local relief office that much of this clothing could be repaired and cleaned and to valuable use this winter.

Anyone who has clothing they desire to give to the needy can either bring same to the Community Office in Burlington or phone Florence 89 and a representative will call for same.

Your contribution to this worthy cause will be greatly appreciated by those less fortunate than yourself.

Gayety Theater News

Fri. and Sat.—"Burn 'Em Up O'Conner"

Sunday and Monday—"Our Leading Citizen"

Tuesday—"Career"

Wed. and Thursday, Nov. 7 and 8—"Bachelor Mother"

A hitherto neglected field for motion picture thrills has provided the dramatic background for "Burn 'Em Up O'Conner," opening at the Gayety Friday and Saturday. The picture is that of mid-west automobile racing which has suddenly swept the world of sports and in which junior speed demons risk their lives daily to offer exciting moments to speed-crazed galleries. Dennis O'Conner, a Cripple Creek racer, is the hero.

"Isms" will continue to go, but as far as Bob Burns is concerned, the only "ism" for Americans is Americanism! Bob, cast as a mellow, philosophical fellow, senior partner of a law firm in a thriving American city, sets about proving just that in the vivid new Paramount drama, "Our Leading Citizen" which will be shown at the Gayety Sunday and Monday.

When the leading industrialist of the city causes labor strife by cutting the pay of the workers in one of his mills ten percent, despite the fact that business is good, trouble really starts for Bob. Bob resigns as counsel for the industrialist, and in the face of riots, a bombing of the mill and murder of two of the workers' leaders, proceeds to show that such disputes can be settled if the opposing factions will hold to "middle-of-the-road" methods, and not permit outside factions to influence them. Bob has other troubles too—trying to guide the workers' leaders, and his daughter and his junior partner.

"Career," which will be shown at the Gayety Tuesday is one of those photoplays which doesn't fall into any of the ordinary categories, and yet is one of the more absorbing and touching entertainments of the season. The simple and homespun story of "Career," deals with life in the little Iowa town of Pittsfield during 1931. Ann Shirley, Edward Ellis, Leon Errol and other make up the cast. See this picture.

The mirth-making talents which Ginger Rogers exhibited so effectively in such previous hits as "Stage Door" and "Vivacious Lady" are developed to new hilarious heights in the Gayety Theatre's showing of "Bachelor Mother," on Tuesday and Wednesday, Nov. 7th and 8th.

Miss Rogers enacts the role of a department store salesgirl who suddenly becomes a synthetic mother. She finds an abandoned baby, and despite her frantic denials, the whole world believes she is the tot's mama. When she plans to abandon the baby herself, her boss informs her that he will so ostracize her in the business world that she will never have a chance of earning her livelihood—and all because she refuses to fulfill her duty to society: raising her baby! Don't miss this one. You'll enjoy every minute of this big picture.

RED CROSS DRIVE TO OPEN NOV. 11

IN BOONE COUNTY, ACCORDING TO REV. J. RUSSELL CROSS, CHAIRMAN—COMMUNITY CHAIRMAN NAMED.

"Faced with a growing demand for Red Cross assistance to the stricken populations of Europe's warring nations and a need for strengthening its domestic operations, the Boone County Chapter of the American Red Cross will embark Nov. 11 on the greatest membership campaign since the World War," Rev. J. Russell Cross, Chairman of Boone County Red Cross Chapter declared today.

The appeal, he said, will be carried by the 10,000 Chapters and branches of the organization located in virtually every community in the country.

"The Red Cross must be prepared to continue its battle against human suffering in this country," the local chairman said. "The Red Cross has been constantly increasing its volume of service during the past few years. Along the nation's highways, in the homes of the underprivileged in hospitals, military stations, schools and at the scene of disaster, the Red Cross is facing a challenge for greater service."

"Red Cross public health nurses made 1,046,933 visits to or on behalf of the indigent sick during the past 12 months," he stated. "They are carrying out their work in communities where nursing and medical aid are not readily available, such as rural and mountain areas and on isolated islands along our coast. These nurses, numbering 635 also examined 595,575 children, the possible cause of disease, and arranged through Red Cross chapters for proper treatment where it was judged necessary."

Last year, Mr. Cross said, the Red Cross trained 100,361 persons in life saving, bringing the total number trained since the service was organized in 1914 to the million mark. He pointed out that the Red Cross has been active in water sports during the past 12 months. This was a reduction of approximately 33 per cent over the 1938 figure, due to the increasing number of persons seeking recreation on our coastal and inland waters. He said a recent Red Cross survey indicated that 80,000,000 take part in water sports annually.

Mr. Cross has asked the following people to serve as Co-Chairmen of the rollcall in their respective communities:

Petersburg, Mr. A. L. Stephens and Mrs. Mary G. Berkshire; Bellevue, Rev. Raymond Smith and Mrs. W. B. Rogers, Jr.; Burlington, Mrs. Nell Martin and Mrs. C. C. Smith; Hebron, Mrs. Charles W. ARE WE SPORTSMEN?

During the past few years the Boone County Fish and Game Protective Association has devoted much time and money to the life conservation of this county, during which time wildlife has been materially benefited. Fields have been restocked with quail, and streams with fish.

If the citizens of Boone County would cooperate with the association, within a few years we would have a sportsman's paradise. However, we have several in the county, and some in adjoining counties who visit here, that do not appreciate the effort of the club, for during the past summer, while streams were low, practically every hole in Gunpowder and many on Woolper Creek were sealed.

Officials of the local club stated that unless more cooperation is shown in conservation, that no effort will be made to restock our streams. Nothing is gained when all the fish are sealed out of the stream stocked by the club.

We all like to be called sportsmen, but we can't be called sportsmen or shoot sportsmen in a cory. All these people have a bad taste in their sportsman's mouth.

Boone county has two streams within its boundaries that are said by state officials to be ideal for both large and small mouth bass, and if cared for, restocked and fished only with pole and line would develop into a fisherman's paradise. But if we continue to seine these streams we will find that about the only thing that will inhabit these fine waters will be minnows and small perch—for it is certain that new stock will not be wasted by dumping them here.

The club this year is helping to sponsor a quail farm, where many thousands birds will be cared for during the winter months and will be released next spring in Boone and other counties. This project will again help to restock the depleted supply caused by open season from November 24 to January 9th.

If the citizens of Boone County will come forward, join the Boone County Fish and Game Protective Association, and show that they are really interested in wildlife conservation then we will go forward with a program of restocking of wildlife and fish, but until interest is shown, we fear that this county will be marked from the fish restocking list, at least, and probably from other wildlife programs.

Landowners in the county can cooperate with the club by calling a conservation officer if any violations of game laws are noticed in their neighborhood. Both Edwin Johnson and Lennie Busby, conservation officers are listed in the telephone directory, and will appreciate a call from you.

Our conservation officers are very active, but it is impossible for them to patrol every stream and farm in the county, and unless they have the cooperation of landowners many violations will never be known to the officers.

TRADING ON IT

With the difficulty arising over the changing of Thanksgiving we are made aware of the commercializing of almost every holiday that Americans celebrate. Editors do not scorn increased business to manufacturers and merchants, they too profit from the trade at such times. But it is best to face the fact that perhaps we have become too commercial for our own good.

Easter and Christmas, our most religious of days, are greatly commercialized, with Mother's, Memorial and Arbor Days a boon to florists and nurserymen. The Glorious Fourth and Labor Day come in for their share of money making with increased traffic in gasoline and travel tickets. The honored birthdays of our famous statesmen add to the ring of the cash register and what a difference all these holidays make to the balance sheet of business houses.

Along comes the changing of the Thanksgiving date when 23 states have been wide-spread remarks regarding the act from a political angle and horrified gasps considering the change to help the Christmas trade. "Commercializing Thanksgiving!" There is nothing unusual in this aspect however else we may consider the move there is no way of avoiding this matter of trading in on the name. We commercialize our food products, churches commercialize with suppers and bazaars, schools with football games. It is possible to avoid commercializing, even if folks in Boone County wanted to do so.

DON'T ROCK THE BOAT

The fact that advertisers appeal to the women as the cog in the wheel of exchange, so does the price of food commodities depend upon her say so. The many housewives here in Boone County and the nation at large, are glad for a surplus of corn, wheat, potatoes, sugar, cotton. The farmers may not rejoice in the surplus but the women feel that having a bumper crop during a period of war is not such a bad thing for a government. The fields of foreign lands may be plowed under by bombs,

TRUTH about ADVERTISING

By CHARLES B. ROTH

'HERE COMES THE QUEEN'

WAS talking in his office with a man who is head of a large store. I was complimenting him upon the extraordinary courtesy and service a woman told me she always received in that store.

"My friend says that your salespeople treat her as though she were the queen," I explained.

"Come with me!" the executive said, and left his chair, and started down stairs. "I want to show you something."

I followed. He took me behind the counters. He pointed out neatly printed white cards pasted up at close intervals throughout the store, where the clerks couldn't help seeing.

I read what they said. "HERE COMES THE QUEEN!" "Your slogan," he explained. "Yes! It's more than a slogan. It's our watchword, our business policy, to treat every woman who enters the store as though she were the queen."

the tracks of tanks cause a food shortage and the farmers turn soldiers. There is ample storage on hand and the farmer who waited for over-production may see us feeding much of Europe.

The women of the nation will have it in their power to keep the price of commodities on a sane footing. The first flurry of buying sugar and flour due to the present war, has subsided and shown the woman buyer what she can do to the price of goods. There is a council of national representatives appointed to take a stand in keeping prices from soaring too high to be fair and going too low to be disastrous. But they will need the help of all housewives to keep the situation in hand.

EVER ONWARD

It would be no easy matter to settle and adjust a million wandering people. We talk of these families uprooted by economical conditions, looking for a place to begin a new life, and the average Boone County reader concludes we are discussing a foreign situation brought on by war conditions. This fact exists in our U. S. and the number is estimated by the American Humane Society at 1,000,000. These wandering people are known as roamers. Too many children born on the roads, too many experiences, depressing and discouraging to parents where wandering is their way. Many foreign problems demand our attention but this domestic one within our own country, the wealthiest nation in all the world, should be considered.

COOLING OFF

Admiral Byrd makes plans to explore in the Antarctic this winter, hoping to claim new land for the United States. There will be somebody in Boone County who will remark that we have a hard time taking care of the land we already own. But we are inclined to receive something if it doesn't come too much, and this looks like we might get something for practically nothing except the hardships and great endurance of the exploring company headed by the brave Rear Admiral Byrd. The fact that a five-rail ice cream freezer is an item on the list of equipment for the Antarctic, is a feature of the expedition that we can't seem to appreciate.

DID YOU KNOW?

The 1940 aspects for a big time in the automobile business are reaching this desk daily with predictions as to beauty, price, durability and so on. The manufacturers launch designs and advertising that fascinate us even though our old model will remain in the family garage unmolested by enterprising salesmen.

Has it ever been brought to your attention that ever fifty percent of the auto dealers are in the small towns, that is in towns under ten thousand population? When you visit any metropolis and pass showrooms after showrooms, building after building, where autos are sold, you figure that most of the cars travelling the highway must come from the sales of the large cities. But the small town dealer is doing his share of the business and 49 percent of them are going to do a lot of business in 1940.

Much kitchen furniture is painted white. It is hard to keep clean from finger prints especially when children are about. A thin savor is to put liquid wax on the white surface. This makes a high gloss and saves a lot of scrubbing. If the furniture has become so dried that it will not take a polish, try mixing three parts linseed oil to one part turpentine. Apply with a soft cloth afterwards, wipe with a cloth dampened with alcohol. Let stand for a few minutes.

I happen to know that this policy has paid handsome dividends to the store. As I think it over, however, only in form and expression is that policy different from that of every other organization which advertises for your trade. All have to treat you as though you were the queen—or the king.

Anyone who has been buying much in the stores will tell you that the treatment received from clerks is vastly different from what it was years ago. They are more considerate. They are better informed.

The reason for this change is that they have the ideal which advertising has created in their minds, and to this ideal they must conform.

All over the country, in every newspaper, advertisers are vying with one another in telling the story of their products and in improving their products to make them more acceptable.

Their desire is to produce something fit for the queen—or the king—and their advertising sets up a standard to which they must strive.

In the process you get the best products and service it is possible to provide.

RIGHTOUSNESS IN THE KINGDOM

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 5:17-20, 38-45; 6:14.
GOLDEN TEXT—Be ye therefore perfect, even as your Father which is in heaven is perfect.—Matthew 5:48.

"Righteousness in the kingdom," the title of our lesson, properly relates its teaching to the kingdom of the Messiah which is to come on the earth, and to the condition which shall then prevail. At the same time we agree with Dr. James M. Gray that "it would be wrong to press this too far and to say that the Sermon on the Mount has no application whatever to the Christian church or the time in which we live, for God is the same through all dispensations and the underlying principles of His government never change."

Certainly it is true that if all of the men and all of the nations of the earth were to see this Armistice Sunday true followers of Christ and ready to carry out the teaching of the Law-giver, there would no longer be any possibility of war. This means that the best peace propaganda is the sending of missionaries and teachers to all the earth to win men to Christ.

Our lesson should be studied and taught with great care lest we confuse morality with Christianity and make it appear that men are justified before God by their good works rather than by their faith in Christ.

I. Christ Fulfills the Law (5:17-20).

The law of God is eternal, never to be abrogated, never set aside. Christ Himself, although we might properly say that He was in reality the Law-giver and thus had power and authority over the law, indicated His purpose in coming to be that of giving the law its full meaning, not of destroying it. One could wish that those who profess to be His servants might have the same measure of regard for God's law. If they did, they obviously would not be so ready to ignore or to quickly change it or explain it away, and far more ready to accept with their Master every "jot and tittle" that is, even the minutest detail of His Word.
